MRS. JESTENA TAYLOR DIES; FUNERAL HELD WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Jestena Taylor, 78, died at 10 a. m. Monday at her home here, where she had been in ill health for the past year from Bright's disease. Mrs. Taylor was born in Fulton county, near Mentone, August 12, 1869, the daughter of Isaac Coplen and Sarah Severns Coplen and had resided her entire lifetime in the vicinity of Mentone. November 10, 1894, she was united in marriage to Charles Taylor, who preceded her in death 21 years ago.

Surviving relatives include two sons, Verle Taylor, southeast of Warsaw, and Delbert Taylor, at home; two daughters, Ima Taylor, at home, and Mrs. Ila Elkins of Plymouth; eight grandchildren and one great grandchild. One son and one daughter preceded their mother in death.

Funeral services were held at the Johns funeral home Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Silas Hill officiating. Burial was made in the Sycamore cemetery.

SKRU - BALL MARCH 11

Skr-Ball is something new — and many of us have been wondering just what. We can all find out on March 11 when the Mentone Lions club and the Claypool Lions tangle at the Mentone community building.

There are to be two games — one of basketball and one of hockey—with the Mentone and Claypool girls performing in one of them.

By actual guess, Skru-Ball is an outgrowth of donkey basketball and incorporates as many thrills and spills without the barnyard smell or the stubbornness of the mountain canaries. The games are played on three-wheeled vehicles, made from bicycles. One player maneuvers the vehicle while another on a front platform does the playing.

The admission charge will be 50c for adults and 35c for those under 12, tax included, and the net proceeds are to be used for improvements at Veterans' Park.

Make plans to attend these games.

NEW SON ARRIVES

A son, Teddy Ray, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shoemaker Tuesday morning at McDonald hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shinn and "Teddy" Shoemaker are the grandparents.

BUSINESSMEN HEAR SCHOOL OFFICIAL SPEAK

A number of Mentone business people, principal Dale Kelley, Trustee Royse Tucker and his advisory board members were present at a meeting held at the Mentone school building Monday evening when Mr. Whitehead, county superintendent of schools, gave a few statistics regarding conditions in the county schools.

All county schools are seemingly facing a rather serious situation in the immediate future. School enrollment has been increasing at an alarming rate and surveys indicate that this increase will continue for at least eight years. The Mentone school can, according to Mr. Kelley, arrange to accommodate next year's increase, by crowding a number of classes into some rooms, but after that it is difficult to say. This condition, as stated above, is general and Mentone is in no different position than other schools, yet, if we are to provide proper facilities for our school children, some relief must be provided.

The Mentone school, in comparison with other county units, is operated very efficiently and the per capita cost of education is very low. Harrison school township, too, has the second highest taxable valuation in the county which would mean that the tax rate per dollar for school construction would be much less than for some of the other county units.

We don't often realize it, but providing proper school facilities requires planning a long way in the future. School teachers cannot be trained in a few months, and buildings cannot be planned, financed and constructed in a few months. If Mentone is interested in maintaining the high caliber of its teaching staff, housing facilities and equipment it will require considerable thought and long-range planning. Last year the Mentone school was given a mighty fine rating by the state school inspectors, which was appreciated by the school officials and patrons.

CHICAGO FIRM SELECTS MENTONE FOR NEW FACTORY

The Muehlhausen Spring Co., of Chicago, has leased the Wayne Nelans modern poultry house, just south of the softball field, where they will install equipment for the manufacture of all types of springs. They also leased the Greulich chicken house for storage purposes and have plans for an option on a piece of ground where they may eventually build a large factory unit.

The Chicago firm has been manufacturing springs for many years, and Robert Riewoldt, of Mentone, who encouraged the group to come to Mentone, worked for them for 17 years.

Part of the machinery is being trucked to Mentone today and they hope to have the production machinery installed ready for operation within three weeks.

Mentone citizens should congratulate Mr. Riewoldt and the Mentone Merchants' Association for their part in bringing this plant to our city.

PARTY AT LEGION HOME

The Mentone Legion Post was host to about sixty guests Saturday evening, February 28, from 5:00 until 12.

The main event of the evening was a fish dinner prepared and served by Chauncey Mollenhour, Lindus Latimer, Leo Valentine, and Morris Fawley, and several Legionnaire assistants.

Several Legion members brought guests of their own to the open house affair, so about 300, including the men, ladies and children, enjoyed the dinner and the music by the Smythe Brothers.

Many out of town guests were present from other Legion posts and auxiliaries.

SUE ELLEN JENNINGS DIES AT ROCHESTER HOSPITAL

Funeral services for Sue Ellen Jennings, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Just Jennings of Tippecanoe, were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Bourbon Evangelical United Brethren church, of which she was a member. Rev. Paul Duker officiated and burial was in the Stony Point cemetery. The Robbins funeral chapel at Bourbon was in charge of arrangements.

Miss Jennings died at 8:40 p. m. Saturday at the Woodlawn hospital in Rochester, following a serious illness of a week due to heart ailment.

She was born November 10, 1929, at Plymouth, and was an active member of the Tippecanoe 4-H club and a member of the Junior class.

Surviving relatives include her parents, a brother, John E. Jennings, at home, and her grandfathers, Edward Jennings and William Yockey, all of the Tippecanoe community.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING AT PLYMOUTH CLUB SUNDAY

A number of Mentone people went to Plymouth Sunday to attend the Golden Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Weissert. The affair was held in the Conservation Club and was a lovely affair.

The Weisserts left Mentone about ten years ago, having lived on a farm just north of town for a number of years, and in town for several years. Mr. Weissert served on the town board at one time.

The Weisserts have two sons: Howard, of Mishawaka, and Charles, of South Bend.

Those from here who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leininger, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Whetstone, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Mentzer, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eber, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Johns, Mrs. Tom Haimbaugh, and Conda Walburn. Several were unable to attend.

HAVE NEW SON

A son, Kent Allen, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kay Paulus at the Lutheran hospital last Friday, February 27. He weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces.

person had snared at least 20 drivers obviously physically unfit to operate a car. Under the old system, he pointed out, renewal applications could be made by mail and the Bureau had no opportunity for even a casual observation of the individual's physical qualifications.

Poor vision is the commonest handicap, Mr. Bath said, and also the most dangerous one.

The new policy of putting drivers completely on record in a single, modern master filing system, Bureau officials said, also is showing up a number of drivers who are attempting to renew licenses illegally. Most of these are under automatic suspension because of failure to comply with the financial responsibility act after being involved in an accident.

Because of false addresses or changes in address, the Bureau had been unable to confiscate their licenses until they sought renewal.

STATE TO LIBERATE PURCHASED QUAIL IN HOOSIER COUNTIES

Approximately 800 pairs of year-old quail have been purchased by the Indiana Department of Conservation for liberation in the state, it was announced by Director John H. Nigh.

Distribution of these birds, purchased from the Powell Crosley game farm at North Vernon, is expected about the middle of the month.

The birds will be delivered to conservation officers who will release them in desirable locations in their respective counties, according to Donald R. Hughes, state Fish and Game Director.

The state buys and distributes quail each year with money appropriated for this purpose by the Indiana General Assembly. It is stipulated, however, that these birds must be purchased from an Indiana dealer.

Hughes said the Crosley farm is the only place in the state where quail can now be bought, and the Fish and Game division procured all the available birds there this year. The quail were purchased at $7.50 per pair.

CAN NOW CHECK ON ALL SUSPENDED DRIVER LICENSES

Police departments and sheriffs soon will begin receiving lists of motorists whose drivers' licenses have been revoked or suspended, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles has announced.

At the same time the Bureau will furnish law enforcement agencies with up-to-date records on drivers who have been denied renewal of their licenses under the state's new licensing program. Secretary of State Thomas E. Bath, Vehicle Commissioner, said 700 Hoosiers already have been denied new licenses as the Bureau closes in to remove unsafe drivers from the highways.

By keeping their local driver files current, Mr. Bath said, enforcement agencies will be able to remove illegal drivers from the highways speedily without having to check with the Bureau. In the past, drivers have frequently been able to beat suspensions or revocations of their drivers' licenses by obtaining new licenses or even driving without licenses because local authorities were unaware of the suspensions.

H. Dale Brown, Bureau Director, said the policy of requiring that all drivers' license applications be made in

DUCK STAMP SALES REACH ALL TIME HIGH

(By Jim Mitchell)

Most everyone interested in duck and goose hunting has realized that the hunting pressure—at least in numbers of hunters—on waterfowl has climbed rapidly in the last few years. Now it is official. Figures just released by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service show the sale of "duck stamps" for the last fiscal year reached an all-time high of 2,016,819. This is an increase of 291,314 over the previous year. And it is in sharp contrast to the 635,001 duck stamps sold in the fiscal year 1935, when the stamps were first required for waterfowl gunning.

A few of these stamps were purchased by stamp collectors—the post office department's philatelic agency reported a sale of 10,909 last year—but by and large most of the purchasers were in the marshes and on the lakes and rivers trying for the mallards and bluebills.

And what about the waterfowl supply? Official figures are not available as yet, but reports reaching this writer indicate a wide difference in opinions. In Illinois, about the same number of ducks as the previous year! A friend in Mississippi says he saw more ducks and geese than at any time in the last decade. In the East and West reports vary as much, so we'll wait official tabulations before getting involved in an argument.

Sales of "duck stamps" through post offices last year in Indiana was 35,409.

Flying Lizards of Malay

The flying lizards of the Malayan region have a fold of skin along the sides of the body which enables them to make gliding flights from tree to tree. These "wings" are often so gorgeously colored that the animals in flight resemble gaily colored butterflies, but the body is usually of a sober hue and when the wings are folded, the change is so abrupt that the animal itself seems to disappear.

FIVE MILLION TREES SOLD BY INDIANA FORESTRY DIVISION

Orders for seedling trees from the Forestry Division of the Indiana Department of Conservation continued pouring in this week as the March 25 deadline nears.

To date nearly five million trees have been ordered by Hoosier landowners and Ralph F. Wilcox, state forester, urged interested persons to "file orders with the Forestry Division, 413 State Library Building, Indianapolis, Indiana, as soon as possible in order to be assured delivery."

According to Mr. Wilcox, last year's mark of five million seedlings will be surpassed if orders continue coming in at the present rate. Supplies of many of the most common varieties of seedlings have now been exhausted, but there are still available large numbers of black locust, walnut, shortleaf pine and Virginia pine seedlings as well as white pine transplants.

Mr. Wilcox points out that "The annual sale of seedlings by the division of forestry is a part of the program set up to encourage farmers and other landowners to practice flood control, check erosion and use trees as wind-breaks . . . and it enables them to do these things with the least possible expense."

Farmer Turns "Water Faucet" Grows 163 Bushels of Corn

Fort Morgan, Colo. (Special)—Last summer, when drouth gripped the cornfields of the Nation, Harold Lenhardt, who farms 80 acres near here, turned on the "water faucet" and produced a record-breaking corn yield of 163.8 bushels per acre. His yield won the 1947 National DeKalb Corn Growing Championship, and the Colorado State Championship. "Faucet farmer" Lenhardt farms by irrigation with water from the huge South Platte Valley irrigation system. In addition, he has a 135 foot well for emergency use.

Second and third place winners in the DeKalb Corn Contest were also Colorado irrigation farmers. John and Edwin Frieauf of Brush, Colo. (above left), grew 161.6 bushels per acre for second place in the Nation, and W. E. Ambrose (shown with wife), a 75-year old farmer from Fort Morgan, Colo., took third with 150.3 bushels per acre.

WINS INDIANA CHAMPIONSHIP

Ripley County farmer, I. A. Whitlatch, won the 1947 Indiana DeKalb Corn Growing Contest with an official yield of 128.8 bushels per acre, on his selected 5-acre contest plot. Whitlatch plowed under manure and commercial fertilizers in the spring, disked three times, and drilled his corn in 38 inch rows on June 13. A well-planned rotation is an important part of his cropping program. All yields in the DeKalb Contest were made on selected 5-acre contest plots.

STATE'S WELCOME ISN'T HEARTY TO THE SOUTHERN RACCOON

The release of southern raccoon in this state is detrimental to coon hunting here, according to information received by Indiana Department of Conservation officials.

It is pointed out by Donald Hughes, director of the department's Division of Fish and Game, that the policy of bringing these animals from warmer climates will not have a beneficial effect on Indiana "ringtails."

'Raccoons purchased from Florida and other similar locations by Hoosier coon hunting clubs will not be able to get along very well under climatic conditions in our state," Hughes said.

Declaring that fur buyers refer to pelts taken from these southern introductions as "paper skinned," Hughes added that inbreeding with native stock will produce an inferior strain.

With our present satisfactory population of these animals, any additional number liberated in Indiana will do little to improve night coon hunting, according to the state's Fish and Game director.

To all who mourn and need comfort, to all who are tired and need rest, to all who are friendless and

AND THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE!

2. Infant baptism is a remembrancer of important duties, and an encouragement of their performance.

A. The ordinance is inseparably connected, and all Christian parents ought so to regard it, with the incumbent duty of bringing up their children for God. For what does the very institution of infant consecration, whether by circumcision or by baptism, prove? It proves that we are not left to choose whether our children shall be religious or not. That they are to be so is a ruled case; since, in their earliest days, the True God claims their services, and in token thereof puts the sacred mark of His covenant upon them. When the child arrives at years of discretion, the very first thing in which it should be instructed is the duty and privilege connected with this covenant transaction.

b. The ordinance is inseparably connected with an obligation imposed upon the Church of caring for those who are thus brought within its pale. Baptized children are entitled to the offices and assistances of the Church, to official instruction and oversight, until they are fitted, by personal repentance and faith, for the privileges of its full and complete membership. All young ought thus to grow up within the precincts of the Church, under her protecting and sheltering wing. It has been decided in heaven, and by the Church, that they shall be consecrated servants of God. And a very serious obligation now devolves upon the Church, as well as upon the parents, to give fulfillment and consummation to the design thus begun in baptism, by bringing the children to a sincere and intelligent consecration of their service to the Lord.

Arguments only create friction rather than love and understanding. No one was ever argued into being a Christian. Only by Christ-like example can people be won to a Saviour who can settle the storms of troubled hearts rather than create new tempests. What the people of this community need is more emphasis upon the great truths of the Christian faith rather than increased attention to the differences of opinion. Some of the great basic truths upon which all Christians can unite are faith in God, faith in Jesus Christ, faith in the power of the Holy Spirit, faith in the effective power of prayer, faith in a future life with God, belief in the Bible as being the rule of faith and conduct, the singing of the same hymns, the belief that men not only can be but must be reborn and become new creatures in Christ Jesus, the faith that there is grace to meet every need, the brotherhood of all mankind, the final triumph of the righteous, belief in the kingdom of God... these are the great fundamental truths upon which Christians agree and can have loving fellowship. To drag out and constantly parade the oddities, the quirks, and the differences inside Christianity is to defeat our cause and open the cause of Christ to open ridicule. The world is dying for a saviour. It will be Christ or chaos. We choose Christ and extend the welcome hand of fellowship to all those, even though there be small points of difference, who will follow in his train.

COMING TO CHRIST

How can we come to Jesus? He said: "No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day." (John 6:44). That settles it. We cannot come to Jesus unless God draws us to him. Now, how does he do this? Jesus said: "It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me." John 6:45). No coming without learning, and no learning without hearing. We must hear the gospel of Christ. We hear, learn and come. Babies cannot hear, learn nor come. People who are not responsible for their actions can't hear, learn nor come. Boys and girls who have reached the age of responsibility can hear, and learn, and come to Christ. Responsible men and women can hear, learn and come. It is not hard to learn that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. In fact, it would be impossible for an honest heart to read carefully and intelligently the first four books of the New Testament without being convinced that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. After learning this, we are told to repent of our sins and then be buried by baptism for the remission of our sins. (Mark 16:16; Acts 2:37; Rom. 6:3-5; Acts 22:16.) Isn't that easily understood? God's Book is plain and reasonable.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH*RABIES

Indiana had more cases of rabies in animals in 1947 than the preceding year and one death occurred in a fifteen year old boy, according to figures released by the Indiana State Board of Health.

"From the present trend, 1948 will have more cases of rabies than 1947," it was pointed out by Dr. Raymon Fagan, veterinary epidemiologist, Indiana State Board of Health. "Rabies is wide-spread throughout Indiana with certain areas more involved than others. The counties most affected so far this year are Marion, Lake, Elkhart, and Bartholomew.

"Rabies, which is spread by dogs and other animals to man, causes an annual loss of $5,000,000 and results in anxiety and worry among approximately 475,000 people who are bitten each year," Dr. Fagan said. "England, Scandinavia, New England and Canada have eradicated the disease. Communities in Indiana can do the same."

"The best protection against rabies is the controlling of the number of stray, homeless dogs in the community. The dog-owning public should support the agencies of the community charged with dog control. And if the dog is over six months of age, it should be vaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian. Such vaccination will give very good protection for a year.

Colonel Rossow announced that the department will continue to train city and county police in chemical tests for intoxication techniques as a means of combatting drunken driving. Limited classes will be held on request at state police headquarters.

Subjects in the current retraining course include accident and criminal investigation, traffic patrol techniques, communications, case preparation, criminal and traffic law, and jurisdiction of federal enforcement agencies.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Recently we saw a letter from Charlie Gillham, veteran outdoor writer and an authority on Alaska, which made us sit up and wonder just where we are heading from a conservation standpoint. Most of us always have considered Alaska a sportsman's Utopia, with unlimited game and fish, so it is a little hard to take Charlie's report on big game.

In part, his letter read: Dall sheep are down 20 percent from their former abundance in Kenai district. In the Endicott and Brooks ranges 50,000 to 75,000 of them are making their last stand against the onrushing civilization.

Caribou, often spoken of as the "staff of life" in Alaska, are on their way out. Moose, however, probably are on the increase. This was encouraging until Charlie showed the reason. Forest fires and burnings along the Alaska railway have contributed to a change in the flora and new deciduous plants have supplanted the conifers and the moss. This has increased browse and moose food, so, naturally, the moose are making a comeback.

We were surprised to learn, also, that only eight men are available for enforcing the game regulations in Alaska—a territory of 590,000 square miles or about one-fifth the size of the United States.

Steps to protect this "last frontier" of the United States should be taken now, so a "repeat performance" of what has happened in the States will not be staged in Alaska.

FACTS 'N' FIGURES: Minnesota fishery experts have added another feather in their collective cap by raising nearly 23,000 northern pike fingerlings about three inches long, from fry in five weeks. Because of their cannibalistic nature, it has proved virtually impossible to raise them in hatcheries. But it CAN be done as this experiment at Straight Lake proves. These fingerlings now are in some of the Gopher state's lakes growing up to sizes to tempt the pike fishermen.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP: With many of us thinking about the spring fishing, it might be well to consider a few of the cardinal rules of good sportsmanship on streams and lakes. First, never wade into a hole in a stream where some angler is already fishing. This also fits a lake, whether fishing from the shore or from a boat. And never ask another fisherman to disclose a "favorite" spot where he has made successful catches. It just isn't done under the rules. If he wants to tell you, he'll do it without your questioning him. And, above all else, abide by the regulations governing the waters you are fishing. There's no surer way to show poor sportsmanship than by being a fish hog.

TREES ESTABLISH COVER ON NON-FARMING LAND

Selecting the right species is important in successful reforestation of "non-agricultural" land, according to Prof. Daniel DenUyl of the Purdue University department of forestry in his new bulletin, "Forest Plantations," prepared for the use of those interested in the reforestation of Indiana's non-agricultural land.

"Experimental evidence points toward the conclusion that tree planting on non-agricultural lands will be most successful if certain species of pines are used," the bulletin reports.

At the present time, five species of pine—red, white, jack, Virginia and shortleaf—are the best species to plant for reforestation purposes in Indiana. They will grow on nearly all soils, sites and exposures.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained from any county agricultural agent or from the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

For controlling soil erosion, the author recommends Virginia pine, shortleaf pine, jack pine and black locust. They provide a quick cover and early protection to the soil. "Soil erosion can be checked in six to eight years by using any or all of the four species."

Planting recommendations of the bulletin include spacing of trees at the time of planting not closer than six feet by six feet, requiring approximately 1200 trees per acre. The bulletin also advises that hardwoods, excepting black locust, are not suitable for reforestation purposes since they require better site conditions than are found on the worn-out, eroded soils.

The bulletin includes information on the history of reforestation, reforestation practices, species of trees for reforestation, hardwoods in reforestation, fertilizing planted trees, reforestation of spoil banks, and factors influencing forest plantations.

HOWDY, FOLKS. Have you heard the one about the hired man who lit a lantern and went to see his best girl?

The gal's pa told the hired man that he didn't use a lantern when he was courtin' the gal's ma.

"Yeah," says the hired man, "and look what you got!"

A city dude came over for some rabbit hunting a while ago all dressed up in a fancy corduroy suit, fancy cap and leggings, and hired little Willie Brown as a guide and carry-all.

While they were hunting a big rabbit jumped out of a thicket, looked at the city fellow, and dropped dead.

"What happened to it?" asked the city man.

"Laughed himself to death," said Willie.

EARLY CHICKS HELP

MAKE HIGH PROFITS

Farmers who are reluctant to place orders for baby chicks early this spring are overlooking the opportunity to make good profits from their flocks from September through November, Joe Sicer, Purdue University extension poultry man says. It is still the early chick, plus good management, that puts the figures in the profits side of the ledger.

There is no magic way to shorten the necessary growing period of six or seven months, if chicks are purchased later in the spring. A heavy lay, early in the fall, when egg prices are favorable to the poultry industry, is essential for high returns.

If either light or heavy breeds are to be raised, they should be purchased before the latter part of March, as May or June purchased chicks in all likelihood, will not be as profitable.

Early spring appears to be the ideal growing time for young chicks. They usually grow faster. Cool weather is not as favorable for disease as the hotter days and in addition the early cockerels are ready for market before the large crop of later hatched farm-raised fryers lower the market for the young chickens.

Buying started chicks later in the spring in the hope of making up for chicks not bought early, may have some drawbacks. There is the risk that the chicks have been exposed to many of the poultry diseases which will in this way be brought onto the farm. In addition, many flock owners have trouble in getting started chicks to eat and drink when they are brought home.

Should 1948 prove to be early spring, it will be even more important to the farmer to have the job of starting the chicks behind him.

Many Plywood Uses

Plywood, because it is real wood, has good insulating qualities. It is also an excellent base for linoleum. Floor-to-ceiling hall closets for linen can be made easily with plywood panels. Another use is for subflooring. Builders report a time saving of more than 50 per cent when big panels of plywood are laid for subflooring rather than other material.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION NEWS

For some time there has been some thought among a number of parents that a Parent-Teachers Association should be organized in our community.

Mrs. Harold Markley, who has taken the initiative in getting information about the P. T. A., handed us a leaflet which gives a number of pointed paragraphs on the benefits of such an organization. As soon as other material arrives, we plan to run some articles which will make clear many important facts which go to make a successful P. T. A.

All who are interested in seeing a P. T. A. organized in our community should contact Mrs. Harold Markley.

Following are some of the paragraphs from the leaflet sent out by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers:

Child welfare is the goal of the P.T.A. It is also the goal of all parents everywhere. By joining an organized P.T.A. group, parents multiply a thousandfold the effect of what they do in behalf of their own children.

"The P.T.A. provides a unique opportunity for a child's parents to share his school life—to know his teachers and to become familiar with methods and activities used in the classroom.

"In the P.T.A. parents and teachers work together to build a mutual understanding of the problems of home and school.

"The P.T.A. helps its members, as interested taxpayers and loyal supporters of the school, to keep abreast of changes in the school's curriculum, to know and understand its personnel policies, to secure information about its financial needs, and to study the laws that govern public education.

"The P.T.A. sponsors study courses and programs in parent education that make available the best current material on child care and development, home and family life, citizenship, community betterment, and home-school cooperation.

"Parents who realize that a good home is an essential but only a part of their children's environment will find that P.T.A. membership places them in the vanguard of all groups acting for community betterment.

"The P.T.A. is one organization that has no axe to grind. Represented in it are the fathers and mothers of millions of American children. These men and women serve their associations without pay and devote themselves wholeheartedly to improving the lot of all children in all the communities of this nation.

MRS. ARVIL W. BLUE DIES AT WARSAW

Mrs. Arvil W. (Fluella) Blue, aged 76 years, who had resided in Kosciusko county practically all of her life, died at 8 a. m. Tuesday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vere Kelley, Warsaw. She had been seriously ill for the past four weeks due to complications.

Mrs. Blue was born July 5, 1871, the daughter of Joshua and Catherine (Hartung) Tucker, who resided on a farm southeast of Burket. She lived in that community until after the death of Mr. Blue, which occurred on Nov. 14, 1928. Their marriage took place Feb. 22, 1895.

The deceased was a member of the Burket Methodist church.

Surviving relatives include two daughters, Mrs. Kelley, at whose home she died, and Mrs. Carl Mahoney, of route 2, Warsaw; a son, Peter A. Blue of Elmwood, Ill.; four brothers, Chas. W. Tucker, of Claypool, Ellis A. Tucker of Burket, Otis C. Tucker of Memphis, Tenn., and Alva E. Tucker, of Detroit, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Edward Kesler and Mrs. A. E. Wertenberger, both of Warsaw; nine grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the Tucker funeral home in Claypool, and interment will be in the Palestine cemetery.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

The Ladies Auxiliary enjoyed a most entertaining program after the business meeting Tuesday evening. The program consisted of three solos by Mrs. Bonnie Whittenberger, accompanied by Maude Snyder.

Leroy Norris gave an interesting talk on the people of the Islands of New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan, and their dress. He showed a large collection of souvenirs, which the group greatly enjoyed seeing.

Refreshments of doughnuts and coffee were served. Mrs. Holloway of Churubusco and Mrs. Dan Smith were guests.

ATTEND COUNTY MEDICAL MEET

Drs. L. H. Davis and Dan L. Urschel of Mentone were in attendance at the regular meeting of the county medical society held at the Camel Club rooms in Warsaw Tuesday evening of last week.

SKRU-BALL GAMES TO BE PLAYED HERE THURSDAY EVE.

Remember the Mentone Lions club plays the Claypool Lions club in one of the Skru-Ball games at the Mentone gym Thursday night, March 11th. The Mentone girls play the Claypool girls in the other game.

Two games are to be played—with the players traveling on three-wheeled bicycles with a front platform for a player, but it hasn't been announced whether the men play basketball and the girls hockey, or vice versa. Come out and find out.

The proceeds of the feature will go for improvements at Veterans' Park.

DIES IN OKLAHOMA

Relatives in this vicinity have been informed of the death of Billy Burns of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where he had been employed in the County Assessor's office for many years. He left here in 1883 and at the time of his death was 78 years old. He was the son of Pearson and Nettie Dunlap Burns.

JOLLY JANES MEET

The Jolly Janes Home Economics Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Rex Tucker, with Mrs. Earl Anderson as co-hostess. "Safety in the garden and lawn" was given by Mrs. Lucille Teel. Mrs. Robert Whetstone gave a very interesting lesson on Planning Meals at Low Cost. The garden meeting report was read by Mrs. Delford Nelson.

Business meeting followed, with 18 members answering "How I Used February 29." It was voted to give $5 to the Red Cross. Auction went to Mrs. Robert Whetstone and Mrs. T. J. Clutter. A seed and bulb exchange was held. The meeting closed with the singing of the club prayer song. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

CLUB CALENDAR

CORRECTION: The Mentone Home Economics Club will meet this Thursday afternoon, March 11, with Mrs. Clotice Paulus.

BURKET FARM INSTITUTE NAMES NEW PRESIDENT

Raymond Longbrake, acting chairman of the Seward township farmers' institute held at the Burket Community hall last week, was elected president for next year during the business session on Wednesday afternoon.

Wilbur McSherry, secretary-treasurer this year, was elected as vice-president and Ronald Richard as secretary-treasurer.

LIBRARY NEWS

Our library news was unintentionally omitted last week. Mrs. George Clark was the story-teller. The first grade students enjoyed her stories about Mother Bear and her two cubs and their adventures in the Green Forest. Mrs. Clark gave a brief description of Brookfield Zoo, in closing.

This week the first grade was entertained by the stories, "The Little Jackal and the Alligator," and "Little Half-Chick," told by Mrs. T. J. Clutter. They enjoyed these stories, too.

Two new books, "Stop Annoying Your Children," and "Tell Me," are fine for parents young and old. The first book deals with problems and the second with questions asked by children.

LOCAL COUPLES CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARIES AS GUESTS ON DINNER BELL PROGRAM

The Wedding March was played again for Mr. and Mrs. Harold McIntyre of Mentone, last Friday when they were guests on the Prairie Farmer WLS Dinner Bell program in Chicago. They were celebrating their sixteenth wedding anniversary, and in keeping with the Dinner Bell program's tradition, Mrs. McIntyre had to ring one of the big dinner bells which begins the noontime program. Arthur C. Page, associate editor of Prairie Farmer, who conducted the oldest continuous farm program, interviewed the couple on the air and extended congratulations.

Also from Mentone were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones, celebrating their 47th wedding anniversary, which occurred March 9, accompanied by their son Devon Jones and his wife, of Claypool, who also had an anniversary to celebrate—their 28th—on March 6.

LARWILL GIRL IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Donna May Clark, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Larwill, was instantly killed at 5:30 Friday evening when the bicycle she was riding was struck by an east-bound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train. The fatal accident occurred at the Main street crossing in Larwill as the girl was riding home on her bicycle.

COLORADO SPRINGS, March 3—
A dozen eggs like one laid by a hen belonging to Anton Nagode, 2117 Cooper Street, wouldn't be a bad bargain even at current high prices.

Nagode's hen, he reported to officials of a feed company whose brand of feed the chicken eats, laid an egg weighing seven ounces and measuring almost nine inches in circumference and nine inches the long way.

VALUE OF HOME ECONOMICS EXTENSION WORK PROVEN

Advantages of home economics extension training, which home makers receive through their home economics club work over the nation, were clearly demonstrated in a recent survey on home management practices made at Michigan State College, reports Miss Eva L. Goble, state leader of home demonstration agents. This survey reveals that home makers with home economics extension experience of 8 years or more rated higher in all the phases of home management which were scored. The home management practices rated were listed as home production, incentives for home management, money management, time and energy management, conservation of goods, and present activities for future development. Women who had received their home economics training as a part of their formal schooling did not score significantly higher than those women who reported no home economics training. However, the combination of extension work and either high school or college training resulted in a score much above average.

The age of the home maker and the years of marriage made difference in their home management habits. The scores grew better steadily from the first years of marriage on up until the 29th year. After thirty years of marriage the score received in these home management practices seemed to drop sharply.

The amount of money the family had to spend and the number and age of children also affected the home management practices of the wife. Those in the lowest economic group received the lowest scores. Families with children under five had somewhat lower scores for home production, conservation of goods, and present activities for future development, than families with older children. The probable reason for this is that home makers with young children are confronted with so many tasks that little time is taken for planning even though such planning would conserve time and energy.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Many of us who live outside New York state think of this state only in terms of big cities and big industries. That is true but, also, it is a "big" playground for sportsmen with good hunting and fishing. We use this state as an example of what can be done in protecting wildlife resources—under smart conservation practices—and in the face of advancing civilization.

The other day we happened across a report showing the record fish taken in New York state, and we were surprised at the size of most of the species. Here are the record holders: muskellunge, 58 pounds, 5 ounces; northern pike, 46 pounds, 2 ounces (national record, also); walleye, 14 pounds; lake trout, 31 pounds; rainbow trout, 21 pounds; brown trout, 19 pounds, 14 ounces; brook trout, 8 pounds, 8 ounces; smallmouth bass, 9 pounds; and largemouth bass, 10 pounds, 6 ounces.

All of these fish, except the lake, brown and brook trout and the smallmouth bass, have been caught since 1940. The prize brookie was taken in 1908, and the lake trout in 1922, the brown trout in 1923 and the nine-pound smallmouth in 1925.

This is all the proof that's needed to show that any state, regardless of population, can offer its residents good fishing. Hunting, too, can be had in all states under good game management as proved by New York.

SHOOTING DEER: How far, would you guess, is the average distance for killing a deer in the United States? It's 113 yards! There is a great difference, however, from state to state, as a recent report by the National Rifle Association shows. Here are some of the figures: Wyoming, 175 yards (the greatest distance reported); Montana, 82 yards; California, 90 yards; Colorado, 165 yards; Maine, 83 yards; Michigan, 81 yards (shortest distance); Minnesota, 101 yards; Texas, 120 yards; Washington, 83 yards.

"LOADED BOW!" We've heard of hunters being arrested and fined for carrying loaded guns in their automobiles, but the "loaded bow" is a new one on us. A Wisconsin archer is reported to have been fined $10 for carrying a strung bow in his car.

Maybe this is a good idea, for we are getting more and more archery enthusiasts every season, and they can take a crack at a deer or some other

SCOUTERS MEET IN CHURCH AT TALMA

Sam Crombie, assistant Scout Executive of the Three Rivers Boy Scout Council, rolled up his shirt sleeves Thursday evening at the Talma Methodist church and prepared a sumptuous spaghetti dinner for the Fulton County Boy Scout committeemen and members at large.

The meeting was divided, with the program division conducting a panel discussion and the administrative division taking care of the other half of the meeting. Mr. Crombie of Winamac and Monticello, newly-appointed assistant Scout executive, had charge of the program division, while Cedric Dunkerly of Logansport headed the administrative session.

Plans were made for a county Court of Honor on March 29, but the place has not been decided.

April 1, at the Baptist church in Rochester, Mr. Dunkerly will conduct a meeting of troop committeemen and commissioners, and on April 12, a first aid contest between the Boy Scout troops of the county will be conducted.

Howard Robbins of Rochester conducted the meeting.

PUBLIC PROGRAM ON HEART DISEASE

Last Wednesday night the Lions club sponsored a program on heart disease. This meeting was held in the high school auditorium and was well attended. The meeting was planned to call attention to the increasing prevalence of heart disease, and to point out the need for research funds to combat such diseases.

Dr. Urschel was assisted in the program by Denton Abbey, Mrs. Urschel, Dale Kelley, and Don Smythe. A March of Time film on heart disease was first shown. Then Dr. Urschel gave a short description of the various types of heart disease, and followed this by a demonstration of the various methods used in the diagnosis of such conditions. Electrocardiograms and x-rays were shown, and records of normal and abnormal heart sounds were played over the sound system. In summary, Dr. Urschel briefly discussed the treatment of heart disease and outlined some of the most pressing needs in cardiac research.

The 1947 Indiana fall pig crop (June to December) was very little larger than last year and practically the same as the ten year average. This was the situation despite the fact that last June, Indiana farmers reported that they expected to have ten percent more sows to farrow in the fall than the year previously.

Farmers indicate that they will have ten percent fewer sows farrowing in the spring of 1948 than last year and three percent less than average.

Horses and colts have shown the greatest decrease in numbers of all livestock on Indiana farms, which is reported down as compared with reports of January, 1947. The equine population today is less than 50 percent of the number owned by Hoosiers ten years ago.

Freezing weather "refrigerated" Indiana's wet corn crop but warmer weather may start spoilage. Where there is hay drying equipment, it can be used to good advantage, say Purdue University agricultural engineers.

DAIRY DAY DISPLAY MARCH 12 AT WARSAW

Seven exhibits, which offer a veritable short course in dairying, will constitute the "Dairy Day" display to be held March 12—Friday—in Kosciusko County, at the Warsaw fairgrounds.

These short "Short Courses" and exhibits have been prepared at Purdue University, and will be offered co-operatively by county dairy producers, processors, distributors, and the County Extension Office.

They will help launch "Dairy Day" as a new venture and will present a number of new ideas to dairymen, whether the owners of small or large herds.

"All dairymen in Indiana are interested in promoting the growth and security of the dairy industry in our state," County Agent Joe Clark said recently. "They know that one way to do this is to support a joint effort to establish high standards of scientific and sanitary dairying—which, in the long run, means profitable dairying."

Exhibits planned to help present new ideas in dairying include:

"Artificial Insemination," its economy, safety, and efficiency; "Use of DDT," to control disease-spreading flies and insects; "Brucellosis in Cattle and Hogs, and Undulant Fever in Man," prevention of abortion and increased sterility in animals and prolonged illness in man; "Quality Roughages, Including Pasture, Hay and Silage," Ladino clover (giant white clover), the outstanding pasture crop for all barnyard animals; "Home Pasteurization of Milk," a simple, effective means of prevention of six treacherous diseases that may come from raw milk; and "How to Wash Milking Utensils and Milk Sanitation," the important difference between clean and sterilizing.

County exhibits in addition to the Purdue exhibits will be as follows:

1. Ideal milk house
2. Pen of artificially bred calves.
3. Sprayers for barns and fly control.
4. New methods of hay making.
5. Health for the home and farm.

The exhibits may be viewed at 10 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Friday, March 12. Tours on all exhibits will start on the hour, 10, 11, 12, 1 and 2.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Tremendous Size

The white shark, often found in Australian waters, grows to enormous size. The largest ever captured, however, weighed more than 3,000 pounds.

Birth of Electric Cooking

Practical household cooking of electricity began in 1910 when the electric range was introduced. The electric roaster, developed about 1930, broadened the electric cooking and baking field.

SIZE

IMPORTANT!

When You Choose Your Electric Water Heater
... Be Sure to Select One Large Enough!

It is important to select an Electric Water Heater large enough for all your household needs so that you'll have a plentiful supply of hot water at all times and so that you can buy your electricity at night on the special low electric rate. No home is modern without abundant hot water, instantly available at the turn of a faucet. That is why you need an Electric Water Heater.

NORTHERN INDIANA Public Service COMPANY

FEEDS AND FEEDING

Until the discovery of methods of vaccination against hog cholera, most attempts to feed swine household garbage on a large scale were unsuccessful, due to heavy losses from this disease. Now, however, the garbage from a large number of cities is fed to swine. In most cases the garbage is fed by contractors who purchase the collected garbage from the cities, or else collect it themselves under rigid rules.

Garbage varies greatly in composition and feeding value, but, on an average and allowing for normal losses of hogs by death, a ton of municipal garbage may be expected to produce 40 pounds of marketable live weight of hog. Garbage of excellent quality, such as that from large hotels and restaurants, may be worth twice as much, or even more.

The garbage must be collected with reasonable frequency and be free from tin cans, soap, broken glass, and other undesirable or injurious foreign articles. The public should be kept informed that the garbage is being fed, so they will not put in such material. Usually it is best for the cities to make the collections and then dispose of the garbage to individuals or corporations on a contract basis, unless the city operates its own hog-feeding farm. Long-time contracts are likely to be most satisfactory, for they tend toward a better class of equipment and more sanitary conditions.

The pigs to be fed may be bought as feeders or may be raised. Methods of feeding, handling, housing and care may differ considerably, so long as the essentials of sanitation and hog comfort are observed. Equipment for feeding should be adapted to the type of garbage available and to local conditions, climate, and transportation.

Raw garbage generally is better for hogs than cooked garbage. Frozen garbage, however, should be thawed before feeding. As a rule, the use of grain as a supplementary feed is not an economical practice, but grain may be used to advantage when the supply of garbage is temporarily short. Thorough immunization against hog cholera is very important, because of raw pork scraps frequently deposited in the garbage can. Garbage-fed hogs show no greater susceptibility to other diseases than grain-fed animals. The pork is as good in quality as that produced on other feeds, and average garbage-fed hogs sell at practically the same prices as average grain fed animals.

During the winter in the northern states, garbage-fed pigs may suffer from deficiencies of Vitamin A or Vitamin D, unless they are provided with well-cured legume hay or some other source of these vitamins.

SPRAYING IS HELPING TO CHECK THE CORN BORER

DDT and high-powered insecticides are weakening the punch of the European corn borer, according to an article in the March issue of Capper's Farmer.

"The toll taken by this pest," the farm magazine points out, "can be restored to Corn Belt cribs by spraying and dusting. Last year growers got 5 to 30 bushels an acre increase from one treatment.

"DDT is used as a spray or dust either by plane or ground machinery. Plane coverage is rapid and very satisfactory, judging from tests made last year.

Millions of American families during these days of high living costs are in danger of being under-nourished, warns the National Dairy Council, because housewives are buying according to prices and not according to food values. They stay within budgets but may jeopardize family health. So here, says the Dairy Council, is its "Guide to Good Eating"—a safe and sound nutritional guide, on which the council on foods and nutrition of the American Medical Association sets its seal of acceptance. Eat these foods daily to get the basic nutritional requirements of your body, and then eat whatever other foods you want to give you that satisfied feeling.

IS THE BIBLE A MYSTERY?

Many have concluded that the Bible is too great a mystery for them to understand. Feeling that they cannot understand the Bible, for themselves, they have placed their confidence in the wisdom of some man or group of men for religious guidance.

It is true that many things in the Bible are difficult to understand, and there are mysteries concerning many things of which the Bible speaks. For instance, we do not fully understand how Christ was both human and divine. We believe that he was, and we know he was divine because he was begotten by the Spirit of God; but we cannot understand more about it than God has told us.

The important thing to remember is that mysteries in the Bible are always in connection with the workings of God. We cannot hope to understand all about God's nature and His workings, but everything the Bible tells us in regard to what God requires of man is easily understood. No doubt, it was a great mystery to Noah how God would bring the flood upon the earth; but he understood perfectly what God required of him. All Noah had to do was believe what God said and do what He commanded. It was not at all necessary to understand the mystery in the case. The same is true with us. What God requires of us, that we may be saved and enjoy His spiritual blessings, is plain enough for all to understand.

CORN FERTILIZER NEEDS
HIGH NITROGEN CONTENT

Fertilizer mixtures low in nitrogen should not be plowed under for corn, but should be used on oats, says G. P. Walker, extension agronomist, Purdue University.

Since the development of the plow-under system of heavy fertilization of corn, many farmers, unable to get high nitrogen content mixtures like 8-8-8, have plowed under mineral mixtures with little or no nitrogen in them. In most cases increased yields have been small when these low nitrogen mixtures were used. The plow-under system was developed as a means of feeding liberal amounts of nitrogen to the corn crop and is most effective where corn follows some other crop than clover, alfalfa, or sweet clover.

Extensive fertilizer trials on the new stiff strawed, high yielding oats varieties, Clinton and Benton, have shown excellent results from mixtures containing some nitrogen. Each percent of nitrogen in mixtures applied at 300 pounds per acre has produced about one extra bushel of oats on the average. Besides increasing oats yields, the fertilizer also makes better stands and growth of the legume or legume and grass seedings.

Where farmers have had to take some fertilizer low in nitrogen and some with no nitrogen, Walker advises using the low nitrogen goods on oats and the straight phosphate-potash mixtures in the corn row or hill.

SUGGESTS FARMER STUDY HIS METHODS OF WORK

Developing new and simple ways of doing farm chores can result in bigger pay checks and less backaches, Dr. L. S. Hardin, Purdue University work simplification specialist, brought out in recently released circular, "Study Your Own Farm Work Methods."

If farmers will study their own farm work methods, they will find ways of rearranging locations of feeds, animals, gates, fences, doors and equipment that will shorten chore routes, make the job easier, and save money," the economist advises.

The publication points the way to systematic analysis of farm work methods rather than giving many labor-saving ideas. To make improvements, these steps for study are suggested. (1) break a job down into its parts, (2) compare your method and accomplishments with others; (3) question the details of your work method, and (4) develop and apply the new method. Twenty illustrations are included in the circular to aid the reader.

Copies of this publication may be obtained free from any county agricultural agent or from the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Hardin states that several improvements can be made after studying individual work methods. Physical work can be simplified to save time and make the job easier. Equipment and layout of buildings can be changed to decrease travel and permit improved work routines. Some jobs can be re-scheduled to less busy hours or seasons and timeliness of crop and livestock operations can be increased. The kind or quality of the product can be changed to fit cost-price relationships. Changes can be made in seed varieties, breeding stock, rations and fertilizers.

WE RECEIVE WORD FROM HENRY MILLS

We received a fine letter from Henry Mills who lives at White Bear Lake, Minnesota. He sent some pictures, too, which show just how much snow they have had up there this winter—about 14 inches—on the level.

Henry makes his home with his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Max Dunlap. He sent a picture postal card showing various spots of interest around White Bear Lake—of Max in his amateur radio station (Max and Elmore Fenstermaker talk quite often)—the school where Max teaches manual training, and Bald Eagle Lake where Max does his fishing.

Following is Henry's letter:

"Friend Artley: Well, this is a beautiful morning—10 above and the sun is out in all its glory. Am sending a few clippings from the St. Paul Press. St. Paul is south of W. Bear about eight miles, but you would hardly know it, as so many people have homes in the country where they can have their gardens. We have a lot of new buildings going up right here in White Bear. I think there about 140 now under construction. I have been on the bum since early last fall—heart trouble, but am better at the present time. If able, I expect to be in Mentone this coming summer to see my many friends and relatives. I will always love good old Mentone and do we enjoy the Mentone paper. We read and re-read it. We are so sorry to hear of Mr. Gill's passing away, and the sorrow it brings his wife and children. He and I were always good friends. By the way, the buildings I spoke of are going up in our district, close to where we live. The lakes in the picture are only about a mile from our home. But I don't fish. Would rather work in the garden and have had a nice one so far until the last one was too hot and dry. Best wishes to all my friends.
—Henry H. Mills"

PENNY SOCIAL

The members of the Worth While class of the Talma Methodist church will sponsor a Penny Social in the church dining room on March 11. Supper will start at 6:30. CLINIC FORMED HERE
FOR HEART DISEASE

Another new sign appeared on Main Street during the past week. Dr. Urschel has a new bronze plaque signifying his intention of limiting his work to heart disease. In the future his clinic will be known as the Urschel Clinic for Diseases of the Heart. As in the past he will do general medical work in an emergency, but the main interests of the clinic will be devoted to heart disease.

When he removed the gold leaf sign from the front window it was the first time in more than 40 years that a doctor's name had not been inscribed thereon. Dr. Yocum built the building in 1907, and practiced medicine there until his death in 1936. To countless people of this vicinity the building will always remain as their memorial to Dr. Yocum and to his faithful helpers, Mrs. Yocum and Maurice Dudley.

There will be no change in the clinic staff at present, though another physician may join the group in the near future. Negotiations are under way in an effort to get another specialist in internal medicine to join Dr. Urschel.

Ross A. Scott, aged 67, a lifelong resident of Kosciusko county, died at 5:10 a. m. Saturday at his home in Mentone, where he had resided for the past three years. C.; one son, W. Foy Scott of Logansport; two brothers, Foy Scott of Lansing, Michigan, and Glenn Scott of Grand Junction, Colorado; and six grandchildren. One son preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon at the Mentone Baptist church, with the pastor, Rev. Zane Mason, in charge. Burial was in the Pleasant Grove cemetery.

The Johns Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

CREIGHTON TO OPEN CAMPAIGN READQUARTERS

FINDS WEATHER BALLOON

Byron Gordon found an army weather balloon on his farm south of Talma last Wednesday afternoon. It had been released from Chanute Field in Illinois in February. The bright red parachute was five feet across. A glass case about six inches by fifteen inches, containing the instruments, was found nearby.

BURT—GIBSON

In a lovely double ring ceremony, performed last Friday evening at 8 o'clock, Geneva Gibson became the bride of Lorin Burt. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Gibson. Mr. Burt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burt of Warsaw.

Baskets of pink and white snapdragons and carnations; palms and candle light formed a beautiful setting for the marriage vows, which were read by Rev. R. H. Miller professor of Religion at Manchester College.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white satin, the skirt of which extended into a train. Her white net veil was trimmed in lace, and was held in place with a crown of flowers made of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of red roses.

Miss Josephine Creighton was maid of honor and wore a blue organdy gown and carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Carl Burt served as best man.

Guests at the ceremony were the immediate families.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt are residing at the home of the bride's parents since their return from a wedding trip to Chicago.

Mr. Burt, who graduated from Manchester College last year, is a teacher and basket ball coach in the Mentone schools. Mrs. Burt is a graduate of Mentone high school and is a member of this year's graduating class at Manchester College.

CLAYPOOL WINNERS IN SKRU-BALL CONTESTS

Thursday evening of last week the Claypool Lions club team defeated the Mentone Lions club team in a game of skru-ball basketball. The game was played on a bicycle affair with one man pedalling and the other on a flat platform on the front. All the playin gwas done by the player on the front of the infernal contraption and there were many rough tumbles. In fact, we rather suspect the drivers stopped suddenly on purpose just to see how far the other fellow would roll.

The Claypool girls, too, were victorious over the Mentone girls in the hockey game played on the same bicycles.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, Atwood, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in their home, Friday, March 12. On Sunday, their daughter, Mrs. G. D. Martin of Nappanee, entertained at a family dinner. The table centerpiece was a beautiful golden cake decorated with wedding bells.

Four generations were present: Mr. and Mrs. Merle Smith of Elkhart, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith and family of South Bend, Rev. and Mrs. Paul H. Smith, Columbus, Wisconsin; Mr. and Mrs. Rex E. Smith, Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Smith, and family of Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Martin and family of Nappanee.

Others present were Mrs. Bernard Funnell and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackford and children, Mrs. Ralph Decker and daughter, and Jack Powell, all of Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williamson of Atwood; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jensen and daughters, Mrs. Richard Cain and son of Nappanee, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Longenbaugh and daughter of Huntington, and Miss Louise Steffner of Hartford City.

CARS WRECKED AT BRIDGE WEST OF TOWN TUESDAY

Three cars figured in an auto accident at the bridge at the west edge of Mentone about 7:30 Tuesday evening. Carl Damron, of Rochester, going east, stopped to permit Elmer Rathfon to cross the bridge, but before Rathfon had cleared the bridge a car driven by Roscoe Bowen hit the Damron car and knocked it into Mr. Rathfon's car.

No one was seriously injured, but the cars were damaged to this extent: Damron's $300, Rathfon's $50 and Bowen's $175.

The accident was investigated by the state police.

KILL CATTLE WARBLER NOW

This is the time of year to control warbles or heel flies in cattle by spraying them on the back with rotenone, just as larva of warble is eating his way out through the hide of he catties' backs. This is also time to get rid of lice and scab on hogs.

If all cattle in Kosciusko county were sprayed to control warbles and lice and all hogs to control lice and scab it would amount to a big saving of feed and also an increased production with the same feed.

The Kosciusko County Seed Association committeemen are making a little survey to see if farmers are receptive to such a program. Rotenone either sprayed or dusted in back of cattle will control the warbles. It kills the larva state of the warble. Densine-di-hex-chloride in isomer-gamma form will control lice and scab on hogs.

Rotenone and benzene-di-hex-chloride can be mixed in a spray material.

Those farmers who are interested in such a program are urged to contact your township committee this week. The committees:

Etna: Howard Sparrow, William Whiteleather, Frank Zentz and Mearl Ulmer.

Harrison: George Long, Oral Welch, Ray Wilttrout and Welcome Wolfe.

Franklin: Samuel Norris, Ray Swick, Waldo Adams and Jay Swick.

Seward: Robert Goshert, Joe Leckrone, Ernest Williamson and Ray Robinson.

FARMS CONTINUE SUPPORT SHADES AS YOUTH CENTER

More than $1,525 in Farm Bureau Shades fund contributions have been received by the state Farm Bureau Shades committee at Indianapolis, since February 24. President Hassil E. Schenck presented Governor Gates with a check for $5,600 from the farm people of Indiana, at the S. and E. conference on that date, to be used to help conserve and develop the Shades as a state youth center. This flow of contributions from township and county farm organizations, county Farm Bureau cooperative associations and farm youth groups signifies the continue dinterest of Hoosier farm people in this worthy cause for Indiana youth.

Among the contributions received were checks from the Knox, Benton and Clark county Rural Youth clubs totaling $35, and $12.44 given by the Raccoon township, Parke County, Pet and Hobby Club.

It is planned that county youth organizations, with the leadership of Rural Youth Clubs, will sponsor special activities and programs in their counties to support this year-long Farm Bureau drive.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Will there be longer waterfowl hunting season—and an increased bag limit—for 1948-49? Possibly there will be, for Albert M. Day, director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, recently said that the current picture would indicate justification of a longer gunning period this fall and winter, or possibly, a larger bag limit. However, there was one big "if" in Mr. Day's comments. Reports on the breeding of waterfowl this spring and summer must be tabulated and studied before the regulations will be set—and plenty can happen between now and when the ducks and geese start their flights to the southland.

Many conservation-minded sportsmen are campaigning for a closed season on waterfowl for 1948-49; others are equally active in working for more gunning time. The difference is understandable; and, basically, it depends in which section of the nation the sportsman lives as to what side he is on.

A recent survey, made by the Outdoor Writers Association of America, showed 17 states with more waterfowl this past season than for the previous season; nine states reported less ducks, and 14 states said the waterfowl populations were about the same as for 1946-47. Eight states failed to report. So, naturally, sportsmen living in areas where there were more ducks feel that a longer season is justified, while the "closed season" group live and hunt in states where the waterfowl were down last season.

Frankly, we are riding the fence in the argument, but we'll wage a new hat against a box of No. 4's that after all sides have their say-so, and the breeding figures are checked, that the 1948-49 regulations will remain virtually the same as for 1947-48—30 days of gunning, with a bag limit of four and a possession limit of eight.

It was also interesting to note in the Outdoor Writers survey that 35 states favored upping the duck stamp fee to $2. Three states were opposed and two states were undecided. Most pointed out, however, that at least half of the increase, and possibly all of it, should be used for enforcement of the Migratory Bird law. This we heartily endorse, for violations are steadily mounting, and the federal agency responsible for enforcing the regulations is understaffed and incapable of doing the job with present finances.

FLOODS AND ICE WERE BIG PROBLEMS LAST MONTH

Ice jams on the larger Indiana streams and near-flood conditions in many parts of the state were the major problems faced by the Water Resources Division of the Indiana Department of Conservation during February.

According to Charles Bechert, director of the division, "These conditions were the result of heavy rains which started about the middle of the month, followed by rising temperature which caused melting ice and snow."

Lakes in northern Indiana were covered with ice ranging from 16 to 25 inches early in the month. Mr. Bechert estimated that melting ice caused an additional run-off equivalent to two inches of rain in northeastern Indiana.

Even so, the lake levels throughout the state show only an average raise of .53 foot for February.

Mr. Bechert also announced that observation wells, which were unaffected by pumping, continued their seasonal rise. In some instances the rise was as much as 26 feet. Meanwhile a check on February temperatures revealed that the daily temperature averaged 11 degrees below normal for that period.

LISTS CONTROLS FOR THE CORN BORER

Many inquiries regarding the present and probable corn borer situation are being received by the department of entomology at Purdue University.

At the present time, Indiana has a very low corn borer population, Prof. J. D. Davis, head of the department of entomology, explained. However, if there is an early spring and corn growers plant before May 20, a noticeable increase in the corn borer population can be expected which may result in some damage, and should a second similar favorable season occur in 1949, with early corn planting, a serious outbreak might be expected, the entomologist warned.

Weather is a major factor influencing corn borer abundance. For the past four years the weather has prevented the planting of corn until after May 20, the safe planting date recommended by the Purdue entomologists.

Major recommendations for controlling the borer include complete plow-

STRICTLY BUSINESS

by McFeatters

"I kept telling him that escalator was removed!"

ing under of corn stalks, the use of adapted hybrids which will stand up under borer infestations and delaying corn planting until after May 20.

In the opinion of the Purdue entomologists, it is doubtful if insecticide treatments will pay on field corn. Market and canning sweet corn, however, and corn for hybrid seed, all of which have high market value, may be profitably treated if planted early and conditions are favorable to the borer. It is certain that insecticide treatment would not have been profitable in 1946 and 1947 except in a few cases. Whether or not insecticides can be used profitably in 1948 will depend upon the season and time of planting.

Close record of planting and egg deposition will be kept by the department this season and growers will be advised of conditions which may or may not call for treatment, Davis said.

WARNS PUBLIC AGAINST MAGAZINE SALESMEN

Ray Neilson, who has been a special investigator for the Prairie Farmer for the past several years, was in the Co-Op News office last Thursday. His particular job at the present time is to check up on magazine solicitors, especially those who inform their prospects that are veterans and are earning money to go to college. Mr. Neilson points out that a veteran can go to school under the "G. I." bill.

Since these solicitors work in well organized crews and move from place to place, it is very difficult to catch up with them. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are taken from various communities each year by these men. Mr. Neilson feels that our country newspapers can play a big part in wrecking this "racket" by continually urging their readers to refuse to buy magazine subscriptions from strangers. Nearly every community has a magazine agency which would appreciate new customers, so keep this business in your own community.

NEW GAME WARDEN VISITS HERE TUESDAY

Jim Tuttle, who has been appointed game warden for Kosciusko county, was a visitor in Mentone Tuesday. With him were Wardens Callaway of Steuben county, and Watkins of Whitley county. They called on County Conservation Club President Chauncey Mollenhour, while here.

Mr. Tuttle lives six miles northeast of Warsaw, near Dutchtown, and succeeds Walter Yoder, who passed away at Christmas time.

Warden Tuttle's appointment was made by the state department of conservation.

LOCAL LUMBERMAN HONORED

Ora L. McKinley, of the Mentone Lumber Co., while attending the Indiana Lumber and Builders Supply Association convention held in the Murat Theatre in Indianapolis March 9, 10 and 11, was elected chairman of District No. 9, which is composed of Kosciusko, Marshall, Elkhart and St. Joseph counties. By virtue of his being elected to this important post he automatically becomes one of the 13 directors of the state association. This is quite an honor for "Mac" and it has been some time since a director has been chosen from Kosciusko county. Normally directors are chosen from the South Bend-Mishawaka lumber dealers. The state association is composed of some 800 lumber dealers and the Indiana association is a member of the National Association of Lumber Dealers.

The convention this year was the best ever held with many new ideas for the home builder on display, nationally known speakers and every lumber man attending coming away with a clearer view of what to expect in the coming months. More merchandise and a better quality of merchandise seemed to be the thoughts of the boys in the know.

BEAVER DAMS ARE GIVING HEADACHES TO FARMERS

Reports of damage inflicted by beavers on farms have become so numerous that Indiana Department of Conservation officials are considering an open trapping season on those animals.

Director John H. Nigh said many farmers, both in southern and northern Indiana, have complained that their croplands are being flooded by creek waters backing up from dams erected by beavers.

Protected by laws, the rapidly-multiplying beaver family now threatens to make itself a nuisance in certain sections of Indiana. At least, mounting reports of flooded lands caused by these animals indicate that something may have to be done about it.

State law makes it illegal to shoot or trap a beaver. Destruction of a beaver dam is unlawful.

The Conservation Department director, however, is authorized by law to declare an open season on any species of fish and game if he deems it advisable. This order can only be issued after a public hearing on the question.

If reports of beaver-inflicted damage continue to reach the Department, steps may be taken to permit the trapping of beaver this fall.

SOYBEAN CROP HELPS CLOVER AND ALFALFA

Soybeans do not unfavorably affect yields of succeeding crops of alfalfa and clover even though this belief is held by many midwestern farmers, according to Dr. F. A. Frank, research agronomist in soybean production at Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Frank, who has just completed a two-year study on the subject of legume hay production following soybeans and corn, found that yields after soybeans have generally topped those after corn.

Ten tests were conducted in central Indiana where most reports of clover failures after soybeans originate. A special investigation was made on the effect of fertilizer and lime on the stand and yield of legume seedlings in small grains following soybeans and corn. In fields which in the preceding season had been partly in soybeans and partly in corn, applications of 400 and 800 pounds of 0-12-12 fertilizer per acre, with and without additional lime, were made on plots laid across both the soybean and corn strips. For seedlings in wheat, the treatments were top-dressed in early spring before sowing the legumes. In preparation for oats, treatments were disced in lightly.

According to Dr. Frank, results of these tests show that legumes following soybeans have outyielded legumes following corn by an average of 170 pounds of hay per acre regardless of companion crop and fertilization. Discing in lime and fertilizer, though only lightly, as in preparation for oats, was far more effective than top-dressing without further mixing with the soil.

To avoid disappointments in stand and yield of legumes in rotation with and without soybeans, the Purdue research agronomist advises providing conditions which are suitable for the growing of legumes. These include sufficient plant food and lime, a firm seedbed and the proper use of reliable inoculated seed. Clover failures should also be greatly reduced if there is favorable weather and an absence of insects and diseases, factors which can take a heavy toll in legume seedlings.

CELEBRATE CLUB ANNIVERSARY

The Mentone Reading Club met at the school house last Wednesday evening for the annual dinner celebrating another anniversary. The tables were decorated with spring flowers and the colors used were white, pink, yellow and green.

The program for the evening took us back to school—the club officers serving as the faculty; the past-president forming the alumnae; and the remaining members comprising the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

Contests in oratory, music and "athletics" were conducted by Coach Firkens. An original spelling bee proved very hilarious.

Each member participated in this most unusual and enjoyable program and some surprising talents were discovered.

The committee in charge was Mrs. C. O. Mollenhour, Mrs. Robert Reed, Mrs. Robert Firkens, and Mrs. R. C. Greulach.

The delicious dinner was prepared by Mrs. Arlo Friesner and Mrs. Arthur Witham.

WINNERS SERIES, THIRD NATIONAL POSTER CONTEST
Shown by 10 Million Post Offices in the United States

JANUARY
Issued by CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB

Traffic safety posters carrying the timely reminder to school children to cross streets only at corners are being distributed by the Chicago Motor Club for display in the classrooms of elementary schools, both public and parochial throughout its Indiana and Illinois territory. Elaborating this theme are lesson sheets for teachers' use in classrooms, keyed to the various elementary grades from kindergarten to junior high school. January safety lessons highlight the urgency of crossing at corners only during the winter season of poor visibility and unreliable stopping ability of motorists. The poster is one of a series of winners in a national poster contest for high school children conducted by the motor club and affiliated organizations of the American Automobile Association.

On pastures, fence rows, ditch banks, and grassed waterways, Agricultural Weed-No-More kills weeds, roots and all.

Agricultural Weed-No-More goes on fast—covers 7 to 15 acres per hour. It goes far, too— $\frac{1}{4}$ pint to 2 pints in only 5 gallons of water treats 1 acre! LACK OF FIREARM CONTROL DELAYS OPEN DEER SEASON

Although favoring an open season on deer in certain southern counties, Indiana Department of Conservation officials oppose such action until they have been granted definite authority to issue regulations vital to public safety.

"It is believed that the present state law does not empower the Conservation Department to control the type of firearms for deer hunting purposes," Director John H. Nigh said. "Neither does it authorize us to make other provisions essential to safety. We feel that a limited deer season is necessary, but the public welfare must come first."

Fear that "more people than deer would be killed" if an open season was effected this year was expressed by Nigh.

"If we opened a season on deer now, without adequate controls on firearms or anything else, all Hoosier hunters would have the right to rush out and begin shooting with any kind of weapon," he added. "We are afraid the mortality rate would be very high among the hunters."

Many southern Indiana residents have requested the Department of Conservation to open a deer season because these animals, which multiply rapidly, are causing heavy crop damage. One recent petition from Jackson county alone contained 1500 signatures.

Conservation officials, having given the problem considerable study, had contemplated legalizing the hunting of deer only in certain downstate counties where these animals are the most plentiful. A brief season, with special provisions adopted for archers, would be opened if the Department is embodied with powers necessary to protect the public.

WARNS EGG SHORTAGE MAY DEVELOP BY FALL

Right now, many farmers are going to an extreme through their failure to buy baby chicks, states Joe W. Sicer, Purdue University extension poultryman.

The sale of baby chicks so far this year has been extremely light. If this continues, a shortage of eggs is probable by next fall: With a normal crop year, the relationship between the price of feed and the price of eggs should be more favorable for the poultry raiser next fall than during recent years.

There is still time to get chicks of good breeding early enough to capitalize on the situation that is fast developing, states Sicer. However, the ordering of chicks should not be delayed longer. The number of hens in flocks producing eggs for hatcheries is about 15 percent below last year. Hatcheries are in no position to handle promptly a last minute rush of chick orders. Early hatched chicks are more profitable than chicks hatched late in April or May and this year should be no exception.

Of great importance is the quality of the chick, advises Sicer. Breeding for high egg production is essential, regardless of all other factors.

Other important considerations concerning the purchase of chicks are discussed in Purdue Bulletin 313, "Quality Chicks and the Chick Buyer." This bulletin is available at any Indiana county agricultural extension office.

HOWDY, FOLKS—Thanksgiving day, old Mr. Harrison, who is a pretty timid fellow, decided to kill the turkey himself. He couldn't bring himself around to wringing its neck, and he didn't have the heart to use the axe. So he decided to shoot it.

His son, Jimmy, age 6, was watching Daddy try to kill the bird, while Mrs. Harrison was waiting in the kitchen. Minutes passed and no shot. Finally, Mrs. Harrison yelled out the window to Jimmy and asked when the turkey was to be shot. Jimmy yelled back, "We can't shoot it yet, it won't get in the way."

WHOSOEVER WILL

The simplicity of man's duty is shown by two plain Bible teachings. First, one must have a knowledge of the Lord to be saved. (See II Pet. 2:20; II Thess. 1:7-9). The Bible also teaches that Jesus Christ shed his blood to bring salvation to every man who would accept it. "And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely" (Rev. 22:17). The salvation of the Lord is for "whosoever will". In II Peter 3:9 we read, "The Lord is . . . not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance." Salvation can be obtained by all who are willing to accept it according to God's plan.

To what conclusion do these truths bring us? Since we must have knowledge of certain things to be saved, and salvation is for "whosoever will", we must conclude that "whosoever will" can understand whatever the Bible teaches that he must know to be saved and to live in a manner that is pleasing to God. If this is not true, we would have to conclude that God made the revelation of His will so difficult to understand that many cannot be saved because they cannot gain the necessary knowledge!

In speaking of the way of righteousness and salvation that was to come, Isaiah said, "And an highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called the way of holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it; but it shall be for those: the wayfaring men, though fools shall not err therein" (Isaiah 35:8). There are many things we will not understand, but we can understand what we must believe and do to become Christians and live so as to reach the mansions prepared for the redeemed.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH*TUBERCULOSIS SURVEY

One hundred and ninety eight active cases of tuberculosis in Indiana will not accept available hospital facilities and 185 active cases are willing to accept hospitalization but are unable because of beds are available, according to preliminary results of a survey made by Dr. Merle Bunday, director, Division of Tuberculosis Control, Indiana State Board of Health.

The survey was made at the request of Indiana Health officers and the committee on tuberculosis of the Indiana State Medical Association and was conducted through a questionnaire sent to Indiana county and city health officers.

In Indianapolis, there are 54 active cases among veterans who refused hospitalization.

Vermillion county has 30 active cases willing to accept hospitalization but unable to because no beds are available; City of Clinton has 24; Delaware county 22; Jennings county 12, Lake county 30; Madison county 8 and city of Indianapolis 10. Forty-two recalcitrant cases were reported from Indianapolis, ten from St. Joseph county, and eight from Floyd county.

Although reports are to be made by some city and county health officers, health officers from the following 20 counties reported no recalcitrant cases: Benton, Davies, Fulton, Gibson, Jasper, Knox, Lagrange, Lake, Marion, Marti, Noble, Owen, Parke, Randolph, Steuben, Switzerland, Tippecanoe, Union, Warrick and White.

OUCH! George Held of Carleton, Michigan, shows Roy Taylor of Kahlbaum Bros. mill and elevator at Carleton an egg which was $7\frac{3}{4}$ inches in circumference by 9 inches. The ruler in Mr. Held's hand indicates the egg was $3\frac{1}{4}$ inches long. It weighed 6 ounces. Upon breaking the egg, another complete egg was found inside.

STILL GOING STRONG. Rudolph Koeneman of Allen County, Indiana, has a cow that's hard to beat. She's a 17 year old Jersey Spot, in her 17 years, has produced more than 110,000 pounds of milk and three tons of butterfat. That's 3,300 pounds of milk per year more than the average Indiana cow, according to Purdue University. And Spot is still producing almost as in her prime.

ANCIENT LOOM. Mrs. John Rau of Brown County, Ohio, has for many years woven gay rugs on a loom hand-hewn from logs. On one post is carved "L. D. 1835", and though it has been in the family many years all trace of the maker has been lost. The ancient weaving device is so heavy it must be set up in a corner of the barn.

Pest Control in the Home

A St. Louis, Michigan, housewife uses the spraying attachment of her vacuum cleaner to apply a 5% DDT solution to closet surfaces and clothes for moth control. This solution may be sprayed lightly on clothes without injuring any fabric that can be dry cleaned. If too much is applied, it can be removed by brushing or dry cleaning.

A large hand duster is effective in applying DDT to insect hiding places. Here Mrs. Henry Jarrett forces a 10% DDT dust behind a baseboard that might harbor cockroaches, brown dog ticks or even bed bugs.

An 8 weeks test at Warp Brother's experimental farm proved conclusively that chicks under Flex-O-Glass averaged only 2.94 lbs. of feed for each pound of meat produced. And that chicks under common glass consumed 4.22 lbs. of feed per pound of meat. MODERN FARMING

Planning and Planting the 1948 Corn Crop

Success with the corn crop has never been more important than it will be this year. In 1947 corn took it on the chin from the weather with resulting yields nearly a billion bushels under the 1946 crop.

The short yield cut sharply into livestock production . . . sent prices soaring on meat, milk and other livestock products . . . and deprived thousands of Europe's starving sufficient food for life.

This year the corn crop must not fail! Though virtually powerless to control the weather, the farmer can do many things now to help assure a bumper corn yield. Some hints for growing a successful corn crop are pictured below:

Free Farm Bulletins

A packet of valuable literature on planning and planting your corn crop can be had without cost by dropping a postcard to Farm Editor, care of this newspaper. Included in the kit will be the latest information on weed and insect control, mentioned below.

Save your soil or lose your farm! Lay out fields to prevent erosion, and plan a rotation that builds soil fertility. Contouring and strip cropping on this Clayton County, Iowa farm help combat soil erosion and produce bigger corn yields. Soil Conservation Service can help plan your fields.

Watch the thermometer for the best time to plant corn. Wait till the soil temperature reaches 55° F., usually about the middle of May in the cornbelt. Planting earlier, when the soil still is cold, often reduces germination, field stand and yields.

Years of testing by agricultural colleges prove deep planting reduces corn yield. Seedling at left, planted at one inch, pushed through soil and sprouted leaves far ahead of deeper planted seed. Seedlings planted 3 and 4 inches deep died before reaching the soil surface.

ROLLED HAY....

THE BALE OF THE FUTURE

A weather-resistant rolled bale with leaves locked inside! That is rolled hay... a bale that for the first time sheds rain like a thatched roof. Once your hay is in the rolled bale, you breathe easy. It's safe from sudden showers. The bale unrolls in a wide, soft, leafy mat without shaking; can also be fed whole in the feedrack without waste.

The rolled bale represents a turning-point in haymaking for every farm. Now you can package your most important crop with the efficiency it deserves — using a low-cost, one-man field baler.

The ROTO-BALER

... Turning Point in Hay History

When blossoms say "ready" and the weather is right, that's when a one-man Roto-Baler pays off. Hay or straw is automatically wrapped with ordinary binder twine costing less than wire or heavy bale twine.

The Roto-Baler packages hay more compactly... in sturdy rolled bales that will not buckle... bales that store in less space and are convenient to handle and feed. Thousands of farmers from coast to coast are already making hay this better way... and like it.

TRACTOR RAKE

The ideal companion implement for the Roto-Baler. Power take-off driven... two forward reel speeds and one reverse (for tedding)... ball and roller bearings exclusively... controlled steering for straighter windrows. Farmers are saying "... just the rake I've been waiting for."

BUSY BUSINESSWOMAN proves she's a good housewife too. Mrs. E. J. Swarthout, of Niles, Michigan—beauty shop owner and professional photographer . . . takes time out to make popcorn balls with KARO® Syrup. "They're easy to make and everyone likes them," says Mrs. Swarthout.

3½ tbsp. corn starch
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. almond extract
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tbsp. butter, melted
1 cup KARO Syrup, Red or Blue Label
(½ recipe pastry)

Cut 9-inch circle from pastry rolled ¼ inch thick; cut slits, or cherry design, to let steam escape. Bake in hot oven (450° F.), 10 minutes; reduce to moderate (350° F.), bake 35 minutes longer. Serve warm. For 6 individual deep-dish pies, use same filling but one recipe pastry.

The New Look in Foods

Canned meat takes on a "New Look" with mashed potato topping.

Right about now, most of us are mighty tired of cooking the same old foods in the same old ways. Cooking's a bit like our clothes—give us a new dress or a new hat and suddenly we discover new lease on life. Likewise a new recipe or a novel idea will give our dishes a new lilt.

Suppose you go down to the fruit cellar and bring up a can or two of fruit and vegetables and a jar of meat . . . or dig a frozen chicken or package of frozen fruit and vegetables from the freezer and let's go to work. We'll try out some ideas as we would a new feather or ribbon on a hat . . . and behold THE NEW LOOK IN FOODS!

Cream puffs filled with sweetened berries or peaches and custard sauce are a real treat.

Add a cup of blueberries to cottage pudding and serve with blueberry sauce made from the juice.

Then there's omelette soufflé . . . grease a flat baking dish, dot with large whole preserved strawberries, then pile the batter of your best soufflé mixture on top in dome shape. Bake in very slow oven (250° F.) for 15 minutes. Serve at once on warm plate.

For an unusual salad, roll canned pear halves in sugar wafer crumbs. Fill center of pear with balls made from cream cheese and ground nuts.

Rice ring with creamed meat . . . make white sauce and add contents of pint can of meat (diced) to a can of peas. Place two cups cooked rice in ring on chop plate, fill with creamed meat. Top with parsley.

Or perhaps you'd like to serve Mexican cubed steak; Chicken and asparagus Parisienne or Creole pork casserole. If so see the Bulletin Board.

The Queen of Tarts . . . tarts are fun because there are dozens of ways to make them exciting. You can add fruit in a custard . . . or whip fruit into cream. You can make a glaze and pour over fruit.

Featuring frozen berries in Strawberry Shortcake as refreshing as a breath of summer sunshine. Here's a good recipe:

2 cups flour
2 tsp. double acting baking powder
1½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter
¾ cup rich milk

Sift flour once before measuring. Resift with baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until finely divided and mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add milk and stir about ½ minute until soft dough is formed. Turn out dough on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Pat or roll ¾ inch thick and cut with floured 2 inch biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Separate halves of hot biscuits, spread bottom halves with soft butter and crushed or whole berries. Place other halves on top, crust side down. Spread with butter and remaining fruit. Garnish with ice cream or whipped cream and additional berries.

PUTTING EGGS IN STORAGE ACCOMPLISHES TWO THINGS

1. It removes from the market the excess of supply over demand and helps stabilize prices.
2. It provides a supply for the late summer and fall, when production is lower.

If you have washed eggs, or eggs that have been wiped with a damp cloth, please pack them separately, and put a note to that effect in the case. Washed eggs turn rotten in storage, but can be used for immediate consumption in cool weather.

with Mrs. Gerald Ballenger as co-hostess. A huge stork was the center of attraction. Entertainment consisted of games and contests and Bingo was played, with all prizes going to the honored guest. A table was placed before the guest of honor on which a miniature clothes line was hanging full of tiny cut-out paper baby clothes. She was told a shower was "coming up" and as she took her "washing" down, received her gifts according to the garments marked on each guest's pink and blue ribbon tied packages.

Refreshments carried a hint of St. Patrick's day, with pink and blue decorated individual cakes and the favors were tiny pink and blue starched diapers serving as little candy cups.

Those attending the affair, other than the guest of honor and hostess and co-hostess were: Mrs. Ike Jefferies, Mrs. Max Nellans, Mrs. Charles Eaton, Mrs. Deverl Jefferies, Mrs. Ray Riner, Mrs. Everett Besson, Mrs. Vernon Jones, Mrs. Corlyss LeCount, Mrs. Oral Welch, Mrs. Everett Rookstool, Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Ernest Studabaker, Mrs. Kenneth Drudge, Mrs. Alden Jones, Sandra Jean Ballenger, and Roger Nellans. Mrs. Chester Coplen and Mrs. Glen Snider, who were unable to attend, sent their gifts.

Rid Building of Bats

If bats are a nuisance about the house or buildings, one means for keeping them away is the use of rather large amounts of naphthalene flakes within the points of entry, then closing all openings. Bats can enter holes of a size to admit a mouse.

By JIM MITCHELL

Money spent for fishing licenses each year is but a small portion of the annual expenditure by sportsmen in pursuit of the finny gamesters, but even in itself it is a big business in dollars. A report from the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service disclosed that 12,620,464 persons bought fishing licenses for the last fiscal years at a total cost of $22,667,301. This was an increase of 1,551,747 in numbers, and $7,663,505 in dollars, over the previous year.

This bears out the trend of upping the fishing license fees which we mentioned a few columns back. An average cost of $1.75 per license last year, as against approximately $1.25 the previous year, is shown by the report.

In the number of licenses sold, Michigan topped all the states with 989,333, and California ranked second with 848,446. California, however, was the No. 1 state in dollar income with $1,718,066. Other leading states in the number of licenses issued were Minnesota 765,335; Ohio 669,613; Wisconsin 653,147; New York 631,238; Pennsylvania 599,572; Illinois 536,868; Missouri 526,737; and Indiana 522,033.

Other figures of interest disclosed in the report were that tourists, fishing for sport in waters outside their home states, purchased 1,464,698 non-resident fishing licenses, an increase of 371,599 over the preceding year. Michigan again topped all states in the sale of licenses to out-of-staters with 263,721. Wisconsin ranked second with 224,330 and Minnesota third with 165,425. Tennessee, Colorado and Maine followed in that order. Rhode Island brought up the rear in non-resident license sales with only 220. North Dakota was close behind with 280. Delaware had the lowest total sale with 4,298 resident and 1,450 non-resident licenses.

The figures last year established new records for all licenses sales, but, if we are guessing correctly, these new marks will stand only as record until this year's figures are announced. There's every indication that the coming season will see the greatest army of fishermen converging on the streams, rivers and lakes this country has ever known. So, we'd better keep on our toes and start slugging for improved conservation and more sane and sensible creel limits if we want to keep the great outdoors productive in fish and enjoyment.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Country Neighbors Home Economics Club held its March meeting last Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. Helen Notz, with Mrs. Doris Newton as co-hostess.

The second part of the lesson on slip covers was given by Kathryn Teel. A report on the bake sale, from the committee, was pleasing to the club members.

Twenty-two members answered roll call with an Irish joke. Secretary Helen Shunk, using a new way to write up the minutes of the last meeting, proved very interesting. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Della Shock gave meditations in keeping with Easter.

The auction went to Beulah Cook, Lisetta Notz, Elma Zent and Kathryn Teel. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Callers at the home of Mrs. Earl Meredith last week were Mrs. Zora McFarland and son of near Akron, Mr. and Mrs. Merl Tucker, Akron, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vandermark of near Warsaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Alva Clinker of Akron.

INFLATION HAS NOT AFFECTED THESE PRICES

Do you realize that during the past few years while all commodity prices and the cost of all other services have shown a marked increase, the cost to you for the services available at your bank, including the rate of interest on loans, has remained at pre-war levels? This does not mean, however, that the cost of providing these services has not increased materially. To the contrary, the cost of supplies, equipment, labor and other items of overhead necessary in providing these services has increased proportionately with that of other commodities and services, but fortunately your bank has been in a position to absorb these increased costs.

The principal source of revenue for a bank is interest from loans and investments, which during this period have commanded exceedingly low rates. For instance, the average yield on all funds invested in United States Treasury Bonds held by this bank is 1½% per year, while invested in these bonds are your saving accounts upon which we are paying you 1% interest, in addition to the taxes and insurance premium on all the deposits held by the bank, making the cost to us on savings account deposits equal to 1½%, and the cost on checking account deposits equal to 1½% per year. The average rate of interest on all loans held by this bank is approximately 5½%, and reference to past Statements of Condition of most banks will reveal that their loans equal only 20 to 30% of their total deposits. Of these total deposits banks are required by state law to carry 12½% of all demand deposits and 3% of all time deposits in a cash reserve which, of course, produces no revenue. In view of the limited income from these two principal sources it is necessary that banks manage their affairs in such a manner that they recover a part of the costs of the more expensive and important services such as that of maintaining a checking account department. In this department alone is involved an investment of several thousands of dollars in machinery and equipment, together with the costs of checks, deposit tickets, ledger and statement sheets, a great amount of labor and supplies incident thereto, and the checking account service charge has been universally adopted as a means of permitting the customers of this department to pay a part of the costs of the convenient service it affords.

But here, too, your bank has not passed along to you any of the increase cost. Our service charge schedule is the same as when it was adopted in 1937.

So, when you are thinking of the high costs of living and where you might reduce the items of expense on your budget you cannot afford to dispense with your checking account and the safety and convenience it affords.

Likewise, if you contemplate the purchase of an automobile, household appliances or the improvement of your home or farm buildings, or if you need funds for financing your spring planting and the purchase of new equipment we invite you to avail yourself of our many services which we offer at pre-war prices.

MRS. LACKEY HOSTESS TO D.A.R.

On Tuesday evening, March 23, the members and guests of the Anthony Nigo Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution enjoyed a pot luck supper in the home of Mrs. Walter Lackey, with Mrs. Edna Carey as assisting hostess.

The Regent, Mrs. Walter Fenstermaker, welcomed the members and guests.

The Continental Congress of the National Society will meet in Washington, D. C., in April. The Chapter will be represented at this meeting by Mrs. Fenstermaker and Mrs. Arthur Brown. The Regent, Mrs. Fenstermaker, has been chosen as a personal page to the President-General, Mrs. Roscoe C. O'Byrne.

The program for the evening was as follows:

Piano solo, "March of the Candy Soldiers," by Miss Marilyn Rathfon; vocal solo, "The Stars Will Remember," by Miss Marilyn Tucker; vocal solo, "For You and For Me Forevermore," by Miss Violet Friesner; vocal duet, "How Soon," "Tallahassee," and "Now Is the Hour," by Miss Tucker and Miss Friesner. Mrs. Blickenstaff was the accompanist.

Mrs. Ray Linn, the Good Citizenship chairman, for the Chapter, presented the honored guests of the evening. These Good Citizenship Girls, who were selected from the seven high schools of the county: Miss Barbara Gieseking, Atwood; Miss Lois Mishler, Silver Lake; Miss Rozella Holloway, Sidney; Miss Waneta Carole Grubb, Burket; Miss Marcella Dickey, Beaver Dam; Miss Wanda Bryan, Claypool;

Miss Norma Jean Nellans, Mentone. Miss Nellans was also chosen to represent Kosciusko county in the state contest.

Mrs. Linn, on behalf of the Chapter, presented each girl with a Certificate of Award, also a lovely D.A.R. Citizenship pin.

Under arrangements made by Mrs. Arthur Brown, two pictures, "Democracy," and "America's Wonderlands," were shown by Donald Smythe.

The Chapter adjourned to meet on April 27 with Mrs. Vere Kelley at Warsaw.

A LOT OF MOVING

We thought this might still be a news item of interest, although somewhat late, since it concerns members of the same family. Most of us have moved at some time or another, but within the past three weeks Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cowen and family moved to Laporte, having sold their property to Amos T. Mollenhour; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dee Whetstone and family moved from the Whetstone property to the Shunk farm; and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Walsh and family moved from the country into the property vacated by the Lowell Whetstones.

NEW RESIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klingenhagen, of Akron, Ohio, are now residents of our community, having only recently moved onto the Win Warner farm, which they purchased last fall.

Mrs. Klingenhagen is the daughter of Frank Jenkins, who was a former resident of Mentone, having had a store here at one time.

OUR MINISTER

(The following poem was written by Denton Abbey and read as tribute to Rev. Paul Irwin. See article on front page.)

We are gathered here this evening, we are gathered in tribute,
To do homage to our minister and our bishop, perhaps, to boot.
We love him above all else—No, there is one other thing,
A breath of God's pure air, on a Sunday morn in spring.

So we are gathered here this evening to welcome to our midst,
This handsome man of letters who the following things has did't.
In his few allotted years, on this earthly paradise
He has grown in love and wisdom and quite a bit in size.

He has passed his school of letters, he is now a sainted seer,
He has become a man of distinction, as we notice from the rear.
He has set the community aright, a right upon its nose,
And when he says a thing we all know that it goes.

He has taken for himself a wife—to cook his beans and pork,
And added two small children by associating with the stork.
They make a happy household, from Paul to hairy pup,
But the congregation keeps wondering if the tariff will go up?

He has won our hearts completely with his very friendliness,
And as a small minority—I could not give him less.
He has slipped into our lives like a father with his son
And rooted out the devil and now has him on the run.

He has saved our souls from perfidy—so abysmal and deep,
He has saved our souls for Jesus, that our Master should not weep.
He has done these things for us, as the twinkling of an eye
And to pay him back in gratitude we are gathered here to try.

He sings for us on Sunday in tones so wondrous round,
As we sit in rapt attention to this rich melodious sound.
But once when church is over and for Sunday School we are bound
Those very rapt listeners, are nowhere to be found.

But man is born to failure, and man is born to sin,
Like some are born to work, and some are fat and thin.
So let's not blame our failures, but look them in the eye
And get behind our preacher—with that good old do or die.

And as we gather here this evening, let's shout his praises loud,
Congratulations Reverend, best of luck, that now you have your shroud.
You know we're right behind you, a parish so good and stout,
Let's win that final battle and chase the devil out.

STATE PARKS BEING MADE READY FOR TOURISTS

With a new state park season awaiting only the advent of spring, announcement of additional improvements was made this week by John Nigh, director of the Indiana Department of Conservation.

Although state parks are open the year around, complete facilities are not available to the public until the danger of freezing weather is past and the water lines are opened.

Nigh pointed out there is no official date for the opening of state parks for the spring and summer seasons, this being determined by the weather man. Usually, southern Indiana parks are ready for the public late in March.

Among the new improvements which will greet visitors to Hoosier state parks this year are (1) four hundred new picnic tables to be distributed in all parks May 1; (2) a new bridge at Clifty Falls, and (3) a new comfort station at the grounds.

Brick from the State Penal Farm was used in the construction of this first modern comfort station to be built at the grounds, according to Kenneth Cougill, state parks director.

The new park tables are being manufactured at the State Reformatory, and no nails are used in their construction. It also was announced that, for the first time, tops and seats of park tables will be varnished this year.

Completion of the new Clifty Falls bridge, due April 1, will permit motorists to use the Madison road entrance to this park as well as the north entrance.

HEREFORD ASSOCIATION TO HOLD SPRING SHOW SOON

Hoosier Acres, three miles east of Bloomington on State Road No. 46, the farm of William E. Brown, president and general manager of Graham Motor Sales at Bloomington, has been selected as the site for the spring sale and show of the Indiana Hereford Association, set for March 28-29, Sunday and Monday.

The two-day event will find 20 breeders showing 42 females and eight bulls. Bob Lazear, manager of the WHR Ranch at Cheyenne, Wyoming, who is recognized as the leading authority on Herefords, has agreed to act as judge. Mr. Lazear will also be the featured speaker at a banquet Sunday evening at the Hotel Graham. He will show slides and pictures of his ranch which produced two world's record bulls last year, WHR Helmsman 89th, selling for $61,000, and Star Duke, selling for $54,000.

The show will open Sunday, March 28 and will be open to the public. Hundreds of people are expected to inspect the cattle in the show and the herd at Hoosier Acres. Mr. Brown owns a half-brother of the world's record bulls and has one of the finest herds in the middlewest. Warren Beard is manager of the farm.

Judging of the animals, which is the highlight of the event, will begin at 9:30 Monday morning. Hundreds of 4-H club members from over Indiana will be brought to Hoosier Acres to observe Mr. Lazear judge and to hear his running commentary on winning points.

With auctioneer Roy Johnson of Decatur, Indiana, in charge, the sale will begin promptly at 1 p.m. He will be assisted by auctioneers Wilbur Clair of Converse, Indiana, and Roll Freeman and Fred Thrasher of Bloomington.

SOIL CONSERVATION WEEK IS SET FOR APRIL 5 - 12

A decade of achievements accomplished through soil conservation practices in Indiana will receive recognition during Soil Conservation Week April 5-12. Arrangements are being made throughout the state for observance of Soil Conservation Sunday by many churches and special attention to saving soil will be given by schools, civic groups and on radio broadcasts, it has been announced by R. O. Cole, of Purdue University, executive secretary of the State Soil Conservation Committee.

The committee is urging observance of the week by all Hoosier groups concerned with maintaining the productivity of soils. According to a recent report of the committee, a program of active cooperative work has been carried on the past year by 33 soil conservation districts and new districts were organized during the year in Owen, DeKalb, Gibson, Wayne, Vermillion, Perry and Orange counties.

Accomplishments in the districts during the fiscal year included preparation of 1,553 farm plans which covered 226,479 acres. Among the soil and water conservation practices established were 39,702 acres of contour planting, cover crops on 11,214 acres, farm drainage of 363,592 acres, 17,466 acres terraced and 1,572 acres of woodland improved.

Cole said that rehabilitation of larger drainage ditches, is one of the important activities in the districts. To date work has been planned for 409 farms containing 50,607 acres. Other work which has been completed benefited 438 farms and included 21,894 acres.

The State Soil Conservation Committee in the past year received and approved 13 petitions, conducted 14 hearings and nine referenda and held four elections of supervisors. Members of the committee are Lt. Governor Richard T. James, chairman; Dean H. J. Reed; L. E. Hoffman, and George E. Lommel, all of Purdue; Lloyd Arbuckle of Lake Village and Paul Thompson of Terre Haute.

NON-TECHNICAL BOOK ON BIRDS OF STATE SOON TO BE PUBLISHED

In order that Hoosiers may become better acquainted with their feathered friends, the Indiana Department of Conservation is publishing an illustrated booklet entitled "Indiana Birds." A non-technical publication, this book is being issued solely for the benefit of Indiana's large number of amateur bird lovers. Describing the bird book as "an answer to a long-felt need," Department of Conservation officials pointed out that it is the first publication of its kind ever issued by a state unit in Indiana.

Forty eight common resident birds of this state are described in the booklet. An illustration accompanies each separate bird article.

There also are sections devoted to such subjects as bird watching and the building of simple bird houses and feeding stations. The colored cover features the cardinal, state bird of Indiana.

These bird books, which are scheduled to be available in May, are being published by the Conservation Department's Division of Parks. They are prepared by the Public Relations Division, with all the subject matter written by Alden H. Hadley of Mooresville, one of the nation's outstanding ornithologists.

Upon completion, "Indiana Birds" will be available for a small price at state parks and at the Department's central office in Indianapolis.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

MEASLES

A total of 1,114 cases of measles was reported to the State Board of Health by Indiana health officers for the week ending March 13, making the total number of cases reported this year total 6,259, as compared to a five-year median of 2,542 cases.

A year ago, for the same period, the number of measles cases reported was 279.

According to the report, measles is most prevalent in the following counties: Cass 103, with Logansport having 99 cases; Elkhart county 53, with 13 in Goshen and 40 in the city of Elkhart; Hamilton county 41, with Noblesville having 37 cases; Lake county 223 with 202 cases in Hammond; Madison county with 26 with 10 in Anderson; Marion county 193 with 191 in Indianapolis; Miami county 23 with 15 in Peru; Montgomery county 26 with 17 in Crawfordsville; Noble county 50 with 44 in Kendallville; and Sullivan county 217 cases.

Immune serum globulin distributed by the State Board of Health amounted to 2,204 ampules in February. The globulin is used for protection against measles and should be given to exposed children under 3 years of age, or debilitated older persons, depending upon the judgment of the physician.

A Little Gem of a House

Levin Gillen, Architect

Most American families would like to own their own homes. Of course there are some circumstances under which home ownership would not be advisable, such as financial insecurity or temporary establishment in a community due to the nature of one's job, and so on. In these cases, renting, a home or apartment is preferable, if available. But the natural desire of a family to own its own home today is due to the tremendous shortage of good living quarters at reasonable costs.

Hence this house was designed with these thoughts in mind of securing a good architect and building at reasonable costs for fair material prices. It is not much larger and just as conveniently arranged as an apartment, but with important differences. Each room has cross ventilation. There is a garage opening directly into the kitchen, a generous fireplace in the living room, and off it a sheltered terrace for outdoor living and dining.

The service rooms face the street, leaving to the living rooms the quiet and privacy of the garden exposure. Because of its rust-proof and corrosion resistant qualities Copper tube with soldered fittings is being specified in homes of this type for hot and cold water lines, vent and waste lines and for radiant heating.

The cost of building this home will vary greatly because of the differences in labor and material prices. We suggest you consult your local building contractor or building supply dealer, showing him this house and plan. If you desire additional drawings and plans, a house pattern catalogue is available at publishers cost for 25c by writing Architectural Department, Ladies' Home Journal, Independence Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

'Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus

Just to rest upon his promise,
Just to know "Thus saith the Lord."

Where Can I Find the Plan of Salvation?

Where in the Bible can I find the plan of salvation in actual operation, making Christians out of sinners? Shall I look in Genesis, in Psalms, in Romans, or Revelation?

One can read the Old Testament all his life without finding the plan of salvation! The Law of Moses was given to the Jews, and was never intended for the Gentiles. We cannot go blindly to the old law for the plan of salvation, or for justification for some religious practice. Hebrews 10:9, 19 says " . . . He taketh away the first (covenant) that he may establish the second, by the which will we are sanctified. . . " Do we believe the Old Testament? Certainly we do, but it is a law that has fulfilled its purpose, and has been replaced by another. (Col. 2:13, 14).

The books of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John record the life of Jesus. You cannot find the plan of salvation in actual operation in their books because the covenant was not yet in force. "For a testament is in force after men are dead; otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth." Heb. 9:17. Then a salvation before the death of Christ would not be a New Testament Salvation. Neither would a church before the death of Christ be the New Testament Church. We do, however, find in these books a forecast of what the plan of salvation would be (see Mark 16:15, 16), but not the plan in actual operation.

STORK OVERWORKED AT WOODLAWN; HEADS FOR VACATIONLAND

A dilapidated Old Stork, with his bill worn down to the size of a canary's, his legs resembling those of a Pekin duck and shy of any resemblance of tall feathers, was seen heading south late yesterday.

According to those who are up on their ornithology the bird was one that delivered seven babies—five boys and two girls—to Woodlawn hospital on St. Patrick's day and evening. This was a record for the institution's baby department.

One of the nurses remarked yesterday that they were just getting ready to get out their anti-aircraft guns when the Old Bird turned tail and headed Southward. 'Twas a great day for the Irish! — Rochester News-Sentinel.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank all the friends who sent cards and flowers on our Golden Wedding anniversary, especially our Sunday school class at the U. B. church for the lovely vase of flowers.

Indians Ate Acorns

Some of the American Indian tribes considered acorns a staple item in their diet. The acorns were ground in a mortar, soaked in water or put in baskets, set in running water, or boiled in water for two hours to remove the astringent tannin. It is this tannin in the acorns that makes them undesirable as cattle food. The kernels were pounded and the resulting flour was used like cornmeal. Hundreds of thousands of bushels of acorns fall from the acorn trees of the country each season. Some are eaten by squirrels and hogs, but most of them go to waste.

HOW ACCIDENTS HAPPEN

An example of how serious accidents can happen was given at the creek bridge at the south part of town the other evening. Luckily no one was injured, but it was a narrow escape, and if it had of caused injury one could not classify it as carelessness—just the usual way we ordinarily do things.

A tractor was pulling a wagon and the hitch pin wasn't locked. A bump at the bridge released the pin and the pull chains were still attached. The tongue hit the ground and the wagon started up on the tractor and driver. One might imagine that nothing would have happened when the wagon and tractor wheels hit, but such is not the case. The backs of the tractor wheels were going up and the fronts of the wagon wheels were going down, and it doesn't take much speed to literally throw the rear vehicle up and over the one ahead. This has happened in the midget car races with the rear car going completely over the head car and landing several feet ahead of the car that had been in front.

REPORT RABIES START IN THIS COUNTY

Discovery of rabies-diseased dogs in Leesburg and Claypool Wednesday prompted Dr. T. S. Schuldt, of Piercetown, county health officer, to take drastic steps in efforts to prevent further spread of the disease to other parts of the county.

Strict Orders Issued

The county health officer directed (1) all pet owners to keep their dogs and cats not vaccinated within the past six months, tied up on their property for a minimum of 120 days; (2) directed all county law enforcement officers to dispose of any stray dog or cat coming to his notice; (3) requested all principals of public schools to maintain rigid surveillance and control of all playground activity; reporting to law enforcement officers any dog or cat which strays upon the playground area in which pupils are engaged in play or exercise; requested all citizens to notify law enforcement officers if they see or learn of any dog or cat that appears sick.

Dr. Schuldt also warned persons not to kill or otherwise dispose of a dog or cat which is known to have bitten a person, but to keep same tied up untreated for rabies should be administered can be ascertained. This will enable physicians to properly diagnose the person's treatment, whether or not treatment for rabies should be administered proper diagnosis of the animal's oftentimes rabies disease does not show up on a pet for several days after it is first affected.

By JIM MITCHELL

We can't endorse "higher prices" for most commodities, but we do put our stamp of approval on increased licence fees for fishing and hunting. The days of getting fishing or hunting at virtually no cost are gone, and the survival of our great outdoors, as we of this generation have known it, depends on more and better research and better wildlife management. This costs money and only from increased revenue from the sale of licences can the money be obtained.

So it was with interest that we noted an item about Pennsylvania upping their fishing licence fees to $2.00. Also, the tourist can buy a five-day licence for the same price. Two bucks certainly is very little to pay for the privilege of having good fishing—and a state like Pennsylvania will use this extra income to keep its fishing above par.

Probably other states have increased the licence fees for this year, but so far Pennsylvania is the only report Federal Duck Stamp to $2.00, with the of the states think in the same direction about hunting, and that the federal government decides on upping the Federal Duck Stamp to $2.00, with the additional dollar revenue going to enforcement of the waterfowl laws.

NEW TREND: With authentic reports coming from many states about lakes and streams being over-stocked with pan fish—and even other species—it is interesting to watch the way conservation officials are adapting the rules and regulations to improve the situation.

Wisconsin is opening some lakes for longer periods of fishing and eliminating creel limits on certain species or increasing the legal take. Missouri has abolished the minimum lengths for 1948 on the black bass and the walleyed pike, known locally as the jack salmon. A fisherman in the "Show Me" state can keep everything he catches, regardless of size. Creel limits, however, remain the same as last year.

FACTS 'N' FIGURES: Sandworms and bloodworms, used as live bait in salt water fishing, are the basis for a $250,000 a year industry in Maine, where 200 diggers are employed from March through December. . . They sell for a minimum of six cents a worm. . . Nat-

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

TO ATTEND YOUTH CONFERENCE

Dr. Robert E. Jewett, director, Division of Maternal and Child Health, Indiana State Board of Health, will represent the Indiana State Board of Health at the meeting for Community Planning for Children and Youth to be held in Washington, D. C., March 30, April 1, in preparation for the 1950 White House Conference.

Four other Indiana organizations will be represented at the preliminary meeting. The League of Women Voters will be represented by its president, Mrs. John K. Goodwin, Indianapolis; Mrs. Robert F. Shank, Indianapolis, president of the American Congress of Parent-Teachers, will attend. Otto F. Walls, Indianapolis, administrator, Department of Public Welfare, and Miss Esther Burrin, Indianapolis, of the State Department of Public Instruction, will represent these departments.

The meeting in March is called for the purpose of planning child health-welfare activities which can be obtained before 1950. The White House Conference in 1950 will be the fifth conference of its kind. President Theodore Roosevelt called the first conference in 1919, and other conferences were held in 1920, 1930, 1940.

FARM STUDY REVEALS PRODUCTION COSTS

Opportunities for lowering labor and actual dollars costs of livestock production were revealed by the variations found in livestock production costs and practices of 40 Indiana farms located in Fayette, Rush and Shelby counties, according to a recent study made by Dr. L. S. Hardin and Francis Lacey, Jr., of the department of agricultural economics, Purdue University.

Results of the study are included in the new circular, "Livestock Production Costs on 40 Indiana Farms, published by the Agricultural Experiment Station. Copies are available free from the county agricultural agent or the university.

It was shown that the hog enterprise should be as large as is consistent with the over-all livestock program and the farmer's ability and that small herds of 11 sows were less efficient than large herds. Management recommendations for the dairy herd advocated avoidance of costly equipment and labor for the small herd and that buildings and equipment must work for the dairyman. Shortening the winter feeding period and the length of the lambing season decreased labor costs of the sheep herd.

The authors asserted that work methods should be studied so that an easy, effective way of doing chores can be devised.

CAN NOW TRAVEL ALCAN. HIGHWAY

Effective immediately, all travel restrictions on the Alaska highway have been abolished. Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, has announced.

Motorists with a flair for outdoor adventure under pioneer motoring conditions may now drive from the U. S.-Canadian border at Fairbanks, Alaska, without permits or other restrictions formerly imposed by the Canadian government, Mr. Hayes said.

The Motor Club's touring officials report that it is inadvisable to plan a trip before July, due to the Spring break-up, and then only if arrangements for accommodations along the route have been made in advance.

Making possible the lifting of travel restrictions is the availability of about 50 service facilities scattered at points along the 1,523 mile stretch of gravel, all-weather road between Dawson Creek, British Columbia, and Fairbanks, in addition to a series of camp grounds equipped with cooking shelters by the Canadian government, Mr. Hayes said.

The Club warns that despite the increase in service facilities, motorists undertaking the trip should be equipped for camping and to make minor repairs on their cars. American citizens bound for Alaska are not required to have passports at the Canadian border, but they must obtain permits to hunt or fish.

Tourists are expected to be largest users of the highway during the summer months of July, August and September when the best travel conditions prevail, but the Club also expects hunters, fishermen, and homeseekers to be attracted by reports of good trout and salmon fishing and an abundance of bear, elk, deer and moose.

LESS FREE TICKETS TO STATE FAIR THIS YEAR

Even wives and families of board members will have to pay this year if they want to see the Indiana State Fair, Louis J. Demberger, of Stewartville, fair president, said in announcing that there will no free tickets issued for the annual Hoosier show.

The decision to halt the promiscuous handing out of free tickets was reached by the fair board following lengthy discussions on the subject. An investigation revealed that the number of free admission tickets had been increased gradually through the years.

"The Indiana Fair Board is following similar action taken by fairs of neighboring states where they also discovered that the free ticket problem was reaching alarming proportions," Mr. Demberger said.

He added that issuance of tickets this year will be kept under strict supervision and only fair employees and members of the press and radio will receive gate passes.

"The Fair Board feels that this business of broadcasting free passes is unfair to the many thousands of persons who annually drive up to the gates and gladly pay their way into the grounds."

HERE IS OUTLINE OF 1948
FISHING PICTURE IN STATE

This year's Hoosier fish picture, as briefly outlined by the Indiana Department of Conservation, is this:

Closed season May 1 to June 15 (both dates inclusive) on northern pike, wall-eyed pike, silver bass and large mouth, small mouth and Kentucky bass.

Open trout season extends from May 1 to August 31 (both dates inclusive).

Closed season removed for this year on bluegill, yellow perch, rock bass (red eye), crappie and red-eared sun fish.

Open year-around season, as usual, on all species not listed above.

Bag limits and size limits remain the same as last year's.

The Conservation Department removed the closed season on five species of panfish after receiving evidence that the food supply in Indiana lakes and streams is inadequate for the number of fish. It was pointed out that this order was necessary for the protection and propagation of the fish.

This rule, effective only for 1948, was signed by John H. Nigh, director of the Department of Conservation, and Donald R. Hughes, state Fish and Game Director. It also bears the signatory approval of Governor Ralph F. Gates and Attorney General Cleon H. Foust.

HARD GOING IN THE FINAL STRETCH OF SHADES DRIVE

Although the goal of the Save the Shades drive is almost in sight, Henry S. Wood, state coordinator of this campaign, pointed out that "the last few thousand dollars are the hardest to get."

Purchase price of this beautiful, 1.452 acre tract is $250,000, while an additional $50,000 is needed for improvements there. Last week's report showed total Shades collections, in both cash and pledges, to be slightly more than $230,000.

"The final stretch is the most difficult," Wood said. "We need only a few thousand dollars to complete the purchase price but we are finding it a slow task to raise this sum."

The money will be raised, however, and the Shades acquired as Indiana's 15th state park. The Shades now is being operated by the Indiana Department of Conservation under a lease arrangement.

Earlier, Shades officials had expressed hope that the campaign could be concluded by April 1. In order that a complete financial picture may be obtained, Wood urged that all Shades money now collected be turned in as soon as possible.

New contributions, which would be welcomed heartily, may be mailed to "Save the Shades, Indianapolis, Ind."

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Zelda Lash on April 28.

TEST YOUR BRAKES

Motorists leaving flooded areas or driving through heavy rain storms should test their brakes before resuming normal driving speeds, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, cautioned.

Explaining that wet brake bands often render brakes partially or totally useless, Mr. Hayes said that this temporary condition could be corrected by repeatedly applying the brakes gently while driving at slow speeds. The resulting heat from the friction produced would dry the bands, restoring the brakes to normal usefulness, he said.

INFLATION HAS NOT AFFECTED THESE PRICES

Do you realize that during the past few years while all commodity prices and the cost of all other services have shown a marked increase, the cost to you for the services available at your bank, including the rate of interest on loans, has remained at pre-war levels? This does not mean, however, that the cost of providing these services has not increased materially. To the contrary, the cost of supplies, equipment, labor and other items of overhead necessary in providing these services has increased proportionately with that of other commodities and services, but fortunately your bank has been in a position to absorb these increased costs.

The principal source of revenue for a bank is interest from loans and investments, which during this period have commanded exceedingly low rates. For instance, the average yield on all funds invested in United States Treasury Bonds held by this bank is 1½% per year, while invested in these bonds are your saving accounts upon which we are paying you 1% interest, in addition to the taxes and insurance premium on all the deposits held by the bank, making the cost to us on savings account deposits equal to 1½%, and the cost on checking account deposits equal to ½% per year. The average rate of interest on all loans held by this bank is approximately 5½%, and reference to past Statements of Condition of most banks will reveal that their loans equal only 20 to 30% of their total deposits. Of these total deposits banks are required by state law to carry 12½% of all demand deposits and 3% of all time deposits in a cash reserve which, of course, produces no revenue. In view of the limited income from these two principal sources it is necessary that banks manage their affairs in such a manner that they recover a part of the costs of the more expensive and important services such as that of maintaining a checking account department. In this department alone is involved an investment of several thousands of dollars in machinery and equipment, together with the costs of checks, deposit tickets, ledger and statement sheets, a great amount of labor and supplies incident thereto, and the checking account service charge has been universally adopted as a means of permitting the customers of this department to pay a part of the costs of the convenient service it affords.

But here, too, your bank has not passed along to you any of the increase cost. Our service charge schedule is the same as when it was adopted in 1937.

So, when you are thinking of the high costs of living and where you might reduce the items of expense on your budget you cannot afford to dispense with your checking account and the safety and convenience it affords.

Likewise, if you contemplate the purchase of an automobile, household appliances or the improvement of your home or farm buildings, or if you need funds for financing your spring planting and the purchase of new equipment we invite you to avail yourself of our many services which we offer at pre-war prices.

SANITATION PREVENTS ROUND WORMS IN PIGS

Prevent worms in pigs and there will be no need of a worming job following weaning, John Schwab, Purdue University extension animal husbandryman says.

To prevent worms in little pigs the hog man recommends the following procedures:

Remove all litter and dirt from the farrowing pens several days before farrowing; then scrub the pens with boiling water, using one pound of lye to 20 gallons of water. After the pens are dry, use clean dry bedding which has not been in contact with hogs.

Brush the dirt from the body of the sows. Move sows to clean farrowing quarters a week before farrowing starts. The most satisfactory farrowing quarters for the prevention of parasites are clean, comfortable, individual houses located on land previously kept free from hogs for about one year.

Pigs should not be allowed to visit the old contaminated hog lots for at least three months or longer.

Schwab explained that the common round worm is found frequently in large numbers in the small intestines of pigs at about weaning time or later. Common symptoms are an unthrifty condition and hunger. In severe cases the hair gets rough, the pigs are stunted, and occasionally the worms cause death.

The worms while in the intestines of the pigs, produce eggs which are scattered over the ground with feces. Other pigs pick up these eggs. In their life cycle, the worms cause considerable damage to the liver, lungs and small intestines.

Prevention of these parasites is more practical than to allow the pigs to become wormy and then give them a vermifuge, the hog man stressed.

HOW TO PREPARE MEALS THAT WILL "MEASURE UP"

There is no need for the homemaker to worry about what to have for breakfast, lunch and dinner for a while if she has a copy of the "Meals That Measure Up." One of the outstanding features of this new leaflet by Lois Oberhelman and Anna Paul Rainier, extension nutrition specialists of the Purdue University staff, is a week's planned menu of meals that really measure up from the money, nutrition and taste angles.

More than just furnishings home-makers with a week's ready-made menus, this leaflet gives definite principles which are helpful in planning healthful and economical meals the year around. Appetite appeal, variety in preparation, and attractiveness and appetizing flavor combination are all part of serving meals that measure up to recognized standards of nutrition.

"Meals That Measure Up" contains a score card for meals. The homemaker might have all the family help her in this project of seeing how her meals score. The selection, preparation, service of food are to be scored along with the atmosphere and hospitality present during the mealtime. It takes the cooperation of every family member to make meal time a true success.

To get a copy of "Meals That Measure Up," write to the Home Economics Extension Service, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana.

Egg production in Indiana has increased rapidly, particularly in recent years, according to Purdue agricultural economists. This increase is the result of better poultry, improved methods (partly induced by better markets), and more culling of non-laying hens. The rate of production tends to increase in periods of industrial prosperity and decrease in periods of depression.

Where Can I Find the Plan of Salvation?

In last week's article, we learned that the plan of salvation in operation was not to be found in the Old Testament, and neither could it be found in actual operation in the first four books of the New Testament, except a forecast of what the plan would be. See Matt. 28:19-20; Mark 16:15, 16.)

Now from Romans to Revelation we have a group of letters written to people who were already saved. We could not expect the plan of salvation to be found in operation saving saved people. We do find the apostles calling to the mind of the saved what they had done when they were saved. (Rom. 6:3, 4; Gal. 3:26, 27).

Having failed to find the plan in operation in the Old Testament; in the first four books of the New; nor from Romans to Revelations, we turn to the one remaining book in the Bible: Acts of the Apostles. Jesus had commanded them to go make disciples. Here they go, making disciples. Let's go with them. Let's read the book which records the actions of the apostles. In reading the book, we find the plan of salvation in actual operation, making saints out of sinners no less than eight times. The first one we want to consider is found in Acts 2:1-47. Will you turn there and read it for yourself? Ask yourself these questions: What did these people ask? When did they believe? What were they told to do? Did they do it? Were they saved?

REDUCE CROP ACREAGE, YET GROW MORE GRAIN

The test demonstration farm program under way in Indiana, pointing the way to good soil conservation practices, is cited by the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Service in observance of Soil Conservation Week, April 5 to 12.

The 39 cooperation farmers in 33 counties have proved that they can reduce their acreages of corn, wheat and oats and still grow more grain. A three year average corn yield on test demonstration farms before the program was started, was 44 bushels per acre. A three year average taken after the program was started shows that corn yields increased to 72 bushels per acre. During the same period, hay yields almost doubled.

These farmers have operated their farms under plans worked out in cooperation with the Extension Service.

A typical test farm is that of Howard Beard in Allen County. Under the improved plan, he reduced his crop acres from 98.3 to 67.6 acres and increased his pasture from one acre to 30.7 acres. His crop yields were: corn, 75 bushels; wheat, 34 bushels; oats, 45 bushels; hay, two tons; as compared with yields from the old methods which were: corn, 40 bushels; wheat, 22 bushels; oats, 18 bushels; and hay, one ton.

Fertilizer used was stepped up to 7.5 tons from 1.5 tons earlier and 267 tons of limestone were used in contrast to practically none before planning.

Some objectives of the program are to demonstrate sound cropping systems, fertilization practices and soil management methods that will control erosion and maintain or improve soil productivity. Other objectives are to cooperate with the Tennessee Valley Authority to demonstrate the use of high analysis phosphate under actual farm conditions, and to develop ultimately a pattern of farming that will combine all the resources on the farms so that soil fertility will be maintained and maximum long time farm income will be obtained.

"THE BIG BABY REVUE"

The Mentone Lions Club is going to put on a comedy show on the evening of April 23 at the Mentone Community Building. This is to be a "baby" revue with an all male cast and it is expected that it will be comedy at its best. (Advance information indicates that speaking parts will be limited, but that won't make much difference. There'll be so much laughing going on you couldn't hear it anyway.)

The show is sponsored and directed by professional talent. All the proceeds of the show will go to the local club, but the directors will receive their compensation from an advertising program to be distributed at the show. They will solicit this advertising, and promise no high-pressure methods. No advertisement is to cost over $10 and less costly spaces will be available. If these specifications are not adhered to in the soliciting, the Lions club urges that the facts be reported immediately.

More information regarding the show will appear in a later issue.
