N. I. C. A. PICNIC

The Northern Indiana Co-operative Association picnic was not so well attended this year, due to the fact that so many of the stockholders were compelled to take care of their wheat crop. However, a goodly number of loyal members gathered at Beachwood park, Hoffman Lake, Monday and enjoyed the bountiful dinner at the noon hour as usual. Plenty of good Oak Grove ice cream was served by the N.I.C.A. after the co-operative dinner. Two of the picnic committeemen, Cecil Long and Leroy Norris were unable to attend so the remaining member of the committee, Mr. Rea Ward, took charge after the noon hour.

The VanGundy family entertained the crowd with their string instrument for about fifteen minutes at the beginning of the program. Mr. Hart Creighton then introduced Mr. Albert Ferris of Milton, Ind., state senator from Wayne county, who gave a very interesting discussion of social and economic problems of today. After the close of the afternoon session, Mr. Hardy Songer of Burket rounded up a couple of teams and a big base ball game ensued. The ladies spent the remainder of the afternoon socially. We know that each and every one of you will make every effort to be in attendance next year and enjoy the day with the Co-Ops.

YOUTHFUL QUERIES

Dave Morgan

When we look about us and discover that there are people in dire need, we begin to lament that our social and economic systems have not prepared places and means to care for these unfortunate people. We want to do something to help them to gain a more fruitful life.

There are two definite opinions regarding social welfare and it is difficult to decide which is the most logical. One is that the greatest service can be done with the mass. The other is that the most thorough service lies in working with individuals. It is not easy say which is entirely right, but the fact remains that both must work together to render the most complete service.

The discouraging part of welfare work is that there is not a reliable source of funds to carry out a complete and organized type of human service. There are both the government and private welfare agencies, but as a rule, one is as undependable as the other as far as financing is concerned. Private welfare is usually in the hands of churches who depend upon tything, and the public welfare depends upon the amount of surplus in the city, state or national treasuries. Since generosity and tax receipts vary with economic conditions, funds begin to get scarce at the times they are needed most.

But it seems that the issue which varies most is the method of service which will render the greatest good to the greatest number. Shall people be given food and clothing without discrimination? Shouldn't people work for what they get? Isn't it possible for an organized society to teach people how to use their hands? Do people who really deserve help like to take it?

There is certainly a crying need in the social service field for people who are capable of teaching the needy how to do something useful. Churches have made bold strides along that line, but again they are hindered by the lack of people who are willing to spend their time in that sort of work for the small salaries that churches must pay. Public service on the other hand is usually just the opposite. It is estimated that only about one fourth of the money spent by the public agencies is getting where it is really needed because people who call themselves welfare workers don't know how much good can be done with so comparatively little money and they couldn't do it if they did know.

SOUTHERN PINE GOES TO NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK (Special). — Southern yellow pine from the Eastern Shore, Maryland, and from points in Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina is already going into foundations in the central area of the New York World's Fair of 1939. Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation, has just announced the purchase of 430 sticks of pine piling, in lengths up to 80 feet, from Nichols Brothers, of 90 West Street, Manhattan, and Norfolk, Virginia. Shipments of this lot are originating at Frankfort, Delaware, Preston, Maryland, and Melfa and Cheriton, Virginia. An order for piling of similar size is being filled at points in North Carolina.

The pine sticks are being driven into the ash-meadow fill of the 1216½-acre exposition site where they will serve as part of the foundations for bridge abutments near the Theme Centre and amusement areas of the Fair.

Builds New Instrument for Jazz or Church Use

Los Angeles.—A new musical instrument, the symphonet, resembling a small piano which plays on pipes instead of strings, has been introduced here.

It has 55 piano keys which send padded hammers thumping against 55 reed-like metal pipes ranging from 6 to 28 inches in length. The long pipes produce the deep notes, and the short pipes the high section of the scale.

Music of the new instrument is a cross between the xylophone and fast-played chimes. Low notes, with the stops released so that each blow on the pipes vibrates, can be made to resemble the far-off striking of a tower clock.

Tone range of the instrument is about six notes short of a small piano's scale.

Uses ranging from symphony orchestra to jazz are stressed by the inventor, Harry F. Noake, newspaper man. Because it weighs only 150 pounds and cannot get out of tune, he says, several churches are considering its use for foreign missions.

Noake worked two and one-half years developing the instrument, and has applied for a patent. He says the construction cost is less than that of a moderately good upright piano.

Three-Inch Cigar Ash Sets a Dutch Record

Amsterdam.—An unbroken ash, measuring seven centimeters (2.75 inches), on a cigar smoked for two hours, is claimed as a world record by the town of Hertogenbosch.

Fifty-eight men and two women took part in the competition. Most of them failed when they trembled as officials tried to measure the ashes.

The winner, however, had nerves of steel. The ash on his cigar would have been even longer, if he had not sneezed.

Early Increase in Felons

When a statement was made that the population of the Ohio Penitentiary was 70, as of August 19, 1918, three years after the first convict had been received, many Ohioans were alarmed over what they declared as an "enormous increase in felons," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Some editors, ministers and other leaders were crying to the heavens for an answer to the crime problem. One hundred years later, on August 19, 1918, the population of the penitentiary was 1,944, which as compared with the population of the state showed that the number of convicts was increasing three times faster than the population.

4H CLUB

The Work and Chatter 4-H Club held an unique meeting on Wednesday, June 30th. The first hour was spent in sewing on their clothing projects. Since the weather would not permit, the swimming party which was to have been held at Center Lake, Warsaw, was called off. Instead the girls went on a bicycle ride east of Mentone. The distance covered was eight miles.

Everyone is very interested in the letter concerning Camp Mack at Lake Kabee near Milford, which is the 4-H Camp. Several of the girls from here are attending from July 12 to 16th. Since so many of the girls are going to camp, the next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, July 28.

Those attending the meeting included Lois Fife, Juanita Nellans, Mary Esther Smith, Eleanor Wallace, Jane Warner and Lois Whetstone.

The Willing Helpers 4-H Club of Mentone met Thursday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the school house for a swimming party, but due to weather conditions their plans were changed. The girls decided to hike to Tippecanoe Bridge west of Mentone and take their lunches. They didn't quite reach their destination, but ask Jean Elliott about the good time she had. Also ask Mary Alice Moore about her skill as a trapeze performer.

Before the hike several of the girls cut out their dresses while others

Marshall County R. E. M. C. Enjoy Banquet Friday

The members of the Wireman's Club sponsored a big banquet and entertainment in the United Brethren Church basement last Friday evening at Plymouth, Ind. Approximately 175 members and guests were present and enjoyed the fish dinner served by the U. B. Ladies Aid of the church. An excellent program was furnished by several amateur entertainers. Mr. Joseph Scherer, Chief Inspector of the state Fire Marshall's office and Mr. Wilson Taylor, state wide R. E. M. C. organizer, were the honored guests and speakers of the evening. Mr. Cecil Bleyler of the Plymouth Farm Bureau, who is instructing the Wireman's Club, was toastmaster.

It is certain now that Marshall County Rural Electric lines will be constructed during the remainder of this year. Bids have been received on this project and are now in the Washington office awaiting approval. These bids specify completion by January 1, 1938.

The school for House Wireman is sponsored by the State R. E. M. C. in order that competent workmen will be available to wire the buildings according to the State R.E.M.C. code and get the job done in a hurry.

Ninety-six men are taking this instruction at Plymouth and have almost completed the course. Local men taking this training are Kenneth Kinsey, Ray Ward Jr., Earnest Reddinger, Ward Reddinger and Forrest Kesler.

Mr. Ray Ward Sr., has recently been selected as chairman to the board of directors of the Marshall County Rural Electric Membership Cooperation.

Old Book Reproduced

A rare old book was removed under guard from Exeter cathedral where it has rested for 1,000 years and taken to London where it is to be reproduced in a second edition of 250 copies. This is the "Exeter Book," which, according to the legends, was compiled by the order of King Alfred, who caused the monks to make a collection of all the old poems of England. Such epic poems were sung by minstrels and handed down from father to son, rarely written until the preparation of the Exeter book, which consisted of 262 pages of illuminated manuscript. These pages are being reproduced by a special photographic process and will be handsomely bound. The original book was written 1,300 years ago.

Cowboys' Branding Irons

Cowboys employ two kinds of branding irons, says a writer in the Washington Post. One is merely a straight rod, called a running iron. It is used where only one or two cattle are to be branded. The cowboy ropes an unbranded cow or calf, throws it to the ground, and hobbles its legs so it can't get up. Then he builds a fire, heats the iron, and traces the brand on the skin with the iron, much as one would write with a pencil. The other iron is used on large numbers of cattle. It is a long rod with the brand on the end in the form of a stencil. Brands range all the way from figures of apples, baseballs, corkscrews, pots, skulls and keys to animals, birds and flowers.

Ten Smartest Animals

After 32 years of intimate association with the animal world, Dr. W. Reid Blair, director of the New York zoological park, rates the intelligence of the ten smartest animals as follows: 1. Chimpanzee; 2. Orang-utan; 3. Elephant; 4. Gorilla; 5. Domestic dog; 6. Beaver; 7. Domestic horse; 8. Sea lion; 9. Bear; 10. Domestic cat.

Parking Restrictions

Motorists have been given permission to park near government offices at Melbourne, Australia, if they do not "preach, throw stones, climb buildings, bring a horse, cow, sheep, pig or boat, or make any noise, or sing."

Pygmy Races Not True Dwarfs

The pygmy races, mostly described in Africa, are not true dwarfs, having an average height of four and one-half feet. Their diminutive size is undoubtedly due to heredity, and they have many other hereditary stigmata, such as extra toes and fingers.

Thunderstorm's Warnings

Nature's greatest warning of the approach of a thunderstorm is experienced on a mountain, where the atmosphere becomes so charged with electricity that it makes a man's hair stand on end, his fingers emit sparks and the metal points of his ice ax hiss like vipers, says Collier's Weekly.

Herders Do Not Desert Flocks

In great blizzards, Western sheep herders seldom if ever desert their hungry and helpless flocks and dogs, even when they themselves are freezing and starving through the neglect of the traveling camp-tender who brings their food and fuel. They stay on the job, asserts a writer in Collier's Weekly, not because desertion means a ten-year prison sentence, but because "sticking" is the unwritten law of the range.

IRON SPARK DOES
WORK OF CHEMISTS

A spark, plus two human assistants to interpret its story, is used in a Muskegon foundry to make routine analyses of iron which formerly required the work of six chemists, writes a Muskegon correspondent in the Detroit Free-Press.

The apparatus, a refinement of the method used to study the composition of the white-hot gases of the sun, was designed by Dr. H. B. Vincent and Prof. R. A. Sawyer for the University of Michigan Department of Engineering Research. With it a series of tests can be made in only a fraction of the time they would require with a corps of chemists.

Two rods of iron are mounted close together and a closely controlled spark strong enough to jump the gap is passed through them.

For an instant the rod tips are heated white hot. This light passes through a spectrograph and is recorded on a photographic plate.

The resulting picture, a spectrogram, is compared with standardized spectrograms of known composition to determine the kind and number of elements in the samples.

TRAIL OF OLD GUN ENDS AT ARSENAL

A call for an English "poacher's gun" for use in the presentation of a play sent a theatrical agent scurrying to Texas, where he had heard of a collector who had picked up almost every kind of weapon fashioned by the hand of man. A "poacher's gun," it should be explained, says the New York Sun, is a rare weapon, in use in the time of Queen Elizabeth.

There were specimens in museums nearer home, but they were not available. So by roundabout ways came the information that a man named Zerbe, of Houston, who had been collecting firearms and other weapons for a score or more of years, had one of the "poacher's." Zerbe's collection was reported as embracing 500 pieces, ranging from wave-bladed daggers and blunderbusses to the most modern Co'ts.

The agent found all that he had heard was true. There was a 300-year-old Japanese matchlock musket, ornamented with designs in ivory; a Japanese hari-kari knife, a Parisian Apache gun which combines a revolver, a pair of knuckles and a dagger, and pistols with histories. And also a "poacher's gun," built like a short blunderbuss which can be unscrewed at the breech and halfway down the barrel, so that the poacher could carry the whole piece in his coat and escape the eyes of the warden.

Zerbe's house was a veritable arsenal. The agent had never seen anything like it. But the show had to go on without Zerbe's "poacher's gun."

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Those who, for one reason or another, do not care to mingle with the common herd at the cinema palaces or neighborhood theaters, have fallen into the habit of renting films for private showings in their own homes. Some have their residences fitted up with sound and projection equipment but most rent the entire outfit from films to operators. The practice is not entirely new but Variety reports that within the last two years it has grown into business of considerable proportions. Screen executives started it and others who can pay have fallen into line. Distributors do not care to rent pictures for private showings but there is nothing that they can do about it save jack up the price so that the cost may be as high as $600 a night. Few of the pictures are rented for large parties. Usually the renter and his family are the only ones who see them. Some of the addicts want only pre-views, while others rent pictures which have received rave notices.

Among those listed by Variety as frequently getting pictures for private showing are President Roosevelt, Jock Whitney, Irving Berlin, Eddie Cantor, Tony Sarg, T. Wallace Orr, John Mansville, Mrs. C. V. Whitney, Jules Bach, Walter Chrysler, Adolph Zukor, Harry M. Warner—and numerous other film heads—Frank Henderson, Marshall Field, A. C. Blumenthal, Paul Block, John Hartford and the McCormicks of Chicago. Jock Whitney is said to eye virtually every major picture, always getting them long before release. If the fact that the President had ordered a certain picture could be advertised the box-office response would be tremendous. But the Will Hays office refuses to permit such exploitation.

Many old-timers are extremely interested in the comeback of Gus Edwards by means of the radio. Edwards, who fostered the careers of Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, Georgie Price, Groucho Marx, Eddie Buzzell and others, found it rather tough sledding a few years ago. The country scoffed at sentiment and everything smacking of lavender and old lace. Continual whispers that the stocky, gray-haired Gus was no longer in the chips went up and down Broadway and surely must have reached his ears. But Edwards merely smiled and hinted vaguely of annuities soon to become due. Performers, who started under his aegis and who had more dollars than they needed, endeavored to come to his rescue but Edwards declined all offers with thanks. Then came the turn, and recently he went to the West Coast to assail that front. Sixty years old and fighting with the stout-heartedness of youth!

Speaking of entertainers, there are Jack Benny and Jack Pearl. Whenever the two meet, there is a poker game. But when Benny came here from Hollywood, his time was so fully occupied that the usual sessions of the great American game had to be omitted. Recently, Pearl received a check from Benny for $100. A note explained that though there had been no game, Benny felt that he should pay his usual losses just the same.

Holding to the theatrical world, one more paragraph, the matter of cameras comes next. When John Gielgud returned to England, he complained that the candid cameras of theater-goers drove him almost insane. Up to that time nothing had been done about them though they were an annoyance to many theater-goers. Following the Gielgud complaint, however, there was action and candid cameras are now barred from most theaters. But recently a variety house reversed the rule by offering prizes for the best pictures taken in that theater by patrons. It seems that it would be much more to the point if something were done about match lighters.

Pelicans are experts at soaring, or sailing—often flying at heights out of sight. Although the birds fly in wheeling circles they move on their course rapidly. Their breeding grounds are principally in the Northwestern states and in Southwestern Canada. They winter from Northern California, in the Gulf States and Florida, along both coasts of Mexico, and in the interior of Mexico as far south as Panama.

CREIGHTON HENS STILL RANK HIGH

The June report of the Fourteenth Oklahoma Egg Laying Contest being supervised from Oklahoma A. & M. College, Stillwater, Okla., showed Creighton Bros. hens ranking in seventh place in this nationwide contest. Creighton's pen, consisting of the original thirteen hens, laid a total of 244 eggs in June. Green Hedges Farm Company, Spencer, Ind., are leading the race and their thirteen hens laid a total of 248 eggs in June. Creighton Bros. are ranking fifth place in point rating. The majority of hens entered in this contest are of S.C.W. Leghorn variety and the remainder are either white or barred rock, white Wyandot, Rhode Island Red, or Australorp.

R. B. Robinson of Stillwater, Okla., Poultrymen Supervisor of contest, stated that high hen for June was a S.C.W. Leghorn, which belongs to Dryden Poultry Breeding Farm, Modesto, California. She laid 28 eggs. Second high hen for June was another S.C.W. Leghorn which belongs to Sand Springs Home Farms, Sand Springs, Okla., who also laid 28 eggs but ranked below the former due to the number of points she earned in laying these eggs.

A Barred Plymouth Rock belonging to R.C.E. Wallace, Lafayette, Ind., still leads to date as an individual. She has laid 221 eggs in 273 days and has earned 240.50 points. She is from a pen ranking eleventh place in the contest. A S.C.W. Leghorn belonging to O.A. Viseur, Okmulgee, Okla., still holds second individual honors. She has laid 236 eggs in 273 days but has earned only 231.90 points. She is from a pen ranking fortieth place in the contest. Points are based on number of hens in pen, pounds of feed consumed including grit and shell, total cost of feed per pen, cost of feed per dozen eggs, pen margin over cost of feed, and hen margin over cost of feed.

The following figures and percentages were obtained from a survey of the entire contest monthly report. Egg prices were 1.31 cents lower in June than that for May. It was also pointed out that the present egg price is 1.57 cents lower than one year ago. Feed prices dropped 23 cents per 100 pounds in June. Grain prices has also dropped 5 cents per 100 pounds. The average price for eggs per dozen for June was 14.43 cents.

The Talma team hopes to keep the scalps in their possession until next season, when the war will start all over again. Barkman will be pitching for the Boosters and Nellans will be catching. A large crowd of base ball fans are expected to witness this battle which will be called at 2:30 p.m.

N. Y. A. REPORT

In the final report on the NYA school-aid program, it was announced that a total of $245,904.68 was paid to Indiana grade and high school students in wages for work on National Youth Administration projects the past school year.

Appropriations were made to all counties in the state and varied from $129.75 in Crawford county where there were two schools participating, to $23,650.00 in Lake county where twenty-three schools took part. Original allotments were made on the basis of ten percent of the total school expenditures of the county or the city for the previous year. Realotments were made every three months throughout the school year, and were based on the number of students in need of assistance in each school.

Approximately 8,000 boys and girls in 675 grade and high schools in the state were engaged in part-time work which enabled them to defray part of their school expenses. The maximum wage permitted to any student was $6.00 a month, but throughout the state the average monthly earning per student was approximately $4.50. To be eligible for employment on NYA projects, boys and girls must be between the ages of 16 and 25, from low income families, and otherwise unable to remain in school.

The high school student aid program is a separate aid program from the NYA college aid program under which graduate and undergraduate students in 38 Indiana colleges last year earned a total of $383,748.62.

The statement of total amount spent in each county showed that $1,261.65 was spent in Fulton county, $1,237.65 in Kosciusko county and $1,265.60 in Marshall county.

Wanda Carter, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Carter, formerly of Mentone is quarantined to her home at 504 West Winona Ave., Warsaw, with scarlet fever.

MOTORING TIPS

It is strange, but nevertheless true, that many persons who wouldn't think of plowing through a drawing room with cries of "Gangway! Here I come!" climb into their cars every day of the week and commit, on the streets and highways, the exact parallel of that social offense.

This fact lends point to the slogan of so many safety campaigns, to the effect that courtesy and safety go hand in hand. It's a long time since Alphonse and Gaston disappeared from the comic pages; but the spirit of "You first, my dear Alphonse!" would go a long way, today, to remedy traffic ills.

One of the most glaring instances is to be seen on almost any busy artery, during the rush hour. Traffic on the through street will pile up solidly, blocking intersecting streets, so that it is only by matching rudeness with rudeness, and forcing their way through, that drivers on the latter can cross busy thoroughfares.

A moment's reflection would convince any motorist that he would really lose no time at all by leaving a gap ahead, when approaching a cross street. As soon as cross-traffic has cleared, he will be on his way again, with no net loss whatever. And the fellow whom he let through will be merry on his way.

I know one driver who always makes it a point, when driving in heavy traffic, to pause for cross-traffic to go through. He does it even when there is a car-length or so which would permit him to clear the intersection himself. "The point is," he explains, "that only about one driver in a dozen will give these other fellows a break. If I don't stop the procession long enough to let them cross, the line may start and stop a half dozen times before someone takes pity on them and does it." Cars today embody comfort approaching that of the drawing room. There doesn't seem to be any good reason why motorists should not take their drawing room manners when they climb in behind the wheel. If enough drivers will do it, they will not only serve the ends of safety but facilitate the movement of traffic as well.

Egg Shell Texture

About this time of the year we note an increase in the number of thin shelled eggs, cracks etc. This causes considerable loss to producers and can be easily remedied.

Upon inquiry we find that many poultry raisers add a small amount of Iodine Suspensoid Merck to the wet mash for their hens and pullets and inside of a week to ten days the shell strength is back to normal. Such a small amount is required that the cost is negligible, a fraction of a cent per hen per month. Iodine Suspensoid Merck and the directions for its use may be obtained at the Co-Op Mill.

Poultrymen frequently ask "When is the best time to worm pullets?" The only logical answer is "When they need it."

The best way to find out is to dose 10 or 12 pullets with Iodine Vermicide, place them in a wire bottomed or slatted bottom crate over a clean piece of paper. Examine the droppings 5-8 hours later and you will have the answer.

We have made arrangements to job Iodine Vermicide Merck, Iodine Suspensoid Merck and V-C-P Veterinary Creolin Pearson at the Co-Op Mill. We carry a stock on hand at all times.

It is hardly necessary to say much about the advantages of Iodine Vermicide for controlling large round worms and tape worms. Many of our members have used it for years. It does not have an adverse effect upon egg-production-therefor it may be safely used on pullets after they are in production.

The new bulletin on Worm Control by Merck and Co. Inc., is well illustrated and shows how easy it is to administer. Copies may be obtained at the Co-Op Mill.

OUR DWARF ISSUE

Webster says, in one of his several definitions of the word, that 'dwarf'
often suggests stunted growth. Well, that is just what happened to the July 21 issue of the Co-Op News.
Its growth was STOPPED Friday night
at 9:00 and you hold in your hand
the result.

Due to circumstances, over which we had no control, your paper could not be printed in the Country Print
Shop this week, so our good friend,
Mr. G. B. Harris, Editor of the Bourbon News-Mirror, very kindly consented to help us out. The entire copy for the newspaper had to be in the Bourbon office early Saturday morning so you can readily see the dilemma we faced in getting out a full sized paper in that length of time.

But, never let it be said that the N. I. C. A. ever let its 'pooblick' down. Instead of eliminating the paper for these two weeks, as would have been inevitable under the existing circumstances, we chased down news until the last minute,
rushed the copy over to Bourbon,
and Harris and his efficient office force did the rest. We hope, however, to be back on our old schedule
after the next issue.

A word to those who have items
to contribute—get them to us before or by Friday if it is at all possible. Thank you.

13,000,000th UNIT BUILT

Another milestone in industry was reached Wednesday, when the 13-millionth Chevrolet rolled off the assembly line in the Flint plant of the Chevrolet Division, General Motors Corporation.

In spite of interrupted production, Chevrolet's 13th millionth car was produced in a period of just two days more than 11 months, the second shortest million-unit period in the company's history. Officials stated that the demand for the 1937
models has exceeded anything heretofore known, and that, but for the frequent interruptions of output
since Jan. 1, production and workers' wages would have shattered all previous records, and the present milestone would have been reached from 60 to 90 days earlier.

Production of No. 13 million was marked by no ceremonies at the factory, but M. E. Coyle, general manager of the division, issued a brief statement from his Detroit office officially announcing the event, which was also the occasion for an informal luncheon, attended by Mr.
Coyle, Mr. Hollar, and other executives of the company.

When the present management, headed by Mr. Coyle, took over the reins in October, 1933, the company had built 9,000,000 cars and trucks.
The 10-millionth was produced Nov.
20th, 1934, the 11-millionth Dec. 4,
1935, and the 12-millionth August 5th, 1936. Records show that it took 12 years for the company to build its first million units, while the remaining 12 million have been produced in a period of only 14 years.
Mr. Coyle has been a member of the Chevrolet organization throughout the production of all but 120-000 of the 13,000,000 units built to date.

YOUTHFUL QUERIES

(by Dave Morgan)

Probably the most disgusting type of crack-pot is the person who is continually lamenting the waywardness of humanity. It wouldn't be quite so nauseating if these calamity singers would do something about it (starting with themselves), but they are all too often the last ones
to put themselves into an enterprise that has earmarks of making any condition better.

The most outstanding cases of this kind are to be found in the field of politics and it is very disconcerting to find differences in politics conflicting with methods
when there is an urgent need for action.

I think that the American public in general should be exceedingly glad and rejoicing that we have government officials who have not feared political opinions and have acted quickly if not wisely. No telling what kind of a government
we would have now, had conditions continued as they were. Lately we have heard quite a bit about the national debt and the treasury budget, but no one seems to have the slightest idea about what is happening. Oh, I know that there are those who have opinions, but there are so many opinions; conflicting opinions; opinions which have weak minds behind them;
opinions that have been influenced by selfishness. In fact there are so many opinions that I can't think of one that hasn't been used. I'm sure that I'm not capable of fathoming such a complicated mess.

but I am also sure that when leaders act out in the open where their doings are easy to perceive, you can wager that they know what they are doing. Some may praise them, others may decry them, but they have the courage to do something to avert a crisis.

We have been hearing a lot of babble and discourse, pro and con,
about Communism, Socialism, Dictatorship, Regimentation, Inflation and excessive taxation, but again no one seems to have a clear-cut equation for this conglomeration of values. If people would just learn to analyze their own desires, ambitions and aptitudes, they would begin to understand a little more about the actions of others, and in the meantime would have less time to watch the other fellow. But this is a high-pressure age, you know, and one must take care that one is not taken advantage of, don't you know.
It therefore seems to me one to have a good knowledge of human nature; but how can a person learn more about himself and still beware of the big bad wolves who are forever so anxious to satisfy until they have what they want? Now there is something else.

VIRGIL HIRE HAS RUNAWAY

Thursday noon the good people of our little village were startled from their post-dinner slumber by a horrible crashing, clattering and banging something, that seemed to be coming right up Main Street. Poking a cautious head from their doors or windows they beheld a lone trailer tearing along on its own momentum at the rate of about thirty-five miles per hour. It crossed the interurban tracks, careening from one side of the street to the other, missing parked cars by a hair, and finally came to a halt when it crashed into a similar vehicle belonging to George Buchtel which was parked in front of his shop.

The trailer belonged to Virgil Hire and had become loosened from the car while Hire was enroute to Mentone on road 25 east of Mentone. No damage was incurred except a few splintered boards in each of the trailers.

(by Dave Morgan)

This column has heretofore tried to express reasonably sensible opinions concerning this, that and something else, but sometimes I find that I'm in deep water and have a writer's cramp before I realize that I had not fully digested the knowledge that had inspired me to write.
You know its queer the way we youngsters think, talk and perform.
As soon as we get hold of a few bare facts, we know just about all there is to know. Of course I couldn't be saying this if I were not pulling myself out of the mess that a large mess of high school freshmen are eagerly jumping into. It's only natural for a person to use some newly discovered ability, knowledge or whatever; so you oldsters try not to snicker when you hear some sixteen-year-old boy trying to be broadminded. You know how you feel when people don't agree with your corn-growing methods. Well, he's just as proud of the philosophy that he vociferates upon, but which he only thinks he understands, as you are of your farming methods—
and so it goes.

The more we learn of bare facts,
the more we think we know, but the less we really do know. But hold on! There is no need to get down on our knees and be humble. There are people who are actually trying to be deflating. Are we going to let a bunch of blues singers get in our hair? No,—a thousand times, no!
We are just ready to start learning.
My goodness! If it weren't for people who try to pull us down,
there wouldn't be any fun in climbing up. We wouldn't have any one to make faces at when we got to the top.

Another Reason Why
FIRESTONE GIVES YOU SO MUCH Extra Value at No Extra Cost

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber.

This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily destroy tire life.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread.

Before leaving on your vacation trip, join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON THIN WORN TIRES DO YOU KNOW

THAT a million more were injured?

THAT more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?
