KENNETH SHOEMAKER SUF-FERS ELECTRICAL SHOCK

Saturday about noon Kenneth Shoemaker narrowly escaped death when a neck stripping machine he was operating at the Nellans Poultry Dressing Plant became shorted sending an electrical charge through his body.

The young man was wearing rubber boots, which is claimed helped save him, but the boots were leaking and his feet were just moist enough to carry the ground circuit when he took hold of the metal part of the machine. The insulation on a service wire to the machine wore through, permitting the short circuit to occur.

Mr. Shoemaker later said he couldn't let go of the machine and he was just bouncing up and down. He was made unconscious but came to several min-utes afterward. Dr. Urschel was called and the fire department boys gave him relief with their resuscitator. He was taken to the McDonald hospital at Warsaw where he is recovering, although no visitors are yet permitted in his room other than members of his own family.

He received no burns, but suffered a cracked vertebrae in his back.

WATCH PULLETS

Be on the lookout from now on for "bluecomb" in your poultry flock, warns M. L. Wilson, Purdue University poultry marketing specialist. This disease generally hits from July to November, as the pullets go into production, curtailing egg output sharply, reminds the specialist.

FOR BLUECOMB

Bluecomb causes both sexes to lose appetite, have whitish or watery diarrhea, and display a comb, head and skin turned blue in color. Other noticeable traits of the disease are a sour crop, dry shanks and scaly skin on the showing symptoms be sent to a poulbreast.

LONG HOLIDAYS ARE DEATH'S OPPORTUNITY

Indiana's streets and highways will witness 11 traffic deaths over the Independence Day weekend, the Chicago Motor Club predicted today.

A total of 385 serious injuries will probably result from the holiday travel over the three-day weekend, according to the Motor Club bulletin.

Albert Safford, call or write Walt SAND, GRAVEL, LIMESTONE, fill dirt. Phone 31J. Wayne Tombaugh.

Cooperation with state highway police and municipal and county traffic officers can reduce this anticipated toll considerably, the club pointed out. The following program is recommended to help reduce accidents:

1. Start early on long trips to eliminate night driving. Two-thirds of all fatal accidents occur at night.

2. Allow extra margins for driving error especially in passing or following other cars. Control speeds and avoid passing at intersections, railroad crossings, bridge approaches and other hazardous points.

3. Put your car in shape for holiday driving. Double-check all safety equipment including brakes, lights, tires and windshield wipers.

4. If you must stop for emergencies, get well off the roadway and try to find a spot where there are no obstructions to visibility for at least 400 feet.

year large numbers of corn flea beetles are acting as carriers of the disease, attacking field corn more than might be expected. The yellowish streaking of the leaves is quickly followed by wilting. The tissue later dies, and in severe cases the entire plant wilts and dies. Plants that have the disease will often show cavities in the pith and begin to rot near the ground.

The disease is caused by a bacterium that is carried from infected to healthy plants by the flea beetle. Over wintered flea beetles carry the diseasecausing bacteria in their bodies and mouth parts and transmit them to young corn plants this season. When the flea beetle feeds on corn leaves, the bacteria enter the water-conducting tissues in the corn and progress through the entire plant.

Ullstrup says that the spread of the disease can be controlled to some extent by reducing the flea beetle population with DDT spray. However, spraying must be done early and plants must be thoroughly covered. Once the disease is in the plants spraying is not effective.

In sweet corn, which is very susceptible, Ullstrup recommends planting Golden Cross Bantam, Country Gentleman, or Evergreen varieties to reduce losses. He observes that the early yellow types of sweet corn are most susceptible and the late white types are much more tolerant of the disease.

This straight-forward opinion comes from Bruce Russell, noted farm man-Magement specialist. He has had close contact with farming as it has developed from small-scale to mass production in less than half a century.

How do top farmers squeeze more dollars out of their operations?

Russell gives this answer: "The successful operators, though they may be different in every other respect, all have three striking characteristics:

1. They know how to plan. They make practical plans and stick to them. 2. They keep accurate records and know how to read the warnings these records contain.

A great many of the troubles encountered in raspberry production can be eliminated by cutting out and destroying all the old canes that fruited this year.

Best time to get rid of old canes is the same day harvest ends, believes Ward. He says to destroy them by burning.

While the red raspberry and blackberry are not as susceptible to anthracnose as the black rasberry, gardeners should still not take unnecessary risks and leave any of the old fruiting canes around to spread

FOR A SAFE FOURTH

Fourth of July week end vacationers were urged by State Police Supt. Frank A. Jessup to "help prevent tragedy by mixing common sense, extra care not until an hour after eating. Don't and courtesy with your fun."

Because Independence Day falls on a week end this year, Supt. Jessup warned that highways and resorts probably will be jammed to capacity with pleasure-bent citizens. He appealed to holiday crowds to observe the following safety suggestions and prevent accidents:

1. TRAFFIC-Start early, don't hur-

3. BOATING-Don't overload the boat, distribute the load evenly, and don't stand up. Make sure the boat is seaworthy and watch out for sudden storms.

4. OVEREXPOSURE— Take the sun in easy stages and wear sunglasses. Guard against the danger of overexertion if the day is hot and the sun intense

5. FIREWORKS-Attend only authorized fireworks displays. Fireworks are unlawful in Indiana and homemade pyrotechnics dangerous.

Supt. Jessup said that 15 people were killed outright or died later in traffic accidents during the three-day July 4 holiday last year. Eight victims were claimed on July 4, 1952, which fell on Friday; three were killed July 5 and four on July 6, he reported.

4-H DEMONSTRATION CONTESTS of the contest.

TRACTOR CATCHES ON FIRE

win The fire department was called to the Wayne Tombaugh home Saturday Ger noon to extinguish fire in his Ford mer tractor. Although the damage to the tractor wasn't so extensive, the fire stubbornly resisted all efforts of the fire department. Two fog, nozzles were concentrated on the burning motor, and a CO2 extinguisher was emptied on it before it was put out.

Mr. Tombaugh had been using the tractor and had stopped at his gas pump to fill the tank. After it was filled he started the motor and it just burst into flames. Gasoline soon began to pour from the tank in a steady stream and just didn't want to quit burning. The two streams of water kept the temperature of the tank and motor down to prevent an explosion and also heavy damage to the tractor motor.

Saturday was an extremely hot day and a person isn't aware of the danger involved when putting gasoline into any vehicle. I'm not indicating carelessness on Mr. Tombaugh's part, but likely few of us realize how quickly gasoline vaporizes on a hot day or how far the fumes travel with the moving air. There have been reports in times past of a spark or cigarette igniting gasoline fumes over 25 feet from an automobile being filled at a gasoline station. For safety's sake, be extremely careful when handling gasoline in hot weather, and especially remember that the vaporized gas fumes are heavier than air and will concentrate near the ground or in any low spot or basement, staying there for hours.

> The best cattle market of 1953 looks to be from July to September, analyzes M. Paul Mitchell. Purdue agricultural economist. He bases his observation on the latest U.S.D.A. "Cattle on Feed" survey which points strongly to smaller marketings and strengthened prices in the third quarter, especially on the better grades of cattle.

Farmers with sandy soil or shallow loamy soil whose corn yields have been averaging less than 70 bushels, may want to investigate irrigation. G. G. Williams, Purdue University agronois to begin at 9:00 a.m. Achievement mist, says that irrigated plots on the Sand Experimental field near Culver last year produced 120 bushels of corn compared with a 60-bushel yield on non-irrigated land.

ING TO AKRON THEATRE Starring John Wayne, the Nation's No. 1 box-office star, and directed by John Ford, three-time Academy Award winner, Republic's much heralded technicolor production of the Maurice Walsh story, "The Quiet Man," comes to the Akron theatre Sunday and Monday, July 12 and 13, as the first feature length motion picture to be filmed in Ireland by an American picture company.

A pictorial masterpiece that sparkles with wit, gay Irish humor and tenderness, and with as riotous a finish as has ever been filmed, the not so quiet "Quiet Man" concerns the turbulent homecoming of an Irish-born American pugilist, who, having killed a man in the ring back in the States, comes to his small home town seeking peace and quiet. Here he falls in love with and marries the fiery Maureen O'Hara, only to find that he must fight his way to happiness. The musical score by Victor Young adds to the charm of the picture while superlative Technicolor photography has brought Ireland's soft green landscapes to the screen in all their natural beauty.

HAMMER-HEPLER

Miss Sue Hammer and Richard Hepler were united in marriage Saturday evening, June 20, in a pretty semiformal ceremony held at the Atwood Methodist church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hammer, Jr., of this vicinity and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hepler of near Atwood. Candelabras, palms and beautiful baskets of red roses and white lilies provided the setting for the doublering ceremony which was read by Rev. Homer Farthing.

Mrs. Thomas Witham, planist, pre-"Always," "I Believe" sented and "With This Ring" and Miss Phyllis Grubbs, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Carol Rule, sang "Indian Love Call and "Because" in the twenty minute musicale preceding the ceremony. "I Love You Truly" was played softly by Mrs. Witham during the ceremony of Atwood seated the guests who were and Miss Grubbs sang "The Lord's Praver" at the close.

The bride, given in marriage by her father chose a ballering length gown of white lace over satin. A small beaded tiara held her shoulder length veil and she carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of red roses, white pompons and satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a pearl choker, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor, Miss Beverly Koontz of Ft. Wayne, cousin of the bride, wore a ballerina length gown of aqua net over satin and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. Little Kip Hammer, also a cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a heart shaped satin and lace pillow.

Richard Jordan, of Atwood, was best man. Douglas Hoffer and Lewis Wray, from Florida, South Bend, Ft. Wayne, Bourbon, Warsaw, Mentone, Columbia City, Etna Green, Leesburg, Burket and Atwood.,

The bride's mother wore a dress of lavender color linen and lace with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose a navy blue silk print ensemble with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake, topped with bells and a miniature bride and groom, was served with punch and mints to approximately 100 guests. Serving at the refreshment table were Miss Joan Hepler, sister of the groom, Tomaline Witham, Connie Anglin and Sherry Parks.

When the couple left to spend, a few days in Chicago the bride was wearing an American beauty color dress of silk shantung with white accessories. They are now residing in Warsaw.

Mr. Hepler was graduated from the Atwood high school in 1952 and the bride was a member of the 1953 graduating class of the Mentone high school.

QUICK ACTION OFTEN

With the announcement of the first 1953 polio death in Indiana the In- past-several years it is found that the diana State Medical Association issused a bulletin to parents of children to from one to nineteen years of age assist them in recognizing this dis-in this state is accidents, including ease and containing tips for quick action which if followed will tend to lighten the attack.

An attack of indigestion, a head cold, unexplained fever or headache may mean that infantile paralysis is developing. If these symptoms appear, call your physician and go to bed, or place your child in bed, is the advice given.

"People who try to continue normal activity after the appearance of such warning signs have a greater chance of developing the disease more seriously," the bulletin continues. "Medical care immediately may prevent crippling.

"It should be emphasized that a good many people have the early symptoms but never get paralysis at all. Even when there is a lot of polio myelitis around, most cases of indigestion and most headaches have no connection with the disease.

"As soon as a definite case of infantile paralysis has been discovered, the other members of the family should be examined. When the diagnosis of polio has been made, the patient should be treated in a hospital because the best results are obtained when the medical care, nursing, physical therapy and other treatments are readily available, as they are in the hospital centers especially equipped for handling this disease.

"The treatment of early polio has improved greatly and will likely continue to do so. To get the best results, however, people should be on the alert for the early symptoms and they should seek proper attention right away.

"Rest ,relaxation and muscular training later are important in treatment. Proper nursing care is invaluable as are measures to combat the muscle spasm which accompanies the early stages of poliomyelitis.

"While the thought of polio striking your child is a dreaded thought of every parent, the medical association calls attention to the fact that more children die and are crippled from ac-PREVNTS POLIO CRIPPLING cidents and other diseases than polio. The second leader in causes of death of children from one to nine years is pneumonia while tuberculosis is the number two killer of children from ten to fourteen and heart disease ranks second in the age group of fifteen to nineteen. Nowhere does poliomeyelitis rank in the first five causes of death in children of our state.

Deaths from polio during the last ten years in Indiana total 432. Breakdown of deaths from this disease by years is as follows: 1942-18; 1943-20: 1944 - 30; 1945-25; 1946-49; 1947-15; 1948-29; 1949-116; 1950-84; 1951-46.

The bulletin carries a warning, in view of a recent study made by a physician, that one of the leading causes of polio might be attributed to to much exposure to the sun. SAVE ACHES-SORT CLOTHES ON TABLE

Sorting clothes for washing doesn't have to be a back-breaking job. Bring abdomen. the clothes-sorting job from the floor to a table to save the back. Miss Gertrude Monhaut, exxtension home management specialist at Purdue University, relates that too often homemakers strain the muscles in their backs by dumping clothes on the floor so they have to bend over to sort them. It's a much easier job when clothes are emptied on a table the about twenty-six inches high. Then they can be painlessly sorted.

Home economists at Kansas State College carried on research with fifty farm homemakers, trying to find out how they did their laundry. Threefourths of these women working with the researchers were found to be carrying 35 to 45IuHkDFaDhbhy7,z ym ing thirty-five to forty-five pounds KERATOLYTIC BECAUSE of soiled items from all parts of the house to the laundry room. There they dumped the laundry in piles on the floor and did a lot of stooping to complete the sorting for the washing machine. Bending from the waist and keeping the legs straight, tends to develop poor posture, broad hips and a sagging

The researchers point out that sorting the laundry on a table about twenty-six inches high helps to eliminate fatigue. Then, too, women can stand in a relatively good position while they work. When they do the sorting on such a raised platform, bench or chairs, they can inspect clothes to determine if pre-treatment is needed before the garment is put into the washer. Floors contribute nothing to the condition of clothes already soiled

265 HEAD AT JUNE LAMB POOL

The first lamb pool for the 1953 season held at Warsaw Fairgrounds June 23 brought out 265 head of sheep and lambs-an unusually large number for this early in the year. Marketing lambs early has been encouraged for many years by the Purdue Animal Husbandry Department and the agricultural extension service. Lambs marketed in June generally bring more per pound than later and escape many parasites and much hot weather which causes them to lose fat and consequently to be lower in market value.

Lambs sold at Warsaw are sold on a graded basis, and those sold at the June pool were of very good quality. Twenty-eight percent of the spring lambs sold graded prime and sold for $26.50 per cwt. Forty percent were in the choice grade and sold for $24.50 per cwt., and the twenty-nine percent that graded good sold for $22.50 per cwt.

The pools are operated as one of the sheep improvement projects of the Kosciusko County sheep association and will be held on the fourth Tuesday of July, August, September, October and November. Sam Knoop of Claypool is preisdent of the association and William Whiteleather, Etna Green, is secretary-treasurer. There are seven directors who take turns as pool managers.

"Even with good current egg prices you'll be dollars ahead,," says Capper's Farmer. "It will cut costs by the first of the year, when eggs from a large second crop of pullets will start pulling prices down."

Many flock owners make hens pay their way with this uninvolved culling system:

1. Cull out the yellow. When housed, the best pullets of the yellow-skinned breeds have bright yellow beaks and shanks, and yellow pigmented vent and eye ring. Those that lose yellow pigment first usually are the most intensive layers. Pullets retaining yellow spent too much time everywhere but on the nest.

2. Get rid of the late maturers. At pullet housing time, weed out those undersized, slow-to-develop birds. Market the last ten percent to start laying.

3. Remove the poorly. This should begin with the chicks, continus with pullets and never end with the layers. Get rid of crippled and deformed chicks, those with slow and incomplete feathering, and those that don't learn to eat or show shrunken shanks and bodies.

How much time does culling take? At most I spend three hours a month culling," says a Kansas flock owner. "I have 1500 yearling hens left out of the 2,400 sexed chicks I started with the first of this year. That's heavy culling."

His hens must maintain 65 to 70 percent production to keep out of the noodle pot. He claims those culling hours make good wages.

The Ohio-horn, former newspaper reporter, who originated the method of dispensing business, economic and governmental news, condensed into a weakly four pages mituatelexicultated governmental news, condensed into a weekly, four-page, privately-circulated letter, reviewed events since 1923, and then, with a "look to the future," said:

"Out of our experience as observers comes a conviction, which is this: the world will be better. Improvement is the basic law of life.

Me? I'm a Long Distance Operator!

Barbara Yates photographed at work in LaPorte The third of the "My Job at General Telephone" series

I'm one of the girls who handles your long distance calls—but before I'm allowed to process your calls I must undergo a lot of training. During my training I learn what all the equipment is for and how to handle it to give you better service. I'm taught voice modulation and in my training the secrecy of communications is stressed.

Our Company employs about 700 operators who handle all types of calls—calls close to home—calls to ships at sea—and calls around the world.

While you're placing a long distance call did you ever hear the operator at the distant point say, "D A"? That's a code and means that the called party doesn't answer. It is only one of many codes used by operators all over the country to lessen the time it takes to process your calls.

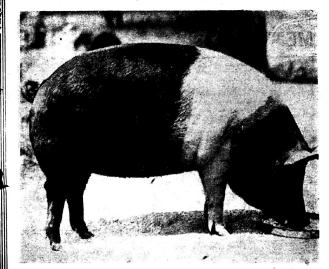

Perhaps it doesn't seem like very much but when you consider that last year an average of nearly 650,000 local and toll calls were handled in our exchanges each day, a little time saved on each call means a lot of time saved for you!

HOPE TO ERADICATE RUST STAINS FROM WATER

Monday morning the Mentone Town Board ordered equipment that is intended to eliminate the staining of clothes, sinks, lavatories, stools, and all such items that come in contact with the present city water. This staining is due to the iron content of the water, and this iron—or rust as we commonly refer to it—nas been accumulating in our water mains for many years. Any slight disturbance releases chunks of this accumulated iron deposit and then it is flushed through the water system.

Injection pumps will be installed at each city well and a small portion of chemical will be placed in the water. It is tasteless, odorless and will not change the quality of the water in any respect. It does not remove the iron from the water, but keeps it in suspension so it will not be deposited in the main to come off later in gobs of red-staining sediment that usually ends up in the white wash.

The pumps will be installed by and under monthly inspection by a water engineer to assure completely satisfactory results.

The initial first year's cost will be about $1,400.00. The system will be in operation within 30 days, but we have been warned that it will take a month or so before all evidence of staining will disappear. Some of the rust deposited in the line now will maturally loosen, and until this is flushed away some staining may still appear. Wednesday the city water pressure again was so low that some places of business had practically no water service. Investigation disclosed the fact that the automatic control at the west pump had a heat bulb burned out. It is the custom to operate the fire station pump during the night (which is manually operated) and then let the west pump maintain the pressure during the day. This method means that both pumps will be operated enough to use up the minimum electric charge against each motor each month.

The board members and the water superintendent appreciate water customers reporting any lack of pressure in the water system, so the condition can be corrected before there is any damage to machinery or equipment, or inconvenience to housewives. Often the water superintendent is about town working and is not aware that the tank pressure is below normal.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Jones and son, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Meredith and daughters, spent Sunday with Mrs. Rhoda Jones.

PURCHASES FOUR-PLACE PLANE

Dr. Dan Urschel, of Mentone, has purchased a four-place 170 Cessna airplane from the Menzie Flying Service at Warsaw, where Mr. Urschel has been taking flying instruction in recent weeks. The Cessna has an 145 horsepower motor and normally cruises at about 110 to 120 miles per hour.

Dr. Urschel states that he plans to use the plane on his many trips to conventions and medical meetings, and as his son is to enter college at Northfield, Minnesota this fall, it will permit the family getting together oftener than if other means of travel are used. We sorta envy "doc" with his new plaything.

SCHOOL TO OPEN AUG. 28TH

Walter Kent, principal of the Mentone School, announces that school will open this fall on Friday, August 28th, for registration, with classes convening on Monday, August 31st. There will be one full week of school before the annual Labor Day holiday.

The date for the opening of the schools of the county this year was established by the township trustees in a joint meeting held recently.

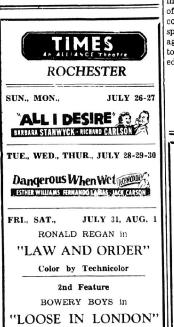

PURDUE SPECIALISTS NAME CORN TROUBLES

Weather and storms rather than seed or fertilizer are the big reasons why farmers got spotted stands of corn this year. In many parts of the state poor physical condition of the seedbed at and following planting, with heavy crusting and succeeding droughts were factors that reduced stands. Corn in these areas didn't get up one hundred percent.

Prof. Glen Lehker, Purdue Extension entomologist, reports widespread damage from wireworms, cutworms, clover white grubs, and others working underground, flea beetles and army worms working above. Insect damage to date has been the most serious in many years, and the corn borer, chinch bugs and possibly grasshoppers have just started their depredations.

Dr. A. J. Ullstrup, corn pathologist at Purdue, considers the development of Stewart's disease on field or dent corn to be the earliest that he has seen. How much damage will follow these early attacks cannot be safely forecast. Ordinarily this disease does not become conspicuous in field corn until late July or August.

Large numbers of corn plants showing both plant food starvation symptoms, and Stewart'ss disease have been received at Purdue. Removal of root hairs, scarcely visible to the naked eye, or destruction of the root system by worms has reduced the ability of the damaged plant to take in food, and starvation symptoms appear. The early purpling of plants suggests phosphate starvation. Yellowing along the mid-rib indicates lack of nitrogen, and firing along the leaf margin usually means lack of potash.

In a few cases plants with white stripes between green veins, suffering a shortage of manganese on high lime soils, or magnesium on very acid soils, have been received. Manganese deficiency of soybeanss in soils well supplied with lime is much more common than on corn, and the symptoms of the deficiency is similar. The interspace between green veins is a pale to light colored green.

No samples showing any injury from fertilizer applications have been received. Prof. R. R. Mulvey, who has carried on research work at Purdue for 35 years in fertilizing corn, with special emphasis on proper placement, points out that fertilizer damage occurs only in the very early seedling stages. Heavy fertilizer applications in contact with the seed at planting time may destroy the seed or early sprout, but will very rarely destroy seedlings once they have grown big enough to cultivate.

Heavy applications of 240 pounds of fifty percent muriate of potash per acre along the row on heavy soil caused very shallow root development, but did not kill the seedlings after emergence. Modern corn planting equipment has safeguards for spreading fertilizer in bands on either side of the seed, and out of immediate contact with it. Removal of these spreaders increases the danger of damage. Otherwise the farmer has little to hear from present day recommended fertilizer applications.

Coal Producers The largest commercial producer of bituminous coal accounts for under 5 percent of the total output.

GIRL SCOUT MINUTES

On July 21, 1953, we opened our regular meeting with the pledge to the flag, scout promise and laws. The minutes were read and approved. We arelgoing to try to go on our camp-out the first week in August, if most of the girls can go. We planned what we were going to take on our campout. So far only four have signed up for the American Girl. We decided not to sell Christmas cards this year. Sue Borton showed us how to make a bed roll. We closed our meeting with our friendship circle.

JULY-WEED KILLING MONTH IN CORN

Getting rid of corn field weeds will be a major project for thousands of Indiana farmers this month. O. C. Lee, Purdue University extension botanist, has some helpful hints to get the job done successfully.

First, if you are spraying large corn, 12 inches or taller, he suggests trying drops or extensions so as to apply the 2,4-D spray at the base of the corn plants, and not directly over them. This way you wil apply the spray directly to the weeds, reducing the danger of injury to the corn.

An ordinary field sprayer will work fine. Just fasten the extensions on every other nozzle opening on the boom. Drop them between the rows, properly adjusted, so they'll spray in both directions.

It SLOUGHS OFF the tainted outer skin to expose buried fungi and kills it on contact. Get this STRONG, keratolytic fungicide, T-4-L, at any drug store. If not pleased IN ONE HOUR, your 40c back. Now at Denton's Drug Store.

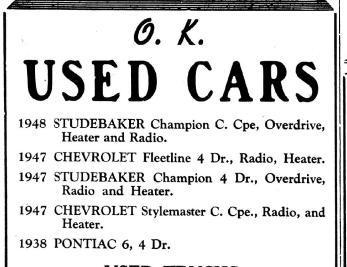

As for the amount of 2,4-D—that will vary with the type of weeds to be killed. If bothered with common ragweed, horseweed, morning glory and cocklebur, use two-thirds of a pint of 40 per cent 2,4-D per acre in 10 gallons of water. If it's a case of Canada thistle, bindweed, or smartweed, which are harder to kill, up the dosage to one pint per acre.

Don't cultivate the field until four or five days after spraying. Give the weeds time to absorb a lethal dosage.

Famers desiring detailed recommendations on the use of 2,4-D can get a copy of the new Purdue publication, "Weeding Corn with 2,4-D." It's extension leaflet 357 and is available at your county agricultural agent's office, or by writing the agricultural publications office, Purdue University.

This leaflet illustrates the use of both the straight boom sprayer for application of 2,4-D to small corn and how to adjust drops when spraying large corn.

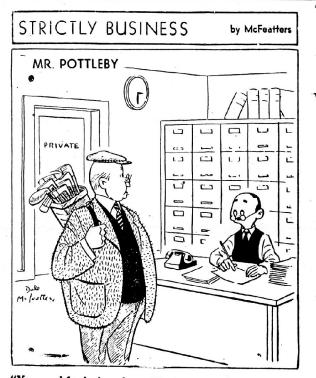

A final caution: Don't overdose with 2,4-D. Corn plants often are injured by excessiveheavy applications of the chemical.

ACHIEVE RECOGNITION

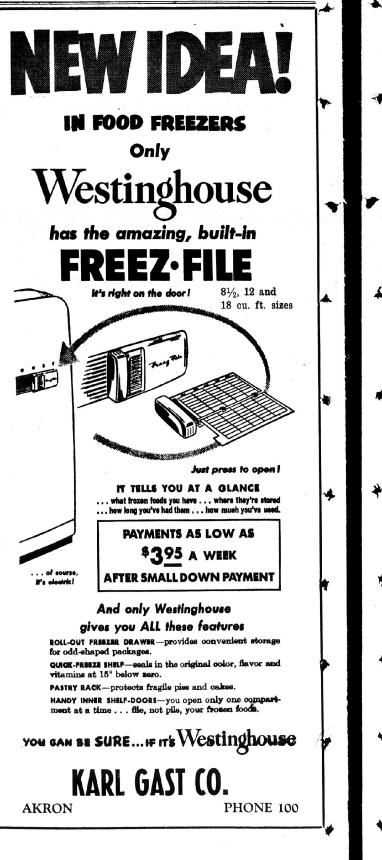

Leroy Norris, Mentone, Ind., has recently qualified a litter for Production Registry according to the Hampshire Swine Registry, Peoria, Ill. Master's Miss Pride qualified a litter of 12 with a 56-day weight of 356 lbs.

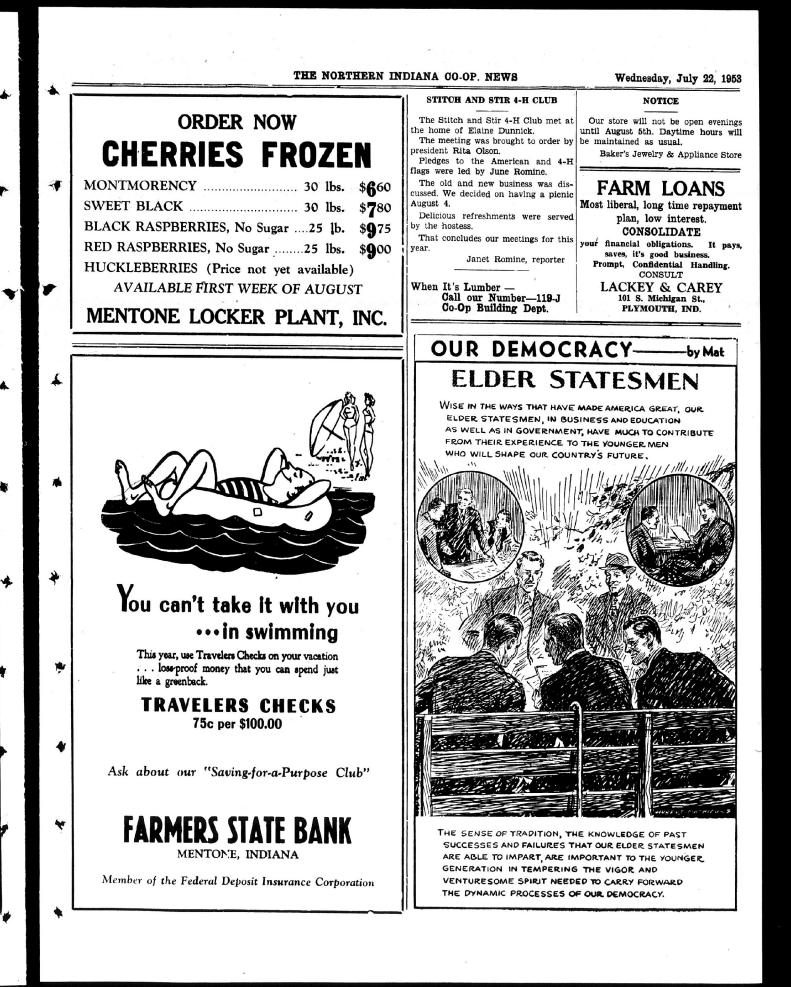

A Production Registry qualifying litter is one in which 8 or more pigs are raised to a minimum 56-day weight of 320 pounds for mature sows or 275 pounds for gilts. The sow may qualify as a PR sow after two such litters and receives a star for each additional qualifving litter.

This is indeed an honor for this well known Hampshire herd. It shows they are interested in improving production and making better breeding animals available for commercial producers.

Many Hampshire breeders are nominating and qualifying litters this year in keeping with the demand for more production records of swine. Thus, more official production records are becoming available to aid farmers and other breeders in the selection of qualified breeding animals. Swine producers are becoming more efficient in their operations by giving more attention to official production records.

LOCAL TELEPHONE CORP. NOT INCLUDED IN STRIKE

Mr. I. W. Beile, Commercial Manager at North Manchester for General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., said today that the present strike of Indiana Bell Telephone Company employees is not affecting General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., or, its employees.

The Bell strike, however, is affecting long distance telephone service to the extent that most of the distant tol traffic is normally routed through Bel toll centers.

However, as much toll traffic as possible is being handled, but in some instances considerable time is required before completing the call. "Toll service in our exchanges will be much improved if the people place their long distant calls before 10 a. m. and after 3 p. m.," said Mr. Beile.

ARE WE INTERESTED?

Much comment, both constructive and otherwise, has been made involving some commendation and approval, as well as some griping and adverse criticism, in reference to what must be called, to say it kindly, the lamentable and unwanted disregard of reasonable practice and behavior, in regard to the observance of many of the state traffic laws, as well as town ordnances, having to do with the promotion of safer and more pleasurable driving.

This concern for a matter that has been rapidly getting out of hand, because of more and faster cars, and in general, better highways, has been materializing in a nation wide tightening down on control measures, in order to curb and lessen, as far as possible, the hazards of traffic caused by and growing out of irresponsible operation of motor vehicles and disregard for law, common sense, and courtesy.

Socially, since, in the last few weeks, several drivers have been apprehended and penalized for violation of traffic regulations, a marked contrast may be noticed in driving technique on the part of a large majority of motorists in and around town, but there are still many who do not give much place in their thinking for the obligations and courtesies of the highway, and

While officers, either elective or appointive, are sworn to enforce the laws of the community, their efforts are, in many ways, nullified by the lack of support and cooperation of the citizenry.

A very meager idea, to say nothing of knowledge, seems to prevail, on the part of the majority of the public, as to what lengths and what means an officer may go and use in apprehending one who he believes has violated the law. Boiling it down to as few a words as practicable, when an officer sees or believes that a person or persons has

> A case in point was the recent recommendation by the prosecutor to dismiss the case against Officer Julian for reckless driving in endeavoring to apprehend a violator of a traffic law. The prosecutor is to be commended for his action.

FEEDER'S DIGEST

Every animal and bird you own needs minerals-of certain kinds-in definite quantities. Some pastures provide these minerals. Much pasture does not. Now your grass may be green and thick. But it can still be mineraldeficient. And that can mean slower gains, feed waste and poorer health. Why take these chances when it's so easy and economical to feed Swift's Mineral Supplement? This one lowcost mineral supplement provides ten mineral elements vital to all livestock. Start feeding Swift's Mineral Supplement free choice all year 'round. It now comes in block or pulverized form. Because it contains only minimum requirements of salt, we recommend free-choice salt feeding in addition.

1953 NATIONAL RIFLE AND PISTOL CHAMPIONSHIPS

With the opening shot of the 1953 National Rifle and Pistol Championships little more than three weeks off, over two thousand of America's top marksmen are training for one of sportsdom's most gruelling tests. From August 20th to September 7th practically every top-notch rifle and pistol shooter of the nation will be shooting for the most coveted titles in the shooting world.

This year for the first time since 1940 the high-power rifle, the smallbore rifle and the pistol championships will be held at Camp Perry, Ohio, the world famous home of the shooting tournaments for 33 years starting in 1907. In all, in the three fields of competition, 98 separate matches will be fired with all American individual and team championships at stake. Older by two years than the Kentucky Derby, the shooting championships stand as the oldest and most traditional sports events in the United States.

The firing for the titles will stretch over a three week period with the pistol and smallbore shooters competing between August 20 and 25 and the big bore marksmen holding the center of the stage between August 31 and September 7. William T. Toney, Jr., of El Paso, Texas, will defend his U.S. pistol crown against the challenges of 600 of the country's finest hand-gunners including ex-champions Master Sargeant Huelet Benner, USA, and Harry Reeves of Detroit, Michigan. Prior to Toney's surprise victory at Jacksonville, Florida, in 1952 Benner and Reeves had shared the pistol championship between them since 1940. Reeves held the title from 1940 to 1946 and again in 1948. Benner was top man in 1947 and from 1949 to 1951.

Robert Perkins, of Fresno, California, will put his title on the line against 740 of the nation's best .22 caliber riflemen. In the field will be several ex-national champions such as young Aurthur Cook, of Washington, D. C., 1948 national and olympic title-holder, Ransford Triggs, of Elizabeth, N. J., 1941 champ, and Bill Schweitzer, of Hillside, N. J., for many years one of America's top shooters and recent winner of Great Britain's smallbore championship.

The high power rifle championships will be fired in two divisions, the NRA Match Rifle and the Service Rifle. Both titles will be defended by Marines. Lt. Col. Walter Walsh, of Arlington, Va., will try to hold on to the

TRACTOR PULL HIGHLIGHTS FULTON COUNTY 4-H FAIR

Pulton county 4-H'ers are awaiting with interest the opening of their annual 4-H Fair and Adult show, August 4-5-6-7-8, which will be held at their recently completed 4-H Fair Grounds, Rochester, Indiana. Interested sponsors of the 4-H Fair make the claim that it is the largest and best 4-H Free Fair in Northern Indiana.

The Fair Grounds, situated in a beautifully wooded area at the west edge of Rochester on Third Street, has its own natural amphitheater seating 2500 spectators.

Every night of the week from Tuesday through Saturday, an outstanding stage show will be presented in front of this amphitheater. The highlight shows of the week will include on Wednesday night the International champion Barber Shop Quartette, the Midwest Four from Chicago, augmented with other barber shop quartettes from Elkhart and Gary in a two hour long hilarious fun festival.

Tuesday night will be Home Talent Night, sponsored by the Fulton Co. Home Economics clubs; Friday night will bring together eight district winners of variety acts from White Co., Delaware Co., Carroll Co., Wabash Co., Kosciusko Co., and Miami Co., but the extra, extra, highlight of the week will be the state wide tractor pulling contest open to any tractor in Indiana, competing for $700.00 in cash and merchandise prizes. There will be light and heavyweight contests for the men and light and heavyweight contests for the women. All pulling will be conducted on the new 12X140 foot cement runway in front of the amphitheater and all pulling will be under a new streamlined method. It is expected that by this method, with each tractor completing the pull in one FARM performance, that it streamlines the time for the contest, and while 250 tractors are expected for the pull, those in charge claim that the entire contest, starting at 7:00 p.m., will be completed before midnight Saturday.
