The son of Ananias and Mary Shoemaker Swihart, the deceased was a retired farmer and carpenter. His wife, the former Birdie Kline, to whom he was married in 1898, in Akron, died in 1947.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Beulah Kamp, Akron; two sons, Charles, Macy, and Russell, Akron; 14 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; three brothers, Elias, Lakeland, Fla.; Elvia, Tippecanoe, and Harvey, Elkhart. A daughter and a brother preceded him in death.

Services were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Sheetz funeral home in Akron with the Rev. D. L. Slaybaugh officiating. Burial was in the Akron IOOF cemetery.

New Windows In Bank Building

Workmen are busy this week installing new windows in the Farmers State Bank building at the corner of Main and Broadway in Mentone.

The old wooden frames and sash are being replaced with the new type aluminum windows.

ANOTHER RABBIT-CHASING SUGGESTION

Recently we printed an article suggesting ways and means to protect gardens from the ever-hungry rabbits, so Mrs. Harland Rallsback came in Monday and offered to share her secret with gardeners.

She finds that ordinary black pepper seems to spoil a rabbit's taste for cabbage, etc. Her suggestion is that the pepper should be sprinkled on the garden greenery while the morning dew is still on the plants.

VISITS MENTONE

Fred Rush, who is staying with his daughter, Mrs. Dale Plew, of Piercetown, was a visitor in Mentone last Thursday. Fred suffered a stroke many months ago but is continually improving.

Free Open Air Band Concert

Another of the summer series of free open air band concerts will be held in Mentone Saturday evening, July 7. The band, under the direction of Mr. Dale Whitehead, is playing one more concert after this one Saturday. It will be two weeks later.

The concerts are sponsored by the Merchants' Division of the Mentone Chamber of Commerce and supported by cash contributions of the business people of the town.

An invitation is extended to everyone to come to Mentone for the concert Saturday evening.

Returns For Full Time Practice

James E. Rodibaugh, who has maintained a law office in Warsaw four days of each week for the past year and a half, has closed his office there and is returning to full time practice in Mentone.

Mr. Rodibaugh found that he was getting too busy in both offices, so, to properly care for the work at Mentone he found it was necessary to close the Warsaw office. Mr. Rodibaugh expects to be back in his offices over the Farmers State Bank by Monday. Construction work on the building is expected to be completed by that date.

Awarded Bell Scholarship

Dick Tombaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh of Mentone, has been notified that he had been awarded a Lawrence D. Bell Scholarship at Purdue University. The scholarship, effective with the 1956 September semester, is worth $100 for each semester.

The scholarship was awarded by the Bell Foundation, Inc., of Buffalo, New York.

Dick had previously been given a special merit scholarship, but he, naturally, is expected to take the Bell scholarship in its stead.

Mrs. Loren L. Tridle, Lorna and Eddy Glenn, and Lyle Long spent the week at Camp Mack, Milford, Indiana. Mrs. Tridle was a Counsellor for Junior Camp.

Camp For H. D. Women

Plans are being completed for a well organized Home Demonstration Women's Camp again at Quaker Haven on Dewart Lake, August 20, 21, and 22. Three days of fun and entertainment and of renewing old friendships and making new ones have been planned by the committee. It is a splendid opportunity to have a few days of relaxation from the family ties. It is the busy homemaker who should take advantage of this inexpensive opportunity. The members will be entertained by Dr. Johnson, Co. Health Office, Ted Harp, the members of the Tuesday Afternoon, Harrison Center, 49'ers, Lake, Monroe Typ. and Jolly Homemakers Clubs. Several additional numbers are planned but details are not complete. Reservations including a $1.00 deposit, total camp fee $5.30 should be mailed to Mrs. Vernon Egolf, treasure Women's Camp, Warsaw R. No. 5 by August 15.

The Women's Camp committee is: Mary Tridle, Anne Miller, Hazel Pyle, Isabelle Hatfield, Bernice Egolf, Helen Howard, Louise Weaver, Jennie Palmer, Lucille Koontz, Fae Hollar, Viola Scherer, Clara Steiner, Ina Cook, and Delores McDaniel.

Beauty and a Snappy Convertible

Janet Romine, who was Miss Mentone in the queen contest at the North Webster Mermaid Festival last week, is shown in the two pictures above as she was rehearsing the day previous to the contest.

A Chevrolet convertible, furnished by the Boardman Chevrolet Sales of Mentone, was beautifully decorated with pink and white tissues, and a heart-shaped back rest was fashioned of the same material. Mrs. Robert Hoover, we were informed, was in charge of the decorating of the float.

Poor Egg Shells Are Costly

Thin, rough shelled eggs often cause serious financial loss to egg producers during hot weather, according to Joe W. Sicer, Purdue University extension poultryman.

Whenever the temperature goes above 80 degrees, the ability of hens to form strong, sound shells is impaired. Higher temperatures aggravate the condition still further. But other factors also effect the soundness of egg shells and are often of greater influence than the weather, states Sicer.

Lack of sufficient lime in the ration is often the primary cause of thin shelled eggs. Oyster shell, a common source of lime for poultry, must be offered attractively if the hens are to eat enough. "Use hoppers high enough above the floor so that litter will not be scratched on top of the shell, or put the oyster shell in one end of the mash trough," Sicer suggests.

Hens must also have an adequate supply of Vitamin D before they can make use of the lime in the ration. Manganese sulfate—two pounds per ton of mash—is also needed for sound egg shells.

Thin shelled eggs are a common aftermath of an outbreak of infectious bronchitis or Newcastle disease in a flock of layers. These respiratory diseases affect the shell forming organs and sometimes injure them for long periods. Extra lime and Vitamin D will not correct the condition when caused by these diseases.

To help the hens lay eggs with strong shells, Sicer recommends that poultrymen check with their feed men on the amount of lime, Vitamin D and manganese in the ration; provide coarse oyster shell liberally to the hens; and do all they can with cross ventilation, whitewash on the roof, and perhaps insulation to keep the laying house cool.

That Old Go! Go! Go!

Illinois and Indiana residents have joined millions of Americans on a travel spree this year, according to the Chicago Motor Club's Touring and Travel departments.

Comparing figures with the travel experts of the American Automobile Association, the Motor Club has come up with these figures.

Nearly nine out of 10 members took a trip last year. Twenty-five percent managed to take two trips; 13 percent had three trips; nine per cent had four or more trips.

The average time away from home was three weeks, and the average expenditure on the road was $30.

Of those who traveled, 85 per cent went by automobile, but other forms of transportation were heavily used—10 per cent of the automobile trips being in combination with rail, plane, ship and bus, and another five per cent exclusively by these modes of travel.

Americans are strong family travelers, statistics show. Twenty-six per cent took their children along, while more than two per cent traveled with infants and five per cent carried their pets with them.

Of those using paid accommodations while en route eight out of 10 stopped at motels, while the other two used hotel facilities. At destination, the trend was reversed, with more than half of all travelers stopping at hotels and resorts. However, friends and relatives provided lodgings for many, both on the road and at arrival.

Motor Club members, it is revealed, are looking forward to everwidening travel horizons, planning trips to Canada, Europe, Mexico and the Caribbean.

According to Purdue University animal husbandmen, scabies is the number one sheep disease in Indiana. Farmers who have sheep with scabies should contact Dr. Joe Green, state veterinarian, 611 North Park, Indianapolis (phone Melrose 5-7453). Green or members of his staff will help farmers eradicate the disease.

FRANKLY SPOKEN

A Washington banker, in Vermont for the fishing, was buying groceries in the local general store when the proprietor left him without a word and started waiting on another customer. Patiently the banker bided his time until the crusty old Vermonter had filled the other order and the customer had gone.

"There must be some good reason why you did that," said the Washingtonian. "Do you mind telling me what it was?"

"Nope," said the storekeeper. "He lives here the year around."

Used the Right Bait

The picture to the right of Max Nellans and son, Roger, was taken on their recent vacation in Florida.

It was their first experience at deep-sea fishing, and the results shown here earned them the honor of having their picture appear in the Fort Lauderdale newspaper. It seems they came in with the biggest catch on the opening day of the fish derby at Fort Lauderdale.

Incidentally, a pretty rough ocean has helped Roger decide right now that a navy career is not for him.

Included in the catch are Dolphin, Barracuda, Bonito and Blue Runner.

Never stop on the highway. Pull on the side strip, making sure all the wheels are off the paving. If you need help on a turnpike, hang a white handkerchief from the window. Don't cross or walk on the highway or attempt to flag down cars.

Slow down as you approach toll gates and before turning off at exits and restaurant and service station entrances. Remember that the usual exit ramp is designed for a speed of 25 mph: 50 is too fast.

Stay awake, really awake. Stop for coffee frequently or pull off the road for a cat nap if you are sleepy. Avoid highway hypnosis by watching everything that is happening on the road ahead of you.

Don't use the rear lights of trucks as a driving guide at night and don't risk driving a car with poor tires or in poor mechanical condition.

Leafhoppers cause severe losses to alfalfa by yellowing and stunting the plants. Entomologists at Purdue University say if there is danger of leafhopper damage, spray with methoxychlor when there is about two inches of growth. Use three pints of methoxychlor in 10 gallons of water per acre.

spects. Nearly 22 percent of turnpike accidents are caused by failure to observe ordinary driving rules. Stay at least 20 feet, or a car's length, behind the car ahead for every 10 mph you are traveling. At 70 mph that's nearly half the length of a football field.

Avoid the kind of reckless driving that comes from short-fused tempers. It's bad on any road, but it's dynamite on a superhighway. Beware of impatience, bursts of speed, excessive use of brakes, bumper riding, cutting in and out.

How to Drive On A Superhighway

If a motor trip is included in your vacation plans for this summer, chances are that you will spend some share of your travel time on a superhighway. Here, from the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine, are some superhighway driving rules to help you avoid an accident.

Keep your speedometer at a familiar speed, one you're used to and can handle. Remember that you don't have to travel at the top limit. Slow down for bad weather or bad road conditions. Observe signs reducing the speed limits.

Don't do anything but drive while you're at the wheel. Don't look at maps, toll tickets or scenery. Even a little error at 70 may be fatal.

Urge Continuation Of Polio Vaccinations

"No child reserves to be crippled this summer because his parents were too shortsighted to have him vaccinated against paralytic polio," the president of the Indiana State Medical Association said today.

"The crippling of a child is tragic enough," said Dr. W. U. Kennedy, Newcastle, "but it seems even more tragic when it might be prevented. Yet this is almost certain to happen here in Indiana if parental apathy toward using the polio vaccine isn't overcome."

"Parents have been lulled into a false sense of security because of the relatively low incidence of polio so far this year," he said. He warned, however, that there is no guarantee that this favorable situation will continue.

"Polio is unpredictable," said Dr. Kennedy. "We can't rule out the possibility of a sudden outbreak like the one in 1952. In that year the polio 'season' started out as a receptively mild one. Then, in the latter part of July, reports of cases to the State Board of Health took a jump. Soon we were in a severe epidemic with an many as 124 new cases reported in one week in August."

The head of the State Medical Association said, "We can't look at this record and say we haven't been warned."

There is no convincing medical reason for not using the vaccine in view of the expert studies made of its safety and effectiveness in the field, Dr. Kennedy believes.

"Although we have been reluctant in the past to give any kind of injections during the polio season for fear of 'provoking' a case," he said, "the United States Public Health Service studies of millions of polio vaccine inoculations have shown that the safest course is to go ahead with immunization during the summer months.

The USPHS also reports in a survey of twelve states that the polio vaccine, on a basis of only one or two doses, is about 78 percent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

"Although the vaccine is becoming available in larger quantities from the manufacturers," said Dr. Kennedy, "we can't say there is an oversupply in Indiana so long as an estimated two-thirds of the 1,500,000 eligible children between the ages of one and nineteen years, and pregnant women remain unvaccinated."

Dr. Kennedy pointed out that the vaccine has a six-months dating; that is, it must be used within six months or it cannot be used at all.

"We must continue inoculations during the summer months. It would be wrong to let any of it go to waste because of a mistaken idea among parents that polio is less of a threat this year. I feel strongly that parents who fail to have their children immunized as soon as possible are derelict in their duty," he concluded.

mer soft ball league by dumping Chili 9 to 5. Chuck Coplen racked up his fourth win for the first place Tigers, holding the Chili Bears to four hits, while he and his team mates accounted for 10. Coplen himself facked out a double, a triple and a single

Red spider mites become a serious problem on many ornamental trees and shrubs, especially evergreens, during hot summer months, report entomologists at Purdue University. The feeding of these mites causes the leaves to turn brown and seriously weakens the vigor of the plant. This injury can be prevented by applying any of the several commercially available miticides such as aramite, malathion, or chlorobenzilate.

Marketing Guide

Lafayette, Ind.—A seasonal increase in hog marketings is expected to cause a decline in prices beginning sometime in July, agricultural economists at Purdue University have reported.

But, the seasonal decline in hog prices is expected to be much less this fall than last year when prices of barrows and gilts at Indianapolis fell from an average of $20.09 in June to an average of $11.29 in December. More than the usual amount of this seasonal decline is, however, expected to occur before October 1, the economists said.

A continued low corn-hog ratio during the spring breeding months points to a substantial reduction in fall farrowings (June 1 to November 30).

Greater dairy production and higher prices are resulting in increased incomes for dairy farmers, the Purdue farm economists stated. Milk production for the first five months of the year was above the same period last year by seven percent for Indiana farmers. During this same period, Indiana whole milk prices averaged six percent above a year ago.

Expected smaller supplies of fed cattle indicated stronger prices for most grades of grain fed cattle during the summer and early fall months.

A seasonal wheat price increase about the same as last year appears likely—35 cents from July, 1956, to April, 1957.

Egg prices are expected to advance seasonally and to continue above last year until early fall. The fall price decline will come earlier than the December drop of last year because more January and February pullets were hatched.

Corn Borer Prevention

Purdue University entomologists are comparing granulars with spray materials in order to determine the best control for corn borer.

Spray and granular application methods are being compared in the experiments. In addition, various granular forms—DDT, endrin, dieldrin, aldrin, and heptachlor—are being tested against one another as are DDT, endrin, and toxaphene sprays.

Although granular applications have given favorable results in the control of corn borer, Purdue entomologists are not yet ready to recommend the granular materials over conventional spraying. They advise farmers not to be hasty in buying granular applicators. Problems of calibration for different granular base materials have not been satisfactorily worked out. Getting the machine to apply an adequate amount of material may be a problem. There is no evidence that granular applicators will do a better job than conventional spraying.

However, the entomologists feel that an experiment in a field 100 percent infested at the Purdue agronomy farm will provide the basis for a report on the materials and method of application at a later date.

Farmers should check within the next few days for the presence of corn borers if they have corn 40 inches or taller. If the corn is 75 percent infested spray materials should be applied with a low pressure sprayer. The Purdue entomologists recommend that a 25 percent DDT emulsion concentrate be applied at the rate of three quarts per acre with 10 to 15 gallons of water.

Additional information on in-secticides for corn borer control is contained in mimeo E-17, available from county extension offices, or the agricultural publications office at Purdue.

Dairy Records Are Useful

Dairymen who are members of a Dairy Herd Improvement Association can use their records to offset the price-cost squeeze by disposing of their lowest producing cows. That's the advice of G. A. Williams, extension dairyman at Purdue University.

Every dairy herd owner wants to derive more net income from his herd. Williams says extra net income can be realized if five to twenty percent of the lowest producers are weeded out. Williams believes dairymen who cull the low producers can watch the net income rise with less overhead and fewer hours of work. He adds that low producing cows are responsible for many of the dairyman's low income problems.

Records of one dairy herd in northern Indiana were divided into three groups according to production. The best producers averaged 403 pounds of butterfat, ate feed valued at $130 for the year, and returned $247 above feed cost for labor and overhead.

The middle group averaged 334 pounds of butterfat, received feed valued at $124 each, and showed an income above feed cost of $185.

In contrast, the low producing group returned the owner only $108 per cow. Williams says this lower return resulted because the cows were poor producers, averaging only 237 pounds of butterfat for the year.

The nine cows in the highest producing group returned the owner $2423 over feed cost for the year. Since the nine cows in the lowest producing group returned an income of just $108 each, the farmer would have had to house, feed and milk 22 of them in order to receive as much income as the nine high producers.

No Longer A Castle

We were all raised to believe that "an Englishman's home is his castle." That, unhappily, is no longer always true.

The story is told in the June 11 issue of Time, under the apt title "A House Is Not a Castle." It concerns an Englishwoman who, with her daughter, was abruptly evicted from her 160-acre farm. The sole reason was that, in the view of the Ministry, she was not farming her land "in accordance with the rules of good husbandry."

The law in question was passed in the austerity days of 1947. As Time describes the law "... it offered the farmers a bargain: 'guaranteed prices and assured markets' in exchange for an obligation to maintain certain standards of production." Local committees decide what these standards should be and are given sweeping law enforcement powers, including that of eviction.

The Morning Oregonian devoted an editorial to this event in which it stressed a point of top importance. It quoted one of England's most respected publications, The Economist. The Economist's discussion was based on what it regards as administrative failures and weaknesses in applying the law. The Oregonian said: "This reaction seems to indicate that under the welfare state the freedom of the individual becomes less important than the efficiency with which the group is controlled. And let no one believe it couldn't happen here."

The welfare state, in other words, is simply based on a more moderate version of the socialist-communist dogma that individual rights and liberties are always of secondary consideration. There is a lesson for us all in what happened to a landowner in England.

Farmer In Preferred Spot

Sam M. Jones writes in National Review: "Each second the world tots up a net population gain (births minus deaths) of a little more than one person. Every day there are another 110,000 mouths to be fed. To assure the world an adequate diet, the Population Reference Bureau says that 150 square miles of new farm land should go into cultivation each day."

This casts a new light on the farm surplus problem in the United States. That problem, difficult as it is, seems sure to be a temporary one. In the long pull, U. S. farmers will have their jobs cut out to meet the needs of our soaring population.

In the less developed countries, it is true, great quantities of new farm lands eventually can be brought under cultivation. That is certainly not a possibility here.

We are still losing farm lands—to roads, industrial sites, suburbs, and so on. So far as anyone can see, our farm acreage is pretty well fixed.

What, then, will be the solution when in years ahead the pressure will be on each acre to produce more and more food and fibre? The answer is simply better farming.

The American farmer is in a preferred position in this. Of his tools, modern farm equipment stands out. It reduces costs—just as it cut to a minimum the amount of human labor needed to perform farm tasks. And, while making greater productivity possible, it can perform the equally important duty of conserving and improving the land for future generations.

Don't Get Gyped

Homeowners have been victimized by fast-talking salesmen who sell shoddy or worthless improvement services at sky-high prices. Here is how to keep out of their clutches, say the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

Don't believe any claims or suggestions that the materials to be used or the workmanship is approved or backed by the government. There can be no such endorsement.

Be leery of propositions for using your home for neighborhood demonstration purposes or offers to give you a cash bonus or rebate for any business the work might generate. Watch out, too, for so-called trial-purchase offers.

Don't believe exaggerated claims or guarantees about any product or service.

Read and understand all papers. Don't sign documents with unfilled blanks. If a completion certificate is required in connection with the financing, sign it only after all work is finished in full compliance with your contract.

Wayne Newell Buried Sunday

Funeral services were held at the Warsaw Church of God Sunday afternoon for Wayne Devan Newell, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newell of Warsaw, who was killed in an automobile crash early Friday morning near Wana-tah.

The youth's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Newell of Rochester and his uncle is Alvin (Shorty) Newell of Rochester. He is also survived by two brothers, James of Dunlap and Mark of Warsaw, and a sister, Mrs. Donald Bayne of Warsaw.

The parents and children formerly resided at Mentone, and Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Roy Smith, of Mentone, are sisters.

The fatal accident occurred at the intersection of U. S. 30 and U. S. 421 at the east edge of Wana-tah. Newell was enroute home with his brother, James, from a Michigan fishing trip when the car driven by James was hit by one driven by James Kuchnick, 20, Michigan City. Kuchnick is expected to be charged with reckless homicide.

James Newell escaped serious injury but his wife, Wilma Mae, also a passenger, is in the Porter Memorial Hospital in Valparaiso with a broken back and right leg.

Burial of the Newell youth was made in the Nichols cemetery northwest of Akron.

Monotonous To Say The Least

Ora McKinley, of the Mentone Lumber Co., is beginning to feel that someone is trying to overdo things. Last Thursday morning he again found his safe broken open and the contents scattered over his office floor. This is the third time this has happened in the 12 years he has been in Mentone. The pattern, likewise, is too consistent. Each time the robbery has occurred on or near a holiday, the same window was used for entrance and the fireproof vault looked about the same after it was cracked open.

The loss this time, which was covered by insurance, included $174.65 in cash and about $5.00 in stamps. The checks and notes were not taken.

The robbery was investigated by Marshal Schooley, the sheriff and state police. Some finger prints were found, but there is no announcement of any clues that may be of value.

The robbery took place between six o'clock Wednesday evening and 6:30 Thursday morning when Arlo Friesner reported in for work.

Dairy Herds Now Larger

The number of Indiana farms with dairy cows is decreasing but the average size of herds is on the increase.

From 1950 to 1954, the average number of dairy cows per farm in Indiana increased from 5.6 to 6.6. However, the number of farms which reported dairy cows numbers decreased from 117,620 to 86,097.

G. A. Williams, extension dairyman at Purdue University, believes increases in the number of cows per farm are likely to create problems in herd management, with a resulting decreased income per cow.

One problem is housing. Overcrowding may cause udder injuries which result in mastitis. The trend toward larger herds is also likely to discourage culling the low producers.

Dairyman who plan to increase the size of their herd must realize that efficient production is the key that unlocks the door to higher returns for feeds and labor. An increase in cow numbers and the mere production of more cans of milk, regardless of overhead, will not overcome the price cost squeeze.

Larger herds lead to larger net incomes only when they are well fed and managed and when a rigid system of culling is followed to dispose of the low producers, Williams concludes.

The Record Speaks

Germany—a country which was ravaged by war, suffered total defeat, and has since been a bedeviled sector of the cold war—can teach the United States some lessons as to the value of free enterprise.

Germany's postwar economic recovery is almost universally described as miraculous. That miracle, as William Chamberlain explains in a book review appearing in National Republic, is one of the most compelling arguments "for the dynamic effectiveness of capitalism, without 'buts,' 'whereases' and 'on the other hands.'"

SCRATCH-ME-NOT WITH ITCH-ME-NOT

He adds: "The men who directed economic policy... believed passionately in free enterprise, competition, free international trade and investment."

By contrast, those European nations—including victorious nations—which deserted these principles in favor of some form of paternalistic state have suffered one economic crisis after another, coupled with all manner of political crises.

The record speaks for itself.

See Higher Hog Prices

Higher hog prices are in prospect for Indiana farmers during the next year, two Purdue University agricultural economists have reported.

According to John Dunbar and Norton Smith, the USDA pig crop report made June 1 indicates an eight percent reduction in farrowings from December last year through November this year. And a decrease of eight percent in the number of hogs marketed between now and next July will be the result. With this much reduction in hog numbers, prices should average 10 to 15 percent higher for the coming year.

And with the expected increase in hog prices, the hog-corn ratio should average moderately higher than the 12-1 ratio for the past year. Dunbar and Smith said the extent of the increase in the hog-corn ratio will be largely determined by what happens to the production and price of corn. They caution that a severe drought could greatly reduce the corn supply, increase cost of feed, and keep the ratio from rising as much as would otherwise be expected.

The economists see much less decline in the price of hogs from June to December this year than for the same period last year. However, more than the usual amount of this seasonal decline is expected to occur in the early part of the period. This is the reverse of last year when hogs were being liquidated at rapid rates in the western Corn Belt during November and December.

Dunbar and Smith expect hog prices to average between $13 and $15 from November, 1956 to January 1957; and $17 - $20 from June to August next year. Barrows and gilts have averaged about $14.50 at Indianapolis for the past 12 months.

Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Meredith Wednesday, July 4th were: Mr. and Mrs. Orin Heeter of Gary, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blesch and daughter Grace of Akron, and Mrs. Earl Meredith of Mentone.

Mrs. Grace Craig of Akron and Mrs. Lulu Sands of Rochester visited at the home of Mrs. Earl Meredith Thursday afternoon.

Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Laird Sunday were Mrs. Minnie Anderson of Indianapolis and Mrs. Bertha Meredith.

Elk Co. Meets With Kos. Co.

Roscoe Stangland, Elkhart County Agent, and Orville Miller, president of the Elkhart County Poultry Association, representing Elkhart County as Mr. Meaty Broiler, received a hearty welcome from Macy Nelson, president of the Kosciusko County Poultry Association, and Paul Jackson, Kosciusko County Agricultural Agent, representing Kosciusko County as Miss Hi-Quality Egg producer.

They were all present recently at the County Fairgrounds in Warsaw, along with approximately 150 members and their wives at a joint meeting from the above named prominent Indiana poultry areas, to enjoy a delicious chicken barbecue and an evening of fun. Dr. J. Holmes Martin, Purdue Poultry Department Head, acted as chairman and Bob Hogue, State poultry Extension specialist, entertained with pictures of his most recent trip to Old Mexico. An annual event of this kind was planned for the future.

ELECTRIC FARM and HOME FREEZER

To take full advantage of the convenience and economy of frozen foods, you must have your own individual Electric Foods Freezer. You can get one in a size to fit your needs exactly, whether for farm or city home.

Better Quality

Buy the best of everything when available. Stock up on all kinds of commercial frozen foods when plentiful and prices low. Buy fresh foods at their peak of goodness, right when they're in season, freeze and store with all their quality and flavor locked in.

Avoid Waste

Cook large, economical quantities of roasts, stews, beans, gravies, sauces, and freeze until needed. Have "planned-overs" instead of leftovers.

Save Time and Money

Shop once a week, or even every two weeks. Buy foods at quantity prices and really save. Fruits by the bushel, berries by the crate, vegetables by the hamper, ice cream by the gallon, a week's or month's supply of meat at one time.

Freeze instead of Can

It's easier to freeze foods—and you enjoy fresh, peak-of-goodness flavor. You can easily prepare and freeze the fruits and vegetables you raise in your own garden, and save a lot of time and money, too!

Frozen Game

For the sportsman, there's no need to give away the fish you catch, or the game you shoot. Simply freeze it.

"Frozen Pantry"

Imagine having all the food you need in the house at all times—from snack to complete meal! No concern then, about unexpected guests. You can even prepare quantities of pies, cakes or biscuits days ahead, freeze them ready to pop into the oven—or bake first, then freeze.

No "Seasons"

With your own Electric Food Freezer you can enjoy strawberries at Christmas, or oysters in August. No need to depend upon "fresh" fruits or vegetables shipped long distances at premium prices. You are really the master of your menus!

ENJOY CONVENIENCE AND ECONOMY WITH AN ELECTRIC FARM AND HOME FREEZER!

Dairy Day July 20

One of the world's outstanding dairy scientists, Dr. William E.
Petersen, will speak to farmers who attend Dairy Day at Purdue University's dairy center Friday, July 20.

A member of the dairy husbandry staff at the University of Minnesota since 1921, Petersen is considered the world's leading authority on physiology of milk-making. He has been instrumental in what may become one of the world's most significant and far-reaching research findings—that the cow can be a source of protective antibodies to many diseases which plague human beings.

Although much work remains to be done before the experiment can be used commercially, dairymen believe it does offer hope of protecting large populations against disease by a simple process—drinking milk. Petersen will speak on "New Contributions That the Cow May Make to the Betterment of Man," and is expected to explain the principle on which his theory is based.

While Petersen's address will highlight the afternoon program, exhibits and discussions of research and extension activities are scheduled at the morning session which opens at 10 a. m.
Petersen will speak at 1 p. m. after a noon lunch served at the farm for a small fee.

According to John Dunbar and Lundquist, Purdue dairy specialist in charge of the event, exhibits will include a three year stand of birdsfoot trefoil, a new experimental plastic silo, the rumen fistula cow, and new grain handling methods for the dairy farm. In addition, the 1955-56 feeding trials with grass silage, best ration to feed calves, and investment costs and management practices will be discussed.

Heavy grub infestation in the lawn often causes large brown areas, according to entomologists at Purdue University. The grubs —larval stages of the June beetle —cut off the roots and infested turf can often be rolled up like a carpet. Grub injury to lawns can be prevented by applying in-secticides such as aldrin, dieldrin, heptachlor, chlordane, or DDT to the sod areas. One treatment will grub proof a lawn for three or more years.

FOR ATHLETE'S FOOT USE A KERATOLYTIC BECAUSE—

It is an agent that deadens and peels off infected skin. Exposes more germs to its killing action. Get instant-drying T-4-L, a keratolytic, at

Preparing 4-H Garden Exhibits

With county and state fair time approaching, it's time for 4-H garden club members to begin preparing their exhibits for display.

According to W. B. Ward, extension horticulturist at Purdue University, the best exhibits are those that are appealing to the public. Only top quality vegetables in good condition and grown as a 4-H garden project should be exhibited.

All products exhibited should be clean and free from insect or disease damage. Different species of vegetables exhibited should be uniform in color, form, and size and not too large or too small.

Vegetables should be harvested when the plants are dry. With the exception of potatoes and other root crops, the harvested product should not be allowed to remain in the sun. The root crops should be left in the sun for about 30 minutes so the skin will set before being cleaned. All vegetables should be stored in a cool, moist place until exhibit time.

Exhibitors may choose to wait until they are ready to prepare their exhibit at the fair before giving the vegetables the final trimming. Roots of species such as beets and carrots should be trimmed evenly, as should the shanks of corn. A common mistake 4-H'ers make in garden exhibits is to peel onions. "This is not permissible and should never be done," Ward declares. He adds, however, that many vegetables, including the onion, can be cleaned with a soft brush, or washed before going on display.

U. S. CONELRAD EXERCISE

Radio Stations to Leave Air July 20 For CD Test

CONELRAD CAR RADIO dial marked at 640 and 1240 kilocycles for any emergency will come in handy when all radio stations go off the air at 3:10 p. m. on July 20, and then some return to broadcast special civil defense material on these frequencies as part of Operation Alert, 1956. The 15-minute nationwide Conelrad test, first of its kind, will test radio stations' ability to switch to the Conelrad system of broadcasting in an actual attack so that emergency instructions could be radioed to the public without guiding enemy bombers to their targets. Civil defense authorities are hoping the public will mark their radios for future emergencies. (FCDA Photo)

Every radio and TV station in the United States will go off the air at 3:10 p. m. (EST) on July 20.

For the next 15 minutes the only broadcasting in the nation will be done by 1,250 stations which have joined the Federal Civil Defense Administration's "Conelrad" plan for emergency broadcasting.

All of these stations will broadcast on one of the two civil defense frequencies (640 or 1240 kilocycles). They will use only special material prepared for Operation Alert, 1956.

It will be the first full-fledged test of the ability of the Conelrad stations to reach the public with the all-important civil defense broadcasts which will be the nation's only broadcast source of official information and instructions in event of an enemy air attack.

Conelrad (Plan for Control of Electromagnetic Radiation) is a system devised by the Air Force. Federal government to make possible the broadcasting industry and the sible the vital broadcasting of official information and civil defense instructions in times of emergency. Under normal broadcasting, it would be possible for an enemy plane to tune its direction finder to a station broadcasting in a target city and "ride the beam" right into its target.

Under the Conelrad plan, all stations sign off the air when an alert is signaled. Conelrad stations then reduce power, change their broadcasting frequency to 640 or 1240 kilocycles and return to the air.

Conelrad stations in each city form a cluster. These stations broadcast a common program, with each of the cluster stations on the air for only a few seconds at a time. The frequent switching from one station to another makes it impossible for a bomber to use the radio signals for navigation purposes.

In smaller communities where only one station is in the Conelrad system, it will broadcast at either 640 or 1240 kc for a short period, then be off the air for a number of minutes. The on-the-air, off-the-air pattern will continue until the end of the Conelrad Drill on July 20.

Radio stations will publicize the Conelrad drill in advance, warning listeners to expect the interruption of normal broadcasting to shut down and tune to 640 or 1240 on home radio sets.

When climbing rose bushes are through flowering, Purdue University horticulturists advise gardeners to thin out the older canes by cutting them off at ground level. Canes three and four years old are generally the least productive and take up the most space.

Chairmen For Swine Fund Drive

Eighty-seven Hoosier swine producers have been named drive chairmen in their respective counties to raise money for the establishment of a Swine Evaluation Station at Purdue University. The appointments were made last week by a joint committee of the Indiana Swine Breeders Association and the Indiana Commercial Pork Producers Association at 5 area meetings held at Rushville, Reynolds, Columbia City, Spencer and Jasper.

Purpose of this all-out drive which is now under way is to raise some $11,500 from hog producers for the station which will test rate-of-gain, feed efficiency and carcass value of breeding stock submitted for test. County quotas, ranging from as little as $6 to as much as $445, were accepted by the drive leaders. These were based on the number of hogs marketed from the county last year.

Local county chairmen are: LeRoy Norris, Kosciusko; Robert P. Moore, Fulton, and Orville Zentz, Marshall.

If your lawn shows signs of yellowing, an application of nitrogen during July will stimulate the growth and restore the green color to the grass, report landscape architects at Purdue University.

Safety Week Proclaimed

Governor George N. Craig has proclaimed July 22-28 as Farm Safety Week in Indiana in line with the national observance.

In the proclamation, Governor Craig asked all farm residents to make safety their goal because "Safety Pays All Ways." He pointed out that many Indiana rural people are hurt or killed each year in accidents that could have been prevented.

According to F. R. Willsey, Purdue University farm safety specialist, accidents kill an average of one farm resident each day in Indiana. In fact, more farm workers died by accident in the state last year than workers of any other major industry.

Records for Indiana show that the motor vehicle is the principal killer of Hoosier farm people. Over 30 percent of all deaths occur in motor vehicle accidents, most of which happen off the farm.

According to Willsey, about 25 Indiana farm people lose their lives in tractor accidents every year. One study showed that one-sixth of the tractor fatalities occurred in highway accidents. Another study revealed that 12 percent of the victims were children under 14 years of age.

On the average, falls alone kill 60 farm residents a year. A high percent of these deaths from falls occur to persons in the older age groups.

Psi Iota Xi Meet

Thirteen members of Beta Epsilon Chapter of the Psi Iota Xi met Tuesday, July 3rd at the home of Mrs. Curtis Riner for the regular business.

The ritualistic opening was repeated in unison followed by roll call. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read. A bill of transportation to convention was allowed Mrs. Paul Quinn.

A report on the incorporation of the Chapter was given. No definite action was taken, pending inspection this fall.

The chapter is sponsoring Miss Janet Romine, representing Mentone, in Fair Queen Contest at the Kosciusko County Fair in August.

Two new projects were introduced and discussed.

A report of the National Convention held in Cincinnati was given by Mrs. Jerome Kralis. It was announced the Chapter had earned over $77,000.00 during the past year and over $52,000 was spent on Charitable projects.

Locally our chapter earned $616.92 through such projects as catering a wedding reception, selling walnuts, pecans, and candy, serving the Egg Show Banquet and a house-to-house canvass for funds to aid a leukemia victim, which alone netted $403.15.

Other donations were given to Kosciusko County School for Retarded Children, Indianapolis Symphony, Red Cross, March of Dimes, Heart Fund, Little League

Ball Teams of Mentone, and gifts were given to Mental Health Hospitals at Christmas. The group also filled 22 Goodwill Bags in May.

The group co-sponsored the new chapter in Warsaw last summer and gave the initiatory work for their first six new members.

The group repeated the ritualistic closing. Mrs. Riner served delicious refreshments to the following members present: Mrs. Mervin Jones, Mrs. Dale Cook, Mrs. Ralph Ward, Mrs. Chester Smith, Mrs. Jerome Kralis, Mrs. Kenneth Simcoe, Mrs. Harold Utter, Mrs. Paul Quinn, Miss Annabel Mentzer, Mrs. William Hudson, Jr., Mrs. Lyman Moltenhour and Mrs. Forrest Miner.

The annual picnic will be held at the Warsaw Park on Tuesday, July 17th with the group attending the play "Claudia" following the dinner. Cars will leave the drug store promptly at 6:30 that evening. Call play ticket reservations to Mrs. Kenneth Simcoe.

Christian Cross New Cattle Brand

A new brand adorns livestock grazing on Montana pastures this summer alongside cattle bearing old established ranching symbols as the Lazy E L, the Bar-O, and others.

The new brand, duly registered with the General Recorder of Marks and Brands in Helena, the state capitol, is the Christian cross.

Old brands recall the days of giant cattle empires, range wars and hardy living to accumulate wealth. How successful this quest was is seen by this nation's abundant food production, no small portion of which can be expressed in terms of beef cattle. Brand is Property of CROP

The cross brand symbolizes the good will of Montana ranchers toward less fortunate people in Asia and Europe. It is the property of CROP, the Christian Rural Overseas Program. By branding a calf with a cross, the Montana rancher gives it to CROP as his contribution toward the tenth annual CROP drive for food for hungry people overseas.

Though cross branded cattle do not all graze together in one pasture, the people of Montana have come to call them the "Lord's Herd" since the calves are given as an expression of Christian concern.

They may be seen all over Montana grazing with the herds from which they were drawn.

The calves will be allowed to fatten until fall round-up time. They will then be separated and marketed. The resultant meat will be packed or canned and sent to Church World Service relief distribution centers in the hunger areas of the world.

Tenth Annual CROP Campaign
CROP is a program, not only of the cattle rancher, but of all of rural America. Farmers are sharing their harvests for the tenth year, in the 1956 campaign for commodities and cash.

In more than 50 countries, hungry people have been recipients of the American gifts now totaling over 271 million pounds of food and fiber. Annual harvest campaigns for CROP will be conducted this year in 18 states, with a national goal set at $1,200,000.

Waterers For Swine

Automatic waterers are as important as self-feeders in the efficient production of pork, Richard Hollandbeck, Purdue University extension swine specialist, has advised Hoosier farmers.

Hollandbeck said that when the high price of labor is considered, the installation of automatic watering devices is an excellent way to reduce hog production costs.

Watering accounts for about one-fifth of the work of raising hogs on the average Indiana farm. Because of the time and labor involved in transporting water to clean pasture fields, many farmers allow their hogs to travel long distances through contaminated lanes to sources of water.

Poor gains result when too little water is consumed by the hogs, Hollandbeck stated. There is no feed nutrient that affects the rate of gain of growing pigs or the flow of milk of lactating sows any more than water, the specialist added. Water enters into practically every phase of food digestion and assimilation and plays a major role in controlling body temperature in hogs. In fact, over 50 percent of the weight of a hog is water, Hollandbeck said.

It has been estimated that a hog can lose practically all of its fat, 50 percent of its protein, and still survive. However, if a hog loses over 10 percent of its moisture, the animal will die.

It Can Be Corrected

When local government goes into business, on the usual tax-free basis, taxpaying private industry shies away.

That is the moral of an editorial in the Sacramento, California, Union.

The Union recently discussed the area's inability to attract more large industry. It then heard from a reader, a local housewife who gave a compelling reason for this inability. The Union explained her views in these words: "She points out that Sacramento owns its own water system, and that property has been taken off the tax rolls; that Sacramento owns its own bus system, and that property has been taken off the tax rolls; that Sacramento is in the off-street parking business, and that property has been taken off the tax rolls; finally, the greater metropolitan area is in the electric energy business . . . and that property has been taken off the tax rolls."

You need not be an economist to figure out that when property is taken off the tax rolls in this fashion, the taxes on all remaining property must be higher to offset the loss. In addition, government business undertakings, on any level of government, very often run at deficits—and that further worsens the tax picture. So it's no wonder that industry takes a dim view of areas and communities where government-in-business is rampant, and the tax burden reflects that.

The Union observed that the situation "can be corrected!" The implication is clear. It can be corrected, everywhere and anywhere, by getting government out of business—to the enduring benefit of everyone except some bureaucrats.

Purdue University dairymen say that the milking herd should have access to shade during the heat of the day. If trees are not available, a temporary structure open on all sides and covered with a layer of straw, is very beneficial in keeping cows cool.

All calves between the ages of four and eight months should be vaccinated for brucellosis, according to veterinarians at Purdue University. Such vaccination should provide protection against brucellosis for two to four years.

Beaver Dam Boys Win American Legion Award

Brook Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Black and Marlin Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Valentine of Beaver Dam School, were chosen by the school faculty and honored to receive the American Legion School Award. It was based upon the qualities of honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service, which was necessary for these boys to achieve to receive this award.

Brook graduated with the senior class, Marlin graduated with the eighth grade class, this year at Beaver Dam. They were presented these awards last Tuesday night, by the American Legion Post, No. 49. This award is given annually.

Other awards were presented to several students, from other schools in the county.

Have nests ready and waiting for those early maturing pullets that start to lay before the flock is moved into the laying house, advise poultrymen at Purdue University. Many floor eggs will be avoided later if the pullets form at the start the habit of laying in nests. The nests should be of the same type that pullets will find in the laying house.

Dry Wheat and Oats

If safe storage of wheat and oats is what they're looking for, farmers throughout Indiana should give plenty of thought to drying.

Bruce McKenzie, extension agricultural engineer at Purdue University states that farmers using unheated air drying systems are getting excellent results. Whether its certified seed, grain stored for later marketing, or livestock feed, the forced air systems are keeping good grain in good condition.

Many manufacturers of storage bins now sell a storage and drying package system, says McKenzie. Such a system has the advantage of offering a proven team that works together to get the job done. Fan units can, however, be fitted into almost any bin.

Some farmers have found a good answer to safe harvesting and storage by equipping half of their storages with fans. In use, they put the grain combined in early forenoon and late afternoon on the drying system. The grain combined during the mid-day comes in dry enough for direct sale or safe storing. One of the advantages of this system is that more fans can be added any time to give complete drying.

Natural air drying costs usually range from three to six cents per bushel when both operating and equipment costs are considered. The three cents per bushel figure is usually possible with good weather and a well designed system. Equipment costs can be reduced by selecting the fan so it can be used on corn, hay and beans.

Farmers interested in more information should contact their power supplier or county agent, or write the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, for a copy of Extension Leaflet 348 entitled, "Drying Small Grain in Storage Bins."

ADVERTISE! IT PAYS!

MORE GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

The government is still going into business—and on a big scale.

Example: by a 41 - 38 vote the Senate approved federal construction of 135,000 public housing units each year for four years. That amounts to about half of one year's total residential construction in this country. By its action, the Senate rejected a Presidential proposal that the program be restricted to 35,000 housing units for each of two years.

Who must pay? You, of course—and everyone else in the country.

Boy Dies Hitching Ride

Riding a bicycle while holding onto the door of a car traveling 35 to 40 miles an hour resulted in the death Friday afternoon of William Fredrick (Bill) Grubbs, 15-year-old Warsaw boy.

Young Grubbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Grubbs, of the Fox Farm road just northwest of Warsaw, died of a basal skull fracture and other injuries when his bicycle went out from under him and he fell against the car and then to the concrete.

The car was driven by Douglas Copeland, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Copeland. They are neighbors of the Grubbs family.

Bill's brother, Norman, 13, was riding in the front seat of the auto alongside the Copeland youth. Bill, with one hand on his bicycle, was hanging onto the car door on the right side of the auto with his left hand.

Dr. Orville Richer, county coroner said the Grubbs boy suffered severe injuries, including many cuts and lacerations, about his head and shoulders. He believed his head struck the pavement and that he died instantly.

Bill was born in Warsaw November 5, 1940, the son of George I. and Mildred (Schooley) Grubbs. He would have been a sophomore at Warsaw high school next fall.

A fine athlete, Grubbs played Pony League and American legion baseball and also with the Huffer foundry team in the city softball league.

Surviving in addition to the parents and brother, Norman, at home, are two other brothers, Ronald, at home, and Donald of this city; three sisters, Mary, at home, Mrs. Barbara Hyde, of Warsaw, and Mrs. Bonnie Lingofelter, of Nappanee; two nephews and three nieces; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Schooley of Mentone.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Primitive Baptist church on State Road 19, north of Mentone. The church pastor, Rev. Elias Sarber, officiated. Burial was in the Harrison Center cemetery.

Club Calendar

Mentone American Legion and Auxiliary and families will have a pot luck supper at the home post Tuesday, July 24, at 6:30.

WE MISSED A STORY LAST ISSUE

Novices, they claim, are usually the ones that come through with the unusual, and although Rea Ward is no novice at fishing, it was his first trip into certain Minnesota fishing territory with this group of "experienced" boys who were taking Rea along to "show him how it was done."

Rea, as the story goes, caught a bluegill on a fly rod and something seemed to grab the fish. He waited a while to see what was going to happen—and then it did. Some 20 minutes later the "neophyte" landed a 33-inch muskie.

The trip was made with Dr. Urschel in his airplane.

Some time later he jumped from the load almost directly onto the end of the bar. Luckily he struck it with a glancing blow otherwise it would have likely penetrated deeply into his body.

National Farm Safety Week

In his proclamation setting aside the week of July 22 as National Farm Safety Week, President Eisenhower pointed out that last year more fatal accidents occurred to farm workers than to worker in any other major industry. He also stated that in nearly every case this loss of life has been due to human failure and appealed to the nation and especially to farm residents to adopt safe practices that will make every day a safe day on the farm.

Many industries have proven that accident prevention measures do pay, thus underlining the 1956 Farm Safety Week Slogan, "Safety Pays All Ways." It is the purpose of observing a National Farm Safety Week to focus attention on this horrible loss of life that can and should be prevented. The annual observance of this special week has done much in directing attention to the fact that there is an urgent need for a continuous campaign against all unsafe practices and conditions in the farming industry that might result in a serious injury or even death. There can be no improvement, however, unless every man, woman and child cooperates in working toward the common goal of decreasing the number of farm accidents.

The National Safety Council estimates that the financial loss to the nation caused by farm accidents averages about $275 per farm family. This is just an average for all farm families which means that families experience a much greater financial loss and does not take into account the pain and suffering that accompany an accident.

Here are a few of the ways in which "Safety Pays All Ways":

1. Fewer Deaths
2. Fewer Injuries
3. Less Grief and Suffering
4. Less Expense
5. Less Worry
6. Less Property Damage
7. Less Lost Time
8. More Leisure Time
9. More Peace of Mind
10. More Useful Years

Bishop Raines Is Returned

Bishop Richard C. Raines was assigned to his third four-year term as Methodist bishop of Indiana by the North Central Jurisdictional Conference of The Methodist Church meeting July 11-14 at Des Moines, Iowa.

Return of Bishop Raines to his Indiana post had been requested in resolutions passed by the three Methodist conferences in Indiana and by more than 200 letters and telegrams from individuals and churches.

All eight Midwestern bishops were returned to their present areas on motion of the Rev. Thurman Morris of Fort Wayne, chairman of the Indiana delegation. The motion came after lengthy discussion by the episcopal committee, which assigns the bishops, of an alternative proposal that bishops who had served eight years in one residence should be moved.

Check Operation Of Combine

With the small grain harvest underway in some sections of the state, it's time for Hoosier farmers to check on the operation of their combines.

According to C. L. Hill, extension agricultural engineer at Purdue University, greatest losses from combines are observed when operators are not aware that mechanical adjustments are needed. He adds that combining is most profitable when the operator is constantly observing and adjusting for different crop conditions.

A leaky elevator or leaks in other parts of a machine, if unnoticed, can lose as much grain as 100 pounds of fertilizer per acre can increase the yield. Hill said. Cutterbar, straw rack, and shoe losses which are exceptionally high often go unnoticed.

Operators should watch for losses from the machine when the combine is in operation. The operator should control the forward speed and height of cutting to feed the amount of material into the combine to correspond with its adjustment. Losses are kept low at the cutterbar by having the knife in good shape and the reel feeding the cut material onto the elevator evenly. Many times difficulties are attributed to the sieves or cylinder which are caused by "bunchy" feeding from the reel.

Cylinder speed should be reduced to where there is a maximum of breakage or chopping done on the straw, yet almost all of the grain is out of the head. Hill says this is the best insurance that rack and shoe losses will be kept low.

Since an overspeeded rack will carry over a big percent of the grain, a revolution counter should be used to see that the straw rack speed is at the range recommended by the manufacturer. The percent of trash in the grain tank should be watched as well as the tailings return. Adjustments of sieve openings and wind direction boards should be made to get maximum cleaning and separation of trash and grain.

Many Indiana combine operators increase "bushels in the bin" and prevent breakdowns by setting up a schedule to make checks on the machine's efficiency and operating condition. The most common schedule is to do preventive maintenance and lubrication while stopped to unload the hopper.

Solomon Justice?

An elderly man of convivial habits, but also bookish, was hauled before the judge.

"You're charged with being intoxicated and disorderly," snapped the judge. "Have you anything to say?"

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," began the prisoner in a flight of oratory. "I am not so debased as Poe, so profligate as Byron, as ungrateful as Keats, so intemperate as Burns, so demoted as Tennyson, so vulgar as Shakespear, so . . ."

"That'll do, that'll do," interrupted the judge. "Seven days, and officer, take down that list of names he mentioned and round 'em up. I think they are as bad as he is."

New Law on Gas Tax Refund

Farmers are entitled to claim a federal tax refund on all gasoline bought and used for farming during the six-month period from January 1 through June 30, 1956.

county agent, Paul Jackson, has reported.

Any owner, tenant, or farm operator who buys gasoline for use on a farm may file a claim.

Under the law enacted April 2, 1956, the amount claimable this year is two cents on each gallon of gasoline purchased and used on a farm for farming per-poses during the first six months of 1956. In future years claims will be filed for a full 12-month period from July 1 through June 30.

Claims must be filed on Internal Revenue Service form 2240, available from county agent's office, oil truck drivers, license bureau, and most banks. Date for filing for this year's refund is after June 30, but not later than October 1, 1956. The law does not permit payment of claims filed late.

Refund claims must not be made for gasoline used off the farm, or for gasoline used for other than actual farming purposes as described in form 2240. This applies to gasoline used on the highway, for personal use such as mowing the lawn, or for processing, packaging, freezing, or canning operations. Sufficient records should be kept to enable the Internal Revenue Service to verify the accuracy of the refund claimed.

Jackson says that for once this form is simple to file. The farmer just writes down the number of gallons used, multiplies by two-cents, gets the dollars due, and signs his name.

Live Grading At Producers

As another "Producer First" in livestock marketing service to hog producers of this area, the Producers Marketing Association has announced that on and after August 1st, the Producers Livestock Market located southeast of Mentone will start buying hogs on a "Live Graded Basis" five days per week.

This announcement comes from Dick Maple, Manager of the Mentone market. Mr. Maple states that the popularity of merit selling of hogs with the hog producers of this territory has made it necessary to expand this service.

Prior to this time, hogs were live graded only on Tuesdays at the Mentone market. Under this expanded program of marketing hogs by grade, the "Tend-R-Leen" or meat type hogs will bring 50 cents per cwt. over the top of the market for any given day. Hogs will be graded from 7:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m.

This method of selling hogs on their merit is entirely optional with the farmer. If he chooses, he may continue to sell his hogs in the conventional manner, relying on the schedule to determine price.

The Terre Haute market has been offering farmers in that trade territory an opportunity to market their hogs on a merit basis on any day of the week since the first of this year. The wide acceptance of the program by farmers in that area has encouraged the adoption of a similar program at other Producer Markets.

According to entomologists at Purdue University, early detection and treatment of insect pests makes control easier. If allowed to go unchecked, such pests as lice, beetles and mites can develop rapidly and seriously injure the plants. Many pests can be checked with a one-package dust or spray mixture.

Europe Farm Trip Planned

A group of Hoosiers has completed plans for an educational tour of Europe, it was announced this week by the Indiana Farm Bureau, which is sponsoring the trip.

Most of the group will travel to and from Europe via Pan American Clipper from Chicago, leaving Aug. 22 and returning on September 29. The trip will take the group to Ireland, North Ireland, Scotland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, and England.

This is the Farm Bureau's second trip to Europe, the previous one being in 1954, when 74 persons from throughout the state had reservations.

Full details of the trip are given in a special tour folder, which is free upon request to the Indiana Farm Bureau, 130 East Washington Street, Indianapolis 4, Indiana. The tour, economical in price, will be personally conducted by Glenn W. Sample, who has arranged popular Farm Bureau trips.

Persons interested in this year's trip are urged to apply for reservations immediately, as the group size is definitely limited and only a few reservations yet remain.

Featured In Trade Magazine

Ed Ward, manager of the Northern Indiana Co-Op., has been recognized for outstanding sales activities by a national trade magazine. Mr. Ward is one of four "All-Star Dealers" being featured in the current issue of "Today's Fertilizer Dealer," a publication for the retail fertilizer trade.

The magazine, which regularly features outstanding dealers from a 23-state area, has this to say about Mr. Ward:

"Folks will buy more fertilizer if you show them how to use it effectively. Mr. Ward, manager of the Northern Indiana Co-Op., Mentone, Indiana, says, 'There's a lot of educating to be done in the fertilizer business.' And tonnage figures have really multiplied since he began helping customers to a fertilizer education! A big factor in the sales jump is a heavy push for soil testing and maintenance of accurate fertility records. "Now farmers put on what they need, rather than what their neighbors put on," he says. Cooperation with the local Vo-Ag teacher in holding night classes for adults also helps do the job. A big poultry area, Mentone is known as "The Egg Basket of the Middle-West"—but Ed's educational push makes sure that fertilizer gets its share of the attention."

Mr. Ward shared "All-Star" honors in the magazine with dealers from Georgia, Minnesota and Florida. "Today's Fertilizer Dealer" is published quarterly by Spencer Chemical Company, Kansas City, Mo.

Father Dies

Albert Roy Cullum, father of Artley Cullum of Mentone, died suddenly of a heart attack near his home in Franklin Park, Ill., about 9:30 Monday evening. He was seated on a bench waiting for a city bus when he was evidently seized by the attack. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Mr. Cullum was born in White county on August 3, 1883 and would have been 73 years of age next week. In 1911 he moved to Montana where he proved up on a half-section of land in an original homestead. In 1922 the family returned to Indiana where Mr. Cullum followed the carpenter trade for many years. In the late 20's he moved to Chicago.

In addition to the widow, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ray Kaptan, Riverside, Illinois, two sons, Paul of Franklin Park, Ill., and Artley of Mentone; one half-sister, Mrs. Joe Wilson of Monticello, and one brother, Ray, of near Columbia City, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ringa Funeral Home, near Franklin Park.

LICENSE ISSUED

A marriage license has been issued to Linda Lou Horn, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Horn, now of Warsaw, and Larry L. Yeiter, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yeiter, R. 5, Warsaw.

Soldier Injured

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Dickey of R. 2, received word their son, Pfc. Howard R. Frantz was injured recently in an auto wreck. He was stationed at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin for the summer.

He was flown to the Naval hospital at Great Lakes for the treatment of his injuries which consisted of a broken jaw and broken foot, some bruises and scratches. Any who wish to write to him may do so to the following address:

Improving From Burns

A week ago Friday the two young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burnett of Etna Green, were burned when a fire started while their father was refueling a power lawnmower. The gas ignited and some of the flaming fluid splashed on the youngsters as the father dropped the can.

Pam, aged 3, was burned about the legs while Beverly, aged 2, had her legs and back burned. The latter is now home after spending four days in the hospital. Pam did not require hospitalization.

County Fair Aug. 6 - 11

The Kosciusko County Fair will open at Warsaw Aug. 6th for one week of entertainment, exhibits, etc.

Fair officials this year have arranged for a major entertainment feature for every evening of the fair, and each day will be complete with many fair activities.

Catalogs listing the many exhibits, prizes and entry information are available in Mentone at the Farmers State Bank and the Country Print Shop, which prints the catalog each year.

Teacher Announced

About the time we went to press last issue, the third grade teacher that had been hired for the Mentone school, resigned to accept a teaching position elsewhere. This week Trustee H. Earl Boggs announced that Katherine S. Ogden, of Laketon, will be the third grade teacher.

Misleading Information

A recent advertisement in a newspaper by a nearby realtor left the impression that the drug store in Mentone was for sale. This is not true. The building in which the store is located has been available for purchase for many months. The druggists are leasing the building, a procedure which has been customary for a number of years, and Mr. Denton advises that his lease runs for several years in the future. The drug store is not listed for sale, but merely the building in which it and a cafe are located. The Lake Trail Cafe occupies the east portion of the two-business frontage.

To Be Dietician

Mrs. James Rodibaugh, Mentone, has accepted the position of dietician at the Murphy Medical Center at Warsaw. The news release states she received her B. S. degree at Iowa State University and took her dietetic internship at the Cook County Hospital, Chicago, and worked about two years at the Memorial hospital at South Bend.

National Farm Safety Week

A bumper crop of tragic accidents to children on farms was predicted by the National Child Labor Committee unless farm parents and employers come to recognize that children and power driven machines are a dangerous combination. The Committee's statement issued by Sol Markoff, Executive Director, pointed out that when young children are permitted to operate tractors and other farm machines, the results are a "tragic toll" of crippling accidents and fatalities. "Last year alone," Mr. Markoff said, "288 boys and girls were involved in tractor accidents. The majority of these children were under 14. Nearly 100 lost their lives." The committee's statement was made in response to President Dwight D. Eisenhower's proclamation requesting that all interested organizations join in the observance of National Farm Safety Week beginning July 22.

More Special Value Days

Mentone business people make it a business habit to offer the best in values to their patrons, and this week they are offering additional values. An eight-page shopping guide has been mailed to the Mentone trade area listing a few of the many fine values that are being offered.

The advertisements which you normally find in the News are missing this week due to the fact that those merchants were listed in the shopping guide which you have likely already received if you reside near Mentone.

Graveside Services

Graveside services were held at 4:30 Saturday afternoon in the Mentone cemetery for Garry Devon, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Nickodemus, With Rev. Milton Person officiating. The Johns Funeral home was in charge.

Father Dies

Albert Roy Cullum, father of Artley Cullum of Mentone, died suddenly of a heart attack near his home in Franklin Park, Ill., about 9:30 Monday evening. He was seated on a bench waiting for a city bus when he was evidently seized by the attack. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital.

Mr. Cullum was born in White county on August 3, 1883 and would have been 73 years of age next week. In 1911 he moved to Montana where he proved up on a half-section of land in an original homestead. In 1922 the family returned to Indiana where Mr. Cullum followed the carpenter trade for many years. In the late 20's he moved to Chicago.

In addition to the widow, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ray Kaptan, Riverside, Illinois, two sons, Paul of Franklin Park, Ill., and Artley of Mentone; one half-sister, Mrs. Joe Wilson of Monticello, and one brother, Ray, of near Columbia City, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Ringa Funeral Home, near Franklin Park.

A marriage license has been issued to Linda Lou Horn, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Horn, now of Warsaw, and Larry L. Yeiter, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yeiter, R. 5, Warsaw.

He was flown to the Naval hospital at Great Lakes for the treatment of his injuries which consisted of a broken jaw and broken foot, some bruises and scratches. Any who wish to write to him may do so to the following address:

Improving From Burns

A week ago Friday the two young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burnett of Etna Green, were burned when a fire started while their father was refueling a power lawnmower. The gas ignited and some of the flaming fluid splashed on the youngsters as the father dropped the can.

Pam, aged 3, was burned about the legs while Beverly, aged 2, had her legs and back burned. The latter is now home after spending four days in the hospital. Pam did not require hospitalization.

County Fair Aug. 6 - 11

The Kosciusko County Fair will open at Warsaw Aug. 6th for one week of entertainment, exhibits, etc.

Fair officials this year have arranged for a major entertainment feature for every evening of the fair, and each day will be complete with many fair activities.

Catalogs listing the many exhibits, prizes and entry information are available in Mentone at the Farmers State Bank and the Country Print Shop, which prints the catalog each year.

Teacher Announced

About the time we went to press last issue, the third grade teacher that had been hired for the Mentone school, resigned to accept a teaching position elsewhere. This week Trustee H. Earl Boggs announced that Katherine S. Ogden, of Laketon, will be the third grade teacher.

Misleading Information

A recent advertisement in a newspaper by a nearby realtor left the impression that the drug store in Mentone was for sale. This is not true. The building in which the store is located has been available for purchase for many months. The druggists are leasing the building, a procedure which has been customary for a number of years, and Mr. Denton advises that his lease runs for several years in the future. The drug store is not listed for sale, but merely the building in which it and a cafe are located. The Lake Trail Cafe occupies the east portion of the two-business frontage.

To Be Dietician

Mrs. James Rodibaugh, Mentone, has accepted the position of dietician at the Murphy Medical Center at Warsaw. The news release states she received her B. Agronomy Day Set

Production and management of forage and pasture crops will be featured during the annual field day Thursday, August 16, at Purdue University's agronomy farm, seven miles northwest of Lafayette on Highway 52.

A. R. Bertland, Purdue agronomist, has announced that field tours will be conducted between 8:30 a. m. and 12 noon and 1:30 p. m. and 4:00 p. m. (DST). Included in the day-long program will be 25 field stops and numerous exhibits and demonstrations in and near the farm headquarters.

Field stops will be divided into three separate tours of about one and half hours each. Visitors will be able to take any or all tours, depending on his special interest and time. If rain prevents field tours, a program will be conducted in buildings on the farm.

Tour "A" will include visits with research men concerning forage management for highest yields and selection of the best rotational grazing system. This tour will also include visits to research plots where breeding and testing work on forage and turf grass, birdsfoot trefoil, alfalfa and red clover is being conducted.

Tour "B" will include demonstrations of pasture renovations by machines and chemicals, subsoil fertilization, and forage seeding and establishment. Demonstrations will be alive with equipment working during the day.

Tour "C" will include demonstrations of methods for forage crop insect control, establishment of grass and legumes in corn and small grain, and grass management for less summer dormancy. Various established pasture mixtures and rotation fertility plots will also be seen.

At the farm headquarters visitors can see demonstrations of many aspects of forage management such as methods of silage making, weed control in forage crops, and forage crops fertilization.

Lunch will be available at the farm headquarters. A noon-day demonstration of first aid on the farm is scheduled.

Atomic Power in New York Harbor

Slipping through the waters off the famous New York downtown skyline, the submarine USS Nautilus brings atomic power for the first time to the world's busiest port. The Nautilus has traveled nearly 40,000 miles without refueling since her first sea trial on January 17, 1955. More than 21,000 of the miles have been sailed submerged beneath the ocean's surface. She was built by General Dynamics Corporation at its Electric Boat Division in Groton, Conn., and is the world's first atomic-powered means of transport. Christened by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Nautilus was launched on January 21, 1954 at Groton where her builders have already launched the second A-sub, the Seawolf, and are now working on three more of the same general type. The Nautilus, the Navy reports, has proven herself "far beyond expectations." She is the first practical demonstration of how atomic energy can be applied to the peaceful purpose of propulsion.

"Cull the laying hens closely during the summer months," suggest poultrymen at Purdue University. If there are ten hens in the flock that are not laying, production of 20 additional hens is being lost because it just about takes the profit from their production to pay for the feed of the ten loafers. Look for shriveling combs, and yellow beaks—the tell-tale labels of a non-laying hen.

Summer Milk Production Slump

Summer slump in milk production, the cause of lowered income on many Indiana dairy farms—can be reduced, reports G. A. Williams, extension dairymen at Purdue University.

As a means to reduce this summer slump, Williams warns dairymen:

Don't drive the milking herd long distances during the heat of the day. If the cows must be moved, do it slowly.

Don't overlook the need for plenty of fresh cool water several times daily. Twice each day is not enough.

Don't fail to provide shelter from the sun during the heat of the day. If natural shade or an artificial sun-break is not available, a darkened, well-ventilated stable or shed provides greater relief from heat.

Don't neglect to use a fly repellent.

Don't short change the herd by depending on unimproved pastures. Cows do most of their feeding at night and should have access to the best grazing during the cooler hours.

Long Term Outlook For Business Is Good, Editors Advise Investors

Despite current softening in some lines of business, the long range outlook for a continuation of the boom that started after World War II is good, say the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine. In a copyrighted article, "What To Do About Stocks Today," the editors say that America is in the midst of a long term industrial and economic revolution which will be accompanied by a gradual inflation.

Investors are told that the short term outlook for business is hazy. Every once in a while the economy gets ahead of itself and has to pause. Consumers get temporarily loaded with goods and debt, and need time to digest. Factories get expanded and modernized to the point where, temporarily at least, they can handle more than the demand.

When this happens, say the editors, there is a dip in overall activity and also in profits. A decline in stock prices is likely to precede or coincide with such an adjustment.

But investors who buy stocks for long term growth can have faith in a continuation of America's economic and industrial expansion, the editors say. The reasons for confidence are given in the July issue of the Magazine:

"Such developments as the electronic brain; carbide-tipped cutting tools, which have tremendously speeded up drilling and machining; electronics permitting complicated and remote control of machines; new metals; new knowledge of chemistry and physics feed on themselves and multiply with the result that great segments of industry are seething with change.

"Great advances in research are leading to new and often cheaper consumer goods, new production and distribution methods. The plans of one company to buy a new labor saving cost-reducing machine force its competitors to search for still better machines. The revolution is regional, too. The attractions to industry offered by the South and West are causing regional booms."

"At the consumer end, the various floors under income are rising and pushing a greater proportion of people into the middle-income group, where they can afford the myriads of new products and services as well as more of the old ones.

"No matter which political party is in power, the government seems committed to bolster business when necessary by means of spending, cheapening money, and cutting taxes.

"Other ingredients that will be leavening the economy over the next five or ten years will be new drugs and medical techniques giving people longer lives. Social Security and the growing number of pension plans will guarantee more and more oldsters the money to retire on. There is more leisure time for everyone, and leisure time encourages consumption of goods and services.

"In another few years the great crop of war and postwar babies will be reaching maturity, marrying and setting up their own households. This presages another rush for houses, appliances and all the paraphernalia of modern living.

"Last, but not least, the revival of world trade seems destined to continue."

Civil Defense Has Key Role in Peace

Natural disasters can strike anytime, anywhere.

From pioneer days to the present, neighbors have always helped each other in times of distress. But often, the power of a great hurricane, flood or tornado completely outmatched the valiant but disorganized efforts of untrained volunteers.

TODAY THE UNITED STATES has a form of disaster insurance—civil defense. Like any other insurance, it doesn't guarantee that disaster won't occur.

But by executive order, the Federal Civil Defense Administration does have the responsibility for coordinating all disaster relief efforts of the Federal Government under Public Law 875. This guarantees that the resources of the entire nation can be marshalled against nature on the rampage as required.

It's a job which requires the skills of many specialists, such as the Army Corps of Engineers, the National Guard and the American Red Cross. Trained civil defense workers in the general disaster area put their rescue, traffic control, first aid and other skills to practical use.

SIX-YEAR-OLD boy is carried to safety by George A. Spooner, New Britain, Conn., civil defense director, during great Northeast flood in the wake of Hurricane Diane. Chaotic flood conditions provide valuable experience for local CD workers in any attack emergency. (Hartford, Conn. Times)

Build "Tilt-over Drag"

Indiana farmers may want to take advantage of the lull after the small grain harvest to construct a "tilt-over drag."

Simply constructed, the drag is used to level the soil behind the disk or for other leveling jobs of a minor nature. According to Les Hill, extension agricultural engineer at Purdue, similar drags were in use on many Indiana farms this spring.

It's easy and inexpensive to build such a drag, Hill says. A 2 inch x 12 inch timber of the desired width, two three and a half foot timbers two inches wide tapered from a width of 12 in. at one end to a point at the other, six 3 inch x 2 inch iron angles, and a number of wood screws are needed.

Each of the two tapered pieces of timber—stabilizer arms—are spaced in one-third of the way from the end of the longer timber and attached through the angles with wood screws.

Hill says the drag is pulled by attaching two chains from the disk to the angles on the front side of the drag. Pulling from a single point may be accomplished by connecting the two chains together about four feet in front of the drag.

Amount of scraping done is controlled by raising or lowering eye bolts from which the chain pulls. Lowering the hitch will decrease the scraping action and the stabilizer arms will slide on the soil surface. Weights can be added to the rear stabilizer bar as needed.)

Farm operators who would like to look over the construction details for this tilt-over drag can write to the agricultural publications office at Purdue for mimeo AE-40.

Keep Herd Contented

"It pays dividends to keep the dairy herd comfortable and contented," according to G. A. Williams, Purdue University extension dairyman.

Williams reports that many herds on test in Indiana Dairy Herd Improvement Associations show that lowest monthly average during July and August of any period of the year.

In order to reduce the summer slump as much as possible, Williams has suggested some practices in herd management which will assist in helping to make the milking herd comfortable.

Williams says temperatures between 50 and 80 degrees seem to suit "Old Bossy" best. As the thermometer climbs near the 100 degrees mark, breathing rates increase, less feed is consumed, and production declines. Shade, either natural or artificial, to provide protection from the rays of the sun is one good way to help keep a herd comfortable.

In addition, the summer slump can be reduced if plenty of fresh cool water is made available to the herd during the heat of day and a fly spray used. And, it's a good idea for the dairy farmer to remember that cows prefer to graze during the night and morning or in late afternoon.

Making the herd as comfortable as possible not only pays off in increased income but prepares heavy milkers for the winter months ahead by keeping the cows in good flesh, Williams concludes.
