BANANA OIL

The last time some bird bellowed that to me I was almost persuaded that he questioned my veracity. And I've been told banana oil isn't made from bananas at all, but when they start using bananas to skid 10,000-ton ships into the water while good old axle grease stays in the tub there must be something to it.

A Texas ship building concern recently split up seven thousand pounds of the monkey fruit to use on the launching skids and the ship slid into the water smoother than an eel in an oyster barrel.

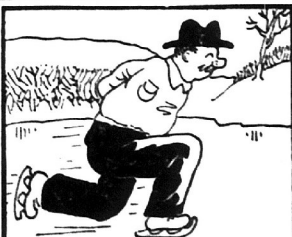

(If you've ever slipped on a banana on a wet street you have some idea of how the ship felt.)

Talon may have a monopoly for putting zippers where buttons, hooks and eyes or safety pins used to serve but the banana has been surrounded by zippers for centuries. They usually work, too.

A zipper that jumps the track can put a person on the siding until the wrecking crew arrives, but buttons were never like that.

SEE YOUR HOME STATE FIRST!

The slogan, "See America First," has become a rule forced by circumstances of the day, and is thus outmoded as a slogan to promote travel. There is little else travelers can do these days but cruise to Central and South America—except the most obvious thing, which is frequently the last considered.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, has this suggestion for motorists: "See your home State First!" This seems to be a worthwhile idea, since there is so much which so few of us have seen, right here in our own backyard.

For example, there are 20 parks and forests in Indiana where the family can picnic, fish, swim, canoe, wander forest paths and find rest which only nature can give. There are cities to see, the best roads to drive, fertile farmland to admire, rivers to span, history to trace.

The motor club suggests that car owners take a few week end trips this summer right here in Indiana, even if the vacation proper is spent elsewhere. There are many genuine pleasures and surprises in store just around the corner.

HAY CUTTING TIME AFFECTS FEED VALUE

The Food for Defense program, which aims at increased production of pork, dairy and poultry products, and tomatoes, is a direct challenge to Indiana farmers to give more than usual attention to the proper time of cutting hay to obtain the highest feeding value of this important feed crop, Purdue University agronomists stated this week.

Alfalfa should be cut for hay, suggested the crops men, when one-tenth of the buds are in bloom, which for Central Indiana occurs about June 7 to 10. The new shoots, that appear at the crown and which were formerly used as a guide in cutting, have been found to be unreliable since they start very early under favorable weather conditions and are retarded by drouthy or unfavorable conditions for growth. Farmers were informed they need not worry about cutting off these new shoots if the old growth has reached the early bloom stage. It is the premature cutting of the old growth which was described as harmful since it reduces the vigor of the plant through lowered root reserves and hence reduces subsequent crops.

Cutting alfalfa at a later stage than already recommended will result in larger yields of hay and no injury to the stand, but does lower hay quality because of extra loss of leaves and a decline in the total amount of protein per acre. The aim should be to finish hay making by the time the crop is in half to full bloom, especially when alfalfa leaf spot is present.

Many Indiana farmers cut red clover too late to get the largest amount of protein per acre and the highest palatability, according to Purdue agronomists. The highest feeding value in red clover is reached when the hay is cut from the half to full bloom stage, after which the per cent of total protein drops. Cutting after the full bloom stage produces larger yields of hay, but at a sacrifice of protein content and palatability. Likewise the cutting of clover for hay after full bloom results in subsequent reduction in seed yield from the second cutting.

Farmers who have no need for the clover hay crop but who are clipping the first cutting for soil improvement were urged to keep in mind this important point about the first cutting if improvement in the second growth either for pasture or a seed crop is desired.

Alsike and mammoth clovers are similar to red clover and should be cut as recommended for clovers. Mammoth clover, because of its rank growth, makes coarser hay than common red clover. Alsike clover may be cut at a slightly later stage than full bloom without loss in feeding value as its blooming stage covers a longer period and is accompanied by continued growth.

Farmers who have timothy can add to its feeding value by cutting it for hay when fully headed out and not later than the bloom stage. Cutting timothy at a later stage, as is too commonly practiced, will give a larger tonnage but will reduce the protein per acre by as much as one-fifth.

REVISED FISHING LAW FOLDERS DISTRIBUTED

Revised summaries of Indiana laws on fishing, hunting and trapping are now available at the offices of county clerks throughout the state. The new summaries contain changes in fishing, hunting and trapping laws enacted by the General Assembly.

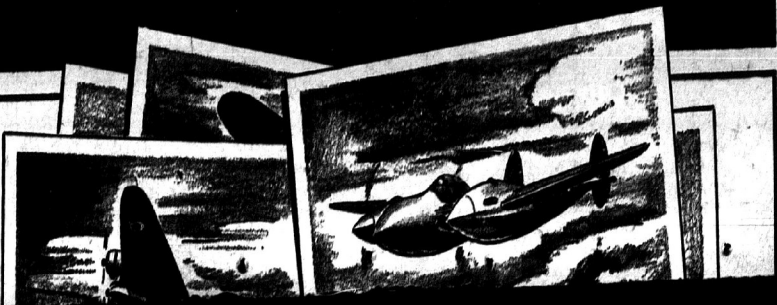

No change was made in laws on licenses, closed seasons or bag limits for fish. The only change in the laws affecting fishing was a provision making it illegal to take channel catfish which are less than 10 inches in length. Contrary to an impression prevalent in some areas, no restriction was placed on the number of poles which any one angler could use.

FARMERS HAVE BIG JOB IN NATIONAL DEFENSE

Washington, D. C.—“Farmers can take ‘efficient production’ as a watchword,” says Chester C. Davis, Commissioner in Charge of the Agricultural Division, National Defense Advisory Commission, in a recent article in The Fertilizer Review telling what immediate action farmers can take in our national emergency.

CHESTER C. DAVIS

“Efficient production means applying farming practices that will get the highest yields from the fewest acres. It means lowering production costs and at the same time improving quality and increasing volume,” states Mr. Davis.

“It means exercising far-seeing care in conserving the fertility of the soil by practices which not only prevent waste of fertility but help to restore it.”

FISHING SEASON OPENS SOON FOR HOOSIERS

While Indiana's fishing season for bass, bluegills and other game species does not open until June 16, anglers in all parts of the state are speculating upon the season's possibilities. C. R. Gutermuth, acting director of the Division of Fish and Game, said recently.

The effect of dry weather with practically all streams at abnormally low stages during the spawning season is being discussed by thousands of anglers in parts of the state where they do not have access to lake fishing. Without the normal rainfall during the spring, many of the streams did not receive their usual cleaning with the result that at many points the water has become unsatisfactory for fish life.

Anglers in the lake region are also looking forward to the opening of the season with unusual interest, due in part to the low lake levels. They are anticipating that unless there is considerable rainfall before the opening of the season, most of the fish will be congregated in the deeper holes and that fishing will be congregated in these areas.

If there should be heavy rains before June 16, anglers who depend upon the streams for their sport fear that the high waters may destroy the nests or carry the young fish away.

Regardless of the weather conditions, Indiana's army of over a half-million anglers is going ahead with its preparations for the opening of the season.

Regardless of the fact that some parts of Indiana are operating on daylight saving time and others on standard time, the fishing season does not officially open until midnight, June 15, Central Standard Time.

DEFENSE PROGRAM CAUSES LABOR SHORTAGE ON FARMS

The national defense program is causing Indiana farmers no end of inconvenience from labor shortage on the farm, according to Edmond C. Foust, director of information for the Indiana Farm Bureau.

This situation is brought about by two conditions: first, the farm boys leaving for army camps, and secondly, by others going to the defense industrial plants, says Mr. Foust.

"With the increase in power farming, the number of individually operated farms has shown a steady increase for several years. One farmer with a son or two has farmed adjoining lands. Now that the sons are gone, the farm operators find it impossible to compete with industrial labor wages for help. This may result in many acres uncultivated this season.

"The dairy industry is hit hard as hired help is leaving the farm every day. Dealers claim that the sale of milking machines has climbed beyond any season in recent years.

"Electricity on the farm meets its first great demand now, for it is used for such tasks as water pumping, milking, feed grinding, and other jobs formerly calling for additional man power. Should the war measures continue for another year, more land will be planted to grass in 1942 than during the past twenty years. This condition rates as serious when food production is important in the defense program."

SUMMER POULTRY SUGGESTIONS GIVEN

Protect growing pullets on range from the hot summer sun, suggests Scott Hinners, extension poultryman at Purdue University. The feed hoppers should be kept full at all times and a good water supply made available.

Many poultrymen have made use of barrels with automatic valves for reducing the labor involved and in insuring an ample supply of water. The barrels are usually placed on skids and can be moved easily from one place to another. Water fountains or feeders should never be placed under trees where birds roost.

Lice and mites often become a nuisance at this time of the year, says Hinners. A few birds should be examined. Treatment with either sodium fluoride as dust or dip, or a 40 per cent nicotine sulfate solution painted on the roost just before roosting time. Repeat the treatment in about ten days to kill the newly hatched lice. Mites, having a life cycle different from lice, spend most of their day in cracks and crevices on the roosts and dropping boards but suck blood from the birds at night. They can usually be controlled by spraying the poultry perches, dropping boards, nests, etc. with a mixture of carbolineum and kerosene.

Detailed information on the control of lice and mites may be obtained from Purdue University's Extension Bulletin 218 available at any Indiana county agricultural agent's office.

Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses and blue delphinium.

Mrs. Adrian Doran, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor, and Mrs. Frank Molley of South Bend, was bridesmaid. Miss Susan Hixon, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hixon, was the flower girl. Master Fred LaCrosse, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Charles Link, of Jackson, Michigan, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man with Milton Cramer of Gary as an usher.

Following the ceremony a buffet tea and reception was held after which the couple left for a wedding trip into Michigan. They are now at home to friends at their apartment at 902 Lincolnway East.

Miss Busenberg attended Ball State Teachers' College at Muncie and is at present employed in the offices of the Indiana Motor Bus company. Mr. Link is a graduate of the Fort Wayne Business College and has recently accepted a position with the J. E. Gillen Furnace Company of Dowagiac, Mich. The couple plans to make their home in Dowagiac in the fall.

LOCAL LIONS TO GO TO ELKHART FOR CONVENTION

Several members of the Mentone Lions Club plan to attend the Lions state convention in Elkhart, June 15, 16 and 17. The convention opens Sunday afternoon with a memorial service by the Indiana Lions chaplain, Rev. H. L. Lanahan. The setting is Elkhart's island Park. Surrounded by two fast running cool rivers, this park is shaped like a heart. Indians called it the "Elk's Heart," from which was derived the name of the community.

Admiral Byrd to Speak

Sunday evening the Lions and the guests will be entertained at Rice Field, natural outdoor arena where baseball and football games are held, and where prize-winning bands have vied for national honors. Lion Admiral Byrd, himself, will be the principal speaker, showing his famous South Pole moving pictures. The nationally famous Elkhart High School band of 110 musicians, and a bevy of beautiful baton twirlers and flag spinners will go through their prize-winning formations and play a concert, too.

Advance information indicated this convention will be the best attended of any and perhaps the most interesting. There are over 5000 Lions in Indiana, and every year the conventions become larger, as this active club grows in popularity.

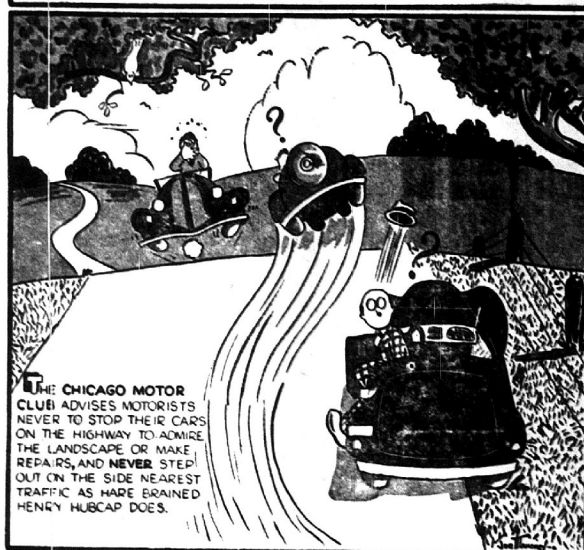

TWIRLERS RAINED OUT TO TRY AGAIN TUESDAY

Inclement weather last Tuesday night prevented the Elkhart baton twirlers from displaying their act during the band concert hour. However, Mr. Bowers, director of the community band, announces that the twirlers are expected to be present Tuesday evening, June 10th, to entertain the visitors.

Tuesday evening, June 17th, Vance Johns is scheduled to sing, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," as a special feature at the band concert.

Dr. and Mrs. Urschell and Miss Lois Dorman motored to Chicago on Wednesday of last week.

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT

The Baptist Church is pleased to announce the coming of Evangelist Fred Maxey who will begin a series of revival messages at the Mentone Church on Sunday, morning, June 15th. Services will be held each evening 7:30-9:00 P. M. except Saturday evening.

Rev. Maxey is a man well qualified for the task at hand, having had several years of experience as a pastor and evangelist. Previous to his conversion he successfully practiced law and engaged in high political endeavor.

As an ambassador of Jesus Christ he manifests genuine devotion to his King and graces his calling with humility, poise, and dignity. He is highly regarded by the local pastor who knows him well.

The people of Mentone and surrounding territory are cordially invited to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity.

TO DISCUSS FUTURE OF HOG PRODUCTION

In the heart of the great corn and hog belt, hog breeders and feeders, judges, packers and college swine specialists from all parts of the country will gather at Purdue University June 23 and 24 to determine the future course which hog production should take. The occasion is the 1941 National Hampshire Type Conference.

Because the government is now urging increased hog production and is encouraging this increase with a 2-year guarantee of profitable prices, hogs are once again the mortgage lifters on the cornbelt farm, and there is a tremendously increased interest in hogs. In this period of expansion, it is more important than ever that the production be guided along the most practical lines. This is particularly true with respect to the surplus lard problem which will face the hog industry when the 2-year period of guaranteed $9.00 hogs comes to an end.

MUST HAVE LICENSE NOW TO TAKE FROGS

Under a statute enacted by the 1941 session of the General Assembly it is "unlawful to take, catch or kill frogs without a hunting license," C. R. Gutermuth, acting director of the Division of Fish and Game, has pointed out.

This provision makes it necessary for non-residents to have a non-resident hunting license in order to take frogs legally in Indiana, and for residents of the state under 18 years of age to have a license. Residents under eighteen years of age are not required to have a license to fish but must have a license to hunt.

Other sections of the law provide two open seasons for taking frogs—from April 1 to 30, and from June 10 to Oct. 31—and make it illegal to take or possess more than 25 frogs at any one time.

ON THE WAGON WITH GREAT-GREAT GRANDFATHER

Tipplers during the prohibition era were often shocked into sobriety when they saw bartenders removing the varnish on the bar with a damp rag dipped in hooch.

But this was a mild method of alcoholic cure as compared to some of those listed in medical volumes of the early nineteenth century, according to James H. Oughton, Jr., director of the Alcoholic Research Department of the Keeley Institute, whose hobby is collecting old time theories on the problem of inebriety.

In "The Anatomy of Drunkenness" by Robert McNish, (published 1834) Mr. Oughton unearthed the theory that feminine alcoholics nearing forty often burst out into spontaneous internal combustion. The author described the case history of a lady found with a charred midriff on the floor of her sitting room beside a cold fireplace. He reported that the combination of gas and alcohol had inflamed her innards with fatal results.

Among recommended cures was that of transferring the rum habit to opium since "opium has no moral effect or power of injuring the reputation."

Another suggested cure was that the confirmed drunkard should buy himself a bottle of whiskey, take a drink, then refill the bottle to the neck with water. The next day he takes another swig, again replenishes the bottle with water, and so on, until finally he is taking his water straight.

The old medical books report another cure effected by a gentleman who bought his wife a barrel of brandy and placed it in the center of the kitchen floor in the hope that she would drink herself to death. But just to spite her husband, she thereupon refused to touch another drop.

It is motive alone that gives character to the actions of men.

My concern is not whether God is on our side; my great concern is to be on God's side.
—Lincoln.

Some duties, like many days, don't look very inviting when they are before you, but after they are completed one finds it wasn't difficult at all. There's nothing to be done that man hasn't done before; no misfortune which others have not had to endure.

PICKED FROM A HAMMOCK?

A few days ago the writer read a little utterance that, in substance, was something like this:

"I've known men to be taken from the plow, the forge or the desk and placed into positions of fame and fortune, but I never did hear of anyone reaching over a picket fence and plucking one out of a hammock."

How true that statement is. There are times when we look about us when we may feel that many times something besides ability has been responsible in placing many in lucrative positions. Today, however, as the world is getting started on its wild stampede, the demand for skilled labor is tremendous. The unskilled man will be more disappointed this year than he has since '32 and '33 when you couldn't buy, beg or steal a job anywhere. He had lost hope then, but in '41 he usually feels that jobs will be easy to get, and in most instances he will find there is still no place for the unskilled man. I fear this will be very disheartening to many.

Even though the demand is great, they still aren't "plucking them from hammocks."

$8,900,000,000 Income In 1940 Due to Farms

WASHINGTON.—The bureau of agricultural economics estimated that farm income for 1940 would total $8,900,000,000, or $360,000,000 more than last year. The figure includes products sold and government payments.

In a monthly summary of the prospective farm situation, the bureau also said:

That agricultural employment would increase in September; farm prices were higher this year than last; about the same acreage would be sowed to wheat in 1941 as 1940; the outlook continued favorable for domestic cotton consumption and continued "exceptionally unfavorable" for exports; fewer cattle would be fed this fall and winter than last, and the number of sows farrowing this fall would be at least 12 per cent smaller than that of 1939.

Goats Start Landslide That Destroys a Village

BUCHAREST, RUMANIA. — The Bucharest press said tonight that an entire village in the Carpathian foothills had been destroyed by a landslide blamed on goats.

The goats, it was said, killed trees by nibbling the bark, the trees were cut down, their roots decayed, and loose earth, rock and shale slipped under pressure of melting snow.

More than 200 acres of land engulfed the village, it was reported, leaving 120 families and their livestock without shelter. The reports did not mention casualties. The press denied foreign reports (published by the official DNB news agency in Berlin) that the slide was caused by an earthquake. (The DNB report said 300 dwellings, a church and a school were destroyed. The same area was severely damaged by the earthquakes of last November 10.)

TALMA NEWS

Mrs. Harold Fenstermaker and sons Ned and Allen of Chicago, are visiting with the former's aunt, Mrs. Main Deamer and Mr. Deamer.

Mrs. Peter Horn, at this writing, is in a very critical condition in a hospital in Indianapolis. She submitted to a very serious operation a few days ago and has had three blood transfusions. The family is with her.

Mr. Francis Rogers, nephew of Mrs. Lillie Myers of Talma, called on her on Tuesday. He was enroute to a camp in Virginia and expects to go on to Hawaii in the very near future.

Regret to learn of the death of Mr. John Arter of Akron, brother of Mr. Frank Arter of Talma. We extend our sympathy.

Mrs. James Myers of near Talma who has been sick for some time, is now in the Woodlawn Hospital.

Mrs. Frank Kennedy, who has been a patient at Woodlawn Hospital, is much improved.

Mrs. Mary Law, who has been in Florida the past few months, and Mr. Russell Law who has been attending Manchester college, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Law of Talma on Friday evening. Mrs. Mary Law and Mr. Russell Law left Saturday morning for Wanatchee Valley, Washington to spend the summer. Mrs. Law is an aunt of Glen and Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bellward enjoyed a visit with Dick Hughes of Warsaw Sunday, who was formerly a resident of this community, having moved away about 22 years ago. Mr. Hughes found many changes have taken place since he left.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Staldine and family have returned from Downs, Kansas where they were called by the death of the former's oldest brother, Dick Staldine. Death was caused by heart trouble. They also visited with many relatives and friends there whom they had not seen for some time.

Mrs. Jeff Stookey received word from Los Angeles, California that her sister, Mrs. Milton Clay, is in a hospital there having suffered a stroke of paralysis on Monday.

Mr. John Luhring and brother, Frank Luhring of Frankfort, Illinois, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bellward Tuesday. They were returning from a trip to Virginia where they visited the former's son in the army camp.

On Tuesday Mrs. Kenneth Mollenhour, Mrs. Devon Eaton and Mrs. Jeff Stookey attended a sales meeting at South Bend.

Mr. Frank Coplin, owner of the Talma saw mill, passed away at his home on Tuesday. Mr. Coplin suffered a fractured hip when he fell on the ice in February and has been bedfast since. Recently complications set in but he had been patient thru all his suffering. He will be greatly missed about Talma.

W. S. C. S. of Talma M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Jeff Stookey and assisted by Mrs. Mary Minars. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Charles Shock. All sang "America the Beautiful" and devotions were presented by Mrs. Shock. Roll call was answered by "My Favorite Flower." A reading was given by Mrs. Main Deamer. "God's Tomorrow," was sung by all. The lesson from "Investing Our Heritage," was given by Mrs. Lillie Myers. The meeting was dismissed with a prayer by Mrs. Glen Sutton. Refreshments were served to nine members and six guests. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Harry Case, July 2.

Word has just been received that Mrs. Peter Horn passed away Thursday morning at the hospital in Indianapolis.

INDIANA FARMERS RAISE 32 PER CENT MORE CHICKS

It appears that Indiana farmers have gone far beyond the government recommendations of a 15 per cent increase in baby chicks, since hatchery men report that Indiana has increased the chick population by 32 per cent over 1940, according to officials of the Farm Bureau hatchery department.

Many of the chicks, of course, will go to the broiler trade, they say. However, from the pullets kept, they estimate there should be no difficulty in increasing by 10 per cent this phase of the chicken industry as recommended by government representatives.

Many poultrymen are wondering what the final results may be, since there is no government support to the price of poultry meat, although 22 cents per dozen is the floor under eggs.

It is believed that the 1941 market will be well supported by industrial workers who are on the defense program. Some economists have doubt regarding the profit in the poultry industry in 1942.

At least it can be said that there will be no shortage of poultry in Indiana this year.

INDIANA FARMERS GET 11 Per Cent MORE PLANT-FOOD IN FERTILIZER, ACCORDING TO GOVERNMENT REPORT

Washington, D. C.—Recent U. S. Department of Agriculture figures show that Indiana farmers received 11 per cent more plantfood per ton of fertilizer last year than in 1934 when the last survey on the subject was made.

This was 24 per cent above the national average which has shown a sharp upward trend since 1920. At that time the plantfood content in fertilizer was only 13.9; in 1929, it was up to 17.5 per cent; by 1935, 18.2 per cent; today, it has jumped to 19.35 per cent. This means an increase of 39 per cent in plantfood content since 1920 and at the same time the farmer's fertilizer bills have declined 41 per cent.

All this is due to improvement of mechanical conditions, manufacture of fertilizers better suited to different crops and soils, reduction of the number of grades of fertilizer, and other economies instituted by the industry since that time.

TO THE BOYS IN CAMP

Through the courtesy of the Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association every young man of the community who is serving in the armed forces of the nation has been receiving a copy of the News each week. Home folks who read the News each week would likely appreciate hearing from each of you and an invitation is extended to everyone to write a letter for publication. It is likely almost an impossibility for each of you to write to all those whom you would, so the News will try and publish every letter sent to it.

And to the friends at home, remember the boys would like to hear from you, too. Their names and addresses (as much as we have been informed) are printed quite frequently that you may know how to address your messages of friendship and cheer. Remember the boys with your letters and gifts.

Time Bomb' Gets Police Force Very Much Excited

MINNEAPOLIS.—A man walked into police headquarters and deposited a package before the desk sergeant.

"Listen," he said. And the sergeant listened to a "tick-tick, tick-tick" coming from the package.

"I think it's a time bomb," calmly explained the caller.

"Down the hall, down the hall! Take it to the Detective bureau!" rattled the sergeant.

A moment later Detective Capt. Clarence McLaskey had the package before him.

"Hear it?" asked the caller.

"Time bomb, I guess."

The captain tip-toed around his desk, apprehensively eyeing the package.

"Don't have to be afraid to open it," the caller explained. "My wife opened it today."

Cautiously the captain explored and found a wooden box, a metal disc on a shaft at one end and an alarm clock inside. No dynamite.

The caller, Emil C. Hanson said his wife had found the box in their yard.

McLaskey has an alarm clock and a puzzle—and his breath back again.

ARTLEY D. CULLUM — Ed. & Mgr.

The trouble with some folks appears to be that they work just long enough to get a new suit.

The High Cost of War—

Wars are expensive things from any and every standpoint. Not only are they expensive but are useless expenditures, caused by graft, greed and the urgings of perverted spirits.

If the money that is being spent each day in the United States to convince people that they should hate their friends and neighbors enough to kill them—get them mad through and through—was used to purchase armaments there would be no need for additional taxes upon the masses. Each week this office receives pages of printed matter, theatres are supplied with various odds and ends of short subjects to transform the minds of Americans, and speakers of national fame are using their influence daily.

America has always been my country and will always be my choice. I like the privileges it gives me, the people that reside therein and the freedom which each enjoy. In fact, I like it so much that I'll not only fight to protect it from any invader but aim to help protect it from those who would destroy it from within or attempt to transform it into something for their personal gain.

There are hundreds of people in America who are sympathetic with other nations and their ways, and there are many Americans who are working for things that aren't for the best interests of the Nation. Regardless of how mad it might make us if we are called "fifth columnists," there is much truth in the statement. For personal reasons, many times we permit things that we know are not for the best. We must stand behind the American ideals in every case and be fair to ourselves, our children and our country.

Americans must think and act honestly.

BAHIA BLANCHA, ARGENTINA.—A distress message floated ashore in a bottle and brought rescue to the 301-ton Argentine coastal ship Miramar, which had drifted helplessly beyond sight of land after losing its propeller.

The message from the small vessel, which carried no radio, was picked up by bathers at Copetones beach. Later, the Vaquillona, an Argentine freighter and one of several ships which had sought the Miramar, arrived here with the latter vessel in tow.

The Miramar carried a crew of 14 and a general cargo.

GOOD CLEAN SPORT

If there is anything new under the sun, then the son will think of it.

One evening after dark, a pair of innocent looking lads were seen prowling around where my ash pile had been. Investigation disclosed the fact that they were looking for tin cans.

Now a desire for a tin can is not sufficient evidence for a conviction on a charge of malfeasance in the moonlight, disorderly conduct or even just drunken suspicions, so I "passed" and went on about my loafing.

A little while later the busy little visitors were still looking for tin cans—and I had practically showed them where there were enough to confine all the sardines in Norway.

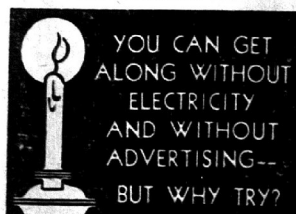

Needless to say, information came forth about as easy as a comb thru baby's hair after he found the syrup pail.

The next day, however, one of the boys weakened and said they were just having some clean fun.

They would fill a can with water and then balance it against a door like a drunk against a light post and then knock at the door and scam.

They said they picked out some people whom they knew wouldn't get too mad when the door was opened and the water ran across the floor.

That's what I call clean fun. Clean anyway.

INDIANA FARMERS BOOST WHEAT YIELDS 57%, SURVEY SHOWS

Father and son inspect a bumper crop. Inset (1) Unfertilized root system, (2) fertilized root system gives strength to enable plant to go through the winter with less loss.

Indiana farmers who use fertilizer increase their wheat yields by 8 bushels per acre on the average, or 57 per cent, according to a recent national survey in which 32,000 farmers told of their experience with fertilizer. The wheat growers who were interviewed verified on their own farms the results achieved at experiment stations, which show that wheat is very responsive to fertilizer.

In addition to the increase in yield, 73 per cent of the farmers who were interviewed in 17 States reported better market quality; 85 per cent had noticed that fertilized crops got a quicker start; 45 per cent observed that crops were more resistant to disease; and 76 per cent reported that crops matured earlier.

Experiments carried on at experiment stations show that generally the best place in a crop rotation to make a liberal application of fertilizer is on wheat. In addition to increasing the yield and quality of the grain, fertilizer promotes a vigorous growth and larger yields of the clover or other hay crop which follows, which in turn benefits the crop coming next in the rotation.

Indiana farmers can substantially reduce their cost of wheat production per bushel by increasing their yield. In the eastern part of the United States it costs on the average around $15 to grow an acre of wheat, regardless of yield. If the yield is 15 bushels the cost is $1 per bushel; if the yield is 10 bushels the cost jumps $1.50 per bushel; while a 30 bushel yield reduces the cost to 50 cents. The value of the increased wheat yield in Indiana resulting from the use of fertilizer is equivalent to about $1.66 for each dollar spent for fertilizer.

Resigned to Life In 'Phobic Prison'

University Professor Has Terror of Distance.

MADISON, WIS.—William Ellery Leonard, University of Wisconsin professor, observed his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary resigned to spending his last years in his self-imposed "phobic prison."

Chained to a six-block campus district by terror of distance induced by a roaring locomotive when he was little more than two years old, the white-haired poet-professor has written of his phobia in his autobiography, "The Locomotive-God." Today, seated in his spaciouly windowed, third-floor campus apartment, the man whose flowing wind-sor ties have been familiar to university students for 35 years, was without hope of ever extending his boundaries.

Furthermore, he said, he has no plans for retiring from his teaching position, although he is eligible to do so.

"I plan to go on with my teaching," he said. "I feel well. I feel the university needs me, and I'm going to stick with my regular work."

Although Mr. Leonard first was stricken with the phobia while only a child, it did not become pronounced until the tragic death of his first wife, Charlotte Freeman Leonard, which he described in "Two Lives," a book of sonnets considered to be among the finest in the English language.

Sharing his prison walls is Charlotte Charlton Leonard, his fourth wife. She was his second wife, too, and spent 20 years with him before divorcing him in 1934. His third wife was Grace Golden Leonard, once his student, whom he married in 1934 and from whom he was divorced in 1937.

WEBWORMS ARE ATTACKING INDIANA'S CORN FIELDS

Reports of damage to corn by sod webworms are being received from many sections of Indiana, especially from the central and north central regions, reports J. J. Davis, head of the entomology department of the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

When webworms attack corn in the spring or early summer there is only one procedure to follow, explains Davis. If the corn is badly damaged, replant between the rows, leaving the original stand of corn as long as possible before cultivation is necessary. If the original stand is plowed under soon after the replanting is made, the worms are likely to migrate to the new planting.

This same webworm is responsible for damage to golf greens and lawns, causing a ragged, patchy appearance, and sometimes killing large areas. For control in such areas special chemical sprays, such as kerosene emulsion and pyrethrum extract are recommended.

The worms are dark brown, about one-half inch long, and construct tunnels or runways of soil and silken threads along the underground stalk of the young corn plant. They remain concealed during the day, coming to the surface at night to feed. They gnaw into the tender stalk near the surface so that the plants often break over and fail to survive, producing injury much as do cutworms.

These webworms are the progeny of small light tan colored millers or moths, so common in meadows during midsummer or later, says Davis. These moths drop their eggs during late summer and fall in places where there is sod or weeds and the worms hatching from the eggs pass the winter as immature worms. This phase of their life history explains why corn is attacked following sod, why they are active and ready to attack the tender corn plant as soon as it appears in the spring.

50 MILLION AMERICANS CAN'T BE WRONG

The 3,065,000 miles of highways in America, upon which virtually "one-third of a nation" will travel on vacation jaunts this summer, play a second vital role as the arteries of a vast dollar flow from section to section, state to state, coast to coast. American highway tourists will spend between five and six billion dollars for vacation tours this year, according to estimates of travel bureau experts.

By U. S. estimate, approximately half the 27,300,000 cars registered in the country will carry their owners on summer jaunts averaging 3,300 miles—a greater distance than from the Atlantic to the Pacific. With an average of 3.5 persons per car, this represents some 47,775,000 Americans enroute over the highways.

PERMITS REQUIRED TO KEEP OR SELL MINNOWS

Permits, issued without charge by the Division of Fish and Game, must be obtained by all bait dealers who sell minnows and by individuals who possess more than 500 minnows at any one time, it was pointed out by C. R. Guteimuth, acting director of the division. Indiana laws provide that failure to have such a permit is a misdemeanor and punishable upon conviction by a fine of not to exceed $25.

The law providing for the permits was enacted in 1935 as a means of preventing raids upon Indiana fishing streams by out-of-state bait dealers and wasting of minnows which are important to continued good fishing in Indiana waters. Under a law enacted during the last session of the General Assembly, no minnows may be taken from Indiana waters from

May 1 to June 12, both dates inclusive.

COUNTRY PRINT SHOP MOVED INTO NEW QUARTERS

Thursday the heavy equipment in the Country Print Shop was moved from its old location to the Rose Boggess business room, first door west of the post office. The presses were connected Friday and the first runs of the Co-Op. News were made on Saturday. The new location affords much more room for handling the printing and publishing that is done by the firm and better enable it to handle the printing work for business firms and individuals of the community with neatness and dispatch. Needless to say, several weeks will be required to get everything arranged as we would like, but we are indebted to several local firms for their assistance in moving and equipment changes. Mr. Krathwohl, who started the Country Print Shop many years ago, has given considerable assistance this week and it has enabled us to bring the News to you without delay.

BARBARA GAST BRIDE OF DR. DONALD VANGILDER

A beautiful wedding occurred in the Methodist church in Akron at 7:30 p. m. on June 18th when Miss Barbara Gast, teacher in the New Castle schools and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Gast of Akron became the bride of Dr. Donald J. VanGilder, son of Mrs. Cora VanGilder of Mentone.

The church was beautifully decorated with the season's flowers and vines and lighted only with candles; candelabras in front and single tapers in the windows.

The ceremony was preceded by a pipe organ recital by Evan Whitten.

The bride's attendants were Iva Marie Stookey of Warsaw, Polly Ragsdale of New Castle, Betty Arnsman of Lebanon, and Mrs. Joe Boswell of Akron, sister of the bride as matron of honor. Little Barbara Jean Boswell was flower girl. All were attired in pastel shades of rose, green and yellow and carried hand corsages of sweet peas and snapdragons.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and she was dressed in a formal wedding gown with a finger veil and carried a formal bouquet.

Dr. VanGilder's best man was his brother, Jack VanGilder, and both wore white suits, the groom's being a white formal summer military uniform. Mrs. Gast and Mrs. VanGilder, mothers of the bride and groom, wore rose colored dresses.

Rev. Elmer Harvey, pastor of the Linton M. E. church, performed the ceremony.

Following the ceremony a reception to some 300 people was held at the Akron Hotel.

Mrs. VanGilder is a graduate of Indiana University and has been teaching in New Castle school for four years. Dr. VanGilder is a graduate of the Indiana University Dental College and is a member of Delta Sigma Delta honorary fraternity. He practiced dentistry in Mentone for about four years prior to entering the armed service.

The couple left for Camp Blanding,

MENTONE BEATS SOUTH BEND CUBS IN FIRST GAME

The South Bend South Side Cubs ended up on the short end of a 11 to 10 score in the baseball game at Mentone Sunday. The game was close throughout but at no time was the home team in any particular danger. A good crowd was present.

Smith and Teel formed the battery for the locals the first six innings while Creakbaum and Linn relieved them in the last three stanzas.

At the present writing no game is scheduled for Sunday but the boys are hoping to get a game arranged.

YELLOW LINES BEING MARKED ON HIGHWAYS

Yellow lines, reflectorized with miniature glass beads, are being painted on the surface of state highways to designate no-passing zones. James D. Adams, chairman of the State Highway Commission, reported this week. Special equipment is used to apply the paint and beads, one machine being located in each of the six highway districts.

Experiments in the use of the beaded yellow lines for night visibility were started two years ago and resulted in the adoption of this marking as standard practice on the state highway system. The line which glows under the headlights at night designates points at which motorists should NOT cross the yellow line to pass other vehicles moving in the same direction, when the yellow mark is on their side of the center stripe.

Florida where Dr. VanGilder is stationed in the dental corp.

Among out of town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Wilson, Dr. David Mattiere, Indiana university; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lauer and daughter Mary Jane, Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stookey and family, Mrs. Ruth Buckingham, South Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stookey and family of Goshen.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurshel Drudge made a business trip to Chicago Sunday.

SPECIAL NOTICE

MOTORCYCLE RACES AT BURKET SUNDAY

The Tourist Trophy motorcycle races will be held at the Burket race track on Sunday afternoon, June 29, starting at two o'clock (DST). The time trials start at twelve o'clock.

The Burket track is located just north of that place.

Motorcycle racing, according to the officials, is making its appearance for the second time in the county on a greatly improved track. It provides an entirely new form of amusement and thrills for the sports loving public.

The track is oiled dirt, built on an irregular oval with a straightaway long and smooth enough to allow the wild-eyed daredevils to let their iron steeds show some speed. There are hairpin turns that really make the riders show their stuff and hills so steep that a man on foot can scarcely climb them.

This new form of cycle racing gives the race fan an entirely new form of racing that has provided speed, thrills and spills beyond words.

MENTONE GIRL SCOUTS

The Mentone Girl Scouts met at the school house for their regular meeting Wednesday, June 18th. 12 members were present. The Scouts studied handicraft after which they continued in their learning of American folk dances.

It was voted not to have meetings for the next few weeks due to so many other summer activities. The next meeting will be held August 6th.

RED SPIDERS ARE APPEARING EARLY

(Purdue News Service)

Red spiders, which are small plant feeding mites, usually appear about mid-summer, especially during dry seasons, attacking evergreens, shrubs, of various kinds, and garden flowers, especially phlox. This year, probably because of the prolonged drought which favored their development, reports are being received at this early date of their abundance on evergreens, reports J. J. Davis, head of the entomology department of the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

Injury by these small mites is evidenced by a whitening of the foliage, resulting from sucking of the juices from the plant cells. The mites also spin silken threads and when abundant the foliage may have a silvery sheen resulting from the covering of silken threads.

Two materials are available for control of these pests, according to Davis. Summer oil sprays, diluting according to directions on the container, are effective but may temporarily remove the bloom from such trees as blue spruce. The sulphur sprays, especially wettable and colloidal sulphurs, which are commonly on the market, are also excellent controls. In any case, the spray must be applied as a forceful, fine spray to obtain best results. Where chemical sprays are not available, a forceful stream of water from the garden hose materially checks the increase of red spider.

WEEDS ARE COSTLY TO INDIANA FARMERS

Lafayette, Ind., June 16.—Indiana farmers pay $44,000,000 a year for the privilege of having weeds on their farms or about $200 per farm, Oliver C. Lee, Purdue University Extension weed specialist, estimates.

Many persons may think this figure is too high at first thought, but Lee reminds Hoosiers that weeds take their toll in many different ways.

First of all, weeds reduce crop yields. Most farmers have experienced a reduction in corn, wheat, and other crops because weeds were so numerous that they robbed the soil of its fertility and moisture.

Second, weeds lower the quality of farm products. Clover seed, for instance, infested with weed seeds does not bring top price. Alfalfa hay that is half weeds is not worth as much per ton as clean hay.

Weeds increase the labor bill. If it were not for weeds the farmer could plant his corn in the spring and forget it until time to harvest in the fall. The present weed infestation makes it necessary to cultivate several times, and each cultivation takes time and costs money. These times alone would add up to a huge sum.

Then too, weeds reduce land values. Certain perennial weeds when permitted to scatter over a farm make it practically impossible to grow crops and mean several years of clean cultivation or the use of expensive chemicals to eradicate them. In some parts of the state, field bindweed, for instance, has infested many farms to the extent that land buyers are not interested in paying anywhere near full market price for such lands. Farms on which Canada thistle is well established are not considered first class property. Lee recalled a farm in the eastern part of the state that sold a few years ago for as low as $40 per acre because of a severe infestation of Canada thistle. Had this land been free of thistle, it would have sold normally for $75 to $100 per acre. Perennial sowthistle, Johnstons grass, quack grass, and horse nettle are other perennials which are threatening land values. Some loan companies refuse to lend money on farms badly infested with weeds, particularly field bindweed. As one representative of an insurance company put it, "We are not interested in loaning money on farms infested with bindweed because the bindweed has already taken the first mortgage."

The weed specialist suggests that every farmer take a trip over his farm for the purpose of checking the weeds that are coming along at this time of the year, and if new and dangerous ones are found take immediate steps to prevent further spread or eradicate them. He urges that farmers make it a habit, starting now, to become better acquainted with their weeds and do something definite toward reducing this $44,000,000 loss.
