Frank McClure Drowns In Palestine Lake

Frank McClure, aged 49, fell from his boat while fishing about fifty feet from McSherry's point in Palestine lake Saturday morning. T. H. Beaver of New Castle, who was fishing from the same boat, failed to see him fall, but Elmer Tony, of Indianapolis observed the accident and summoned neighboring fishermen. Within ten minutes an improvised grappling hook, made from fish hooks, line and lead weights by Homer L. Davis of Fort Wayne, raised the man from a few feet of water.

Latimer administered artificial respiration, and a resuscitator was brought from Warsaw, but all attempts to revive the man were futile. Dr. Urschel was summoned, and coroner Leslie Laird. The cause of the death was placed to accidental drowning. Since McClure was an exceptionally fine swimmer, it is thought he suffered a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure and daughter were spending the week-end at a cottage on Palestine Lake. McClure was employed by the Chrysler Company in New Castle. Besides his family, he is survived by three brothers.

The body was taken to Johns Funeral home and was removed to New Castle about 10:00 a. m.

Americans are now drinking 15,000,000 bottles of carbonated beverages daily, according to a large manufacturer. This is equal to 5,475,000,000 bottles a year, or 42 bottles for each man, woman and child in the country.

Tea Prices

In 1859, tea in New York was selling for a dollar a pound. George Huntingdon Hartford, believing the price was too high, opened a store which was the forerunner of modern chain distribution, and sold tea for less than half this price.

Two Minute Sermon

By

Thomas Hastwell

THY KINGDOM COME: "Thy Kingdom come on earth as it is in heaven." There is a whole prayer in this single petition contained in the Lord's Prayer. What could be more desirable, what could be more wonderful to mankind than the coming of God's kingdom on earth? With its coming will vanish all evil, all wrong, all hatred, all covetousness, all envy, all strife, all malice, all contention, all injustice. In other words a perfect world will come on earth. I believe that some time God's Kingdom will come on earth even as it is in heaven. I believe that it will one day come because I believe the universe was planned for good and the struggle of man through all the known history of the race has been upward and onward toward higher and nobler and better and finer ideals and living. But all who pray "Thy Kingdom come on earth as it is in heaven, should remember as they do so that God's Kingdom will never come on earth until it first comes in the hearts of men, in the heart of him who prays. When God's Kingdom comes to the hearts of mankind, the prayer will be answered, God's Kingdom will have come on earth.

Two daughters preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, CST at the Baptist church of Mentone with burial in the Mentone cemetery. Rev. Barnaby officiated at the services.

There is an old maxim that grandfather used to recite. It ran something like this: "Count that day lost whose low descending sun views from thy hand no worthy action done." It is a splendid rule for community progress. The town that cannot see the end of the year some definite step of progress made is in danger. Communities, like individuals, cannot safely stand still.

It is well to remember when tempted to spend money with out of town merchants that no job was ever created for any local citizen by money spent out of town. It's only the money spent at home that builds local prosperity.

Home Sweet Home is only that kind of home where everyone in it is doing his part to make it that kind of a home.

The difference between President and Mrs. Roosevelt and most American families is that few would have had the nerve to serve royal guests hot dogs and pork and beans on paper plates.

There is a lot of unemployment throughout the country but it is still pretty hard to find a man to do a job who will work as hard at it as his employer does to earn the money to pay him.

We are all for competition until it stops at our door.

Judge Martin Manton, New York federal judge was recently convicted of having participated for nine years in the sale of decisions of his court to the highest bidder. It is difficult to conceive a fit punishment. Not only has a great injustice been done many people who were victims of these decisions the past nine years, but a distrust of men like Manton in high office has been created.

The black race has increased from 3,000,000 to 12,000,000 since the war. A movement is on foot by 2,500,000 negroes in the United States to form a new African state near Liberia and to transport there all of the negroes who care to go.

Robert DeGraff, originator of the Garden City Publishing Company's Star Dollar reprints of current books has started a new publishing plan by which complete copies of books, new and classic, will be published to sell for 25 cents a copy. The books will be pocket size, 4½ x 6½ x ½ inches and will be sold at news stands, drug and cigar stores as well as through regular book stores. Mr. DeGraff's purpose is to bring good literature within the easy reach of all.

A middle west editor announced to his subscribers last week that the big need of his community was a $630,000 rain. A $630,000 rain, he continues, is a million dollar rain less the income tax.

First Baptist Church Announces Sunday Broadcast, 3:00-3:30

It is with great pleasure that we announce our radio service over W. T. R. C. Elkhart 1310 K. C. beginning Sunday, July 16. We are conscious of the great responsibility it involves. It is entirely a faith undertaking. But as a church we feel that in these closing days, days when people have forgotten God, and have turned to the things of the world, we should meet our responsibility by bringing the plan of salvation to as many as possible.

Horace J. Barnaby

Now, all over this land we find churches that have sold out to the devil. Many of them close for the summer. And we find many of these modernistic churches repudiating the great fundamentals of the faith.

I am happy to tell you that the First Baptist Church of Mentone is not ashamed of the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. We believe the Bible from Gen. 1:1 to Rev. 22:21 to be God's infallible revelation. We believe in the Divine Conception, Deity, literal bodily resurrection, and the pre-millennial return of Christ. We believe that salvation is of the grace of God, through the shed blood of the Son of God. And that, there is a heaven for all believers, and a hell for all unbelievers. And we believe that death forever seals our fate. There is no second chance after death. In fact, we simply believe what the bible says.

If you believe in this work, and want to have a part in sending out the gospel, for its entirely a work of faith, just send your gifts in care of the pastor. And above all pray for us that it may be said: "And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God." Eph. 9:43. Remember the hour, 3:00 to 3:30 p. m. C. S. T., each Sunday afternoon.

Makes Interesting Discovery In Field

While passing across his corn field last week, M. Roy Rush found a large red silk parachute and a large bursted white rubber balloon attached to a metal box about twelve inches square.

The box contained a battery and a large assortment of recording instruments to show height balloon has ascended, speed at which it had traveled, distance it had traveled, and the temperature and humidity of the air through which it had passed.

It had been released by a weather bureau station in Maryland and attached to it were complete instructions for finder to return it to the station by Parcel Post. Return instructions aid finder would be rewarded by from $5.00 to $20.00 for returning outfit to the station promptly if in good condition. The outfit was in excellent condition. There wasn't a mark or scratch on it, other than the balloon having been bursted before descending. It had settled in the field as carefully as a person could have placed it on a table.

Two Minute Sermon

UNWILLING TO PAY THE PRICE:

In the 19th chapter of Matthew is told the story of the rich young man who came to Christ as he was teaching the multitudes and said: "Good Master, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?" He was told that he should keep the commandments. "All these have I kept from my youth up," the young man asked, "What lack I yet? When The Christ told him that he must sell all that he had and give to the poor the Scriptures states he went away sorrowing, for he had much possessions. The young man felt in his heart that he lacked something to insure him eternal life, but when he learned what it was he was unwilling to pay the price. He lacked, as we say today, what it took to cut loose from his old life and launch out into the new. How like many today. They know in their hearts they lack something and know what it is, but like the rich young man are unwilling to pay the price. It so happened that riches were his problem. With others it may be quite another problem. It may be quitting certain associates, certain practices, certain faults. Their unwillingness to give up sends them away sorrowing. They are unwilling to pay the price.

Limerick Contest Winners

In case we did not make the rules of the limerick contest clear last week in our limited space, we wish to explain them further here.

Four lines of a limerick are hidden in four ads on the opposite page. To win one of the cash prizes, find the hidden lines, assemble them in their proper order, compose a last line, and mail to this office.

We stated further that the first correct limericks to reach this office would win the cash prizes. By this we meant that ALL the limericks that had reached us by Friday noon, would be placed in a box, and the first two correct ones drawn there from would win the cash prizes.

We hope this clears up any questions you might have had on the subject.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

BUT IT'S JUST AS GOOD

YOU have had the experience, haven't you, of going into some stores and asking for an advertised brand of goods, only to have the clerk hand you another brand and inform you, "But it's just as good."

Sometimes, to your regret, you bought the "just as good" item but sometimes you walked out of the store and searched until you found the merchandise you had asked for in the first place. When you got it you were satisfied.

You had confidence in the advertised goods, because you read in the honest pronouncements of the advertiser what you might expect his product to do for you. This gave you assurance. You bought because you had confidence.

But when that clerk palmed off something different on you, you had misgivings, you had doubts, you had fears, you had lack of confidence.

Maybe they were justified. Maybe they were not. It doesn't matter. The fact remains that advertising had invested the advertiser's goods with a confidence which made your buying a pleasant in place of a fearful duty.

Usually, but not always, these "just as good" goods are not as good—they are inferior and the merchant sells them because they carry more profit for him. He does his level best to get rid of them, because it is more to his advantage to do so than it is to yours.

Many stores pay their salesman a commission for selling unknown and unadvertised goods, because the salesman would not sell them without some special inducement.

It is much better for you as a consumer to put your reliance absolutely in advertised goods and in stores which advertise, and to patronize both exclusively.

When a man advertises his goods and tells frankly and publicly what they will do for you, he seeks your patronage on the basis of actual value.

It may be that some manufacturers or merchants can offer just as good value in unknown or unadvertised goods. But the chances are ten to one that they can't—because advertising not only increases the distribution of goods, but at the same time increases the production, so that advertised goods cost less to make; hence, gives more to the buyer.

In the long run you get more for your money when you buy advertised goods. You get more in actual value. And also get more in that intangible value, known as confidence.

And confidence is one of the chief satisfactions of life.

TRIPLE BELLING HALTED WHEN FOUR CARS CRASH

Friends of three newly married couples, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Gordon surprised them at their homes Friday night and gave them an old fashioned bell. Near the city limits of Rochester four cars, containing friends of the couples, were considerably damaged in a traffic jam. The Plymouth Sedan, driven by Guido Shirey was damaged to the greatest extent. The other three cars belonged to Merl Harold, Charles Eaton and Kermit Leininger. Gaylord Jones, a passenger in the Harold car, sustained arm injuries and other members of the bell party were considerably bruised. An x-ray of the Jones' boys arm Saturday morning showed that the bone was broken and splinted, and in a very bad condition.

Definition of M-Day

M Day is a term employed by the United States war department to denote the first day of the World war.

LOAD OF HAY BURNS ON FLECK'S TRUCK

The Mentone Fire Department was summoned to the John Fenstermaker farm about six o'clock Friday evening when a load of hay on Russel Fleck's truck caught on fire. The origin of the fire was not determined. Fleck had purchased the hay of Fenstermaker and John Secrist, driver of the truck, was just leaving the Fenstermaker barn lot when the blaze was discovered. State Police Officer Clayton Clutter, towed the truck to a site several rods beyond the Fenstermaker buildings, and the fire department removed the hay. Traffic was halted on Road No. 19 where the hay burned for some time. The remainder of the truck was towed into town.

Scotland Yard Blocks Crooks' Source of Tips

LONDON.—Audacious methods are being used by crooks in Britain to learn secret ways used by Scotland Yard to catch them. Scotland Yard chiefs have learned that police have been instructing crooks for several weeks on crime detection.

The blunder was discovered when a London police station inspector asked the criminal records office at Scotland Yard for the file of an arrested man.

Startled officials found that the man, who had a long list of previous convictions, was a member of the police war reserve. As a part of his training he must have been shown the inner workings of the Yard, including the information room, nerve center of crook-catching, and the map room, where colored flags denote the prevalence of crime in different areas.

He would also have been instructed in police methods of trapping offenders and would have had access to official instructions.

A quick survey strengthened the suspicions of Yard officials that the man was not the only crook who had taken advantage of police information to break the law.

Hitherto recruits for the reserve have only had to fill in a form and pass a medical test. There has been no investigation of character. Orders have now been issued to close this loophole in the regulations.

Midwest Cattle Rustling Now Large-Scale Crime

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Cattle rustling has become a big time criminal activity and is now costing Midwest farmers approximately $1,500,000 a year.

Reports from the Missouri highway patrol for 1938 show that in Missouri alone the loss from cattle rustling was $150,000.

In Kansas the problem has become so acute that all sheriffs have been requested to file figures on rustling reports and losses with the state live stock commissioner.

According to the Missouri highway patrol, most of the modern rustlers operate out of large cities and use speedy trucks.

Stray Pup Prima Donna Gives Police Headache

BOSTON.—A stray prima donna pup, addicted to singing for its supper, gave police at the Matapan station a headache while a temporary guest there.

The dog's operatic attempts brought police running with food. But after downing the food, the pup began another aria. More food. More arias.

Finally police called it a day and stuffed their ears with cotton.

Chinook Winds
The chinook is a wind which blows from west or north over the Rocky mountains, where it descends as a dry wind, warm in winter and cool in summer. It is due to a cyclone passing northward and continues for a few hours to several days. In Oregon and Washington the term is sometimes applied to a warm, moist southwest wind. The wind was so called by the white settlers of Astoria because it came from the direction of the Chinook camp.

An electronic microscope has been invented which, without lenses, magnifies up to 20,400 times, and gives 25 times the resolving power of the best conventional lens-type microscope. Introduction of Whist
The Encyclopedia of Sports says that Benjamin Franklin is credited with introducing whist into the United States. While in Paris in 1767 he was invited to play a variety of the game known as Boston. He became an enthusiast and taught his American friends and the game became quite popular in this country after the Revolutionary war.

Civic pride and town spirit is that something that gets into the people of a town that makes them want to keep their lawn mowed, their house painted, and their home attractive. It is the spirit that causes the citizens of a community to stand up for its institutions, boost its ball team, its schools, churches and its enterprises. It is the spirit that causes residents of a community to feel that they live in the best town in the whole country and everything about it is the best. When enough people get to feeling that way about a community it is pretty sure to become just that sort of a community.

Did you know that the one hour Chase & Sanborn-Charley McCarthy program costs the sponsors $15,000 for the radio hook-up. This does not include the talent which is paid extra.

A good advertisement, properly written, containing interesting information regarding the merchandise a store has to sell is a potential invitation to every person who reads it to visit that store. The invitation extends wherever the paper circulates, throughout the town's whole trade territory. Every such advertisement a newspaper prints is a similar invitation to possible buyers with money to spend to come to that community to spend it. The more of such invitations a newspaper contains each week the more buyers will be interested and come to the town to buy. It's trade like this from a wide area that makes a town prosperous and a good place to come to shop.

A prisoner in the Kansas penitentiary was killed last week by a fellow lifer because he persisted in whistling monotonously over and over "Three Little Fishies."

We were shocked the other day when we saw a man ruthlessly and needlessly put his heel upon a toad that hopped out into the path and crush out its life. There is something about the harmlessness of a toad and its useful service so humbly rendered that causes us to regard them as friends to mankind. There is something about a man who needlessly crushes out the life of a toad that causes us to distrust him.

When it comes to getting out the full attendance at a committee meeting, nothing exerts quite the pulling power of a good meal.

A real tragedy is to experience a night in which sleep just will not come, when you know you have a heavy day before you that is going to require all the mental alertness and physical energy of which you are capable.

A lot of big and worth while things have been done in this world by ordinary men who had no special talent or genius—they just went ahead and did the very best they knew how.

A page advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post in black ink costs $8,000. If one prefers color the cost is $15,000. One page in Life in black ink costs $5,700. The same in colors costs $10,545.

After all, the king and queen did not really see America. They saw merely one phase of it. They saw its biggest city, its capital, its parade, its glamor. True this is a part of America. Behind all of this, making all of this possible is the real America, the small towns, the fertile farm valleys, the modest homes of the great mass of people, the little shops where thousands pursue their labors that support the great cities and the great industries and the government itself at Washington. The king and queen did not see the small American home supported and maintained by the average American by thrift, and self-denial, and industry. It is out of homes like this scattered all over this land that young men and young women come whose ideals of life and Democracy are the bulwark of our American way of living.

Not long ago, says Collier's, in a California court of law, a new trial was requested in a $10,500 damage suit because one of the jurors happened to admit that he had consulted a dictionary, instead of the judge, for a definition of "gross negligence."

Rubber Calling Card

According to the American magazine, George N. Spencer, of Springdale, Pa., an inventor, has devised tires for his automobile that print his name and address on the pavement as he drives. Ink drips from wells under the fenders of rear wheels onto the tires.

Finland Like America

Those who think Finland is a tourist land only recently made part of Europe need to be reminded that a pre-war Baedeker stated that Helsinki was a modern city "suggesting America rather than Europe."

Nature's Cycle Is Shown

Arresting examples of nature's endless cycle may be viewed at Hawaii National park in the Mauna Iki area. There among the weird formations in the pahoehoe lava, widely scattered shrubs and ferns and a few stunted trees are striving to gain a foothold. They represent the advance guard of vegetation and the breaking down of the lava built up by volcanoes into soil. Much of the surface of Mauna Iki's pahoehoe lava is rainbow tinted and as perforated as Swiss cheese.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF SUCCESS

WE OFTEN say when we discuss various things we acquire that it isn't the original cost that counts. It is the upkeep. This is particularly true of success.

The fact is that there is a responsibility of success which failure or mediocrity never knows. The man who is successful, who achieves in whatever line he may enter, has an obligation and a responsibility which requires that he continue to do his very best.

Especially is this true of business. To make a brief success of a business isn't hard. To build a lasting success requires close application and a fine sense of the obligation which success implies and demands.

If advertising served no other purpose than to create the obligation of success it would perform a useful social and economic act, for advertising holds up this obligation of success and demands that it be observed constantly.

Charles Roth

Whenever a manufacturer or a merchant begins to advertise he sets self-imposed standards on himself. By these standards co others judge him. By these standards do they also classify him.

He has an obligation to live up to every day thenceforward.

If he hadn't advertised, he could give good quality one day and poor quality the next and get by with it. But when he comes out boldly in print and advertises, the die is cast, and he must forever live up to the highest ideals.

Shrewd men have thought that they could controvert this law. By putting quality and good value into a product and then by advertising it, they have succeeded in a short time in building up a big business. And then came temptation.

"Why maintain all this quality?" they ask themselves. The public will never know. Why not cut the quality but continue the advertising and clean up? They have tried. But the public does know quality, is quick to perceive deception, and abandons the man or product which tries to substitute inferiority for honest merchandise.

There is no quicker way to ruin a business than to set up a standard and then violate it. There is no better way to build a business than to set up a standard and then live up to it.

Advertising is the great setter of standards in American business life, and advertised goods are the standards by which you spend your income, confident of getting your money's worth every day.

The man who advertises has assumed the responsibility for success. You'd rather deal with a responsible man, wouldn't you?

© Charles B. Roth.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

THEY FORGET GOD: In appraising Solomon as the wisest man who ever lived, historians take the sum total of his life with his accomplishments and his short comings, put them all together and upon the whole base their findings. One of the many lessons to be found in the long life of Solomon that might be applied to the present day is the fact that as a young king eighteen years old he started out with high ideals. Challenged by the size of the task before him, he sought the Lord in commendable humility and made of him a request, remarkable for a young man, that he be given an understanding heart to judge the people and to discern between the good and the bad.

It is told that the unselfish wish of the young man pleased the Lord and it was granted. As a young man he held to his high ideals and under him the kingdom grew and reached the height of its power and glory and wealth.

But prosperity proved too much. Solomon forgot the idealism of his youth, and selfishness and wrong crept into his reign until toward its end dissatisfaction and dissent and discord appeared which resulted in the division of the kingdom and a long struggle for his people. How typical of many today. They start out filled with unselfish ideals, but as riches and power increase, selfishness increases, they lose their sense of values, and life, instead of being an ascending climax of greatness, becomes a grief and a disappointment because they forget God.

Primitive Refrigeration

While America accepts electric refrigerator as a modern convenience, a convenience that is indispensable to the standard of living to which we are accustomed, on the other side of the globe, particularly in Asia or Africa, almost unbelievably primitive methods are used to get even a small measure of refrigeration.

Industrial Romance

The progress of the Brazilian coffee industry was the industrial romance of the last century. Some 300 years ago the original plants or beans were brought from Arabia and planted at Para.

Farm Machinery Sales

Tractors amounted to 42 per cent of farm equipment sales in the United States in 1935 and 1937 in contrast with only 27.2 per cent in 1925.

Radium in Rocks

Many rocks carry a small amount of radium.

Government Water Consumption

An estimate, based on the fiscal year ended June 30, 1938, shows that 16 3-10 per cent, or 4,812,578,900 gallons of water, were used by the United States government in the District of Columbia.

The invention of cellophane is due to J. E. Brandenberger, a Swiss chemist, whose experiments extended from 1900 to 1912. A moisture-proof product was later developed in U. S. laboratories.

Soil-Building Crops

North Carolina has practically tripled its soil-building acreage in the last 10 years. More than 2,000,000 acres of these crops are expected to be planted in 1939.

Interior Horses

Because inferior horses have been imported into South Africa in the past, the Johannesburg Turf club has suggested importations (now exceeding India's and Australia's combined) be curbed.

Use Sailboats for Oyster Fishing

When you eat a North Carolina oyster, in all probabilities it was caught in a manner which has been prevalent for several hundred years; at least as long as man has been eating oysters. Oyster fishermen off the North Carolina coast still depend on sails for motive power, as they drag the bottom of Pamlico sound with basket-like iron scoops, to scrape the oyster from his lair on the rocky bottom.

Badminton's Origin

The Encyclopedia of Sports says that badminton was called poona when it originated in India many centuries ago. The game appears to have been confined to that country until the late 1860s, when English army officers, who had become converts, took equipment back to England and introduced the sport there. The duke of Beaufort became interested in the new game and formally introduced it to society in 1873, during a house party at his home called Badminton in Gloucestershire, whence its present name is derived.

It isn't what a man says of what he promises to do that causes his banker to loan him money, it is what he has said and what he has done.

The secret of community progress is found in two things; a definite plan or program, and second, the co-operation of the resources and leadership of the community behind the program.

The formul is simple but it is remarkable how many communities with a desire to get things done fail to adopt it. They talk about a lot of things but never center upon any one thing. They dissipate their energy and resource by applying them to several projects. The result is nothing gets finished and there is no satisfaction or record of accomplishment to be found at the end of the year.

Every community that has done things for itself has followed this simple formula. They could not have succeeded or have accomplished what they have except for this plan. They have selected a definite project and then concentrated all of their efforts and resource upon it until it was realized. The plan is so simple it is to be wondered that so many miss it.

A fine example of this plan is our Mentone Community Fair and Live Stock Show. Each year the members of the Mentone Lions Club give freely their time and energy in an effort to make it the success that it is today.

The Greeks Had a Word

Two schools of thought exist on the derivation of the word "glass." Some say it comes from the Celtic word "glas" meaning green or bluish-green, the color of common window glass when seen edgewise. Others say it is from the Latin "glacies" meaning ice, because the word "crystal" is derived from the Greek word meaning ice.

Taxes on Food

Out of every dollar the average American family spends, 33 cents goes for food. Six cents of this portion is taken by hidden taxes, according to a recent survey. A loaf of bread carries 53 taxes, a quart of milk is taxed 57 times, and one-sixth of the cost of a cup of tea represents taxes.

Forbidden Is Permitted

One of Rome's new sights for tourists is the Circus Maximus, a stadium so large that it makes our bowls look like tea cups. It had seats for 385,000 persons. Until recently excavated it was just a green hill.

Pasture Land Decreases

Agriculture officials estimate that in 1915 it required 96,000,000 acres of farm crops to feed the horses and mules in the United States, but in 1936 only 54,000,000 acres were required. Pasture requirements dropped from 90,000,000 acres to 55,000,000.

Pews With Windows

One of the things which astonish visitors to the Dome church, oldest church in Tallinn, Estonia, is that the family pews are enclosed with windows which apparently were opened or shut according to whether the sermon was interesting or dull.

Cherry, an eight-year-old short-horn cow, bred at the Red House farm, Amesbury, Wiltshire, England, holds the world record for a year's milk production with a total output of 41,644½ pounds, or an average of 57 quart bottles a day.

Whooping Cough Is Fatal To Infant

In spite of the heroic efforts of Dr. Urschel and his assistants, Little Robert Allen Emmons, forty-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Emmons died at the Urschel office at 12:35 a. m. Monday. The child had been ill with whooping cough for many weeks and was brought to the doctors office in a critical condition at six o'clock Sunday evening. For six hours artificial respiration was administered and every effort was made to save the child's life. When Urschel's supply of oxygen ran low State Police Officer Clayton Clutter was sent to Rochester for more. A request for oxygen was broadcast from Columbia City State Police station, and the Warsaw Fire Department brought their resuscitator but all efforts were futile.

THE NORTHERN INDIANA
CO-OP. NEWS

Published Every Wednesday by Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association.

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

A street of the smallest residences well painted, in good repair, and surrounded by well kept lawns, appeals at once to every passerby. It conveys a comfortable sense of thrift and well being and an atmosphere of beauty. Not every town can be a thriving metropolis, but every town can be beautiful. It is up to the individual property owners of the town.

Making a town beautiful is not a thing that is accomplished by an edict, or order, or an ordinance. A town is made beautiful by the individual efforts of the home owner and the businessmen.

—:—:—
The truly generous is truly wise, and he who loves not others, lives unblest.— Henry Home.

—:—:—
A new portable air conditioning unit has been perfected which resembles in appearance a radio set, weighs only 35 pounds, and can be carried from room to room. It is put in operation by filling it with water and plugging it in on an electric outlet.

—:—:—
The story is told of a large family who settled in a section of the country remote from any trading center. Because they were separated by considerable distance from a source of supply of daily needs five of the brothers conceived the idea of setting up small stores at their homes in which were stocked items of common daily needs. Instead of going to the distant city to buy, they each bought from each other. As long as they continued to do this, they all prospered, and the money remained in the family, but whenever one of them went outside the circle and bought from the merchant in the distant city the money was gone forever from the family.

The same is true with towns. As long as the citizens of the town trade at home the money stays in the community and goes back into the channels of trade again and again to give employment, buy merchandise, and all the many daily needs. The best way for a community to build its prosperity is to do the thing that time has proven will build its prosperity—trade at home and keep its money at home.

In the "horse and buggy days"

pleasure trips were taken in the spring wagon or on a hay rack and those picnics and hayrack rides were just as enjoyable as though ten thousand dollars worth of automobiles had been used to transport the party as is often the case today.

—:—:—
Incidentally, 6.3 per cent of all new cars sold last year were repossessed, and 19.2 per cent, nearly one in every five used cars purchased on time last year were taken back by finance companies. Yet with this seeming hardship of keeping cars in operation, travel set a new world record in 1938. Some 300 million miles were clocked off by American motorists.

—:—:—
In the opinion of J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of F. B. I., the crooked politician is our public enemy No. 1. He stated recently that corrupt politicians are responsible for an army of criminals totaling nearly 5,000,000 in this country.

—:—:—
If a young man or woman has difficulty in getting along with their family, you can be pretty sure that marriage is going to be an uphill climb for them.

SNOWBALL FIGHT IN JULY IS NEWS

Bob Whetstone began to think the recent heat wave had proved too much for him last Thursday when stepping out of Tombaugh's Furniture Mart he was met by a barrage of snowballs. He was on the verge of staggering across the street to the doctor's office to see if there was any chance of recovery when another staggering onslaught of the wet frozen stuff descended upon him. Then he saw a whole drift of it in front of the Locker Plant and began to feel better. The condensation from the lockers had been dumped in the gutter and were the kids ever having fun! Bob ducked a few more frozen missiles before deciding that enough was enough. A bucket of cold water from the upstairs window evened up the score with his assailants.

ADVERTISING BRINGS RESULTS TO LOCKER CO.

Fifty new lockers are now being installed at the Locker Plant and will be available for rent this week.

The above advertisement, inserted in last week's issue, is evidence of what this medium of advertising has done for the Mentone Frozen Locker Plant. The manager, Mr. Shinn, began advertising the week his plant opened last December and in less than a year he has added fifty new lockers to his spacious storage room. Fifty more lockers have been ordered and will be available to the public in September.

With the publication of the Locker Plant's strawberry ad in our May 31 issue Mr. Shinn and his employees were met with an avalanche of straw berries that kept the whole force working eighteen hours a day for a fortnight. During that time they prepared for storage over 5000 quarts. This was followed by a barrage of raspberries and later cherries and other fruit. Besides the fruit, they are putting up their regular amount of beef pork, poultry and green vegetables.

Cardboard containers of fruits and vegetables have been stacked in the center of the storage room to the height of four feet, waiting the arrival of this shipment of lockers. Lockers have been sold to families living fifteen miles from Mentone.

A few dollars worth of well written advertising in the Co-Op News brought the Locker Plant more business than they could comfortably take care of. Mr. Shinn stated that since his opening last December he had used no other medium of advertising save the Co-Op News—he has never sent out a circular or other printed matter to Boxholders and does not intend to do so. "I couldn't find a better medium of advertising if I tried," he stated, "and besides it's so economical."
