JONES — FISHER

The marriage of Miss Rosalie Jones and Joseph Fisher took place at 3:00 Sunday afternoon in the Mentone Methodist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Jones, Mentone, and Mrs. Joseph B. Fisher is the parent of the bridegroom.

Rev. B. F. Yeager, uncle of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony. "I Love Thee," "Because," and "The Wedding Prayer" were sung by Rev. David Gosser, accompanied by Maude Snyder, organist, who also played, "Claire De Lune," "Indian Love Call," "To A Wild Rose," and the traditional wedding marches. The church was decorated with peonies, mock orange blossoms and palms. Paul Weldy and Richard Whittenberger lighted the candelabra.

The reception was held in the church parlor for 225 guests. The Misses Martha Rusher, Dorothy Golden and Mrs. Doyle Burkett served.

Preceding the bride to the altar was Mrs. Richard Whittenberger, who attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the Mesdames Robert Fisher, George Graham, Paul Weldy, and Miss Norma Hudson. Sherry Lynn Babcock, niece of the bride, was flower girl. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Robert Fisher, best man, and the ushers were Wendell Fisher, Paul Weldy, Noble Babcock and Richard Whittenberger.

The bride looked lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father. She was attired in a white marquisette over satin gown. A fitted bodice was accented with a peplum of imported lace. The sleeves were long and pointed. The gored skirt fell into a long train. An edging of flowers formed the border for her fingertip veil of illusion net, which was secured by a beaded and rhinestone tiara. She carried a hollyhock bouquet of white orchid surrounded by white carnations from which fell streamers of white satin with clusters of stephenotis. Her strand of pearls were the gift of the groom.

The matron of honor wore a green dotted Swiss gown with matching picture hat and mitts, and carried a colonial bouquet. The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of pastel shades, orchid, pink, blue and yellow dotted Swiss with matching picture hats and

MENTONE MERCHANTS WIN OPENING SOFTBALL GAME

After being rained out in their first game of the season at the local park, the Mentone Merchants travelled to Goshen Tuesday night to win their opening game 5 to nothing from the Goshen All Stars. Brockey, Merchant pitcher, held Goshen to a lone single. Two were gone in the closing stanza when Slade, Goshen centerfielder, popped a scratch single beyond the reach of Blue, Merchant's third baseman, and Brockey's chance for a no-hitter was gone. The next batter grounded to the pitcher to finish the game.

The Merchants collected seven hits off the Goshen twirler, including a long, out-of-the-park homer by Whetstone in the third inning.

Mentone's line-up was as follows:

Whetstone 1st.
Pritchard 2nd.
Blue 3rd.
Drudge, ss.
McGowen lf.
Shirey, cf.
J. Westaver, rf.
Linn, c.
Brockey, p.

The Merchants will play the strong Akron News team at the local park Friday night at 8:15 p. m. On next Wednesday night, June 15th, they will travel to Manchester to meet the All Stars there.

A movement is under way to secure new white wool uniforms for the Merchants and the following fans have already contributed: Mack Haimbaugh, Dale Kelley, Harold Nelson, Erm McGowen, Elmore Fenstermaker, Herschel Linn, Curtis Riner, Ora McKinley and Artley Cullum.

Next week we hope to have a long list of contributors and if you are not contacted promptly, kindly give your contribution to one of the following: Ora McKinley, Phillip Blue, Harold Nelson or Elmore Fenstermaker.

LLOYD CREAKBAUMS PATIENTS AT WOODLAWN

Lloyd Creakbaum has been released from the Woodlawn hospital after being a patient there recently after being kicked just above the knee by a cow.

Mrs. Creakbaum is still a patient there where she is recovering from a gall-bladder operation.

JOHN MOTTO TO SPEAK BEFORE MENTONE LIONS

John Motto, of Warsaw, chosen as one of a committee of three to work on and disseminate facts regarding the Hoover Commission and its findings, will be guest speaker at the Mentone Lions club Wednesday evening, June 15th.

ROBERT ANDERSON NAMED SOCIETY VICE PRESIDENT

Robert Anderson, an Indiana university senior, has been elected vice-president of Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical society.

Robert is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Anderson, of Mentone.

Students were chosen for the honor on the basis of scholarship and participation in campus activities during the past school year.

BLODGETT

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blodgett are the parents of a son born last Wednesday at the McDonald hospital. The new baby weighed 8 pounds and three ounces and has been named Robert Earl.

RENAMED AS COUNTY ATTENDANCE OFFICER

Mrs. Curtis Riner, of Mentone, has been re-elected by the county board of education to another year's term as school attendance officer. Mrs. Riner was unopposed in the election.

Week end guests of Robert Nelson at the A. I. Nelson home were Miss Mary McHenry, of Eldorado, Arkansas; Miss Phyllis Jay, of Indianapolis, and John Kepler, of Detroit, Michigan. All are seniors at Northwestern University.

CLUB CALENDAR

The Franklin 49'ers 4-H club will meet Wednesday, June 15, at 1:30 at the Ballenger home.

WRSW RANGERS TO PLAY AT MENTONE SATURDAY

The WRSW Rangers, of Warsaw, will be in Mentone Saturday evening to entertain Mentone visitors with their playing and singing. The Rangers have some exceptionally fine talent in their group and they come to our city highly recommended.

Many citizens were on hand last Saturday evening to listen to the concert given by the Mentone high school band and participate in the "Days of '49" drawing.

Upon the third announcement, Verl Halterman responded and received a gift of $30 from the Mentone Merchants.

DISTRICT CONVENTION HERE

The district convention of Mothers of World War II held June 2 in the Mentone community building, was well attended. The morning session was opened by the district president, Mrs. Sara Barr, of Knox. The presentation of the colors, pledge to the flag and the National anthem was sung. Business session followed until adjournment was made for dinner. The dinner was served by the American Legion Auxiliary ladies, in the cafeteria room of the school. The tables were decorated in the colors of red, white and blue and at each place was a little hand-made rosebud set in marshmallows on a paper doilie which served as favors to the guests. After dinner the group retired to the community building for the remainder of the meeting. Rev. David Gosser gave the main address closing with a vocal solo, "I Had a Little Talk With the Lord," accompanied by Mrs. Gosser at the piano. Reports from the units of the district followed and it was voted to have the next meeting at Winamac in September. Songs were sung by the district chorus. The Mother's Creed was repeated in unison, and colors retired. The song, "God Bless America," was sung by the audience and the chaplain gave the closing prayer and the meeting adjourned.

CARD OF THANKS

The W. W. 2 Mothers wish to thank all those who helped make this such a successful event, in contributing food, money and flowers, especially thanking the American Legion Auxiliary for serving the dinner and Rev. and Mrs. Gosser for their part in the program.

WHY HONEYBEES ARE IMPORTANT

Why do honeybees produce? First thought that comes to mind, as Della Loui points out in an article in the June 4 Prairie Farmer, is honey, and a mighty delicious, tasty sweet it can be.

Bees also produce beeswax, of course, but by far the most important work that they do is pollinization of our fruit, vegetable, and legume crops. According to Mrs. Loui, there are 52 crops in the mid-west that will not produce fruit or seed unless the blossoms are pollinated by the bees.

It has only been in fairly recent years that farmers and fruit raisers have realized the extreme importance of bees in producing seed and fruit crops. Today they will drive as far as 50 miles to an apiarist to pay him for putting out several stands of bees on their places. In fact, points out Walter Diehnelt, well known bee raiser of Waukesha County, Wis., most apiarists have a waiting list of farmers who want bees.

Diehnelt says one farmer told him that he raised eight times as much clover seed the first year Diehnelt put out an outyard of bees on his farm.

Most fruit raisers today are careful to use DDT and other new insecticides at times when it will not harm the bees, and refrain from its use when fruit trees and other plants are in bloom.

However, much of the present danger to bees comes from small spray ring outfits who are paid so much a tree and go through an orchard and spray every tree that can be found, regardless of the blossoming stage. Airplane dust sprays also weaken the bee colonies when the conditions are not right and the dust blows to fields adjoining the ones being treated.

CROAKERS AND MINNOWS SOON ON LEGAL LIST

For those to whom there is nothing more delectable than a heaping dish of frog legs—here is a gentle reminder.

Come June 10 frog hunters may sally forth in search of the Leaping Lenas of the stream and pond.

And, says section 132 of the laws of the State of Indiana governing fish, game, fur-bearing animals and birds, this time honored sport may continue until October 31, both dates inclusive. The early frog hunting season opened April 1 and continued through April 30.

However, the law points out, it is unlawful for any person to take or catch more than twenty-five frogs in any one day.

And do not forget that a hunting license is necessary.

It might be well to mention that the season for taking minnows will open June 13 and continue through April 30, both dates inclusive.

Conservation officers point out that it is unlawful to take the young of any species of game fish and that legally specified minnows may be taken for bait with minnow traps, dip-nets and seines of the dimensions specified by departmental regulations.

Minnow seines not more than twelve feet in length and four feet in depth and having a mesh not larger than one-quarter inch may be possessed and used to take minnows in any of the waters of this state.

Dip nets, not exceeding three feet square without sides or walls and having a mesh not larger than one-quarter inch, and minnow traps not exceeding twenty-four inches in length may also be used.

Minnows are defined as chubs, shiners, suckers, dace, stonerollers, mudlers and mud minnows.

SUMMER HEALTH IS IMPORTANT

Every mother has to be a nurse by proxy when school vacation begins, Miss Leona Adam, president of the Indiana State Nurses' Association, warns. "When there is no school nurse to check up on children's health, to guard them from accidents and infection, mothers have to increase their vigilance to keep their youngsters well through the trying summer months," she said. "And in keeping them well they will be helping relieve the burden of already overtaxed professional nurses."

Miss Adam suggested that mothers in housecleaning should have disposed of everything in the house and around the premises that could cause accidents such as broken boards in steps, clearing fluids within reach, frayed lamp cords. Summer housekeeping should be the most rigid, she pointed out, to avoid contamination of foods from flies or improper refrigeration. Medicine cabinets should be checked for supplies — antiseptics, adhesive, bandages—supplies which should be used at the first scratch. Insect bites should be treated promptly and children inspected after play in the woods to make sure there are no ticks on their bodies. If so, they should be removed with a tweezers and destroyed.

Regular hours for rest and play, not too much exposure to the sun, a well balanced diet without too many cold things, will do their part in keeping youngsters well.

"Of course when illness strikes, visiting nurses or nurses in hospitals and on private duty stand ready as always to give the best care possible. But wise mothers can do much to keep illness from striking," Miss Adam said.

Look for the leafhopper, but look on the underside of the leaf. They may be found on roses, asters, callendulas, gladioli, hollyhocks, zinnias, chrysanthemums, dahlias, and gailardias. Details for preparing nicotine or Bordeaux mixtures are given in the Purdue University Extension Service bulletin, "Insect Pests of the Flower Garden." Copies are available from county agents or the university.

CELEBRATE FORTY-FIFTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday, June 5, 1904, Curtis Nellans and Leona Sibert were married. On Sunday, June 5, 1949, to celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary, the couple, with four of their six children, met at the Berkeypile cabin along beautiful Tippecanoe for a pot luck ham dinner and supper.

The following enjoyed the day of get together: Mr. and Mrs. Curt Nellans, Ruth Berkeypile of Bourbon, Hugh of Chicago, and Frank and Wayne of Mentone and the families of each; her brother, Kent Sibert and wife of Rochester, his brother, H. V. and wife of Mentone, his sister, Mary Kehoe and husband and Dale Nellans and wife of Mentone.

Mid afternoon ice cream, strawberries and the three tier anniversary cake were served.

Along the river came Dr. Dan Urschel and son and John Clutter and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Needer and baby of Plymouth, who joined us in the afternoon eats. All games were enjoyed but the children most of all did enjoy the rides on the Lewis Irwin horse.

The electric lights that had been installed recently made horse shoe and croquet most wonderful at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horn and daughter and Mrs. Bertha Kesler enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mrs. Horn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders, at Richmond, Ind.

Mrs. Granville Horn returned to her home Monday afternoon after spending the past eight weeks in the Howard Horn home.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH EGG MARKETING?

A highly perishable product that gets a lot of mistreatment between the farm and the consumer's table is the egg.

Egg marketing, the things wrong with it, and how they can be improved, are the subject of a series of articles by Farm Service Editor Ralph Yohe in Prairie Farmer. In the current, June 4, issue, Yohe points out several things that happen to eggs when they leave the farm.

In many cases, they are taken by farmers to small country stores where they are often piled up in a hot back room or out in the sun on the sidewalk. Then, once or twice a week, a truck comes around to the grocery store or cream station and picks up the eggs. And, Yohe adds, "Many a time on a hot summer afternoon I have seen the truck go by with the eggs stacked on the back of a flat bed with a tarpaulin over them. The temperature inside should be just about right for incubation."

He goes on to point out that the reduction in egg quality through these mishandling practices is reflected in a lower price to egg producers and also means that in turn low quality, poor grade eggs reach the big city markets.

CORNCOB TO ALCOHOL TO MOTOR FUEL

How corncobs may be used in the not too distant future to help power automobiles, trucks and farm machinery, is told in the June 4 Prairie Farmer.

Considerable experimentation and the work on the making of alcohol from corncobs and other farm waste products is being done at the synthetic liquid fuels project at Peoria, Illinois, under the supervision of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The most economical way to use alcohol in motor cars and trucks, according to present experiments, is with an alcohol-water injection system to be brought into operation in the motor when a heavy load is being thrown on it. This principle was used to some extent during the war in U. S. airplanes and makes possible the use of a lower cost, lower octane gasoline.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

An outdoor magazine with a national circulation recently completed a survey designed to show the preferences of fishermen and we thought you might be interested in comparing your methods against the national average.

For instance, the fishermen polled in the survey reported they favored plugs over spoons for bait casting by a rather large percentage. In fact, plugs were used 69 per cent of the time against 31 per cent for spoons and spinners.

Mid-depth casting lures, plugs and spoons that travel two to five feet beneath the surface, proved the most popular, and the survey showed these mid-depth lures were used 47 per cent of the time. Surface lures were used 33 per cent of the time and deep-running plugs and spoons 20 per cent.

It is apparent, too, that more and more fishermen are turning to lighter weights in bait casting lures. The five-eighths ounce lures still are tops and the survey showed this weight is used 61 per cent of the time. However, three-eighths ounce lures were used 32 per cent of the time. A few of the boys found three-fourths ounce baits suitable for seven per cent of their fishing time.

It was rather interesting to note, too, the preference of fishermen polled regarding what they most liked their artificial lures to imitate. A total of 64 per cent favored lures that appeared as minnows; 15 per cent liked frog imitations.

The crayfish came in for 10 per cent, the mouse five per cent and all others a total of six per cent.

That's the national picture on preferences in bait casting lures. How does your fishing stack up against it? Actually, it makes little difference for all of us who fish streams and lakes have definite preferences in size, weight and imitations of our lures. And those are the lures we will continue to fish with.

First Motorcycle

A Belgian put together the first actual motorcycle early in 1900, which creation was followed within a few months by the building of a somewhat similar one in the United States. George Hendree, of Springfield, Mass., was the first American to build a definite motorcycle. Hendree started work on his machine in 1901 and had it ready in 1902, calling it the "Indian motorcycle." The earliest machines were equipped with a crude belt drive.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Classes in foodhandling in Indiana State Parks are being conducted by Dale Harman, health educator, Indiana State Board of Health, in cooperation with the State Department of Conservation.

The first class was held June 1 at Spring Mill State Park, Mitchell, with the classes continuing on June 8 and 15.

On June 2, 9 and 16, Mr. Harman is scheduled to teach the foodhandlers at Shades State Park, Waveland; June 2, 9 and 16 at Turkey Run State Park, Marshall; June 20, 21 and 22 at the Dunes State Park, Chesterton; June 24 at McCormick's Creek State Park, Spencer; June 29 at Shakamak State Park, Jasonville; June 14 at Clifty Falls State Park, Madison, and June 3, 10 and 17 at Brown County State Park, Nashville.

Arrangements are to be made to conduct the classes at Lincoln State Park, Lincoln City; Mounds State Park, Anderson; Pokagon State Park, Angola, and Muscatatuck State School, Butlerville.

This is a third of a series of foodhandling schools conducted each summer for park employees. The groups are instructed in the proper methods of handling food and cooking utensils. Foodhandlers in nearby communities may attend the classes.

HOOSIER PARKS SET RECORDS

An all-time record has been established by persons attending Indiana State Parks, so far this year, Kenneth R. Cougill, park director, announced this week. Approximately 141,000 persons had visited Indiana's parks prior to May 30th, Mr. Cougill said. One of the greatest contributing factors in setting the new record was the number of persons who visited parks during the three-day Memorial-day week end. Figures revealed that better than 100,000 visitors traveled to Hoosier recreation spots at that time.

Indiana Dunes State Park led all other state recreation spots in attendance during the Memorial Day holiday playing host to more than 21,000 pleasure seekers.

However, the total of those seeking respite for the period reached a figure of more than 100,000. Figures from all parks as to complete attendance for the week end holiday were not immediately available but an approximate estimate placed the number of visitors to state parks in excess of the figure above.

State memorials also added their attendance total bringing the figure of visitors to state holdings above the 100,000 mark.

Turkey Run State Park ran second in the attendance list, followed in sequence by Clifty Falls State Park, Brown County State Park, Pokagon State Park, McCormick's Creek State Park and Shakamak State Park.

Other state parks reporting heavy week end attendance were Tippecanoe River, Versailles, Mounds and Shades.

More than 2,000 persons visited the Lincoln State Park and Memorial while nearly 300 visited the old State Capitol at Corydon.

4-H MEAT ANIMAL PROGRAM IS UNDER WAY IN INDIANA

Today meat provides one-third of the food energy in the American diet, and latest U. S. Department of Agriculture figures show that almost one-third of the farmer's total cash income in 1948 came from the sale of meat animals. Aware of the vital contribution livestock makes to the nation's health and economy, Indiana boys and girls enrolled in the 1949 National 4-H Meat Animal program learn to select, feed and show beef cattle, sheep or pigs. More than 300,000 4-H members throughout the country are taking part in the project, according to the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Some of the highlights of the program are keeping records of feeding and weight gains, and learning the value of balanced rations. Many of the young stockmen grow their own feed. Members practice livestock judging at club meetings, and then try out for county and state judging teams. They take great pride, too, in showing their animals. The Cooperative Extension Service directs the activity.

In addition to being educational and profitable, the program offers awards for outstanding accomplishments. Mr. Thos. E. Wilson, chairman of the National Committee, and a veteran Chicago meat packer, has provided awards for the last 20 years. There are medals for county winners; a 17 jewel gold watch for state champion; trips to the National 4-H Club Congress for eight sectional winners, and four $300 scholarships.

Noel Callahan, of Rushville, won the 1948 state and Rush county awards. County medals were presented to 49 additional Indiana 4-H'ers.

The same plants that serve to check erosion can also furnish food, clover and nesting places for wildlife. In addition to shrubs, vines such as climbing bitter sweet, Virginia creeper and wild grape planted along fences will have the same effect. Such hedges will attract many insect eating birds as well as game.

BURKET FIRM GETS JAMESWAY DEALERSHIP

Arrangements have been completed where the Bechtol Service Shop of Burket will handle the nationally known Jamesway line of poultry equipment in the Burket area. Since 1906 the James Mfg. Co., with branches in Ft. Atkinson, Wis., Elmira, N. Y., and Oakland, Cal., has specialized in the planning, equipping and ventilating of farm buildings. In addition to selling and servicing Jamesway equipment, the Bechtol Service Shop will be in a position to offer planning help to the dairy, poultry and livestock farmers in this territory.

The most significant long time trends in numbers of productive livestock (livestock kept for profit) in Indiana are the decrease in sheep and the increase in dairy cattle, according to the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin, "Indiana's Agriculture—Its Output, Costs and Trends." Copies available from the county agent offices.

Why 4,486,855 men and women have joined the 28,000 Parent-Teacher Associations that belong to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Child welfare is the goal of the P. T. A. It is also the goal of all parents everywhere. By joining an organized P. T. A. group, parents multiply a thousandfold the effect of what they do in behalf of their own children.

Parents can depend on P. T. A. leadership for continuity of effort to link their own contributions for children's health and happiness with the contributions of others.

Through membership in a Congress P. T. A., parents may take part in child welfare work on a nation-wide scale, enjoying the special assets of an established national organization—national conventions, field service, cooperative relations with groups in allied fields, contacts with national leaders, printed aids, and constructive publicity.

The P. T. A. provides a unique opportunity for a child's parents to share his school life—to know his teachers and become familiar with methods and activities used in the classroom.

In the P. T. A. parents and teachers work together to build a mutual understanding of the problems of home and school.

The P. T. A. helps its members, as interested taxpayers and loyal supporters of the school, to keep abreast of changes in the school's curriculum, to know and understand its personnel policies, to secure information about its financial needs, and to study the laws that govern public education.

The P. T. A. sponsors study courses and programs in parent education that make available the best current material on child care and development, home and family life, citizenship, community betterment, and home-school cooperation.

Plan to join before the fall school term begins. Mrs. Conda Walburn and Mrs. Harold Markley will be very glad to add your name to our membership roll. A very low fee of 50 cents per person pays your dues for one school year.

DRY MILK MAY BE THE ANSWER

With the farmer getting 7 cents a quart for fluid milk on the Chicago market and the consumer paying 19½ cents a quart for doorstep delivery, there is obviously a costly distribution set-up.

The answer, according to an article by Homemaking Editor Gladys Skelley in the June 4 Prairie Farmer, may be milk in dry form.

Recent improvements in dry milk are news to many. Now, dry milk can be successfully reconstituted into a liquid product that is as satisfactory a beverage as regular fluid milk out of the bottle. That has been shown in tests by a tasting panel in the University of Wisconsin home economics department.

Also, it is pointed out by research workers at the university, the use of nonfat milk solids makes it possible more easily to include milk products in the diet of persons who require increased consumption for better health.

When the nonfat milk solids were added to various recipes, it improved flavor, texture, and in many cases, color as well.

Dry milk was produced in large quantities during the war because it was easy to handle and ship, and is still being delivered in considerable quantities to foreign countries. Its big advantage, now that its taste has been considerably improved, is that it is an excellent way to provide milk for people living at a considerable distance from the milk production center.

ANOTHER BENDIX TRIUMPH!

THE BENDIX

Economat

Fully Automatic Washer

The sensational new Wondertub, eliminating many costly moving parts, makes possible the entirely new and different method of washing, draining and squeeze-drying which only the BENDIX Economat can offer. Made of magic Metexaloy, the Wondertub is as soft as baby's skin, as tough as an elephant's hide, as gentle as a lamb. Clothes are agitator washed, then agitator rinsed twice in warm water and gently squeezed until just the right degree of damp-dryness is attained. And it's all done automatically without your attention. The BENDIX Economat is light in weight—only 138 lbs.—and because there is no vibration, no floor fastenings are required.

MENTONE—This Saturday Night—7:30 to 9:00

cent of the cases of conscientious objection. A man convicted of rape has five times as good a chance for probation as a conscientious objector, and an auto thief has seven times the chance.

This, in our opinion, is not making the punishment fit the crime, and in almost all instances, according to legal opinion we have consulted, the judges themselves could do something about correcting the injustices.

BREAKING OUR HEARTS

BREAK their hearts, O God," the old Negro preacher prayed, with a fervency that only ministers of his race have. "Give them tears!"

As one considers the plight of the displaced persons prevented from coming to our land because we have not been concerned enough to sign the necessary assurances (guarantees of jobs and homes), he is inclined to pray, "Break our hearts, O God! Give us tears!" Nothing less will make us aware of what we are doing, as we neglect God's children and fail to help in making God's dreams for them come true.

While the Displaced Persons Commission in Washington has assurances for 80,886 families, only 14 per cent of these assurances were provided by Protestant and Orthodox churches, although 33 per cent of the displaced persons in the European camps are members of the Protestant and Orthodox faiths. The commission has assigned 25 per cent of the places available to Protestant and Orthodox families, but the assurances are lagging.

Methodists, through the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, have provided assurances for 600 persons. The committee had planned to resettle at least 2,000 this year. Some town and country commissions in the Annual Conferences have sent assurances. (The commission in the Wisconsin Conference, for instance, asked for seven families.) But only a start has been made.

If we could look into the faces of these homeless and jobless and, except for faith in us, hopeless people, we would know that God answers the prayer. "Break our hearts, O God! Give us tears!"

THE GAMBLER CANNOT WIN

ALL worshipers at the shrine of St. Bingo, and his Protestant imitators, would do well to read a new book by Dr. Ernest Blanche, not a minister but a mathematician. "You Can't Win" (published by the Public Affairs Press, 2153 Florida avenue, Washington, D. C., at $2) is the name of his study resulting from a lifelong investigation of trickery and mathematical odds in dice and card games, betting on horse races, the numbers, lotteries and polls, pin-ball and slot machines, roulette, carnival games, the chain letter and pyramid schemes, and other gambling devices. The author is a mathematical expert for the Logistics Division of the army's general staff.

Maintaining that 50,000,000 Americans participate in various forms of gambling without recognizing the terrible odds against them (not to mention the much more important moral hazards, even if they won), Dr. Blanche makes several observations:

Every system of betting breaks down and fails sooner or later. So-called skill games are really games of chance that even the most skilled players cannot beat.

The mathematical probabilities are always against the better. Gambling always has been and always will be a crooked business.

The odds are inevitably against the dice tosser.

The roulette operator is ahead of the game before it starts.

Carnival wheels are invariably "fixed."

Only the race-track operators are sure of their "take."

Most of the tickets sold for the Irish Sweepstakes in the United States are counterfeit.

The numbers racketeers get from 40 per cent to 55 per cent of the money wagered by the public.

The card "sharpener" uses a score of tricks to deceive the amateur. Punchboards pay out less than half of what they take in.

The participant has only a 1-to-2,000 chance of getting his money back in a chain-letter scheme or in a pyramid-club arrangement.

Church people know very little about such matters through firsthand experience, but perhaps the time has come for them to learn how the other half lives—or thinks it lives.

SCHOOL FOR SKEPTICS

CONVINCED, as some ministers are, that there is a "skeptic in the heart of every believer," Rev. Robert P. Montgomery of the Presbyterian church of Scarborough, N. Y., has invited both church members and outsiders to what he calls his "school for skeptics." It is really a school in Christian teaching, but he has given it the name it has because he is "only too well aware that even within the church there is more skepticism than the people admit—especially to their ministers."

The procedure in the school, which might well be copied by Methodist ministers as they lead their people in a study of Methodist beliefs, is for Dr. Montgomery to lecture 25 minutes, then to lead a discussion in which any pertinent question may be asked or opinion voiced. Those who attend are even urged to interrupt whenever they wish. The whole plan is to recognize questions and problems, rather than to attempt to dodge them, or to assume that they are not important because the minister is not required to face them in his own daily living.

Another useful method is that followed for some years by Rev. Henry Hitt Crane of Central Methodist church, Detroit, Mich. After the Sunday morning service a group of college-age young people meets with Dr. Crane and proceeds to question him about his sermon. They are respectful, but relentless. If he has failed to make a point with them, they are sure to let him know.

Needless to add, at both Scarborough and Detroit such forthright dealing with problems of belief has strengthened faith, for, as a late great theologian remarked, "Faith is not belief in spite of doubt, but life in scorn of consequence."

REPRESENTING HIS LORD

AFTER 25 years of work, Abel Gance has completed the script for a film, "The Divine Tragedy," which portrays the passion of Christ. The manuscript has been submitted to the theologians of all creeds in all parts of the world, and the filming will begin as soon as someone can be found to represent Christ. In one version of the play he will appear throughout the presentation, and in another his voice will be heard, but he will not be seen.

We think there is something to impress and inspire us all in the statement made by the producers. "The choice of the person to represent Christ has not yet been made," they said. "We want a man who has faith. The first condition, which may seem paradoxical, is that he must feel, above all, that he is incapable of playing the role. It would be presumption for him to feel capable of doing so."

THE WISDOM WE NEED

EDUCATION begins with curiosity. Later we call it inquiry. It results in knowledge. Through our consideration of information we cultivate intelligence. Wisdom comes as a concentration of knowledge that has been tested in the laboratory of experience. We know what the Wise Man meant when he said, "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom and getteth knowledge."

Looking upon the tragic conditions of our time, we see how great is our need for wisdom. The college can exalt this urgent need and promote its diffusion. Yet it is still true that "the Lord giveth wisdom."

We need the wisdom to use constructively and creatively the forces of the modern world. The specialists and experts, the scholars and scientists, have shared their findings with the public. The mind of the alert student, even the ordinary man in the street, contemplates the mystery and majesty of what there is to know with a dazed feeling concerning its possibilities. He is aware of his need for wisdom, not to conquer new worlds, but to rule this one with righteousness and good will; not so much the wisdom that discovers new realms of truth but the wisdom that assimilates what is already known; not to flash some added splendor before our eyes but to gaze upon the wonders now apparent until accustomed to walk without bewilderment or fear; not wisdom that adds elements which complicate living but that discerns what is good and what is bad in the present order.

We need wisdom that properly values wisdom—the wisdom that comes out of the experience of man through the ages.

WE need the wisdom that steadfastly remembers amid war hysteria and lying propaganda that war settles nothing and unsettles everything, and as an instrument of international adjustments brings only devastation and death. We need the wisdom that can find an answer to the question as to why men go hungry in a land of plenty or are unemployed in a nation that has a glut of gold. We need the wisdom to use the leisure made possible in a mechanical age in self-improvement and to cultural advantage and not in depleting quests for some new excitement. We need the wisdom that senses abiding values in transitory matters.

We need the wisdom that detects the encroachment of dictatorial powers whether they move from the top down or from the bottom up in some economic or political strata of society. We need wisdom to use what we know in unselfish and Christian ways. We need the wisdom that will sit down with the facts of our present order and the teachings of Jesus and say, "How can I put these together?" We need the wisdom to walk unspoiled amid the glamour of our day and amid its subtleties to maintain our honor and our self-respect.

OUR times have glorified the inventors and scientists. We have exalted those who have fabricated a civilization of steam and electricity, of steel and concrete, of wire and wheels and light and power. We also need some educators who can tell us how to use a machine age without getting hurt, some scholars who can teach the technique of living triumphantly among all our present-day gadgets, some poets who will teach us a new song, some mystics who will keep us ever mindful of our spiritual heritage and excite our love of duty and devotion, some prophets who can proclaim the will of God in the midst of our wealth, power plants, engines and all the other wonders of our modern day.

What shall it profit us to conquer the world if we have not the discernment to understand what is good and what is evil—the power to do good and to resist evil? What shall we gain if we have the ability but lack the will to do good?

All of this is involved in the ideal of Christian education. The campus of the church-related college offers a congenial atmosphere for discovering the answer to these issues. Their pressing challenge is upon our generation.

OVERBURDENED

FAR into the future the career and the tragic death of James V. Forrestal will be discussed. Many reasons have been offered for his final rash action. While it has been condoned by none, nevertheless explanations abound which tend to shift the blame from himself to the crushing burden of work and responsibility which an unthinking government imposed. These explanations have been crowded with sympathy, heavy with regret, unsparing of those who tormented the late secretary with constant criticism.

Since Mr. Forrestal left no explanation of the causes that led to his self-destruction, all that can be done with the recurrence of this baffling mystery, which has so shocked Washington and the world, is to grope through a mass of conjecture. While any conclusions must, of necessity, rest upon very incomplete knowledge, yet in the case of Mr. Forrestal one or two observations may be made which have a more general application.

First, men in public service are more sensitive than is generally suspected. Those who were nearest to the former Secretary of National Defense are now saying that about him. A belief prevails that as one continues in political office, he gradually becomes immune to criticism. He develops powers of resistance which cause him to be described as a hardened or a thick-skinned old officeholder. The most constant and vicious lampooning is believed unable to disturb his mental poise. While he may remain sensitive to the call of duty, he treats his critics with callous indifference.

This is the popular notion about persons in high government posts in Washington. But Mr. Forrestal's career closed under circumstances that indicate quite the contrary. He was more sensitive to criticism than anyone was aware. In recent years very few other cabinet members had carried so many heavy responsibilities as long as he had.

Many feel that it was not so much their weight as that of undeserved censure that crushed his desire to live. During his early years in Washington observers commented on Mr. Forrestal's boyish appearance, and were inclined to attribute it to his adeptness at letting the load of criticism slip from his shoulders. Now it is believed that he only shifted it to his heart.

MERCILESS CRITICS

A SECOND effect upon the public occasioned by the death of Mr. Forrestal was the repetition of an old custom. It is always tardy, but ever welcome. Immediately everybody began to lament not only that so much deserved praise had been withheld from him during the period of his conspicuous service, but that so many detractors had pursued him.

Of course, critics are essential, and just because they disagree with the policy of anybody in Washington is no reason for suppressing them. At times, when they are on the trail of shady transactions, it would be to the public interest to have their number increased. At other times, when they seem determined to destroy the influence of a reputable government official, it would be a genuine service to truth and decency to decrease the tribe of calumnious commentators and columnists.

Some excellent counsel on this subject is found in the Bible. Whether originally directed to gossips whispering destruction in Jerusalem, or in caravans halted beside oases, or in oriental diplomatic circles, or in some meeting of church leaders, there is no way of knowing. The advice, however, which is direct and clear runs, "Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile."

Here in Washington some are of the opinion that had all newscasters and columnists followed that admonition, Secretary Forrestal might have survived all the wear that worry and work imposed. That persons should disagree without being disagreeable is becoming rather shopworn as an expression, but it is a saying that could be pasted on certain typewriters and hung over some microphones with widespread profit.

MEN DEPART; TIME REMAINS

STRANGELY, Mr. Forrestal's wrist-watch still was ticking," said one news report describing the scene of tragedy on a ledge 16 stories below the secretary's quarters in the beautiful United States Naval hospital. That is Washington. A man worn out, his career over and finally life gone, and after that a watch ticking on a pulseless wrist. Time is left for others to finish what broke the heart and the health of him who gave all he had to a task assigned him by his country.

Some day the three services of our military establishment will be unified in fact as well as in name. Eventually the prejudices will vanish and the separate traditions will become the pride of all. Or, maybe an infinitely higher longing will have been realized with Americans finding it possible to abandon the implements of war to walk in the ways of peace.

A watch still will be ticking at every halting place where fate has meted out its severest cruelties. The Unwearing Guide observes the efforts and the failures, the regrets and the sorrows of all who seem never quite to have reached the goal. He allows time for others to accomplish so much that is left unfinished. Washington always stands in need of this mercy.

ABOUT BULGARIAN PASTORS

TWO books are being distributed in Washington. One, "The Trial of Jozsef Mindszenty," published in Budapest by the Hungarian State Publishing house, we only mention. The other, "The Trial of the Fifteen Protestant Pastors-Spies," bears the imprint of Sofia, Bulgaria, and is the edition of the Press Department, Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

This second volume is an acknowledged effort to counteract the storm of protest which followed the sentencing last March of four Bulgarian pastors to life imprisonment, nine to prison terms ranging from five to 15 years, and two to suspended sentences of one year. It will be recalled that the Department of State raised objections to the procedure, and that the steering committee of the United Nations voted to put the trials on the agenda of the General Assembly. The four American denominations whose pastors were indicted and found guilty of treason are the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Pentecostal.

Because the secular and religious press familiarized readers with the indictments against the accused, the trial in the Sofia District Court and the sentences pronounced, those phases will be omitted here. People have heard far less about this 151-page book which for some time has been distributed here in Washington.

The first question naturally involves the reliability of the book. Its arrangement follows rather closely the forms of court procedure with a text of the indictment, a list of the accused, the depositions given which are followed by the examinations of witnesses by attorneys for the prosecution and the defense.

The preface to the alleged documentary reprint of the trial reminds the reader of an old story which Senator Ferguson recalled to senators last week. While its use was to illustrate something altogether apart from court scenes in Bulgaria, it did seem apropos of the abusive and ram-bunctious style of the writer of the preface. The senator's story about advice to lawyers ran: "When the facts are with you, talk about the facts. When the law is with you, talk about the law. If neither is with you, just talk—and the louder you talk the more effective it will be."

The book appears more authentic as one reads the confessions, one by one, of the accused. There may be good reasons for the conduct of these Protestant pastors on the witness stand. Some who have been in close touch with their work may be able to offer alleviating explanations. And, of course, it should be remembered that the pastors were on trial as citizens charged with espionage and treason.

If this book is a complete report of the trial, a reader cannot escape several conclusions. First, those 15 Protestant pastors missed the opportunity to immortalize themselves and make their faith glorious by witnessing devotion to the freedoms inherent in Christ's teachings. Second, one senses the dominant influence of Communism upon the accused with its resultant intimidation or futility of nonconformity therewith. Third, when one compares the pleas of the attorneys for the prosecution with those of the defense, one cannot but suspect that the trial was rigged. In support of this are the 37 pages given to the former, and fewer than six pages given to the defense, if indeed defense it may be called.

One does not know what to make of this book. There is only one impression that inspires less pride than does the conduct of those 15 Bulgarian pastors, and that is communism in Sofia's courts of justice.

THE CHURCH ABROAD

THE NEAR EAST:

An Expanding Ministry

The expanding ministry of The Upper Room, already published in Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese, English and Braille, soon will include an edition in the Armenian language.

Another new face for "The Upper Room"

Beginning in July the new edition will be published under the name Loys, meaning light, at Beyrouth, Lebanon, as a joint project of The Upper Room and the Christian Endeavor union of Syria and Lebanon.

More than 15,000 of the Near East's 300,000 Armenians are evangelicals, and Loys will go to these persons in Lebanon, Syria, Abyssinia, The Sudan, Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Egypt and India.

The new edition will be translated under direction of P. C. Krikorian, M.D., of the Christian Endeavor union. Meditations will bear the same dates as in other editions except for Christmas week, which will be shifted to the week of Jan. 6, the date Christmas is observed in the Armenian church.

GREECE:

Life Unquestionably Bad

While American Methodists are ministering to the spiritual hunger of Armenian-speaking peoples along the eastern Mediterranean, they dare not forget physical hunger in Greece.

The situation among refugees there is told by Miss J. B. Gaselee, British worker supported by the World Council of Churches and co-operating agencies.

It is estimated that a tenth of Greece's population of 7,000,000 fall in the refugee category, with 613,000 definitely registered. They come from the guerrilla-stricken areas, principally in the northwest.

Only 7,000 of the refugees are in centers, and even there life is unquestionably bad. At Caravanserai 500 families live in a five-story building, two to five families in each cardboard-divided section. At Takvorican, 900 persons live in a gloomy warehouse.

Nearly all are on a near-starvation diet. There is a severe shortage of clothing, blankets, and medical supplies.

JAPAN:

Prayer at Hiroshima

Jones carries his message to Japanese cities

The Christian always is an instrument of peace.

During 1941 Rev. E. Stanley Jones was in Washington, D. C., engaged in conversation with President Roosevelt and Japanese peace envoys. Peace did not come, but one failure could never stop Dr. Jones.

In Japan last month, almost eight years after the nations went to war, Dr. Jones led a prayer meeting on the spot where the first atomic bomb hit Hiroshima. "I feel like falling on my knees," he said.

Thirteen cities on the four main islands which constitute Japan were visited by Dr. Jones. From Fukuoka on Kyushu, to the south, to Sapporo on Hokkaido, farthest to the north, thousands in 13 cities braved cold spring weather to hear the message of Jesus from a man who knew him firsthand and wanted all the world to know him too.

An American chaplain was not impressed. At Kanazawa he said the Japanese came not to hear Dr. Jones but because the building was heated. Many meeting halls were not heated, however, and in one, while Dr. Jones talked, he could see moisture in his breath condense in the cold night air.

But those who know Japan were amazed. When 8,000 persons made first decisions for Christ, a former high official told Dr. Jones in Tokyo, "I thought youth was careless until I saw this audience . . . eager to hear moral and spiritual things."

Dr. Jones

From the common rice-field laborer to government officials, from the average American G.I. to General MacArthur, they all listened to the Sermon on the Mount and its meaning for an unsettled world.

General MacArthur had a message for America: "Where you have sent one missionary, now send 100. This is the great opportunity the church has faced in the world in 500 years."

AROUND THE GLOBE:

Second Bishop Free

Last Mar. 28 the Korean government arrested two former bishops of The Methodist Church in South Korea. On May 5 THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE reported release of Rev. J. S. Ryang. Now comes word that Rev. Chun Soo Chung also is free.

British Protestant missionary efforts are facing serious financial difficulties. The Methodist Missionary Society, whose efforts are typical, organized a drive last year to increase home subscriptions by 100,000 pounds ($400,000) but raised only 71,000 pounds ($284,000).

DENOMINATIONAL NEWS

PRESBYTERIAN:

Toward Larger Synods

A Presbyterian "presbytery" is about like a Methodist district and the 40 "synods" of the Northern Presbyterians, most of them on state bases, roughly correspond to Annual Conferences.

Proposals at the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America in Buffalo would reduce the number of synods to 12 and make them something between an Annual Conference and a Jurisdiction. The synods would be expected to administer church affairs for about 200,000 members each and make possible regional representation on boards and agencies of the church. The plan was approved and passed on to presbyteries.

Rejected was a plan for biennial rather than annual general assemblies and a strengthened general council.

Delegates heard with disappointment that their Restoration fund was $1,684,000 short of its $27,000,000 goal and that inflation had cut its work, but they urged payment of all pledges.

Reports on steps toward reunion with Southern and other Presbyterians were heard; the delegates then elected their moderator: Rev. Clifford E. Barbour of Knoxville, Tenn.

BAPTIST:

Toward Larger Church

While Presbyterians inched together, the Southern Baptist convention frankly discarded southern limits.

Long ago the differences between Northern and Southern Baptists became theological as well as regional, and the Southern group, in annual session in Oklahoma City, heard a renewed plea for doctrinal purity in a charge of modernism at its theological seminary in Louisville, Ky.

The convention adopted new rules which state that local churches may affiliate "with whomsoever they will, irrespective of geographical location," and backed up the policy by adding Oregon and Washington to the 20 states previously recognized as Southern Baptist territory and choosing Chicago as the 1950 convention site.

The convention also re-elected Rev. Robert G. Lee of Memphis, Tenn., as its president; asked liberalization of DP legislation; tabled proposals to keep Baptists out of local councils of churches; approved a year-long Baptist radio hour.

HERE AND THERE:

"A Godless Nation"

The National Association of Evangelicals said America is in danger of becoming a godless nation.

While Pacific Episcopalians refused to seat a woman delegate, the Toronto diocese of the Church of England in Canada declared in favor of women members of the synod—later.

THE CHURCH AT HOME

MISSIONS:

"See What Can Be Done" Home division leads ministers on tour of highlands

When the Board of Missions and Church Extension tried to interest some influential pastors to be "missionaries for missions," one said, "Why don't you let us see the need?"

The board "took him up," and under guidance of Rev. Karl K. Quimby, cultivation secretary, a group of leaders toured war-scarred Europe, came back flaming evangel for missions.

So it was natural that the Division of Home Missions under Rev. Earl R. Brown should want the same stimulus. On May 17, 15 church leaders—district superintendents, pastors, Conference missionary secretaries plus three board staff members and The Christian Advocate's news editor, met in Knoxville, Tenn., capital of Appalachia, the nation's most highly concentrated object lesson in "before and after missions." By chartered bus for more than a week they lumbered up the mountains and roared through the valleys of the Tennessee tributaries to "see what can be done."

Led by Dr. Quimby, Rev. Elliott Fisher and Prof. Aaron H. Rapking of the department of town and country work, men from 16 states visited some 26 points of interest, took voluminous notes and cartons of film, came away thrilled by what church and churchmen in the state have done, awed by what is left to be done. A bird's-eye view of the trip, to be summarized in articles in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE later:

- In the offices of TVA, in discussion with Director James P. Pope, at the dams, at demonstration farms and two TVA-stimulated community organizations, they saw how a backward region, once awakened, had lifted itself to a new level. They learned that behind TVA and behind Lilienthal and the program of rehabilitation of natural and human resources is the inspired Christian philosophy of a great Methodist layman, Dr. Harcourt A. Morgan, former head of the University of Tennessee and Sunday-school teacher at Church Street church, Knoxville. They saw the old made new in farms and people.
- They saw Hiwassee college, where the church is raising a rural ministry in the same philosophy under Dr. Rapking. They visited Ritter hall, Woman's Division project which aids 100 girls at Tennessee Wesleyan college.

- They saw Miss Sallie Crenshaw, under the department of Negro work, doing settlement work on a shoestring among underprivileged Negro children in Chattanooga and were moved; they saw Bethlehem center of the Deaconess bureau, a Negro settlement; and Wesley house of the city mission society, outstanding white settlement.

- They saw Scarritt Rural Training center, at Crossville, Tenn., where Scarritt's missionaries and deaconesses learn needed rural techniques.

- In Oak Ridge, they saw the tremendous challenge where state control has wrought technical wonders at the cost of severe problems of racial and political tension in an undemocratic pattern.

- At Henderson settlement in Kentucky's Cumberland mountains, they met the almost-legendary Rev. Hiram Frakes who singlehanded in a quarter century turned an isolated, feuding, moonshine country into a modern Christian community and, they will testify, they met the Holy Spirit also.

Up on the mountains where "civilization" has only touched as it flowed through the valleys there is still time for life's simple joys: a checker game at Pittman Center (right) or old-time ballads at the Henderson settlement

Philadelphia Record

• They considered the needs of the miners and the challenge to the church in "bloody Harlan county."

• At Pitman Center, they met the amazing Dr. Robert F. Thomas, physician, preacher, agriculturalist, educator and saw how an institution is but the lengthened shadow of a man who with vigor and effervescent ideas goads a large staff in a self-contained mission community amid the Great Smokies' peaks. And they saw Lake Junaluska and Methodist work among the Cherokees.

In Knoxville again on May 17, the men packed for home. Said Rev. R. Marvin Stuart of Palo Alto, Calif., "We are impressed with the tremendous needs of people in underprivileged sections and at the same time with the magnificent results of consecrated leadership and the tremendous need for the extension of this leadership and activity."

Vowed another leader, "Our people are going to do something big for missions." Said a third, "I have at least four sermons I just must preach right away."

THE BIBLE:

Nine Million a Year

For the church to accomplish its mission, wide knowledge of the Bible by large numbers of people is vital. The American Bible society is making Herculean efforts in this direction, having distributed 9,716,251 copies of the Bible in 151 languages in more than 40 countries last year, according to Rev. Eric M. North, general secretary.

Dr. Beguin

"The Bible is at the center of church life in Europe as never before," reported M. Olivier Beguin, associate secretary of the United States societies, of Geneva, Switzerland, at the 133rd annual meeting of the American society in New York. Bible study groups are thriving, especially in France and Germany.

Another European churchman who spoke was Dean Toivo Winter, general secretary of the Finnish society, who thanked Americans for aid.

MUSIC:

School for Organists

Methodists in the Southwest felt a need for a gathering of musicians similar to the annual week for ministers at Southern Methodist university. So First church, Fort Worth, Tex., took the initiative and arranged the first annual conference on Protestant church music three years ago.

The official board of the church agreed to underwrite the expenses of the conference and provide the program after its minister of music, Robert R. Clarke, led in getting the project under way.

Interest of other denominations was enlisted, and choir directors, organists, pianists, soloists, choir members and ministers from churches in the Southwest were invited to the first conference in June, 1947.

The enterprise has grown with the seasons, and this year when the third annual conference is held, June 13-17, in First church, sponsors hope to have an attendance of 100.

Testimonials from friends were bound and presented to Rev. Harry Wright McPherson, recently retired executive secretary of the Division of Educational Institutions, at a dinner in Nashville, by Rev. J. R. Spann (left) of the Commission on Ministerial Training. Also pictured: Rev. John O. Gross, new division head; Editor H. A. Ehrensperger of motive and Bishop J. C. Baker, division chairman.

Many churches are paying the expenses of their musicians to attend and take courses under such leaders as Hugh Ross, conductor of Schola Cantorum in New York; Barrett Spach, professor of Organ at Northwestern university, and Deane Edwards, president of The Hymn Society of America.

A principal aim is to give practical help to musicians in small and medium-sized churches.

YOUTH:

Off to Camp

More than 150,000 young people will trek to Methodist camps, institutes, assemblies and conferences this summer, Rev. Hoover Rupert announced.

The youth department director said the anticipated attendance is about 50,000 more than last summer's. Some 100 new enterprises will be featured.

W. D. Smith

Robert R. Clarke, teacher of musicians

Youth from 12 to 23 years of age will attend. Their leaders will be trained at six youth leadership conferences scheduled as follows:

June 28-July 9, Monte Toyon, Aptos, Calif.; July 19-29, Lake Junaluska, N. C.; Aug. 1-7, Rolling Ridge, Mass.; Aug. 9-19, Epworth Forest, Leesburg, Ind., and Sequoyah near Fayetteville, Ark.; and Aug. 22-29, Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa.

Rev. Joseph W. Bell, who has charge of promoting summer agencies for the youth department, emphasized the value of summer conferences to the youth program of local churches, and urged that youth fellowships make early plans to elect delegates.

PASTORS:

Pause to Refresh

While young people are getting their training the ministers of the church will be taking refresher courses at 63 pastors' schools scheduled throughout the nation.

The Commission on Ministerial Training arranged the schools on Area and Conference levels through its educational director, Rev. J. Richard Spann.

Eight supply pastors' schools also will be conducted this year for the first time to give special training to men who are not members of the Annual Conferences.

Studies for Supplies

The Southeastern Jurisdiction is conducting a rural supply pastors' school at Duke Divinity school, Durham, N. C., July 6-22.

About 60 to 100 laymen who have accepted rural pastorates where regular ministers are not available in nine southern states are expected to attend.

Eight courses will be offered in subjects ranging from "Christian Beliefs" and "The Minister's Message" to "Church History."

Four Duke Divinity school instructors and two visiting authorities will direct the instruction.

Candidates will be accepted on the basis of recommendations by district superintendents, and in cases where the need warrants, scholarship aid will be provided by the Southeastern Jurisdiction.

Visiting supply pastors will take a minimum of three courses. Upon graduation from the program, which is set up for four years, they receive certificates of credit and may be ordained as elders. Those who complete two years' work may be ordained as deacons.

Auxiliary instruction will be offered in the form of evening addresses.

SCHOOLS:

Negro Pastors to Train

Hope for the future of rural church life among Negroes is brighter as a result of continuing training.

Four Area-wide pastors' schools for Central Jurisdiction begin this month for rural pastors who have completed the Conference course of study, for accepted supply pastors and for Conference members in the Conference study course. The first of the three-week schools will begin June 13 at Bennett college.

Training of rural pastors also received encouragement early in May when 42 rural church leaders of various denominations met at Virginia Union university, sponsored by the Phelps-Stokes fund and Home Mission council.

President Harry V. Richardson of Gammon Theological seminary directs the program which is effecting rural church improvements locally and in seminaries. The sponsoring agencies work with the churches in discovering better methods of working with rural leaders and finding and training rural workers in the field.

SCHOLARSHIPS:

Wider Scholarships?

Scores of Methodist students attending church-related colleges and universities over the nation receive National Methodist scholarships to assist them in getting their education. Other scores of Methodist youth fail to receive scholarships because they attend other than accredited institutions related to the Board of Education.

There has been discussion about enlarging availability of the scholarships to include this latter group. Recent action along these lines was initiated by the board of education of Southern California-Arizona Conference at its quarterly meeting held at First church in Pasadena, Calif.

The only school within the Conference where such scholarships may now be granted is the University of Southern California, which was founded by The Methodist Church.

SOCIAL ACTION:

Differ on Atlantic Pact

Concern over the North Atlantic Pact resulted in various stands by several Northeastern Annual Conferences last month.

After debate, Philadelphia Conference voted to support the pact saying "an armed peace is the only kind now possible."

Troy Conference, after much discussion, supported the pact which it said "could render a service to peace if it enabled the western nations to face the problem of dealing with Russia without emotional hysteria."

Clifford Studios

New York East Conference characterized the pact as a "questionable power alliance (which) may draw us nearer the abyss of war."

Without referring specifically to the pact, Northern New York urged international reconciliation on a positive level.

New England debated a resolution condemning the treaty, rejected it, but failed to take an affirmative stand.

On May 2 the Commission on World Peace withheld support of the pact, and subsequently 14 of the 35 affective bishops made a statement approving it despite the action of the committee.

TORNADO:

Methodist Pastor Dies

Ten laymen killed, other damage suffered

Tornadoes in the Midwest, May 21-22, killed half a hundred persons and caused millions in property damage.

Methodists suffered along with their neighbors of other faiths. One minister and at least 10 laymen died, surveys by ADVOCATE reporters in every district affected showed.

In Cape Girardeau, Mo., hardest hit town, Rev. Roy P. Basler was fatally injured as his home collapsed. Mrs. Basler found safety in the basement. Mr. Basler, 71, had served in Kentucky, Missouri and St. Louis Conferences, retired in 1941.

Of 21 killed in Cape Girardeau, four were Methodists. Two other Methodists were critically hurt.

Only one of the four Methodist churches lay in the storm's path. Third Street church and parsonage sustained about $2,500 in roof, window and other damage.

In Shelburn and Sullivan county, Ind., six Methodists were among the 10 killed. Ed Owens, trustee of the Shelburn church, and Mrs. Owens were killed as their home was destroyed and Albert Oaks and Mrs. Ida Hauger of Shelburn were victims. Robert McGarvey of Pimento charge and his four-year-old daughter died as their auto was blown through a house.

Much of Shelburn was destroyed, including five Methodist homes. The parsonage was damaged slightly.

ADVOCATE reporters indicated that Methodists and their churches were safe at Bessville, Cabool and Clarksville, Mo., Wood River and Palestine, Ill., Terre Haute, Ind., and Somerset, Ky.

WISCONSIN:

Deep to the Bedrock

"Christian youth dare not be citizens only of the United States, Jamaica, Switzerland, or Germany, but citizens of a world-wide Christian brotherhood."

That was the lesson for 315 Milwaukee district young people in their district rally as they heard foreign students.

Said the German: "When Christian people in America send food and clothing, they help the people of Germany rebuild their faith in God and belief in law and ethics."

Said the Swiss: "In the face of world madness, we have to dig deep to the bedrock of Christianity."

HERE AND THERE:

Back Stanley Jones

Fifty church leaders, including Methodists, met at Oklahoma City, Okla., and organized the first state branch of Rev. E. Stanley Jones' Association for a United Church of America.

Religious groups have begun applying to the Federal Communications commission for sections in the FM radio band originally reserved for educational broadcasts. An FCC spokesman said various churches have informed the FCC they are sure they can put hundreds of low-power stations on the air.

Three Hollywood films under production dealing with lives of Protestant clergymen are "Stars In My Crown" starring Joel McCrea, "Adventure in Baltimore" starring Robert Young and "The Chain" with Glenn Ford.

The Federal Council of Church's department of the church and economic life termed jurisdictional strikes unjustifiable and declared compulsory union membership should be neither required nor forbidden by law in a report adopted by the council's executive committee.

An interdenominational Deaf-for-Christ rally was held at Los Angeles.

The ICRE reports that Sunday schools of the United States have gained 5,000,000 since 1945 to total 29,745,580 members.

The executive committee of the Methodist Federation for Social Action met in New York, voted to oppose the North Atlantic Pact and also to seek an opportunity to testify against the pact at Senate hearings. Rev. Jack R. McMichael was re-elected executive secretary for two years.

Shawano pastor ups benevolences after visit to Africa

A minister who saw World Service needs at firsthand when he was a missionary in the Belgian Congo led the congregation at First church, Shawano, Wis., this year in increasing its World Service giving two and a third times.

He is Rev. Warren N. Ware, who because of poor health ended his three years of foreign service in 1926, but his zeal for missions and stewardship was not ended. During pastorates in Mississippi and St. Louis Conferences his emphasis was the Christian message for the world.

Members at First church, Shawano, where Mr. Ware was transferred last year, responded to his stewardship preaching, and he gives them all credit for the increase in World Service giving from $450 to $1,052 in one year. There were no membership campaigns for the increase, but the giving was done in small regular amounts.

The first quarterly conference last year adopted the motion of the church financial secretary and accepted $1,052 as its World Service goal. The goal was mentioned twice during the year in pastor's letters to all members. By Easter $650 had been mailed, and, following giving at that time, the balance was sent to the Conference treasurer on May 9, about two weeks before Annual Conference met.

Thank You for Service

For 21 years Rev. and Mrs. J. Hugo Wenberg have ministered to Indians from their base at Oneida, Wis.

Their work has been rewarded often with appreciation—appreciation which took concrete form on Sunday afternoon, May 15, when 350 persons gathered to present and dedicate a new automobile, purchased by laymen of Oneida, Appleton district and the Conference.

Among those participating in the service were Rev. Daniel H. Stahmer, superintendent, Edwin S. Godfrey, Appleton district lay leader, Mrs. Minnie Elm,

Robinson Studio

A fireproof addition, 192 by 40 feet, will add 70 rooms, an infirmary and a dining hall to Clark home, Grand Rapids, Mich. Principals in groundbreaking, May 16, were (l. to r.) Rev. Karl P. Meister of the Board of Hospitals and Homes, Bishop Marshall R. Reed; Rev. F. M. Clough, Ernest Burnham and Rev. George A. Brown, with spades; and Rev. Floyd N. Drake, superintendent of the home

Oneida WSCS president, and Rev. Walter C. Eyster, executive director of the Conference council.

"Home Must Be a Church"

"Often the home is simply a collection of egos at one address," said Rev. David Wesley Soper, "but the home must be a little church in that the ideals of Christianity must be reflected there."

Dr. Soper, chairman of the department of religion at Beloit college, was speaking at Milwaukee district young adult spring rally last month at Summerfield church, Milwaukee.

Rev. James Buxton, Milwaukee district superintendent, saying that "the greatest danger that young adults face today is becoming habitual Christians" challenged them to take a vital interest in the Advance for Christ and His Church.

Leading a panel discussion on the opportunities for young adults in church service were Marion Perschbacher, Conference young adult president; Rev. Walter C. Eyster, executive director of the Conference council; Rev. Horace Graubner, Conference young adult director; and Rev. Stanford Stosahl, district director in charge of young adults.

INDIANA:

First Among Seven

Four years ago, when Indiana Conference adopted plans for a $500,000 ministers' reserve pension plan, New Albany district accepted in full its quota of $62,735.

Last month the district was first among Indiana's seven to complete payment on its quota. Rev. E. Arnold Clegg, superintendent, reported to Rev. W. T. Jones, Conference treasurer, that the last $7,071 necessary to pay the amount in full was available. Every one of the district's 45 charges supported the reserve pension fund.

Early leadership was given to the fund by Rev. Homer R. Page, who retired as district superintendent last June.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

First in 35 Years

For the first time in 35 years Protestant churches of East St. Louis, Ill., united in an evangelistic campaign. Held May 1-15, the "United Crusade for Christ" included 32 churches from 14 denominations.

Total attendance for the series was almost 30,000 with an average of about 2,100 during the last week. More than 300 confessions of faith were made.

Methodist leadership in the campaign included: Rev. Farrell D. Jenkins, St. Paul's church, chairman of the crusade and president of East St. Louis ministerial alliance; Rev. Clarence V. Tolley, First church, chairman of finance committee; Rev. C. C. Lowe, State Street church, chairman of the prayer committee.

In Harrisburg district, 500 men attended a rally at First church, Marion, on Apr. 28, reports Rev. J. W. A. Kinison.

DOW EPLER DIES ON WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Dow Epler, aged 50 years, passed away at the McDonald hospital at Warsaw at 12:45 Wednesday afternoon after an illness of six months. Death was attributed to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Epler, who was a life member of the Veterans of Foreign wars, followed the trade of a plasterer and resided near Atwood until he moved west of Mentone about five years ago. He was born at Atwood July 16, 1898, the son of Charles and Louisa (Parker) Epler. September 10, 1924, he was married to Tresa Toensing, who, with one daughter and two sons, survive.

Surviving relatives in addition to the widow include the daughter, Elda Joyce Epler, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; two sons, Delven and Delbert, at home; his mother; one brother, Emmet, and two sisters, Alta Hilsheimer, Texas and Edna Wilson, Florida.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this hour, but friends may call at the Johns funeral home until the hour of five, Thursday.

FUNERAL SERVICES LAST SATURDAY

Funeral services were held last Monday afternoon at the Bibler funeral home in Warsaw for Mrs. Jack Bullers, who died of a chronic heart ailment last Saturday at the McDonald hospital.

Mrs. Bullers was the former Loma Louise Workman, and was the daughter of Burr and Marie (Ellsworth) Workman. She was born March 15, 1928 and was 21 years of age at the time of her death.

Surviving relatives include her husband, a two year old daughter, Vicki Sue; her parents; three brothers; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ellsworth of Mentone; her paternal grandparents, Mrs. Gladys Workman of Warsaw, and Earl C. Workman of Akron, Ohio.

TRIAL ENDED THURSDAY

Submission of evidence was completed in court at Plymouth Thursday of last week in the Raymond Bare trial that opened there May 31st. The judge set June 30 as the day for the attorneys to make their formal arguments and present briefs, and the judge will render his decision at a later date.

The action is not on a criminal charge, but is to establish ownership and title to certain properties, bonds, etc. assigned by Bare to Hobart Creighton, then chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association, at Mentone, when it was suspected that Bare may have been responsible for alleged embezzled funds of the association. The decision in this case will not necessarily determine guilt or innocence, but will determine the validity of the assignment and ownership of the assets involved.

UNDERGOES MAJOR SURGERY

Mrs. Delford Nelson is a patient at where she underwent major surgery at the Murphr Medical Center, Warsaw, on Tuesday of this week.

A P. T. A. that belongs to the organized national network of more than 28,000 local associations can make the full strength of its membership felt when there is need to unite on some measure affecting the welfare of the children and youth. Congress P. T. A. groups have immediate access to legislative information compiled by the chairman of the national Committee on Legislation. (The national chairman is assisted in securing and distributing this important legislative information by a special parent-teacher committee in Washington, D. C.)

The variety of P. T. A. projects in child health and nutrition, mental hygiene, recreation, character education, and so on, offers opportunity for parents to develop many of their own interests and talents as they actively support a worthy cause.

Parents who realize that a good home is an essential but only a part of their children's environment will find that P. T. A. membership places them in the vanguard of all groups acting for community betterment.

Parents may enlarge their circle of friends and acquaintances and enjoy the pleasures of good fellowship through membership in the P.T.A.

The P.T.A. that belongs to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is the local bulwark of a civilian army of 4,486,855 men and women whose child welfare defense line has never been flanked or undermined by any subversive force.

The P.T.A. is one organization that has no axe to grind. Represented in it are the fathers and mothers of millions of American children. These men and women serve their associations without pay and devote themselves wholeheartedly to improving the lot of all children in all the communities of this nation.

Today the voice of the P.T.A. is clearly heard in the counsels of America. Today the P.T.A. is strengthening and protecting the very fiber of American life, and parent-teacher membership has become a badge of honor throughout the length and the breadth of our land.

See Mrs. Conda Walburn or Mrs. Harold Markley if you care to join.

Mrs. E. H. Kinsey and Kenneth Kinsey attended the commencement at Bloomington Sunday evening, Robert K. Kinsey was a member of the graduating class.

FIELD DAY TO BE HELD

Special emphasis will be placed on soil conservation practices at the field day to be held near Lafayette by the department of agronomy of Purdue University, Thursday, June 30.

The field day will begin at the Throckmorton farm eight miles south of Lafayette on State Road 43 with conducted tours over the farm scheduled for 8 a. m. (CST). Visitors will observe watersheds under conservation treatments.

Farmers attending the field day will have an opportunity to judge whether mulch tillage practices compare favorably with plowing for corn. The Purdue agronomists point out that certain kinds of topography lend themselves poorly to contour cultivation. On such soils there are advantages for mulch tillage practices, leaving the sod and other cover on top to protect the soil from erosion.

The visitors to the field day will see various implements used in mulch tillage operations, and a demonstration of the Purdue tree planter developed by the department of forestry. The Purdue machine makes possible the planting of 800 to 1500 trees per hour by three men, as compared to ten men needed by the common methods. A further feature at the Throckmorton farm will be a demonstration of gulley control and the observation of well managed bluegrass pastures.

The second farm to be visited will be the Wea farm, located three miles south of Lafayette on Road 43. Newly developed strains of wheat and oats which are resistant to certain insects and diseases will be seen.

Principal speaker at the afternoon program to be held at the Wea farm will be Dr. H. H. Bennett, of Washington, D. C. Dr. Bennett was the founder of the Soil Conservation Service and many of the conservation methods in practice are credited to this pioneer in soil conservation.

LOCAL MAN CHAIRMAN COUNTY BOND DRIVE

A. I. Nelson, Kosciusko County Savings Bond chairman, announced today that 28 per cent of the Kosciusko county series "E" savings bonds quota has been reached. This percentage represents $60,032.64 on "E" bond sales from April 1 to May 28.

"The people of Kosciusko county are to be congratulated for their enthusiastic participation in past savings bonds drives. The county's Opportunity Drive quota of $167,909.00 will be difficult to meet, but I feel confident that the people of the county will again want their county to be among one of the first to reach their quota," Mr. Nelson commented.

Eugene C. Pulliam, state chairman of the savings bonds advisory committee, has announced that 52.4 per cent of Indiana's quota has been reached. "This percentage represents $14,789,008.10 in "E" bond sales from April 1 to May 28," Mr. Pulliam commented.

"Hoosiers have given the Opportunity Drive a good send off. However, the final goal of $28,220,000 is still a long way off, but with continued cooperation and participation, Indiana should go over the top, as she has in past savings bonds drives."

He stated further that, "Because the Opportunity Drive is stressing the sale of "E" bonds, we are placing special emphasis on the payroll savings program. Already, 80 per cent of the state's major industrial firms have installed the plan," he added.

W. S. C. S. INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS AT MEETING

The new officers of the W. S. C. S. were installed at the meeting held at the church on Thursday June 9.

The beautiful candlelight installation services was conducted by Rev. Gosser. As each officer was installed and given charge of her duties she was presented with her "Guide" for the year.

After all were installed two verses of "Are Ye Able" were sung by Martha Ellsworth and the new officers and members answered with the chorus.

After the final charge to officers and members the installation service was fittingly closed by the singing of "Prayer Perfect" by Eileen Fenstermaker.

New officers are: President, Pearl Lackey; 1st. vice president, Sally Gosser; 2nd vice president, Zoa Ward; 3rd vice president, Mary Manwaring; recording secretary, Arvilla Van Gilder; promotion secretary, Dora Whetstone; treasurer, Trella Tombaugh; secretary spiritual life, Marjorie Cooper; secretary missionary education, Ethel Snider; secretary Christian social relations, Stella Emmons; secretary student work, Lois Davison; secretary youth work, Ellener Manwaring; secretary children's work, Martha Ellsworth; secretary supply work, Faye Bunner; secretary literature and publications, Mary Goodwin; secretary status of women, Dorothy Herendeen; membership chairman, Helen Mollenhour; publicity chairman, Ruth Urschel.

After the installation the regular business meeting was conducted by the new president.

This was followed by the lesson study on nations in Africa in which our church is working. This was ably given by Harriett Abbey.

A program prepared by some of the children who had attended Daily Vacation Bible School was given.

Linda Linn and Sue Fenstermaker gave accounts of daily life in Palestine. Sara Urschel, Patty Hawley, gave a dramatic responsive reading concerning the many ways they could praise the Lord.

Cara Lynne Fenstermaker told a story of "Bee Honest" and Madeline Anderson told of the church membership class.

The program closed with three Jewish patriarchs around a campfire portrayed by Betty Lou Dunn, Barbara King, and Shirley Horn. They told the old testament stories as they were told long ago.

Dainty refreshments were served at a beautifully decorated table by the hostesses Pearl Lackey, Sally Gosser, Zoa Ward and Mary Manwaring.

Our next meeting will be guest night and the speaker will be Miss Rosemary Smith of Chicago, who will speak on "Color Harmony."

LEAVE WOODS BABIES ALONE

Every year about this time it is most common to read many accounts in the newspapers about people finding young ducklings, baby squirrels, rabbits, raccoons and fawns and taking them home for pets.

Although few realize it, this practice is really inhumane. The young of wildlife common to our state are born with the instinctive traits necessary for survival in the wild. These same instincts do not lend themselves to the unnatural environment of captivity without expensive and scientific care beyond the means of the average citizen. The inevitable end is that the wild animal or birds picked up by private individuals are either turned over to conservation officers or just give up the ghost and die.

Many will say that the mother has abandoned the tiny one. The fact is that wild mothers have far more sense where their young are concerned, and a greater sense of responsibility toward them than one would suppose. Many times you still see the mother pretending to be wounded in an attempt to draw persons away from her young.

Just because you find a rabbit or duckling or other children of the wild without their mother does not mean that she is not nearby. She is hiding very near, watching you with an apprehensive eye—hoping you will not steal her babies.

State and federal authorities long ago recognized the inhumane results of attempting to make pets of young wildlife by enacting laws against the removal of eggs or young from nests or having such birds or mammals in captivity without special permission.

Start of Ice Business

The first long-distance ice shipment was sent in 1799 from New York to Charleston, S. C. The real beginning of the ice business came in 1805 when Frederic Tudor of Boston shipped a cargo of 130 tons to the West Indies. His first competitor, Gage, Hittinger and company, Boston, introduced ice to the people of London. This was natural ice from rivers, lakes and ponds, harvested in winter and stored for use in summer.

STUMPING THE EXPERTS

They used to think that it wasn't possible to have an ear of corn with an odd number of rows or kernels. Recently, however, in a single cross hybrid in Nebraska, a 9-rowed ear was discovered. When this ear was planted, about half of the resulting crop had 7, 9, 11, or 13 rows of kernels. The experts are now baffled, according to an article in Prairie Farmer.

Monument to Indian Leader

World's greatest sculptural effort has been started on the top of Thunderhead mountain in the Black Hills of South Dakota. It will become the 500-foot high figure of Crazy Horse, the Sioux chieftain who led the charge against Gen. George Custer at the battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana. It is believed that about 30 years will be required to complete the project.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS MEET

The Royal Neighbors met with Emma Cook with Vice Oracle Mary Borton in charge.

Bingo was played with prizes going to Mary Goodwin, Mary Borton and Lydia Fynerson. Delicious refreshments of cake, salad, peanuts, candy mints, ice tea, and coffee were served by the hostess and her assistant Thelma Hilschman. The next meeting will be July 5 with Mildred Friesner.

BEAUTIFUL LAKE WAWASEE

FRIDAY, JUNE 17

DANCING FRI., SAT. AND SUN. NIGHTS

At one time or another most of us who enjoy fishing have run across a situation where a guide or native has remarked: "You should have been here yesterday; the fish were hittin' like mad!" Then, too, there is the century-old story of "tomorrow" being the day to get a limit—if the fishermen can't be around to give the lake or stream a try.

Frankly, this yesterday - tomorrow routine always makes us angry; we just don't like it. And we've been trying to get to the bottom of the reasoning that makes the natives make such statements.

First, you always hear this kind of chatter on lakes or streams with an outstanding reputation for fishing. And the natives usually aren't willing to admit that fishing, at times, is bad for periods of several days.

Then, on the other hand you'll find places where the natives think that their talk about yesterday-tomorrow fishing will encourage sportsmen to return, hoping next time to "hit it right" with the gamesters.

Recently a group of 20 fishermen (this writer included) spent a week end on a famous bass fishing lake. The lake has had a reputation for over 50 years as one of the best large-mouth bass waters in the United States. The natives and guides are proud of their lake, and some of them give out with the old yesterday-tomorrow talk whenever bad fishing happens.

And we hit this lake on a "bad day" and the fishing was even below par for many lakes of less reputation. But we didn't mind the poor fishing. Fortunately we had a guide who was practical. The wind was from the east (when the wind's from the east, the fish bite the least), the water temperature was 58 degrees and a cold rain fell most of the time.

Under such elements no lake could produce well, regardless of its fishing reputation.

At the end of the first day, our guide remarked, "Boys, it's really rough fishing out there today; you've gotta really work for a few strikes."

We liked his comment; we appreciated his honest remark. And, above all, we were glad he didn't give out with the yesterday-tomorrow stuff. By being honest, we're going back again and we hope to get the same guide—and better fishing weather for fishing.

Too, we hope that on other trips this summer we're equally fortunate in getting guides who don't deal out faulty information on the fishing. That way it is fun—even if the fish don't cooperate.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

A series of specialized exhibits on the venereal diseases are scheduled for eight county fairs and the Indiana State Fair, according to an announcement made by Dr. Carl C. Kuehn, director, Division of Venereal Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health.

The exhibits, which are sponsored by the local health departments, will be located on the midway in a tent with the space donated by the local fair boards.

Free movies on venereal diseases, including "Message to Women" and "Human Reproduction," will be shown and appropriate literature will be distributed.

The schedule has been announced as follows:

Johnson County Fair, Franklin, on July 10-15; Bartholomew County Fair, Columbus, July 17-22; Dearborn County Fair, Lawrenceburg, July 24-30; Delaware County Fair, Muncie, July 31-August 6; Jay County Fair, Portland, August 7-13; Fayette County Fair at Connersville, August 15-19; Vigo County Fair, Terre Haute, August 23-28;

Indiana State Fair, Indianapolis, on September 1-9; Elkhart County Fair, Goshen, September 12-17.

BEAVER DAM 4-H MEETS

The Beaver Dam 4-H Agricultural club held a regular meeting at Bob Maggarts on Monday evening, June 13. Demonstrations on tractor maintenance were given by Gerald Smalley and Bob Maggart.

TIME-LY TALES

The modern watch is an amazing mechanism of fine precision workmanship. It takes 2,500 distinct operations to make a Swiss watch. It contains between 150 and 180 separate parts with tolerances to one thousandths of a millimeter—one fiftieth the thickness of a human hair.

Some of the screws which go into a watch look like a speck of dust to the naked eye. Yet each one has been finely threaded and polished under a microscope to one ten-thousandths of an inch in diameter. More than 50,000 of them will fit into an ordinary thimble.

METHODISTS TO CHURCH CAMP

Methodists of Northern Indiana will meet at Epworth Forest on Lake Webster June 19-26 for the Silver Jubilee celebration of the founding of that site for institute and assembly activities. The Rev. Mr. Fred R. Hill, pastor of the Main Street Methodist Church, Kokomo, is dean of the assembly and will preside over the sessions of the week.

The program will begin with the morning worship at 10:30 on Sunday, June 19 at which time Bishop Richard C. Raines, resident bishop of Indiana, will deliver the anniversary sermon. Dr. John G. Benson, of Indianapolis, will preach at the Lakeside Service each evening at 7:00. Dr. Charles M.

Laymon, dean of Scarritt College, at Nashville, Tenn., will conduct a course in "New Testament Studies in the New Birth" at the Bible hour each day.

Other faculty members include Miss Helen Clark, director of the Laboratory School; Marvin D. Myers of Purdue University, director of music; Miss Marie Adams, missionary to Peiping, China, instructor of missions, and Mrs. John G. Law and Mrs. John Seward who will present the study courses for the Women's Society of Christian Service.

The special jubilee observance will feature "A Trip with the Founders" and the presentation of a bronze plaque on Thursday afternoon, and the pageant, "Is It Nothing to You," written and directed by Mrs. Merrie Mehning, on Friday evening. Anniversary celebrations will be held in each of the districts of the conference at their institute programs during the summer.

Mrs. Walter Lackey and Rachel Walters will be attending the week of inspirational services, from Mentone, and many of the local Methodists are expecting to attend special features during the assembly week.

LOCAL LADS AT BOYS' STATE

Forst Dunnuck and Richard Jamison, the two juniors selected by the Mentone Legion Post to attend Boys' State at Indianapolis, were taken there Saturday by Dale Kelley, where they became citizens of the 425-member Boys' State, where they will spend a week carrying out the functions of state, county and city governments. The Legion Post believes it would be interesting to know what a day's activity at Boys' State involves, so submits the following:

- 6:45 Reveille.
- 7:00 Flag raising
- 7:15 Breakfast
- 8:15 Inspection
- 9:00 General assembly
- 10:00 School by counties
- 11:00 Political activities
- 12:00 Dinner
- 1:15 School by counties
- 2:30 Special activities
- 4:15 Guard Drill—Band
- 5:00 Showers
- 5:30 Roll call
- 5:45 Flag lowering
- 6:00 Supper
- 7:15 Political activity
- 8:00 General assembly
- 9:15 Free time
- 9:45 Showers
- 10:15 Call to quarters
- 10:30 Lights out.

A letter to the Entry Department of the State Fair set off a chain of confusing events. The writer stated, "I wish to enter a Banty Rooster and a Bed Spread in the Indiana State Fair to be held September 1 through September 9. Here is $5.00 and if this does not cover both, then leave out the bed spread and let me know where I stand as I am confused."

SPRAY RING SAVES FRUIT

Do you have only a few fruit trees which are usually neglected as to spraying, because a spray outfit would cost more than the fruit would be worth? That's the case on many mid-west farms today and is the reason many of the old family orchards are dying out.

There's a group of 29 farmers in Adams county, Indiana, who have found what seems to be a very good solution to this problem, however. They have organized into a spray ring operated much like the old threshing ring, as described in the June 18 issue of Prairie Farmer.

The ring, headed by Dan Mazelin, president, has issued 102 shares of stock, each worth $5.00. With this money they have bought two spraying outfits which make the rounds of the members during the year. At the Mazelin home, where David Mazelin keeps the records for the ring, is kept a complete supply of spraying materials and complete information as to how and when they should be used.

Farmers in the neighborhood now have nice appearing orchards and always a plentiful supply of fruit.

URGES CITIZENS TO SUPPORT FIRE DEPARTMENT

Ed Staldine was in town the fore part of the week and commented upon the Mentone rural fire department. He mentioned how the boys had worked to buy a water tanker to carry water to the rural fires and how the department always responded to every call.

In his opinion, he felt that the rural citizens should all take a more active interest in financing the volunteer department and urged small donations that could be used to secure such items as boots, raincoats, etc.

We thought Ed's idea a good one and pass it along for what it is worth.

MENTONE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Ray Terry entertained the Mentone Home Economics club on Thursday afternoon at her country home, near Mentone. "How to Buy Shoes" was the project lesson, given by Mrs. Truman Long. Mrs. Terry gave the top for meditation. Mrs. Howard Horn gave the history of the song of the month, "Cradle Song," by Brahms, after which all joined in singing. In answer to role call the 22 members present told where they went to house-keeping. Echoes from the county picnic held June 1 at the Kosciusko county fair grounds, were given by those who attended. Plans for three coming events were discussed: The camp for the home economics club women of the county, the annual state conference of the home economics clubs to be held at Purdue university, and the exhibit to be displayed by the club at the Kosciusko county fair. Gifts were received by Mrs. Cloice Paulus and Mrs. Roy Salman from their cheerio pals. Articles in the auction were purchased by Mrs. Long, Mrs. Jacob Gross, Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Roy Cox, Mrs. Emra Anderson, Mrs. Claude Barkman and Mrs. Salman. Mrs. Bertha Meredith received the mystery package. Mrs. Terry was assisted by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Paulus in entertaining the club members and their guests, three little girls.

49'ers MEET

The Franklin 49'ers were again proud to find all members present at their meeting held Wednesday, June 15, at the home of Mrs. Iris Jones. Iris Jones led a discussion of baking. Donna Coplen, treasure, reported that $33.50 was made at the food sale. Velma Coplen gave a safety report. A demonstration of "Laying a Pattern," was given by Velma and Donna Coplen. Also a demonstration, "Baking Chocolate Drop Cookies," was given by Diane Creakbaum. The mystery box was received by Sandra Ballenger.

Games were led by Velma Coplen. Refreshments were served by Marilyn Rathfon and Norene Bibler.

Other members present were: Mary Dorell, Beverly Teel, Carol Teel, Barbara Kesler, Ruth Golden, Lois Ummel, Pat Ballenger, Doris Creakbaum, and Elener Norris, and the leaders, Mrs. Gerald Ballenger and Mrs. Alden Jones.

ELENER NORRIS, Reporter.

MILTON DALE DORSEY

Milton Dale Dorsey, aged 45, a well-known farmer, died at 12:10 a.m. Friday at his home, one mile east and two miles north of Mentone. Death was the result of a stroke of paralysis which Mr. Dorsey suffered at 10:30 p. m. Thursday night. He had been in his usual health until that time.

The deceased was born in the Harrison Center community the son of Lorenzo and Pearl (East) Dorsey, and had lived his entire life-time on the same farm. He is survived by his widow, the former Pearl Richter; two foster children, Mrs. Patricia Davis, of Goshen, and Floyd, at home; the mother, Mrs. Pearl Dorsey, of Harrison Center community; a brother, Herbert Dorsey, of Warsaw, route 5; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Bentley, of Atwood.

Funeral services were held at the Harrison Center Evangelical United Brethren church Sunday afternoon, with interment in the cemetery adjoining the church. The Reed Funeral home was in charge.

GEORGE FRANKLIN SELLERS DIES VERY SUDDENLY

George Franklin Sellers died very suddenly of a heart attack at his home at Silver Lake at 3 a. m. Tuesday morning.

Mr. Sellers, who followed the trade of a carpenter, was born July 31, 1879 in Cherokee county, Kansas to Samuel and Irene (McKinnis) Sellers. February 18, 1911 he was married to Ollie Rickel at Columbia City.

Surviving relatives, in addition to the widow, are two children, a son, Leslie Burdine, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Howell, of Claypool; two sisters, Mrs. Cora Tinkley of near Warsaw, and Mrs. Otilie Beber of Claypool. (One sister, Anna Burk, preceded him in death.) There are also two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the E. U. B. church at Silver Lake at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, with the Summe funeral home in charge. Rev. Kenneth Kraft will officiate.

BAPTIST BIBLE SCHOOL

The Baptist Daily Vacation Bible school opened on Monday with an enrollment of 77.

The Bible school will close on Friday, July 1st, with a program in the evening.

LIONS CLUB PARADE PRIZES

The Lions Club committee in charge of the Fourth of July Kiddies Parade announces that six classifications for prizes have been selected, with cash prizes going to the first three selections in each classification. Cash prizes will be $2.00 for first, $1.00 for second, and 50c for third. All others participating in the parade will be given a ball-point pen, and after the parade all will be given a free treat by the Lions Club.

The committee also announced that bunting or crepe paper must be used for decorations, and flags, if used, must be flying.

The six classifications, with three cash prizes offered in each, are:

Ponies.	Bicycles.
Pets.	Wagons.
Costumes.	Tricycles.

The kiddie parade has proven to be one of the most interesting features of the annual July 4 event at Mentone, and it certainly will be worth anyone's time to be on hand early to see this event.

TO DEDICATE CHURCH UNIT

The Beaver Dam Evangelical United Brethren church, of the Burket, circuit, will have a dedication service on Sunday, June 26.

In the past year there has been a new annex built on the church and extensive improvements made. The regular morning worship will be at 10:30 DST. There will be a carry-in dinner at noon and the dedication service will be at 2:30. Dr. B. F. Smith will be the speaker at both services. Rev. E. M. Cornelius and family of Elkhart will bring the special music in the afternoon.

Rev. Wayne R. Johnson is pastor of the church.

MRS. ADELINE MEREDITH

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Adeline Boggess Meredith, a former resident of Mentone and Rochester. Mrs. Meredith, 70, died Friday in Orlando, Fla.

She formerly assisted her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ewing, in the operation of the Ewing nursing home at Rochester. Two sisters and a brother survive. It was reported that the body is being returned to Rochester for final rite and burial.

BURKET BAND HERE SATURDAY

The Burket high school band will be in Mentone Saturday for the regular weekly "Days of '49" Saturday evening free band concert.

The Mentone Merchants' Association extends an invitation to everyone to be in town each Saturday night to hear these concerts.

BYRON NELLANS APPOINTED RURAL LETTER CARRIER

The Mentone postmaster, L. A. Rickel, has received notice of the appointment of Byron Nellans as Rural Letter Carrier for Mentone Route One, effective June 16, 1949.

"Barney" has been temporary carrier for the past three years since the retirement of the late William Ray Rush.

AT MCCLURE LAKE.

One hundred boys and girls are attending church camp at McClure Lake for the next three weeks. The Ft. Wayne Brethren Church is sponsoring the camp.

MRS. LORETTA DEAMER

Mrs. Loretta J. Deamer, aged 77, died at 2:15 a.m. Wednesday at her home, near Talma. Death which followed a three-year illness, was due to a heart ailment. Mrs. Deamer was born near Sidney, June 13, 1872, the daughter of Jacob and Leah (Hoppus) Boyer. She was wed December 24, 1892, to William Deamer, who succumbed August 9, 1948.

Surviving relatives include one sister, Mrs. Myrtle Hunter, of Montpelier, Ohio; four brothers, Mearl Boyer, of Warsaw, Herschel Boyer, of Mishawaka, John Boyer, of Pierceton, and William Boyer, of Sidney; several nieces and nephews, including Delbert Hunter, of near Talma, who was reared in the Deamer home.

Last rites will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Talma Christian church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. William Howard will officiate, and interment will be in the Reister cemetery. Friends may call at the Johns funeral home, in Mentone, until 1:30 p.m. Friday, when the body will be removed to the church.

CELEBRATE JULY 4TH HERE

The Mentone Lions Club is again making plans for a big Fourth of July celebration to be staged at Veterans' Park on Monday evening, July 4, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

The Lions committee, with Delford Nelson as general chairman, has retained the idea of a short evening's program rather than an all-day affair, so that everyone can attend the evening program without interfering with other plans during the heat of the day.

Activity will start at 6:30 with a half hour concert by the Mentone High School Band, under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Blickenstaff.

The Kiddies Parade will be featured at 7:30, followed by twenty minutes of harmony by the Lake City Barbershop Quartet. At 7:50 the Color Guard of Mentone Post No. 425, American Legion, will retire the colors from the flag staff located in center field of the beautifully lighted Veterans' Park. Starting at eight o'clock, the Sportsman Club colored softball team of South Bend will tangle with the Mentone Merchants team of softball artists. The visiting team boasts of several of the outstanding colored stars well known to softball fans of this area.

A giant fireworks display will end the day's program, and an effort will be made to have this as early in the evening as possible so that the smaller children can remain to witness it. Our display in years past have been adjudged superior to many of the larger cities of the area, and the committee in charge are doing their best to maintain their past laurels. A licensed operator will be in charge of the firing of the explosive displays.

The entire evening's entertainment is absolutely free, with a free-will offering being taken at the ball game. Refreshments will be available at the park.

Ilmenite and Rutile

Two commercial titanium ores are ilmenite and rutile. The principal sources of ilmenite ore, used largely in the manufacture of titanium pigments, were India and Norway, but when these sources were cut off during the war the domestic sources were tapped. Between 1937 and 1947 plant capacity of the titanium pigments industry of the United States expanded three and a half times, yet an early end of the shortage in the supply of the pigment is not in sight. The ore is mined in New York, Virginia, North Carolina and the dune sands of Florida.

WATER HEATER USEFUL IN HOME

There are more than 100 uses for hot water and only about 10 for cold water, says Miss Gertrude Monhaut, extension home management specialist, Purdue University.

Having a sufficient amount of hot water at a constant temperature on tap at all times is a great convenience. The automatic hot water heater provides this convenience. A water heater shortens working hours, reduces humidity in the home, removes dangers involved with carrying loads of hot water. There are many varieties of styles and sizes of automatic hot water heaters. Styles come in round, square, table top with varying capacity.

These many types of water heaters can be used with gas, fuel oil or electricity. Small size tanks can be used for gas or fuel oil because of the rapid recovery. Larger tanks are used for electricity. The choice of fuel to use will be determined by availability, convenience, and comparative price. Many service companies offer special rates for water heaters.

Formerly, the size of water heater was determined by the size of the family or the house. It is wise to consider the daily jobs which call for hot water including the peak demands. The common mistake is that the buyer selects too small an automatic water heater to meet the needs of the family.

For longer service from the heater in locations where the water is so very hard it is good practice to install an automatic water softener ahead of a water heater to prevent mineral deposits in the heater.

The location of the automatic water heater partly determines how much it costs to operate. Water heaters are located in the utility room, kitchen, or basement. It should be installed as close as possible to the faucet using the most hot water which is the kitchen sink. Gas and oil heaters should be installed where they can have flue connections. An electric water heater does not require a flue so may be located any convenient place in the house.

DAIRYMEN LOSE A MILLION

Summer days are hurry-up times around the farm but it was haste that accounted for a large share of the profit loss for too many Hoosier farmers in 1948.

Because they were too busy to clean bossy—too busy to clean the milking barn, the feeding utensils, and too busy to take care of other dairy chores, Hoosier farmers lost an estimated one million dollars last year. Of this amount $200,000 was due to rejected milk. The consumer lost four million pounds of milk, which would have been distributed by 62 Indiana plants.

Prof. V. C. Manhart, department of dairy husbandry at Purdue University, says that care is necessary to preserve quality which results from a fresh, clean flavor of the product. The greatest sources of contamination are the pails, the cows, the cream separator, and the milking machine. All should be sterilized after washing. The milking machine and the separator should be disassembled and washed after each milking or separation.

Sediment is another cause for the milk being returned to the farm. A good strainer and use of single service filter disks will help. However, filtering does not solve all the sediment problem, as 80 per cent of the sediment is soluble.

With the coming of hot weather, cooling of milk and cream becomes important. The bacteria is responsible for souring and many off flavors. Milk should be cooled to 60 degrees or less

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Five cases of poliomyelitis have been reported by Indiana health officers to the Indiana State Board of Health during the first two weeks of June.

"The reporting of five cases for this period is not unusual but it reminds us that June is usually the beginning of the poliomyelitis season," Dr. J. W. Jackson, director, Division of Communicable Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health, said today. "Although we are still mystified as to the way poliomyelitis is spread, we do know that sanitation and the avoidance of fatigue are two precautions which may help. Also, epidemiological studies suggest that intimate personal contact may be an important factor in the spreading of the disease.

"A case of poliomyelitis occurring in any Indiana Community should be reported to the health officer as a paralytic or nonparalytic case," Dr.

by use of well water at 55 degrees, or with the aid of a mechanical cooler.

When farmers remember that if there 5,000 bacteria in a sample of fresh milk, these would multiply to 3,500,000 bacteria in 12 hours, there will be no doubt in mind as to the necessity for clean and careful operations in the dairy.

Jackson said. "The health officer reports the case to us and we refer each case to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Crippled Children Division of the Department of Public Welfare.

"Although last year was not considered an epidemic year in Indiana, with 383 cases reported, we noticed that the trend seemed to be towards an increasing incidence among people of the older group. The reporting of cases began to climb in July with the peak reached in September. We have had 20 cases reported this year since January with 30 cases listed for the same period a year ago. Cases have been reported from the following counties: Delaware 4; Floyd 1; Jackson 1; Lake 1; Marion 4; Montgomery 1; Union 3, and Wabash 1.

BONDED AND LICENSED BUYER

Trucks available at all times. Loren L. Tridle, Buyer.

I know of no better way to start an argument than to ask several fishermen to guess the weight of a certain fish. The man who catches the fish almost always is inclined to overestimate the weight; the onlooker frequently will guess short. So, naturally, it is wise always to have a scale handy in your tackle box.

But for those fisherman who never seem to carry such accessories as a scale, I offer Harold Willis' formula for figuring the weight of a fish. Mr. Willis a resident of Morehead, N. C., says measure the fish's girth at the thickest part and then square this measurement. Your total, multiplied by the length of the fish and then divided by 800, should be near the exact weight.

For instance, the fish measures 20 inches at the thickest part. This squared gives you 400. The fish is 25 inches long, so 25×400 is 10,000, and divided by 800 results in 12.5 or the fish weighs 12½ pounds.

If it doesn't work out, don't blame me. Just send your complaints to Mr. Willis.

And here's another tip I'd like to pass along. Pete McGillen, of Peterborough, Canada, says you can find your way in the wilderness by using a hunting knife and watch—if you've forgotten to take a compass along.

First, stand your knife in a vertical position with the point of the blade resting on your thumbnail or some other shiny surface. If you look closely you will be able to see a faint shadow, no matter how dull or cloudy the day. The point of the shadow at the knife blade will be the direction of the sun. Then take your watch and point the hour hand in the same direction as the shadow point and half way between the hour hand and 12 o'clock will be due south.

MILDEW AFFECTING ROSES

Warm, humid days for the past month have meant increasing trouble for Indiana growers of roses who have been fighting one of the most persistent blights—mildew.

C. E. Hoxsie, Purdue University extension horticulturist, says that mildew made its appearance about the middle of May and has been the cause of cutting production of outdoor roses, particularly for the home gardener. Not only have the Crimson Rambler types and climbers been badly attacked, but also the bush types, Prof. Hoxsie reports.

To date the mildew, which is a fungus disease, has not been seen on other plants, but if the humid weather continues, gardeners can expect attacks on lilacs, phlox, zinnias and other annuals.

The first noticeable sign of the disease is the formation of a white, powdery growth on young leaves and buds. The mildew rapidly grows and spreads over all buds, leaves, and stems. In severe cases the leaves become dwarfed and distorted. The flowers open abnormally and wilt prematurely.

Formerly the disease was controlled by weekly dustings of the plants with sulphur. Although sulphur is still recommended, the new all-purpose flower dusts which contain DDT, rotenone, Fermate, dusting sulphur, and carbonate as the principal ingredients are superior for control of mildew, the Purdue horticulturist says.

FIVE MEDALS OFFERED 4-H'ERS

Five 4-H members in this country are eligible to receive sterling silver medal awards for outstanding records in the 1949 National 4-H Poultry Achievement program. Other awards provided by Dearborn Motors Corporation include an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November for the state winner and $300 college scholarships for each of 10 national champions. The program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

In order to participate, members must care for a poultry flock. Keeping complete records, judging, demonstrations, exhibits and efficient management are all considered in determining the winners.

There were 197 county medal winners in Indiana last year.

County extension agents will furnish full information on this program.

Continuous close grazing of alfalfa for too long a time will seriously injure if not destroy the stand of alfalfa. Purdue University agronomists advise dividing the field and grazing alternately, allowing the new growth to recover and to increase the life of the stand. After the first cutting for hay, it can then be pastured during July and August. Grazing should be stopped at the time recommended for the last cutting of hay usually about the first of September.

Prevention of Paint Blister

Blistering and peeling of paint on hollow porch columns can be prevented by boring a hole or two in the top and bottom of the column to let the air circulate through the interior of the column, says "American Painter and Decorator" which explains: "Blistering is caused by moisture which works its way up into the inside of the column. Since there is no easy outlet for that moisture, it works its way out through the wood, under the paint, and forms a blister which later breaks and peels off." It is suggested that the holes which are bored in the column be covered with wire screen to prevent insects from getting into and breeding inside the column.

Picnic Time

Picnic time is here again — that time when everyone with a yen for the outdoors packs a lunch and heads for the wide open spaces.

A big picnic basket is ideal for carrying everything you'll need. Fill the basket with the traditional picnic fare. For a special treat, tuck in the basket a big cannister of Prune Oatmeal Cookies. These cookies travel well and make just the right noontime dessert as well as good snacks all through the afternoon.

Prune Oatmeal Cookies

- ½ cup sifted enriched flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup shortening*
- 1 egg
- ¾ cup pitted cooked prunes
- 2½ cups rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
- ¼ cup chopped nutmeats

Mix together flour, salt, soda, cinnamon and sugar into bowl. Add shortening, egg and ½ cup of the prunes. Beat until smooth, about two minutes. Fold in rolled oats and nutmeats. Drop from a teaspoon onto greased baking sheet. Decorate tops of cookies with remaining ¼ cup of prunes. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

*Shortening must be at room temperature.

Betratron for Cancer

World's first installation of a betatron for cancer treatment and research will be made at the University of Illinois college of medicine in Chicago. The betatron was invented in 1940 by Prof. Donald Kerst of the university's physics department at Urbana-Champaign, who immediately pointed out its cancer fighting possibilities. Research in this direction was delayed during the war while attention was centered on using the betatron for industrial x-ray work.

Spas in Great Britain

Great Britain possesses many spas of international repute where natural mineral water may be applied, internally by drinking or externally in various forms of balneology. The bathing establishments are equipped with the latest scientific devices and only medically certificated staffs are employed. The spas have extensive experience in treating cases of gout, arthritis, fibrositis, paraplegia, hypertension, skin diseases, rheumatism, pharyngitis and laryngitis.

Micro-Organisms Sit for Portraits

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The dreaded tubercle bacillus, cause of tuberculosis, and the influenza virus, are here revealed in exact proportion to each other, at 18,600 times their actual size. Striking differences in size and form of the organisms which produce tuberculosis and influenza are revealed. Portraits of disease-producing organisms, in detail never before possible, are now being taken with the electron microscope in such research centers as the Squibb Institute for Medical Research at New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Ever since the discovery of the tubercle bacillus in 1882, scientists and medical research workers have been searching for a means of combatting it in human beings. Similar work has been going forward on the influenza virus. Today streptomycin, named dihydrostreptomycin, is offering new hope of recovery to those suffering from tuberculosis.

Now with the aid of the electron microscope most disease-producing organisms can be seen, many for the first time, and Squibb scientists are able to study new approaches to their defeat.

Use of Silver

American industries last year used 100 million Troy ounces of silver and it is estimated that consumption will be equally high during 1948. Before the war an annual average of around 30 million ounces went into varied manufacturing processes. As industrial use here increased, the demand for silver for subsidiary coinage has decreased or ceased in many countries.

LOCAL LADIES ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION

Mrs. Earl Anderson, vice president, and Mrs. Wayne Nellans, treasurer, acted as official delegates of Beta Epsilon chapter of Psi Iota Xi Sorority, at the forty-sixth annual national convention held at French Lick Springs Hotel June 17 and 18.

This year's convention was very educational and highly entertaining and many notable speakers were in attendance.

The Psi Iota Xi is a charitable organization and does many notable acts both locally and throughout the state.

ATTEND PHONE HEARING

A group of Mentone business people joined some 275 others from this area in attending a public hearing held before the public service commissioner at the court house in Warsaw Friday. Two telephone companies were petitioning to abandon free telephone service both ways between Mentone, Atwood, Etna Green and Millwood and from Atwood to Leesburg. The companies expressed themselves as planning to install the dial system at Atwood.

The remonstrators are also ultimately concerned in that this petition may be just the beginning to eliminate all free service between nearby exchanges.

A continuance was granted to permit the remonstrators to prepare a more complete defense.

Bond Drive Theme—100 Years Transport

The prairie schooner, the airplane and that rugged servant of modern-day transport, the truck-trailer, are joined in today's Opportunity Savings Bond Drive, representing the century between the gold rush of 1849 and the Treasury Bond campaign of 1949. Prairie schooners took the '49'ers west to California when gold was found, but the airplane brought the old pioneer wagons to a network of cities where, mounted on Fruehauf trailers, powered by International truck-tractors, they are serving as a point-of-sale for Savings Bonds. Here is one of the 30 wagons mounted on a trailer with the plane in the background—another example of how air transport and motor transport are being linked to perform a multitude of hauling jobs requiring both utmost speed and utmost flexibility.

Weed-Eating Pigs

Pigs raised on poor pastures commonly start to eat weeds, leaves, and other materials that they would ignore if good pasture were provided. A simple type of scours sometimes results, due to irritation of the intestinal tract by the coarse feeds. According to veterinarians, the best thing to do in these cases is to move the herd to a good pasture or to a dry lot where their feeding can be controlled—then allow about a day or two for the trouble to disappear. If there is no improvement, a diagnosis should be obtained to determine the exact nature of the sickness.

MIND THESE RULES AND KEEP LIVING

Summer vacationists are urged by Arthur M. Thurston, superintendent of State Police, to prevent playtime tragedy by keeping safety uppermost in mind. He advised:

1. Mind your behind the wheel manners and drive defensively in a mechanically safe automobile.
 2. Adjust your driving speed according to conditions. Remember, the chance of death or injury increases as speed increases.
 3. Observe all traffic signs and signals, and be especially alert while touring unfamiliar roads.
- Since most drownings each year occur in the summer, Supt. Thurston cautioned against swimming and boating accidents. He suggested:

1. Don't swim alone at any time and keep out of unguarded waters.
 2. Stay within your limits as a swimmer; avoid dangerous horseplay in the water.
 3. Don't overload a boat beyond its capacity, and get off the water when sudden storms appear. Speed boat operators should guard against swamping small craft.
- Supt. Thurston emphasized the dangers of over-exposure to the sun, polluted water and poisonous weeds. He asked that vacationing small plane pilots observe safe flying practices at all times.

STATE RELEASES 4,000 PHEASANTS

(Special) With almost 4,000 adult pheasants on the loose in Indiana it looks like happy hunting days are ahead for Indiana sportsmen when the legal season arrives.

This good news has been released by Hovey Pritchett, supervisor of game farms and preserves for the Indiana Department of Conservation.

Two thousand one hundred and sixty pheasants were released in April in thirty northern counties and this figure added to 1,800 released in twenty-five additional counties in various parts of Indiana bring the total to the figure mentioned.

The birds, all adults, were released by Conservation officers and attaches of the Jasper-Pulaski game farm and preserve, assisted by Mr. Pritchett.

Seventy-two pheasants were allotted to each county in which the distribution took place.

Henry P. Cottingham, director of the division of fish and game, announced that the distribution of various types of birds together with eggs will continue just as rapidly as conditions seem feasible.

Mr. Cottingham recently placed in effect a program which all fostered further expansion of the department's activities by means of which all conservation organizations will be greatly stepped up.

In addition to distribution of adult pheasants, Mr. Cottingham has previously disclosed that plans are being carried out by means of which pheasants and quail chicks will be distributed to all Indiana conservation organizations registered with the department.

Approximately 100 Hoosiers are expected to attend the American Institute of Cooperation which will celebrate its 25th Anniversary Aug. 22 to 26 at the University of Wisconsin. Purdue University was host to the conference in 1946.

Honey Bee Progeny

Scientists have discovered that if a virgin queen bee is put to sleep with carbon dioxide gas she starts laying eggs at once, without being mated. These eggs always produce male bees. When the virgin queen is mated to one of her own fatherless sons she produces female bees also and heads a normal bee colony. This mating of mother and son is possible because the scientists have found a method of artificial insemination for the queen. Inbred bee families may be produced, just as inbred corn is produced. After families are inbred for generations, they are crossed.

Shoals of Shrimp

Shrimp in the Gulf of Mexico are at times so plentiful that the sound of the echo depth machine on a ship fails to act the way it should. The hydrographic office of the navy reports that Capt. W. N. Dawson of the British motor vessel British Virtue on two voyages between Galveston and Corpus Christi found that the device measuring sound echoes did not register when 10 to 15 miles off the coast, where charts showed the depth to be about 11 fathoms. Large quantities of shrimp were found in that locality.

WILT ON SWEET CORN THIS YEAR

Bacterial Wilt or Stewart's Wilt is making its appearance on sweet corn in many sections of Indiana. The disease can be recognized by pale yellowish stripes on the leaves, that later become brown while in severe cases plants wilt and die.

There is a good prospect that the disease will spread to dent corn. On dent corn the disease usually appears about silking time and is less severe than on sweet corn. The symptoms on dent corn appear as long, irregular yellowish streaks on the leaves that later become brown. Wilting from the disease seldom occurs on dent corn.

The Purdue University department of botany and plant pathology points out that the best means of control in sweet corn is by planting Golden Cross Bantam—a hybrid that is resistant to the disease. The Evergreen and Country Gentleman types of sweet corn are also less susceptible than the yellow bantam types.

The Purdue men explain that the disease is caused by a bacterium that enters and lives in the veins of the plants. Bacterial Wilt is spread by the corn flea beetle. After this insect feeds on an infected plant, it is able to carry the disease producing bacteria to healthy plants. Many of these insects lived over during the past mild winter, and consequently there are a greater number of flea beetles to spread the disease this spring.

HOOVER COMMISSION REPORT CONTAINS INTERESTING FACTS

John Motto, of Warsaw, who has been appointed as one of 700 who are to bring facts of the recent Hoover Commission investigation of our government, gave a very interesting address before the Mentone Lions Club last week. Some of the facts, all of which are given as outlined in the non-partisan commission report following 19 months of investigation, are reprinted below:

The purpose of the investigation was to find ways to: promote economy, efficiency and improved service in the transaction of public business in departments, bureaus, agencies, boards, commissions, offices, independent establishments, and instrumentalities of the executive branch of the government.

We might look upon the establishment of the Hoover Commission, by Congress, as an act to give the American people an opportunity to become masters of their government rather than its slaves.

Various departments and agencies of government, for the last fifteen or sixteen years, rush to congress with budgets so confusing in their make-up no genius could decipher them. As a result they usually get what they want and the taxpayers dig deeper. The Hoover Commission has worked out plans that will require explanation for the appropriation of every budget dollar. Scores of agencies will be abolished and others consolidated. There is to be no padding of budgets in the future if the recommendations of the Hoover commission are adopted into law.

A twenty per cent withholding tax from workmen's pay means that said workman works one day out of every five for the government free. Add to this social security, local taxes and the concealed taxes he pays and we have the answer to the fear that is gripping the Nation.

Less than 15 years ago there were 570,000 civil employees on the federal payroll. In 1948 there were 2,200,000 employees which cost the taxpayers $5,650,000,000 in salary annually. Ninety per cent of these employees are scattered over the States—One for every 21 income taxpayers.

Supervisors are rated and paid according to the number of employees under them, and this vicious system encourages said supervisors to load their departments with unnecessary employees. The influence these employees, together with their relatives, can exercise in any election, creates a situation most dangerous to our form of government.

Government records fill 18,000,000 square feet of floor space costing the taxpayers $20,000,000 a year and the filing equipment needed to handle these records is worth $154,000,000.

In the Continental United States, the federal government has in storage military and civilian inventories estimated at $27,000,000,000.00.

The Post Office department, operating under an antiquated system, had revenues of $1,300,000,000 in 1948 with a deficit of 310 million. Of the 500,000 postal employees, 22,000 are politically appointed. It costs the department two and one-half cents to print and handle a postal card.

The Veterans Administration has 15,432 persons working at handling 7,000,000 insurance policies. This average work-load of 450 policies per employee compares with a work-load of 1,762 policies per employee in private industry.

Thirty government agencies are busy lending, guaranteeing or insuring of loans.

On June 30, 1948 government hospitals had room for 255,000 patients. But only 155,000 patients were on hand. Costs for constructing government hospitals run as high as $51,000.00 per bed.

Some agencies charge less interest on their loans than the Treasury must pay for the money it borrows. Some agencies invest their surplus in government securities thus compelling the government to pay interest on its own investments.

Often from five to ten separate organizations of the Department of Agriculture operate at the same time in rural communities.

Although the government is spending over 40 billion per year, it cannot tell from its records what is accomplished with the money, due to a cumbersome accounting system.

If military recommendations had been followed the current defense budget would be 30 billion; that is for defense alone. That would be $884.00 per family. Is it not fantastic that the army budget should provide for the purchase of 829,000 tropical uniforms at a cost of $129.00 each to say nothing about money to erect 910 houses for military personnel in Alaska to cost $58,000.00 each.

It would be literally impossible to outline to you in detail the chaotic condition under which the Executive Branch of the government is now operating, and it would be equally impossible to outline the cures as set forth in the Hoover commission report since this report contains over two million words. Suffice to say, the most exhaustive effort was expended in searching out errors in government and providing suggestions for cures. The entire research and report is so stupendous that ordinary man cannot digest it. However, since only selfish and vested interests and blocs will and are opposing the adoption of the report into constructive law, and since the report is the child of the President of the United States and congress, and since it seems to have the support of thinking men, organizations and institutions, we can safely and conscientiously give it our wholehearted support.

The government of the United States is comparable to a great corporation.

Each citizen of this land holds one share of stock in this corporation. This entitles him to vote for a board of directors every four year, and that has been the extent of your privilege. But now, for the first time in history, you are being granted the great privilege of participating in formulating the policies of your corporation.

(Editor's Note: The above material was taken from Mr. Motto's address, which has been approved by the Commission members. The President and Congress, apparently, are in favor of adopting the remedies offered in the report. However, they all want your moral support and the only way we can ever overcome the huge voting block of civilian government employees and their relatives, is by concerted action and support. Write your representatives and the President urging them to put into action the economies advocated by the Hoover Commission.)

In Early Days of Picture-Taking

Sixty years ago, in June, 1888. George Eastman introduced the No. 1 Kodak. The new camera was an ob-long black box that took small round pictures two and one-half inches in diameter. It was sold ready-loaded for 100 exposures. The price for camera and film was $25. When the hundredth picture was taken, the camera was sent back to the factory at Rochester. Here the film was taken out, developed, and, if the sun was shining, prints were made.

AT NEW HARMONY

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh and son Dickie, Dale Kelley, Mrs. Maudie Snyder, Miss Wreatha McFarren, and Mrs. Eileen Fenstermaker, all of Mentone. Mr. and Mrs. Dairl Henderson of Atwood, Mrs. Virgil Doran, and Miss Mildred Mendel, of Burket, and Mrs. Willodean Ingalls of Claypool, spent the week end at New Harmony where they visited places of historic interest.

This meeting was one of six Institutes in the 1949 series which have been chartered into twelve separate regions so that outstanding historical sites are covered in every part of Indiana. Teachers, students, and all interested persons may attend these institutes.

Several teachers from Mentone have been attending the course in Warsaw, in Indiana history which was conducted by Rass Lockridge, of Indiana U.

The next institute will be held on July 9 and 10 near Marion and Peru.

An institute of great interest will be on Sept. 17 and 18 which will take place near Michigan City, South Bend, and on south to Plymouth and Rochester.

Full information may be obtained by writing to V. L. Tatlock, Director of Extension, Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute.

NOTICE

My last batch of fryers will go to market the 30th. If you want some of these buttermilk fed chickens for the holidays ahead, please send your order before the 28th. Mrs. A. Krymly, Tippecanoe, Ind., or 3/4 mile southeast of intersection 25 and 331.

DAVIS-HASS

Rev H. F. Craven, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at Auburn, read the marriage service Saturday afternoon in which Miss Agnes Bowman Hass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hass, of Pierceton, was united in marriage to Lloyd H. Davis M. D., of Webster, Mass. Lighted white tapers in tall candelabra and baskets of white gladioli were an attractive setting for the ceremony, which was scheduled to take place at half past two o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

Former students of the bride, who was an instructor in the Plymouth schools for the past 15 years, presented the musical prelude. Piano selections Arthur F. Becknell, Jr., who is a music student at Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio. Miss Carol Kaser, who is now a nurse at Memorial hospital, at South Bend, sang, "Thine Alone," "Because," and "God Gave Me You."

David and William Deering, of Antioch, Ill., nephews of the bride, seated guests.

The bride was attired in a white dinner gown. With this she wore a white braid bonnet with shoulder length veil. White roses were the flowers, which she carried with her white Bible.

Mrs. Hass, mother of the bride, wore a corsage of pink roses with her dress of aqua sheer.

At the reception held immediately following the ceremony Miss Marcella Cornet, of Elkhart, Miss Marth Slater, of Warsaw, Mrs. Garth Kyler, of Pierceton, and Mrs. J. P. Eckstadt, of Goshen, assisted.

Following a short wedding trip Dr. and Mrs. Davis will be at home at Oxford, Mass., after June 27.

Dr. Davis has received degrees from Wabash college, at Crawfordsville, Northwestern university, at Evanston, Ill., and the University of Illinois, at Urbana, Ill. He is affiliated with the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Mrs. Davis has received degrees from Indiana university, at Bloomington, and Columbia University, at New York City.

Dr. Davis had a practice in Mentone before moving to Massachusetts.

Hill Will Probated

The will of Rev. Silas Milton Hill, of Mentone, who died May 26, has been admitted to probate in circuit court. It disposes only of real estate held with the widow Gertrude Erice Hill, as tenants by the entireties, providing the widow holds a life estate and that the property go at her death to the children, Ellis E. Hill, of Larwill; Chloe C. Whiman, of Chicago; Mildred M. Kreider, of Columbia City; Lois L. Lemler and Marjorie E. Knecht, of Mentone, or their heirs.

CHARGES FILED

An affidavit was filed in city court Wednesday, charging Paul Rhodes, of Mentone, with assault and battery. The affidavit was signed by Dale Long of near Warsaw. Rhodes has been summoned to appear in city court on Tuesday night, June 28.

Prosecutor Gene Lee, who filled the affidavit, said Long, his older brother and father told him that Dale Long was assaulted by Rhodes on Monday. According to them, Dale's older brother is employed by Rhodes, as a carpender and brick mason. Rhodes allegedly struck Dale's brother, then turned on Dale and hit him in the face. The affidavit charges Rhodes with assault on Dale Long.—Warsaw Times.

IRA SHIVELY.

Ira Shively, aged 72, died at 3:45 p. m. Sunday at his farm home, on route 1, Etna Green. He had been seriously ill for five days due to a heart ailment.

Mr. Shively was born at Decatur, Ill., April 27, 1877, the son of Rev. and Mrs. John Shively. He had resided for many years in Etna Green vicinity.

Surviving relatives include two the former Luella Yarian, to whom he was married Jan. 3, 1901; four daughters, Mrs. Melvin Cain, of Mentone, Mrs. Emerson Cain and Mrs. Don Hartzell, of near Etna Green, and Mrs. Emma Berkey, of Goshen; three sons Carl and Floyd Shively, of Bourbon, and John Shively, of this city; two brothers, Rufas, of Fort Wayne, and Louis, of Clyde, N. Y.; a sister, Mrs. Ray Sponseller, of Mentone; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Sandridge church, with burial in the cemetery there. Rev. N. H. Miller, pastor of the Camp Creek Church of the Brethren officiated.

MARTHA E. HATFIELD BURIED AT PALESTINE

Martha E. Hatfield, aged 91, a life-long resident of this county, died last Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Blanche Sensibaugh, in Warsaw. She had been in failing health for the past five years and bedfast for seven months, due to complications.

Mrs. Hatfield was born near Palestine June 22, 1858, the daughter of Peter and Sarah (Reed) Sarber. Her husband, William A. Hatfield, a veteran of the Civil War, to whom she was married September 1, 1877, died in 1928.

She was a member of the Palestine Christian Church.

Surviving relative include two daughters, Mrs. Sensibaugh and Mrs. Mearl Warner, of Warsaw; a son, Glenn Hatfield, of Burket; 10 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Paul M. Bilby funeral home at Warsaw. Burial was in the Palestine cemetery.

YOU'RE INVITED TO ENJOY THE FOURTH AT MENTONE

Lions Club Sparing No Effort to Make This Year's Free Celebration Even Greater Than Those of Former Years.

Everything is in readiness for the big Fourth of July celebration to be held in Mentone next Monday evening, starting at 6:30 o'clock when the Mentone High School Band presents a half hour program of band music.

A Day of Leisure.

Holidays, oftentimes, entail such a strenuous program of travelling and activity that the pleasure of the day is lost. The Mentone Lions Club, which has been sponsoring these events the past three years, believes that most people would rather have the day be one of rest and relaxation, especially during the day, with a restful yet complete entertainment program in the cool of the evening. This year's program has been arranged in that manner, and an invitation is extended to everyone—citizen and stranger to enjoy the free program.

Spectacular Kiddies' Parade.

Three years ago when the first kiddie parade plans were formulated, many wondered just what it would be like, and whether or not it would be interesting. The feature brought out so many outstanding impersonations and characterizations that made one feel like the Kentucky hill-billy that had just seen his first giraffe. He said: "There just ain't no such animal."

The plain facts of the matter are that the kiddies can do everything the grownups do—only cuter.

Don't miss this event, which will start at seven o'clock.

Barbershop Quartette

The Warsaw Barbershop Quartette is scheduled to do a bit of outdoor yodeling. This group has won quite a reputation with its singing. This writer doesn't know just how barbershop quartettes got started, but somewhere along the line things must have been a bit slow in some whiskermowing emporium when someone accidentally kicked a half-filled gobboon that was tuned to the key of G. A man with time on his hands and music in his soul just couldn't resist doing a bit of impromptu harmonizing.

Colored Softball Team to Play.

The Sportsman's Club, of South Bend, a colored softball team, will play the Mentone Merchants in one of the highly entertaining features of the evening's celebration.

Retiring of Colors

A color guard of the Mentone American Legion will be in charge of the retiring of colors. This is always an impressive part of the program.

Big Fireworks Display

The fireworks display, which will be the final feature of the evening, won't be the most expensive that will be given in the Nation on that evening, but its variety is designed to secure an interesting and beautiful display. It will again be under the supervision of a state-licensed fireworks operator, assuring the utmost in safety and timing.

Entirely Free.

The Lions Club doesn't expect to make any money on the celebration, and every entertaining feature will be absolutely free. An offering will be taken at the softball game, and you can show your appreciation by contributing. You can also show your appreciation by patronizing the soft drink and eat stands from which the profits go to help defray the expense of the show.

Enjoy a leisurely Fourth, but don't lay around the bathing beach until your sun-tan is overdone, or you won't enjoy the show at Mentone.

CHILDREN NOTE

All Children are urged to make plans now to be in the Kiddies parade Monday evening, July 4th during Lions Club Celebration at Veterans Park. Please assemble at School House at 6:30 as Parade will be promptly at 7 o'clock.

$21.00 in Cash prizes, Ball Point Pen for all entrants not receiving Cash prize. A treat for all.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM AT HARRISON CENTER

There will be a children's program given at the Harrison Center E. U. B. Church on Sunday evening, July 3, at 7:30 o'clock. The young people will give a play, "Church Bells," to which the public is cordially invited.

FISHERMEN RETURN

Harold Nelson, C. E. Walburn, Ora McKinley and Miles Manwaring returned the fore part of the week from a four-day fishing trip into Michigan.

They reported eating over 25 fish each while up there (I hope that isn't over the limit) and then had enough left to bring home.

The boys are all typical fishermen and some of the reports would sound a trifle big even out in Minnesota's Paul Bunyan territory. We'll let them tell you the more intimate details, as about all the law will permit me to say is that "I believed them."

BURT

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burt, of Mentone, are parents of a baby girl, born Tuesday morning at the McDonald hospital. Mr. Burt is the coach at Mentone high school. His father is Carl Burt, superintendent of the Warsaw schools. The mother is the former Geneva Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Gibson, of near Mentone.

CLUB CALENDAR

The Joy Circle will meet in the Methodist church basement on Tuesday, July 5.

ENTERTAINED TOWNSEND CLUB

Mrs. Maggie Dille entertained the Talma Townsend Club at her home in Mentone Thursday evening of last week.

Following the business session, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

Soil Anti-Biotic

A list of anti-biotics produced from soil bacteria and from molds seems to be almost endless and is increasing constantly. While penicillin and streptomycin are the best known, many more are being produced. An English laboratory has brought out aerosporin, which seems to be a specific for whooping cough, typhoid fever and other diseases not touched by penicillin. It is produced by bacteria discovered in the soil of Surrey and Yorkshire, England. This organism has been imported into the United States and probably will become available to physicians throughout the country.

SHOW ON INDIANA HISTORY

The musical show of Indiana history, "The Pioneer Glory," opens Saturday night for a nine-night run in Purdue's Ross-Ade Stadium in Lafayette.

More than 200 talented youngsters selected from high schools throughout Indiana are on the Purdue campus this week rehearsing for the show under professional direction. Many have worked in units in their home towns for the past few weeks, readying themselves for final rehearsals. Toward Tooley, New York showman and writer-director of the pageant, is directing rehearsals.

The show will be presented at 8:30 P. M., DST, from Saturday through the Sunday of the week following (July 2 through 10). General admission prices will be 50 cents for school pupils any night. For adults they will be $1 on Saturdays, Sundays and July 4, and 75 cents on all other nights. A rain check ticket system will be used in case of any weather interference.

The first statewide, civic production of its kind, "The Pioneer Glory" is intended to become an annual summer show in Indiana. Gate receipts will be used to produce the show again next summer in another Indiana city. The treasury for this first production was contributed by personal and business donors interested in the pageant becoming a permanent Indiana institution.

The show is expected to rate as a near-professional production because of the selected talent, its direction, and colorful theatrical costumes and scenery. It was written to tell the story of Indiana rapidly unfolding events of 270 years with drama, stage action, song and narration.

The show will parade Indians, pioneers, soldiers of several wars, folk and ballet dancers and singers. Scenes call for horses and ancient carriages and wagons and automobiles. The featured battle scene is a reproduction of the Battle of Tippecanoe. Another scene reproduces the Indianapolis Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, using members of the cast in a tableau imitating the home-corning segment on the monument's west base.

FARM DEBT GOING UP

The farm-mortgage debt on Jan. 1, 1949, for the country as a whole, was larger by 4.6 per cent than on Jan. 1, 1948, and is up from the very low point reached early in 1946 by nine per cent, said Dr. E. I. Butz in referring to the latest farm-mortgage report issued by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Farmers evidently have found uses for their income other than debt retirement—they have continued to replace worn-out equipment and to make necessary repairs and improvements at costs which are still relatively high," it was pointed out.

Although a rise was shown for the country as a whole, five states, (Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Illinois) continued to show a decline. The increase during the past year for Indiana was 5.7 per cent, and the increase for this state since January 1, 1946, is 8.9 per cent.

WILL YOU BE ALIVE JULY 5?

Independence Day week end Indiana highways will carry the heaviest holiday traffic in their history, accompanied by a traffic toll of 17 fatalities and 340 personal injuries, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, predicts.

Routing requests of the Chicago Motor Club's touring bureau and other motor travel indices indicate that a half million Indiana cars carrying 1,550,000 passengers will be on the roads, exceeding last Fourth's all-time motor travel record.

The Chicago Motor Club recommends a four-point driving program to motorists for improving their holiday safety:

- (1) Schedule holiday activities and travel to avoid periods of peak traffic congestion, temptation to speed on crowded highways, driving while you are fatigued, and night driving. Two-thirds of all fatalities occur at night.
- (2) Increase all margins of driving error, especially distance judgments in passing or following cars, and control of speeds at intersections, railroad crossings, bridge approaches, and other hazardous points.
- (3) Condition car for holiday trips, with especial attention to your safety equipment, including brakes, windshield wipers, tires and lights.

(4) Do not overload vehicle with luggage or passengers so as to obscure driver's rear view vision or impeding his freedom of movement.

FINDING AN EASIER WAY

Time and motion studies are not tools of industry alone. In Indiana over 300 farms have become proving grounds where boys and girls enrolled in the 1949 National 4-H Better Methods Electric awards program are finding easier and better ways of doing a job. Everything from unloading grain to washing dishes is analyzed to save time and energy. The family and community alike benefit from more efficient practices developed through this activity.

Guided by club leaders and county agents, 4-H'ers are "learning by doing" some of the 350 ways in which electricity is used on the farm. Doing the family wash, roasting a chicken, pumping water, milking cows, and making minor electrical repairs are only a few examples of tasks the teenagers try to improve. And on farms where electricity is not available (about 30 per cent) better methods of doing everyday chores are worked out and practiced.

Club members keep records of accomplishments, and for the best in each county the Westinghouse Educational Foundation presents a gold-filled medal of honor. The state winner is given an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, and to the six top ranking members in the nation, $300 scholarships are awarded. To the county in Indiana reporting the most outstanding 4-H better methods electric program, Westinghouse sends an appropriately inscribed plaque.

Lester Craig of Greensfork won the 1948 Wayne county and state awards. There were 19 other county medal winners. Marion county received the plaque.

The Cooperative Extension Service supervises the program.

HOT HAY IS DANGEROUS

Hot hay accounts for a lot of the 20 million dollars annual farm loss from spontaneous combustion. Any hay stored with over 20% moisture is in danger of heating unless a mow drier is used. Even with forced air driers, wet spots may be left that will heat. If there is any suspicion that hay is wet enough to heat, climb up in the mow and check it occasionally. A sweetish odor like that of acetic acid may be the tip-off that heating has begun.

An inexpensive probe for taking hay temperature is designed by Fred Roth, farm safety specialist of Michigan State College. It is made with 10 feet of 1/4" electrical conduit with oak or ash point on one end. Six 1/4" holes are bored above the point. A dairy thermometer is dropped inside the probe. A rubber pad placed in the bottom of the tube protects the thermometer. The probe with the thermometer inside is inserted into the hay for 10 or 15 minutes. If the temperature is 140 degrees check the hay several times per day. At 160 degrees check it every hour and if the heat goes as high as 180 degrees call in help, get fire fighting equipment ready and remove the hay.

A probe which gets quicker and more accurate measure of heat has been designed by J. B. Dobie, California Expert Station. It consists of a 3/4" iron pipe with a plastic point in the hay. It was designed by Dobie for the use of company agents in checking hay temperatures.

found he could take one reading a minute in checking hay temperatures in a farm near David, California. Heating was first noticed after the hay had been in the barn two weeks. Temperature was 200 degrees when readings were first taken and rose three degrees a day until it reached 233 degrees, there it remained constant with the hay drying rapidly. On the seventeenth day the temperature went up abruptly to 350 degrees with the hay extremely dry. Fires broke out in the hay as it was removed from the barn. To save the barn a rural fire truck was called to keep the hay wet down.

The secret of good grasshopper control is putting the insecticide, either chlordane or toxaphene, in places where it will kill the most hoppers—along field margins, ditch banks, roadsides and other places where the hoppers are found hatching.

Demand for Nursing Service

This is a big country and, compared to most others, a very healthy country, and yet every two seconds someone enters a hospital and increases the demand for nursing service. That's why it's so important to bring about improvement in nurses' working conditions and wages, says American Nurses' association, in order that more qualified personnel may enter the profession.

STATE BULLETIN AIDS PLANNERS

Ten Purdue University staff members are the co-authors of the bulletin, "Indiana, The Land and the People." The publication which points out the state's resources and possibilities, is designed primarily to guide those who plan agricultural programs.

Contents of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin are such that civic groups also could glean valuable information from it. Resources of each community and district are discussed, as well as state resources.

As an example, the bulletin points out that local markets in the state often need products that are now imported but that could be supplied by surrounding farms and nearby industries. City planners could learn of industries that might be attracted to their particular Hoosier community.

Farm organizations might study the publication to determine if farmers in their neighborhoods could profitably switch to certain other adaptable crops. Managers of banks and loan agencies also may find material in the bulletin of interest.

"Indiana, The Land and the People," Station bulletin 496, is available through county agents' offices. Copies also can be obtained by writing the station mailing room, Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

MRS. NELLANS ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Frank Nellans entertained the Country Neighbors Home Economics club Thursday afternoon in her new home.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president Mrs. Martin Notz. The group gave the pledge to the flag and repeated the club creed. Roll call was answered by "How do I get rid of the blues."

Mrs. Wilbert Utter was appointed to help make 4-H Fair plans.

The project lesson was textile painting. Mrs. Carl Zolman demonstrated stencil cutting.

Several sunshine gifts were received. Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer conducted the auction. Mrs. Talfred Richardson and Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer had charge of the entertainment.

Mrs. Glen Law assisted Mrs. Nellans in serving dainty refreshments to twenty-three members, two former members, Mrs. Frank Newton and Mrs. Delois White of Kokomo, Isabelle Welsweaver of Ft. Knox, Ky. and a number of children.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allen Herendeen.

4-H BUILDING DAIRY HERDS

Production of milk for human consumption is one of the oldest farm enterprises. Yet today—because of modern/scientific research and invention—it is one of the newest and biggest of all agricultural activities. There are some 27 million dairy cows in the nation. One of the objectives of the National 4-H Dairy Production program is the building of a successful dairy herd from an original investment in a 4-H Club calf.

Guided by county agents and local 4-H Club leaders, more than 3,900 Indiana boys and girls are participating in the "learn by doing" 1949 project. They acquire know-how to grow fine pastures, build healthy herds and produce good, clean, wholesome milk. Not content to stop there, these future dairymen pass along their knowledge to community by demonstrating at clubs and meetings, procedures such as "Dairy Cattle Management," Care and Handling of Milk" and "Dairy Problems on the farm." Floyd Riggs, Evansville, won 1948 national honors.

To further encourage 4-H'ers in this endeavor, the Kraft Foods company for over a decade has donated awards for outstanding records. This year there is a gold-filled medal for first place county winner, and a sterling silver one for second place. Eight $25 U. S. savings bonds will be presented to state winners, while all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will be arranged for 10 sectional champions. From this sectional group, six will be chosen to receive a $300 national agricultural college scholarship.

The 1948 state winners were: Mary Walker, Sheridan; Richard Anderson, Lafayette; Barton Branstetter, Darlington; Loren Michel, Columbia City; Walter Ross, Lebanon; Betty Hanauer Fort Wayne; Martha Canary, Franklin; Effie Bottema, Indianapolis. The Cooperative Extension Service supervises the program.

Tellica Volcano

Tellica, one of the oldest volcanoes in Nicaragua, is 3,500 feet high. It erupted recently and covered nearby cities with volcanic dust.

API AUTHORITY SAYS 1,000-MILE CHANGE NECESSARY

The modern model car needs more motor oil-pampering than did its rattling, slow-paced ancestors. For today's low slung speedster, the 1,000-mile motor oil change interval is a necessity.

The lubricating committee of the American Petroleum Institute proved this fact after exhaustive laboratory tests. They found that current-trends in automotive designs have made 1,000-mile change more imperative rather than less important. The greater power, higher temperatures, pressures and speeds of the modern car have vastly increased demands upon today's lubricating oils. Abrasive dusts drawn into the oil stream from the outside exert a more destructive effect on the precision-machined parts of modern cars than on earlier models.

Dayton P. Clark, chairman of the API lubricating committee, reports, "When the oil-drain interval was extended to 2,000 miles, as recently advocated by some government sources to conserve oil, the carbon and fuel soot in the oil increased 75 per cent, road dirt and metal particles increased 45 per cent and oxidized oil and fuel increased 40 per cent.

"When the oil-change interval was extended to 4,000 miles, carbon and fuel soot increased 158 per cent, road and metal particles went up 125 per cent and oxidized oil and fuel increased 195 per cent."

Manufacturers' recommendations for extended periods between drains usually apply only to ideal circumstances, not the average driving conditions experienced by most motorists.

INITIATE OFFICERS

A business meeting of the Mentone Legion Auxiliary was held Monday evening at the Legion Home.

During the business meeting all were asked to pay their dues now if they wished to be an Early Bird member. A report of the District meeting held at Warsaw was given by Laverne Clutter and Bernice Jones. The meeting closed by singing "America."

A very impressive initiation service was conducted by our out-going president Nell Reed at which time the following officers were installed: President, Juanita Paulus; 1st vice-president, Vadis Ward; 2nd vice-president, Georgia Cochran; secretary, Mary Ann Stanford; treasures, Arvilla VanGilder; chaplain, Ethel Wagner; sgt. of arms, Helen Mollenhour; historian, Blanche Paulus; members at large, Opal Nellans, Phyllis Williamson, Lola Wallace, Nettie Ernsberger, a past president of the unit, presented Nell Reed with a past president pin a gift from the unit. Musical numbers used were: a and Mary Davis and "The Quilting vocal duet 'Juanita' by Bernice Jones Party" sung in unison.

All enjoyed the following program: a paper "Independence Day" by Arvilla VanGilder and a "Radio Quiz"; after which delicious refreshments were served. The newly elected officers served as the program refreshment committee.

PRIMITIVE SHADES PARK

For many years beautiful Shades State Park has offered rest and recreation in true Hoosier style.

It is comprised of 1,450 acres of scenic virgin timber placed with well-marked trails. Hundreds of acres are exactly as they were when in 1826 pioneers of the vicinity settled thereabout. State Road 234 leads directly to it.

Shades Inn, nestled among giants of the forest which have made the park famous throughout the United States, has ample accommodations for a large number of guests. According to Robert E. Hunt manager, quite a number of pleasant rooms are available now for reservations for the balance of the summer season.

From June until September, the Indiana Department of Conservation, has on duty at Shades a resident naturalist who conducts a number of interesting hikes on scheduled dates. Hayrides, moonlight hikes, song fests, folk dances, early morning Bird hikes and illustrated colored slides on wild life and points of interest are a part of the recreational features offered.

Utilizing the Shark

From sharks liver comes vitamin A for fortifying poultry and dairy feeds. Much of the rest of the shark goes into fish meal and fertilizer. One large company now maintains a fleet of shark fishing boats, and its shark industries division is a primary supplier of vitamin A concentrates for the food, feed and pharmaceutical fields.

LEADER SCHOOL AT PURDUE U.

The 21st annual Rural Leadership School to be held at Purdue University July 11 to 15 will combine class room sessions and daily forums. Dr. J. E. Losey, agricultural sociologist, who is in charge of the school, expects approximately 75 persons to attend.

Special emphasis will be given to subjects most in demand in previous schools and those stressed in the recommendations of the enrollees of the 1948 school.

Registration will begin on Monday, July 11 at 7:30 a. m. (CST). At the opening session in the afternoon, M. J. Briggs, Indianapolis, manager of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative, will speak on Cooperatives. Miss Eva Goble, state home demonstration leader, will give a "Living with the Land" first evening session.

Various phases of three general topics will be discussed on each of the four following mornings. Leaders and their topics are: Dr. J. R. Leevy, Purdue sociologist, "Social and Community Surveys;" Dr. E. L. Butz, head of the department of agricultural economics, "The Economics of Community Life," and Dr. H. E. Smith, extension sociologist, "Stimulating Community Action."

The theme of the afternoon forums will be, "The Community and Its Institutions." Speakers and their topics will be: Rev. G. W. Wise, French Lick, "The Church, Tuesday; Deane E. Walker, state department of public instruction, "The School," Wednesday, and V. M. McClintic, Monticello, editor and publisher, "The Press," Thursday.

Evening programs will include Prof. R. B. Hull, extension landscape architect, "Community Conservation," and Prof. F. N. Demaree, extension agricultural economist, "Farm Management."

H. Clay Tate, editor of the Bloomington, Ill., Pantagraph, will be the principal speaker at the banquet on Thursday evening which will close the conference.

POULTRY, EGGS AND CREAM

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

If the success of a fishing season can be measured by the number of participants, 1949 unquestionably will be the most successful fishing season ever. Every stream and lake I have visited, with the exception of a few of off-the-way bodies of water in Canada, literally has been crowded with anglers. But not once have I heard a complaint from the fishermen about the crowds.

On the opening day of the trout season in a state I normally visit each summer, I counted 112 fly fishermen in a stretch of water no longer than a quarter of a mile. In previous years this particular stretch of stream had been an excellent trout producer and it was not uncommon on opening day to see a dozen or so fishermen—but this year there were 112.

I opened the bass season in another state on a lake of some two miles in length and a half a mile or so across.

I didn't count all the boats and shore fishermen, but I'll wager there were at least four times as many fishermen as last season on the initial day of the season.

On the trout stream and bass lake, the fishermen were taking fish—not as large as normally but fish that would look mighty good sizzling in the old frying pan.

These "crowded" conditions are worrying some of the fish experts. And probably rightly so, for it is almost an impossible task keeping waters productive under such tremendous pressure.

I don't believe, however, that it is anything to worry about. First, the fellow who goes fishing, finds the stream or lake crowded and doesn't like it can hang up his rod and quit the sport. He can take up golf or horseshoes pitching.

But the fellow who truly loves the sport of fishing will accept the crowded conditions as a challenge—a challenge to try to outwit the finny gamblers that are having more than twice the number of artificial lures or live bait tossed their way. A fisherman will have far more to brag about with one nice fish taken under these adverse conditions than a boat load of lunkers hauled from a virgin lake filled with fish.

Actually, it boils down to the sport of fishing vs. fishing for meat. And, unquestionably, fishing for meat is a thing of the past, but fishing for sport is becoming more tempting all the time. For a change, the odds are stacked in favor of the fish—and that's good, I think!

DID YOU KNOW?

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

"Every patron at a swimming pool has the right and should be able to enjoy the privilege of swimming in drinking water," George Fassnacht, Sanitary Engineering Division, Indiana State Board of Health, said today in commenting on the facilities of the 180 artificial swimming pools located in Indiana.

"However, the condition of the pool depends upon the cooperation of the patrons as well as upon the management. Many pools are contaminated unnecessarily because bathers fail to use proper sanitary facilities and showers.

"While the Indiana State Board of Health supervises the operation of these pools, it is impossible to give them an unqualified rating for the season," Mr. Fassnacht pointed out. "Engineers from the branch offices inspect the pools and analyses of the pool waters are run weekly by the Bureau of Laboratories, but the quality of the pool water, can vary from day to day depending upon local operation.

"The pool is probably in a safe and satisfactory condition if the water is clear enough to permit the bottom of the pool to be distinctly seen and if it contains at least 0.5 parts per million of free residual chlorine. The amount of chlorine in the pool water should be measured at frequent intervals and entered on the log sheet kept by the pool operators."

Farmers planting corn on the contour are urged to enter the contour division of the Five-Acre contest. The slope of the land must be two percent or more. The yields will be measured as a part of the Five-Acre check-up. A trophy will be given by the personnel of the Soil Conservation Service to the producer of the highest yield of corn grown on the contour. Entries are made at the county agent's office.

CARE WILL SAVE GRAIN

Operators of Indiana's approximately 20,000 combines will obtain the best returns by keeping the machines in good adjustment and knowing the best harvesting time and threshing peculiarities of each crop.

A guide to trouble shooting is found in the manufacturer's handbook where a list is given of possible difficulties and their causes.

R. M. Lien, Purdue University agricultural engineer, suggests that before new machines are taken into the field they be checked as follows: all bolts and nuts are tight, tools are not left on the platform or on the machine, the cylinder is turned by hand to make certain that it is free, installation of all chains and bolts is right, lubrication has been according to instructions, and the combine is not subjected to a working load until run for several hours. The operator first "breaks in" the engine and then the combine by running at half speed for about an hour followed by full speed for another hour.

The Purdue man advises that grain losses could be greatly decreased by efficient operation of the combine. Cutter bar losses may result from the grain being too ripe, the sickle or knife being worn out of register, or the reel improperly set. The reel is correctly set when slats are six to ten inches above and slightly ahead of the sickle depending upon harvest conditions. It must also be set in relation to ground speed.

Cylinder losses may be attributed to either too much or too close clearance, too slow or too fast cylinder speed. If so the grain may crack, allow the heads to pass through unthreshed or result in bad teeth or worn rasps.

Too much chaff or unthreshed heads call for checking cylinder adjustments. The chaffer may be overloaded or the set be incorrect of the chaffer and sieves, or the wind blasts. When the hitch is set right to keep the combine running level, the material will move through the combine at a uniform speed.

A lower gear should be used rather than the throttle when decreasing the ground speed.

TEXT ON SOIL- LESS CULTURE

The steadily increasing number of inquiries regarding soil-less water culture of plants not only from the United States but from foreign countries also, has resulted in the publication of a circular, "Nutriculture." The circular, published by the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, describes the problem from the commercial standpoint.

Formulas for nutrient solutions and lists of the ingredients used in the solutions make up much of the circular. Both chemical and popular names of ingredients are given.

Construction of beds, irrigation of plants, location of water pumps in relation to plant beds, liquid, sand and large aggregate culture are also discussed.

Since tolerances of the different nutrients necessary to plant growth in liquid and aggregate culture or nutriculture are somewhat close, testing of both plant tissue and the solution is recommended. Correct proportions of plant nutrient material insures efficient growth of plants. The nutriculture circular contains the important steps of the tests.

Copies of the nutriculture circular may be obtained free from county agents or the Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Removing Fish Odors

To remove fish or onion odors from pans, wash the pan with soapy water to which two tablespoons of vinegar have been added.

INDIANA LIMESTONE

Numerous inquiries are being received by the department of agronomy at Purdue University in regard to the magnesium and calcium carbonate content of Indiana limestone. The agronomy circular AY 23a, gives results of determinations made on samples submitted for testing by PMA. At present the department has no experimental evidence showing any advantage of dolomitic over straight calcium stone. The need for magnesium may appear in the future. Copies of the circular are available from the department of agronomy.

Vernon is not so well at this writing as he is suffering with pleurisy. He wishes to thank Bernard Black and C. O. Mollenhour for the blue-guns which were a real treat.

FRANKLIN 49'ers MEET

Eleven members of the Franklin 49'ers 4-H Club responded to role call Wednesday, June 29, at their meeting at Pat Ballengers' home.

Pat Ballenger read a discussion of clothing, in which all clothing project members took part.

It was decided by the club that Doris Creakbaum and Elener Norris would represent the club at the county demonstration contest on July 7.

A demonstration, "Clothes Suitable For Your Figure," was given by Doris Creakbaum. Other demonstrations given were, "Making Lemonade," by Ruth Golden, and Noreen Bibler, and "Pear Salads," by Elener Norris.

The mystery box was won by a guest, Cora Lynn Fenstermaker.

Games were led by Sandra Ballenger.

Refreshments were served by Ruth Golden and Barbara Kesler.

ALL-NEGRO LEGION POST CONDEMNNS ROBESON WORDS

Seattle, Wash. — Paul Robeson's statement at a pro-Communist rally in Paris, France, that the American Negro would not fight for the United States in another war, was given the lie by the Puget Sound Post 221, a colored Legion post here.

The local post adopted a resolution condemning the famous singer's attempt "to lead the world to believe that the American Negro's political beliefs are the same as Robeson's."
