DIES AT SOUTH BEND

Erle Leverta Rader Singleton died at her home in South Bend on Feb. 25, 1949.

Mrs. Singleton was born at Mentone January 27, 1890, to Daniel & Hester (Fawley) Rader. She lived in Mentone until she was 13 years of age when the family moved to South Bend.

On July 25, 1905 she was married to Charles Singleton, who survives. She also leaves 12 children; one sister, Martha Plummer; and a brother, Charles Rader.

Mrs. Singleton's mother and Mrs. Adam Bowen's mother were sisters.

CARL GEORGE KLECK BURIED

Funeral services for Carl George Kleck, 34, who apparently committed suicide in Louisville, Ky., last Friday night were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the William Coyle home at Burket. Rev. David Brant, of Warsaw, officiated, and burial was in Palestine cemetery.

Mr. Kleck, who formerly resided in Burket, shot himself in a taxicab at Louisville, according to word received from officers of the Louisville homicide division. He had been in Warsaw only last week and was apparently in good spirits.

The Johns funeral home in Mentone was in charge of arrangements.

LOCAL LEGION POST TO FINANCE NURSES TRAINING PROGRAM

The Mentone Post 425, American Legion, at their last post meeting voted unanimously to sponsor a girl from this or a surrounding community as a nurse trainee.

This program, being conceived by the 40 & 8, honor society of the American Legion, is nation-wide with the view in mind to relieve the present shortage of nurses in hospitals and medical institutions.

Further details concerning the selection of the candidate will be announced at a later date.

Boy's State

The announcement was also made of the post's decision to send a boy to Boys' State in June of this year.

The Boys' State activity is an essential part of the National Americanism program of the American Legion.

Briefly, it is a program of education. The purpose is to teach the youth of today, and especially the youth of high school age, that there is nothing wrong with our form of government today, that it has not outworn its usefulness, that it is just as useful, just as practical now as the day it was founded; that all it needs is an intelligent citizenry and a clean, honest and impartial administration.

Each year every Legion post in the state is given the opportunity to send a boy, who must meet these qualifications:

He must have completed his junior year in high school, be in good health physically, mentally and morally, and be an outstanding citizen in his community.

The Hoosier Boys' State is held at the Indiana School for the Deaf on June 11 to 18. The candidate will be selected by the local post with the cooperation of school officials in this and surrounding communities.

SYRACUSE BOYS WIN SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT

Syracuse high school won the final game in the sectional basketball tournament held at Warsaw last week, when they defeated Warsaw high school 57 to 53 Saturday night.

The Syracuse boys fell far behind in the first half of the game, being nine points behind at end of two quarters of play. However, they came back strong in the second half and managed to hold Warsaw's scoring down better than in the first half.

Mentone failed to get in gear in their first game with Pierceton and were defeated 48 to 41. Pierceton scored 10 points before Mentone finally connected with a foul shot. The opponents then went on to 14 before the local boys were able to score again. They came back with a strong third period and came within two points of tying the score, but couldn't continue the scoring spree.

Other tournament scores, in the order played, are as follows:

Etna Green 40, Claypool 27.
Beaver Dam 51, Lerwill 45.
Sidney 32, Burket 29.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET TO BE HELD FRIDAY EVENING

Friday evening, March 4, at 6:30 o'clock will be held a father and son banquet at the Mentone Methodist church. A fine program has been arranged and the proceeds are to be used for youth recreation at the church.

FINE RESPONSE TO TALENT NIGHT

Last word from Mrs. Dean Goshert, who is publicity chairman, says that the response to the Talent Night being sponsored by the Burket P. T. A. has been fine. Seven schools in the county have sent in a large variety of numbers and acts, and the evening promises to be one of interest for everyone.

The proceeds from the evening's performance will go toward buying playground equipment.

The date is Wednesday evening, March 16, at the Burket school. Tickets are 30c for children and 60c for adults, and may be purchased from your music instructor, or at the door on the evening of the program. Two door prizes, valued at $25, are to be given away.

Judges for the evenings performance are: Mrs. Helen Eshleman, North Webster; Basil O'Reilly, Warsaw; and Albert Trestrail, Pierceton.

Don't forget the date—Wednesday evening, March 16. The Burket P. T. A. welcomes all who are interested in better playgrounds, county talent, and a grand evening of entertainment.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR
STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Approximately 542,205 more people are living in Indiana than were here in 1940, according to revised population estimates released today by Dr. Robert Serfling, director, Division of Public Health Statistics, Indiana State Board of Health.

The revised population estimates, prepared in cooperation with the Indiana Economic Council, include estimates for Indiana, its counties, and cities of more than 10,000 population in 1940. The estimates are the basis for birth and death rates.

An increase in population is shown in all of the ninety-two counties as compared to the 1940 census with the exception of thirteen which include, Benton, Clay, Orange, Owen, Parke, Perry, Pike, Sullivan, Switzerland, Union, Vermillion, Warren and Washington.

Dr. Serfling pointed out that the state's estimates include estimated natural increase during the first six months of 1949 and the county estimates were weighted by 1947 population estimates of the Indiana Economic Council which included an estimate of local migration based on school enrollment data.

RECORD PRICE FOR ONE SHORTHORN CALF

A new record price for a 4½ month old calf of $4,500.00 was paid by Mr. & Mrs. E. M. Sims, owners of Elcona Farms, Elkhart, Indiana, for Sunset Bounce 14th, a promising red son of Cruggleton Bounce.

The calf was bred and sold by Otis A. Carter & Son, Sunset Farms, Eldorado, Illinois. This calf is a half-brother to the sensational group of calves sired by Cruggleton Bounce that won a majority of the group prizes at the great 1948 International under the Argentine judge, Enrique Santamarina. Carter's Shorthorns won the coveted "Get-of-Sire," "Bull and Female," "Pair of Bulls" and "Pair of Yearlings" in the strongest competition ever known.

It is unusual for an untried calf of this age to command such a purchase price, but the outstanding conformation plus the proven performance of his half-brothers and sisters led Mr. and Mrs. Sims to believe that it was worth what little gamble might remain in his selection. Both Sunset and Elcona Shorthorns are favorably known throughout this country and productions from them have strengthened Shorthorn herds from coast to coast.

TWO ARRESTED FOR WATERING STOCK REMEDY

Livestock remedies which have been sold to dealers in Marshall county under the name of Eagle Laboratories, of New Lisbon, Ind., are from 83 to 92 per cent water, with salt and coloring added, according to chemists from Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind. This was brought out after the arrests of Lafe Goldman, 52, and Charles Thompson, 58, New Castle, Ind., who are charged with misbranding, failing to tag and register stock remedies and feeds and with obtaining money under false pretenses.

According to sheriff's officers, they arrested the men after a dealer, who had driven to their cabin along the Tippecanoe river, reported he saw them filling one of their five-gallon jugs with water from the river. He said the jug resembled those used to hold the 'remedies,' sold as liquid minerals, and he reported it to sheriff's officers. The latter called the Purdue chemists. The 'remedies' sold for $5 a gallon.

According to officers, the men have been active in various parts of Indiana. The sales were all made to dealers.

LESTER NICHOLS IS DENIED APPEAL

His appeal to the United States Supreme Court turned down, Lester Nichols, 44, former Silver Lake junk dealer, faces death in the electric chair on Friday, March 4. Nichols' only hope now appears to be in the hands of Governor Frank J. Lausche, of Ohio.

Last November, Nichols was granted an indefinite stay of execution only 24 hours before he was scheduled to die in the electric chair at the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. His appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court was turned down earlier this month, and the new date of execution set for March 4.

Nichols attempted to murder his wife at Akron, Indiana, August 2, 1946, and then May 6 entered his father-in-law's home and killed him. The same time he again shot his wife, and although seriously wounded, she managed to recover a second time.

A VERSE FOR HARRY

One of our readers quoted the following verse and suggested that we send it to President Truman as a subtle suggestion of future deportment. (We refer especially to Pres. Truman's name calling of Pearson who had criticized Maj. Gen. Vaughan for accepting a decoration from a foreign country.)

The verse follows:
If wisdom's ways you wisely seek,
Five things observe with care—
Of whom you speak, to whom you speak,
And how, and when, and where.

The person giving us the verse asked to have his name omitted. Wouldn't be surprised if he expected an immediate come-back from Roundtree Kubley.

Beginning in the second quarter of 1949, meat output promises to exceed that of the same period in 1948. However, the difference will be small, according to information from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, received at Purdue University. In the last quarter, output will surpass last year substantially only if hogs are marketed fairly early in the season.

A new use for corn cobs is announced by the Northern Regional Research Laboratory, Peoria, Illinois, according to information received at Purdue University. White corncobs, ground and sieved to a fineness comparable to cornmeal, are satisfactory in soap containing a mild abrasive. Cobs from white hybrid corn and pop corn are also suitable.

LARGE BROODER HOUSE PROVES TO BE SAVING

The growing tendency toward flocks of 300 or more hens has led a number of poultrymen to replace the usual 10 x 12 foot portable brooder house with a larger, permanently located brooder house. In place of the portable one, range shelters are being used when the pullets are ready to go on pasture.

Joe W. Sicer, extension poultryman, Purdue University, says that a permanent 14 x 30 foot brooder house can be built for less than the cost of three 10 x 12 foot brooder houses. Part of the saving can offset the expense of insulation of the permanent house. Furthermore, less heat is required for the one large house than for the three small buildings and less time is required to care for chicks when all the chicks are in the same building. The poultryman caring for the chicks avoids the exposure to repeated changes from warm air of a small brooder house to the chilling blasts of cold when going from house to house.

Cockerel chicks can be finished for broilers in the brooder house when the pullets are transferred to portable range shelters when brooding heat is no longer needed.

The poultryman points out that if a permanent brooder house is used the chicks should not be allowed to run over contaminated ground surrounding the house. A well fenced double yarding system could be established, or the chicks could be confined to the house or to a small exercise run covered with gravel four or five inches deep.

Some poultrymen are using the permanent brooder house in late summer and fall to house pullets that have been raised in excess of the number that can be handled in the laying house. Before the brooder house is needed for the new crop of chicks, culling will have reduced the size of the pullet flock to the point where all pullets can be transferred to the laying house.

NAVY VIGNETTE

Navy Squadrons VR-6 and VR-8 joined the Berlin Airlift last November and were kidded considerably for their nautical terminology by their Air Force colleagues. The Air Force soon learned that the deck is the Navy term for the runway, that port is left and starboard right, that an R5D is a C-54, that an airplane is what they call a ship, and that a head is a latrine.

Lt. Ormond C. Fowler, USN, learned that the Air Force does not consider "wheels" to be an automobile. He taxied into his hard-stand, or parking ramp, at Rhein-main one morning after a flight to Berlin, called the tower, and requested that a "set of wheels" be sent out to the plane. The tower "rogered." When Fowler cut the engines of his R5D, he saw, not the crew pickup he had expected, but a set of nose and main gear wheels for the R5D. "Wheels" to the Air Force are wheels!

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

It is painful for a fisherman ever to admit that he has been outwitted by some finny gamester. Yet on many occasions we have been unable to cope with bass, trout, bluegills and other fresh water battlers. Always these defeats have been attributed to our failure in properly presenting an artificial lure or baited hook; never have we thought that the fish were just too smart for us.

Now, however, we may have to change this reasoning for a fellow in Illinois offers the suggestion that in certain instances the fish are entirely too smart for the fisherman to catch. This fellow also believes that certain species are smarter than others, and to prove his theories on the I. Q. of fish he and his assistant are conducting daily experiments.

Dr. George Bennett, veteran aquatic biologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey, long has preached that more lakes are overstocked with fish than understocked. This partially results, he thinks, from the fish reaching such a high mental status that they learn to tell the difference between natural food and an artificial lure or a hook with bait on it.

The job of conducting these tests has fallen to Arthur Witt, Jr., Dr. Bennett's assistant, and daily he goes fishing in a fish bowl in the Survey's glass testing ground. The experiments follow this pattern:

First, Witt takes some unsuspecting fish and puts it in the bowl; then he tosses in a free worm for the finny guinea pig to nibble on and to work up a cooperative appetite. Following this Witt tosses in a hook baited with a worm—and if the fish bites at it, he gets the shock of his life. Actually an electric current is generated into the hook and this gives the fish a shock that stuns him. If the fish does not take another bite within 10 minutes at the electrified hook and worm, Witt figures the fish has learned his lesson well, tosses in a free worm for compensation, and then starts all over again with another "student."

If the experiments bear out Dr. Bennett's theories that certain species are smarter than others, the biologist has the rest all figured out too. And his system will make everybody happy—that is, everybody but the fish—for Dr. Bennett suggests that all waters be stocked with dumb species that will be easy to catch. Then a fisherman never will have to admit that a fish is smarter than he is!

NEW GROUND HOG HOMES

MAY BE TROUBLE SPOTS

Signs of the waking up of the ground hog, alias the woodchuck, are being sighted by farmers with the coming of the warm February days. G. C. Oederkirk of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, located at Purdue University, says that many farmers will find drain tiles plugged and ditch banks undermined as the ground hog excavates for his 1949 home.

The rodent control specialist recommends the use of calcium cyanide as a control measure. A tablespoonful of calcium cyanide can be placed at arms length into the ground hog's burrow and the mouth of the passage blocked with a spade of sod, thereby forming a deadly gas chamber for the ground hog when he attempts to leave the burrow.

A new control method now on the market is a gas cartridge which is similar to a fire cracker. The cartridge is lighted, thrust as far as possible into the burrow and the mouth of the burrow sealed with a spade of sod. Upon the explosion of the cartridge, poisonous gases are released.

Mr. Oederkirk explains that an agreement is in effect between the Fish and Wildlife Service and the state conservation department which permits use of the explosive cartridge or cyanide only during spring months when no other game animals inhabit the ground hog burrows.

It is the habit of the ground hog to spend the winter sleeping in his den, comfortably located below the frost line. Upon waking, he ceases to be host to other animals who have made his den their winter home. With the coming of spring, he finds a mate and begins his typical housecleaning, recognized by the small piles of dirt heaped before the opening. This sign can assure hunters that only woodchucks are living in the burrows.

A total of 10,607,000 bushels of soybeans were reported on Indiana farms in January of this year as compared with 7,508,000 bushels in the same period a year ago, according to information received at Purdue University from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. However, 1,571,000 tons of hay were reported on Hoosier farms for the same period this year as compared with 1,738,000 tons in January the year previous.

ATTENTION POULTRYMEN!

A Definite Feeding and Management Program for Your Chicks

Dear Poultryman:

Once again the chick season has arrived, and everything points to good poultry prices and good egg prices again next Fall. So we would like to offer you a few suggestions on management, breeding and feeding which are all closely connected if you want to be a successful poultryman.

1. GET CHICKS YOU KNOW ARE GOOD

It costs no more to raise good pullets. In fact, it costs less for your losses are less and your profits more. The foundation of your whole year's work and profits will be laid when you buy your chicks. Be sure they are good enough to justify the labor, brooding expense and the feed that will go into them

2. FOLLOW PROVEN, GOOD MANAGEMENT PRACTICES

Proper care and management must be followed, with even the best of chicks. Clean, comfortable brooding conditions reduce the disease hazard and provide the best and lowest cost chick health insurance.

3. FOLLOW THE MASTER MIX CHICK FEEDING AND MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Feed Master Mix Chick Starter with Methio-Vite (Mash or crumble form) or Banner Chick Starter made from Master Mix Chick Concentrate with Methio-vite—for a fast get-a-way start.

Little chicks at the start eat so little feed—about a spoonful a day, yet each spoonful must be properly balanced with growth promoting proteins, vitamins and minerals.

Master Mix Chick Starter or our own Banner Chick Starter made from Master Mix Chick Concentrate, both of which contain that magic vitality element—M.V.—Methio-Vite, will give your chicks rapid and economical growth.

Come in and let us explain to you in detail how the Master Mix Feeding Program can help you to raise bigger and better chicks, faster and more economically, and also pick up the copy of "Poultry Management for Profit" book we are holding for you.

Colds May Be Measles

While children are the usual victims, adults can contract measles. When they do, they become very ill. Measles has the appearance of a simple cold when it strikes. There is cough, sneezing, runny nose and fever of 101 or 102 degrees, sometimes even higher. Persons afflicted with measles are very sensitive to light. Their eyes often give forth a discharge and should be washed frequently with boracic acid solution.

Good Luck Stone

In nature, jade takes two main forms—jadeite, called true or imperial jade, and the tougher though not quite so hard nephrite, which is considered less valuable. Colors vary from deep green or black to pure milk-white or cream tinted, with rarer finds of yellow, red, mauve and mottled. When polished, jade takes a silky, oil-smooth finish, and is rated by experts inferior if dry to the touch. Carved into a thousand and one shapes, of valuable or cheap quality, jade through the centuries often has been assigned magical properties for bringing happiness and good luck to its possessors. It has been used in knives and axheads, and also worn proudly by queens in necklaces.

ART EXHIBIT AT

TOLEDO MARCH 22-31

Toledo will become the temporary art capital of the country beginning March 22, when people from all over Ohio and from many surrounding states converge upon this city for the first showing in the United States of the European masterpieces from the Berlin Museums.

This is the collection of famous paintings all but one of which, prior to World War II, were housed in the Kaiser Frederick Museum in Berlin. They were hidden by Hitler in a salt mine at Merkers, Germany during the last days of Berlin. A short time later they were found by American troops of the 90th Infantry Division. The paintings are now concluding a tour of 13 American cities, after which they will be returned to Germany.

The exhibition of Toledo will continue for 10 days, from March 22 through March 31. More than 100,000 persons are expected to view the world-renowned paintings during their showing at the Toledo Museum of Art.

Inquiries already received indicate that large numbers of people expect to visit the exhibition from many distant cities. Requests for information have come in from cities and towns in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Ontario. This wide spread interest to stem from the fact that only by going abroad will Americans ever again have a chance to see these paintings, many of which are known, through reproductions, to millions all over the world.

The $50,000,000 collection includes works of such great masters as Rembrandt, Titian, Rubens, Bouccini, Vermeer, Frans Hals, Benini, Holwein, Watteau and many others.

As in other cities where the paintings have been exhibited, the U. S. Army requests that a 25-cent admission

The number of home freezers on Indiana farms almost tripled from March, 1947, to March, 1948—approximately 12,000 freezers in the latter year as compared with 4,000 freezers a year ago. In March of 1946, there were only 2,000 freezers on Hoosier farms, according to a recent report of the department of agricultural economics of Purdue University.

"Proof of the pudding is in the eating" is an old saw which can't be disputed. But there are other factors which contribute to an appetizing meal, eye appeal being one of the most important. For whoever drooled over a "white" dinner of pork chops, whipped potatoes and cauliflower, no matter how tastefully each dish was prepared?

With color so necessary in the planning of an appetizing menu, it is natural that it is important in table settings as well. And with Spring coming on, don't you want some gay, new table linens? And what better way could you get them than by making them right now while the few remaining weeks of cold weather keep you close to the fireside?

Let your china guide the choice of colors and let individual color preferences take you from there. But first, before rushing out to purchase new materials, take a look to see what good fabrics are lying around not in use, say a fruit stained damask cloth or even an old, ripped sheet. Has it ever occurred to you that they can be artistically converted into lovely place mats? Like this.

If it is a tablecloth, worn and stained, first give it a refreshing bath in a white color remover which takes out the ugly spots. Next cut into place mats and napkins. Then with all-purpose dye, which comes in so many pretty colors, turn these mats and napkins into fresh Springtime shades.

China with pastel designs is at its best on pale mats, such as blue, pink, yellow or green. Pottery colors however call for more exotic settings as flamboyant reds, yellows and greens.

Hemstitching, lace, embroidery or rickrack braid all make attractive finishes for your new hand-made table linens — linens which you'll be proud to show off as your own "hand-made."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. E. E. ## FUNERAL HELD MONDAY FOR BURKET YOUNG MAN

Sherman (Bud) Summers, aged 27, of Burket, was buried in the Oakwood cemetery at Warsaw Monday. Funeral services were held at the Burket Methodist church at two o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. Robert Spoolstra, of Milford, assisted by Rev. Culver, of Burket, officiated. The Johns funeral home, of Mentone, was in charge, and the Mentone American Legion post conducted military rites at the services.

Young Summers was injured when the car he was driving overturned on highway 13, less than a quarter of a mile south of the Monroe township school building at about 10:30 o'clock Friday evening. He was accompanied by Leo Colvin, 26, of Wabash, and both of them were students at Manchester College. Summers died enroute to the hospital in the Ashley ambulance, of Pierceton. He had a crushed chest and internal injuries. Indications were the car wheel struck the soft borm of the road and then turned over several times. Colvin remained in the car while Summers was thrown out and possibly under the vehicle as it rolled.

Summers served as captain in the Fifth air force in Panama in World War II. He spent six years in the service with 18 months spent in New Guinea. It is reported he had over 60 missions overseas and was forced to bail out over in Ohio after his return to the states, without injury, but he narrowly escaped death when the plane he and "Chick" Herendeen were flying at the Mentone Airport in October, 1947, crashed from a low altitude. Summers suffered two broken legs and a broken nose, but had recovered.

Sherman Ray Summers, Jr., was born in Middletown, Ind., Jan. 30, 1922. He had resided in Burket 16 years, and on Dec. 23, 1944 he was married to Jacqueline Sandlin. He was a member of the Burket Methodist church, and the Mentone Masonic Lodge and American Legion. His wife is a music instructor in the Burket schools.

Surviving are his wife and daughter, Connie Rae, aged 3; his mother, Mrs. Guido Davis, and a half-sister, Mary Justine Williams, all of Burket; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Modlin, of Daleville, Ind., and his step-father, Guido Davis, of Burket.

SINGING "SCHOOL" AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

For several Friday nights to come, there will be a study of singing at the Church of Christ.

Jay Church, who is music director at the Waterloo Church of Christ, will conduct the studies. This is not intended to be a general study of the "science" or "mechanics" of music, although some attention will be given to the improvement of singing from a musical standpoint. Particular consideration will be given to singing as it relates to Christian worship.

Warren Jones, who is the minister at Waterloo, also will be present at these meetings. He and Jay Church graduated from the David Lipscomb College at Nashville, Tennessee, last year. While in college, these men sang in a male quartet which traveled extensively.

There will be no Thursday evening service while these Friday evening meetings are being held.

Everyone interested in singing is invited to come.

DON'T FORGET THESE DATES!!!

Mrs. Blickenstaff has given us the following events and dates which are important to you school friends and patrons, and to the music department of the school.

Another Penny Supper for the band is planned for Saturday evening, March 26. Details will appear in the next week's Co-Op. News.

The Mentone high school choir will sing at the Akron Church of God on Monday evening, March 16.

PAUL JACKSON TO BE AT LIONS MEETING MARCH 16

Paul Jackson, Kosciusko County Agent, will appear at the regular meeting of the Mentone Lions Club on Wednesday evening, March 16th.

There was a very interesting Lions club meeting last Wednesday evening when Oliver Teel gave us a few facts to think about regarding our known period of history, inventions and the small part each individual life plays in the passage of time.

Charles Manwaring, who recently returned from a cruise to several South American ports, gave a very interesting account of his 17 day trip that carried him some five thousand miles.

Delford Nelson, vice president, served in the absence of the president, Jack VanGilder.

LOCAL FIRM GET JAMESWAY DEALERSHIP

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Northern Indiana Co-Op. Ass'n and Bryan Poultry Farm will handle the nationally known Jamesway line of poultry, barn and hog equipment in the Mentone area. Since 1906 the James Mfg. Co., with branches in Ft. ## COOPERATIVE STOCKHOLDERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The stockholders of the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association met at Mentone Monday afternoon for the annual meeting of the association.

Raymond Lash, chairman of the board of directors, served as chairman, and Everett Rathfon was secretary.

Norma Hudson read the financial report and the statement of operations. Chairman Lash called for a report of the number of regular and special meetings held by the board of directors during 1948. This report showed every director was on hand for almost all of the 16 meetings held, a much better overall average than in past years.

Directors Elected.

The terms of two directors, Raymond Lash and Dr. Emra D. Anderson, expired with this meeting, and the chairman called for nominations from the floor. Raymond Lash, Leroy Norris, Frank Nellans, Dr. Anderson and Russell Creighton were named, with Anderson and Creighton declining the nominations. Raymond Lash and Frank Nellans were elected in the balloting, with the following vote:

Lash—132. Nellans—107. Norris—60.

At a special meeting of the directors after the stockholders' session, Raymond Lash was reelected chairman of the board; Elmer Dickey, vice chairman, and Fred Beeson, secretary. Ed Ward was renamed as general manager. There was no change made in the operating personnel of any of the various cooperative departments.

$24,694.12 In Savings to Patrons.

The statement of operations and savings showed total sales of one and one-eighth million dollars and a saving to patrons of $24,694.12. Of this amount $10,972.00 was returned to the stockholders as interest on their investments and the balance refunded to the patrons.

The financial statement showed the association to have a total of $311,064.58 in current and fixed assets.

At the close of regular business of the association, W. R. Cummins, of the Producers' Marketing Association, said a few words about cooperative marketing of livestock. He emphasized the fact that oftentimes such markets are desired but not exactly needed. He said if the community needs such a market, then his organization would assist in the program.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

The U. S. Forest Service released a raft of information on our national forests and, frankly, we were quite amazed at the extensive U. S. holdings that annually serve as a playground of millions of outdoorsmen.

First, there are 152 national forests scattered through 36 states, Alaska and Puerto Rico, with a total 180,000,000 acres.

This extensive acreage serves in producing timber and grazing land for livestock. In fact, this is an important aspect of the U. S. forests; yet it is the recreational benefits that gain the greatest recognition. For instance, a recent survey shows that more than 2,000,000 head of deer, elk and other big game animals—about one-third of the entire population—live in the national forests. Too, there are approximately 90,000 miles of unposted streams and 1,500,000 acres of fish-producing lakes. And last year 4,500,000 fishermen and hunters practiced their sport in the forests.

Some other facts gleaned from the report of Lyle F. Watts, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, were that the forests contain 4,500 camping and picnicking sites, 230 winter sports areas, 400 organization camps for group outings, 77 wilderness and roadless areas and 50,000 miles of highways and secondary roads. More than 20,000,000 people visit the forests each year, and an estimated 50,000,000 people motor through them annually.

Operating these national forests is big business, and surprisingly enough some of them actually pay their own way with income exceeding expenditures.

The overall cost of operating the forests in 1948 was 32,000,000. In addition about 13,000,000 was spent for roads and in buying new land. These

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

The famed Midnight Ride of Paul Revere is familiar to all of us. But I was amazed to learn that Paul Revere is also famous for many other things. Did you know that Paul Revere was the founder of America's copper and brass industry? Formerly all sheet copper came from foreign countries at a terrific expense, so Paul Revere was really one of this country's pioneers in industry! The original copper industry which he began has been handed down in his own family for three generations, and became the cornerstone for today's nation-wide Revere Copper and Brass, Inc.

It's really surprising how much we depend on copper, isn't it? Automobiles, ships, phones, trains, radio, refrigerators, and hundreds of other conveniences that we take for granted are dependent in part on copper.

expenditures were partially offset by income that totalled $25,000,000.

What does it all mean? Well, first, as a citizen of the United States these national forests are yours to enjoy as vacation spots. And there is actually more than one acre for every man, woman and child. Second, these forests under proper supervision, mean that in the generations ahead we still will have a wilderness outdoors—places where you can fish for trout and other game fish; places where you can see bear and deer and elk. And that's worth protecting always.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

As an educational demonstration project, the Indiana State Board of Health in cooperation with the Floyd-Harrison County Health Department is conducting a three-day food survey of school children in Floyd-Harrison counties, Corydon, and the parochial schools of New Albany with the food habits of 4,000 boys and girls recorded.

"The survey is to be the basis for a long-time program in nutrition," Miss Lelia Ogle, chief nutritionist, said today. "From the results of this survey we hope to show not only the need for nutrition education but to stimulate interest of the teachers, community leaders, children and parents in planning programs to help solve the nutrition problems of individuals and groups. The survey will be a base line from which progress can be measured."

The survey was made last fall under the sponsorship of the Floyd-Harrison County Health Department and the Citizens Committee with the assistance of Mrs. Elsie Suhre, nutritionist, and Mrs. Helen Scheibner, health educator, working in cooperation with the school authorities.

From the preliminary reports, the results of this survey are similar to those of thirty thousand children in 33 other states. These reveal that rural children drink less milk and eat fewer eggs than urban children and eat more potatoes and meat. Evidence also appears to indicate that better eating habits may exist in communities where school lunch programs are operating than in instances where there are no school lunch programs.

HEALTH REQUIREMENTS FOR TRAVEL OUTSIDE U. S.

All American tourists crossing the borders of continental United States for any destination, including Mexico, Cuba, Bermuda and Nassau must now have smallpox vaccination certificates for inoculation within the preceding three years before they can reenter this country, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, warns.

Removing exemptions of returning United States travelers from smallpox vaccination certificates, the new regulation, Mr. Hayes reports, was formulated by the International World Health organization. Concurred in by the United States and a majority of countries, the regulation means that a United States citizen must obtain a vaccination certificate even though the country to which he is traveling does not have such a requirement.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Leffel of Warsaw called on Mrs. Lydia Rynearson last Friday evening.

POULTRYMEN WARNED OF NEW CHICK DISEASE

Poultry growers are urged to watch their flocks for signs of an apparently new disease that strikes chicks under four weeks of age, killing many. Growth failure, rough feathering, and extreme brittleness of wing feathers are the principal symptoms. In some cases, scabs form around the mouth and eyelids. Veterinarians say little is known about the cause of the malady or how it spreads, but that movement of affected birds to range or to other quarters usually aids their recovery. Up to now, the disease has not been reported outside of New York State, but authorities believe it may spread elsewhere.

NO EASY WAYS FOUND TO BURN TREE STUMP

Search for an easy way to burn stumps continues to "come up without the answer." Several hundred persons have inquired from the department of forestry at Purdue University during the past year in regard to the use of chemicals to help in the burning of tree stumps, including commercial stump removers. Replies have stated that to date, a chemical has not been found that works.

J. L. VanCamp, Purdue extension forester explained that in tests made by the United States Department of Agriculture at a Midwest experiment station recently, stumps treated with the chemical stump removers burned only five to six inches, not "roots and all" as has been claimed by advertisers of the chemicals.

In the cited tests, 52 hickory, white oak, black oak, and elm stumps of all sizes were treated with one of eight chemicals or with a commercial stump remover. Holes of about one inch in diameter were bored into the stumps at different angles. About two ounces of the chemical and a small amount of water was put into each hole. The stumps were burned from four to 26 months later when conditions were favorable for burning.

Although the stumps were soaked with kerosene and a thick layer of "goop," a military incendiary, was spread over the top of six selected stumps, none of the stumps burned completely and only two burned a little deeper than five inches. Most of the stumps charred less than an inch deep. The forester cautions farmers against the purchase of miracle chemicals for this purpose.

The department of forestry and conservation has released two leaflets "Five Pointers on Farm Woodlands" No. 295 and "Ten Pointers on Tree Windbreaks" No. 194. Copies of the leaflets are available, free, from the county agent or the university.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS BY 17,260 LEGION POSTS

The American Legion will celebrate the 30th anniversary of its birth, March 15 to 17, with gay parties by its 17,260 posts from coast to coast.

In many states and cities, governors and mayors, have issued proclamations designating the week of March 12 to 19 as American Legion Week.

The world's largest veterans' organization, growing larger year by year as new posts are being chartered daily, was founded at the historic caucus of 1,000 AEF delegates in Paris, France, March 15 to 17, 1919. It is the only major veterans' society in the United States founded by fighting men overseas.

Many posts throughout the nation will observe the 1949 anniversary of The American Legion by going over the top on their current membership quotas. Its birthday is traditionally a milestone in the annual enrollment campaign.

National Commander Perry Brown pointed out The American Legion was working its third million in 1949 membership today and was more than 45,000 members ahead of the corresponding period a year ago.

Commander Perry called attention to the growing stability of the American Legion as reflected by the record building boom among its posts. More than 550 posts acquired their own club houses during 1948, he said, either through building or by purchase. Since January 1, more than 100 additional posts have reported building operations.

"We are approaching a 50 per cent home ownership among our 17,260 posts," Commander Brown said. "This is a tremendous factor in the growing stability of The American Legion. A post that owns its home is a post there to stay. It has a permanent base of operations."

Keeping pace with its posts, the national organization of The American Legion now is making plans for the cornerstone laying of the $2,000,000 new headquarters building in Indianapolis on May 5. General Dwight D. Eisenhower has been invited to officiate at this ceremony.

Mr. Everly, who had engaged in the trucking business before retiring, was born near Palestine, Sept. 11, 1882, the son of James and Mary (Sarber) Everly. In 1906 he was married to Turel Warren. They moved to the Bourbon community 30 years ago.

BEAVER DAM 4-H CLUB MEETS

The Beaver Dam 4-H Agriculture Club met in the Beaver Dam Gym Tuesday evening at 7:30. This was the annual enrollment meeting and parents and new members were invited. There were about 100 present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Leslie Haney, and the minutes read, and then roll call. Bill Johnson assistant Co. Agent, awarded pins and gave a short talk. A report on the Junior Leaders' Training School held at Plymouth, March 7th, was given by Everett Earl Rookstool and Lee Norris.

Enrollment cards were handed out and projects discussed. Those interested in judging set a date to make plans and the secretary took the names of those wanting to be on various teams.

Following the business meeting, Armours, of Rochester, showed motion pictures of our past three years tours which they take each fall. Armours also treated everybody to delicious cheese sandwiches, coffee, and milk.

Reported by Lee Norris.

ATTENDS LUMBER CONVENTION

Ora L. McKinley, of the Mentone Lumber Company, spent March 1, 2 and 3 in Indianapolis attending the annual convention of the State Lumber and Builders' Supply convention.

Mr. McKinley, who has served three years as a director in the organization, reported the most interesting part of the convention was the display of new materials and merchandise. The general opinion among the delegates appeared to be that 1949 would be a good year for the lumber industry, and that consumers would find much better quality materials available for their building programs. Prices may be a trifle lower, but not as much lower as many have been expecting.

HOW TO FIX IT

By TOM GREGORY

ONE OF THE HAZARDS OF WASH-DAY AT HOME IS THE BUSINESS OF SHAVING SOAP FROM A BAR TO ENRICH THE WATER. INSTEAD OF ENDANGERING YOUR FINGERS BY USING A KNIFE IN THIS PROCESS, IT IS CONSIDERABLY BETTER-AND SAFER-TO USE A BOTTLE CAP NAILED TO THE END OF A SHORT LENGTH OF BROOMSTICK. THE TOOL MADE IN THIS WAY NOT ONLY IS LESS LIKELY TO GASH YOUR FINGERS THAN A KNIFE WOULD BE, BUT IT MAKES MORE SOLUBLE SOAP SHAVINGS.

USUAL METHOD OF KEEPING HOME PICKLED MEATS SUBMERGED IN A BRINE SOLUTION IS BY PLACING A BOARD OVER THE CONTENTS AND WEIGHTING IT DOWN WITH A STONE. A BETTER WAY IS TO ATTACH A WIRE BAIL UNDER THE RIM OF THE JAR OR CROCK AND USE A NOTCHED STICK FOR A COMPRESSOR, AS SHOWN. PRESSURE IS EXERTED ON THE BOARD BY SLIPPING THE WIRE INTO THE PROPER NOTCH. (NOTE ILLUSTRATION AT LEFT.)

NECESSITY IS THE MOTHER OF CO-OPS

(Note: Adapted from a talk by Albert J. Loveland, Under Secretary of Agriculture, at the 1948 Annual Meeting of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.)

Necessity mothered the inventions. The practicality of each new thing has determined its use. In each case, somebody figured out how to do a job better, and in each case the farmer had to be convinced that the new machine or the new method was practical for him. The start of each new thing is the job that has to be done. Now, it seems to me that the same can be said of farm co-ops.

Necessity is the mother of co-ops, too. The co-op as an institution is not a new invention, but each new co-op is in the class of a new piece of equipment that is designed to do a particular job.

In each case, the starting point is the job to be done.

The first cooperative I belonged to was an informal neighborhood arrangement that we didn't even call by the name of cooperative. We merely wanted to make sure we could get our small grains threshed, our corn shredded, and our silos filled. So all of us who lived around two sections of land joined together and bought the necessary equipment. We agreed that we would take the equipment around the two sections in one direction the first year and the opposite direction the next year. That way, all of us knew, before we planted our crops, when we would have the equipment and the crew of neighbors at our own place. All of us signed the notes for what we bought. And each of us paid the going custom rates. When we had paid for the equipment, we started dividing the returns, over and above the cost of maintenance.

The arrangement we had was good for all of us. It helped us get our work done when it had to be done. We could make sure it was good work. And we saved money.

Today, as a result of practical inventions and better income, more farmers can keep the equipment they need to do their own work. And it's easier to get custom work done at the right time. But there's still a lot of neighboring. Just for example, my brother and I do several things together. The neighbor owns the combine, my brother has the hay baler, and I have the corn picker.

I wanted to mention the machinery co-op not only because it illustrates in general that necessity is the mother of co-ops but also because it may have a particular meaning here in the south. Agriculture here is being mechanized. New inventions are available, and some people are putting them to good use. But many people are worried as to whether most family farmers will be able to afford the new machines. It's always true that those who can't or don't keep up with the pack get a lot of dust in their faces. In a period of practical mechanization, you have to mechanize or you can't compete. It would be fine if everybody could go out and buy the equipment he needed, but that may be as impossible as it was for me and each of my neighbors to own a threshing rig and a corn shredder and silo-filling equipment.

Some people say the machinery co-op will never work. But my own experience says that one such arrangement did work for many years. And the experience that many of us had during the war says there is something to this idea.

The American farm people have a long record of inventing cooperative tools to do the work that could not be done otherwise or could not be done so well.

I also knew at first hand the benefits of buying and selling cooperatively.

Back in the days before we could sell most of our dairy output as whole milk, I belonged to a cooperative creamery. Today, I belong to a cooperative that runs a country elevator, and to a cooperative shipping association through which I market my hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blocher of Manchester and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Parker were Friday evening visitors at the Herschal Drudge home.

HONOR ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Snider, week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowers and family of Mishawaka, were honored at a dinner Saturday, March 5, in the Bowers home celebrating their 41st wedding anniversary. A pleasant surprise, planned by the hostess, was the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rose, Buchanan, Mich., the couple that attended them at their wedding.

RAIL CHIEFS FOR A DAY

Three happy youngsters "take over" the Grand Trunk Western Railroad for a day as a reward for their alert action in saving the railroad from a possible wreck. When the boys spotted a large piece of iron imbedded in a tie and overlapping the track recently, they quickly notified the Grand Trunk and stood by to flag oncoming trains until the iron was removed. To show the road's appreciation, Charles A. Skog, vice president and general manager, entertained the three at luncheon on his private car, where they were served a turkey with all the trimmings. A U. S. savings bond was presented to each of the boys, and they had great fun inspecting the line's equipment. Left to right are: Donald Vandenburg, Mr. Skog, James Riddle and Carl Skog, all from South Bend, Ind.

MANY ATTEND FATHER-SON BANQUET FRIDAY EVENING

The basement of the Mentone Methodist church was filled to capacity last Friday evening when a father and son banquet was held. A delicious dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of the church, and the tables were beautifully decorated.

Following the bounteous dinner, an entertaining program was enjoyed. Wayne Tombaugh served as toastmaster. Marvin Meyers, assistant to Al Stewart's Purdue glee club, an old acquaintance of Rev Gosser, directed the group singing and sang two solos, "Just for Today" and "Sonny Boy." Charles Urschel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Urschel, rendered a trombone solo and the high school quartet, composed of Richard Dillman, Junior Emmons, David Johns and David Cooper, sang two numbers. Mrs. Dan Urschel accompanied at the piano.

Mr. Hudson, of Syracuse, a Boy Scout executive, spoke briefly, after which Dr. E. C. Lindsey, of Goshen, chairman of the State Probation Department, gave a short address.

The net receipts of the banquet are to be used for youth recreational facilities at the church.

CORRECT FOODS FOR PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN

The food habits the pre-school child forms may stay with him for many years, says Miss Lois Oberhelman, extension nutrition specialist, Purdue University.

The pre-school child is still growing but not so fast as when a baby. The food he eats has a great deal to do with his well-being at that time and with his future development. He needs food to build bigger muscles and bones, and new teeth. As he becomes older, he has a larger variety of foods. In accepting or refusing these foods he is forming habits.

Changes in kinds and amounts of foods offered the pre-school child should be gradual, suggests Miss Oberhelman. Then he will not notice the change. She adds that he needs certain foods daily and at the top of the list is milk. This is a source of mineral, calcium, and vitamins A, B-1, and G. Child health authorities say chocolate milk and cocoa should not be served every day but, only occasionally.

Next on the list are four or five servings of fruits and vegetables. Some of these vegetables should be green and yellow. One serving of fruit should be high in vitamin C, as orange, grapefruit, or tomato.

A daily serving of meat, poultry, or fish, and eggs is also important. When eggs are cooked below the boiling point, they will be tender and evenly cooked throughout.

Usually cereals are served at breakfast and sometimes for supper. Miss Oberhelman does not recommend those containing large quantities of coarse bran or the fluffy ones. These do not meet the child's needs.

Breads for the pre-school child are best made from finely ground whole-wheat flour, or enriched flour. Occasionally those made from whole-ground corn meal may be served.

Bread with butter or fortified margarine or fruit will make a snack between meals. This will help to prevent forming the habit of sweets between meals.

Miss Oberhelman says the following foods should not be included in the diet of the pre-school child: chili, hot dogs, soft drinks, much candy, ice cream, sweets, coffee, tea, and too much cocoa.

Walter Smythe is able to be back at work after having surgery at the Veterans' Hospital in Indianapolis last week.

FEMALE COONS LIBERATED IN ALL COUNTIES

Approximately two hundred female raccoons, raised at the Wells County State Game Farm near Bluffton have been liberated in the ninety-two counties of the state according to announcement by the Indiana Department of Conservation.

Most of the raccoons, selected for liberation because of their particular breed, are expected to produce a dark gray coat in ensuing litters. This coat according to attaches of the game farm, is the most desirous and greatly needed at this time.

The animals liberated all are about two years old. Releases were made in selected habitat sites. Each of the counties in the state received two raccoons on most instances, however the sixteen remaining after 184 had been released were distributed in locations where it was deemed necessary to release more than two.

WRITES FROM TEXAS

Alvin, Texas
Feb. 28, 1948

Dear Artley,

I have been intending to write to you for some time but have been pretty busy learning a little about oil wells and oil production. We are not as busy now as we have been in past weeks.

I have not had to work longer than 16 hours a day for a long time, and have been getting lots of sleep to try to catch up all that I lost during previous months.

The weather here has been good. It rains a lot, has snowed once this year, and today for instance it was warm enough for me to work outside of the house and office in my shirtsleeves. It did not rain during the day but it did sprinkle a little during the evening.

We receive the paper regularly and I find I have lost contact with the people of Mentone. Of course I really have been gone from Mentone for seven years.

My work is very interesting but I am not the sort of gifted penman who can manage to bring words to life on paper. When I talk I have to use my hands. I guess I talked to too many Frenchmen overseas. Carl Rush.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBORS

The Friendly Neighbors Home Economics Club met at the home of Mrs. Mildred Greulich, co-hostess was Mrs. Mary Welch.

Meditations were read by Mrs. Coplen.

A lesson on Brucellosis was given by Mrs. Helen Rockwood.

One new member was taken into the club. Eighteen members were present.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Beryl Jefferies on April 7.

PENNY SUPPER

A penny supper will be given on Friday evening, March 18, by the Tippecanoe Band Booster Association in the school lunch room. They will serve between 6:00 and 8:00 p. m. There will be free entertainment and music by the school band.

LEAFLET POINTS UP*CATTLE PRODUCTION

Producing profitable beef cattle is a matter of following 16 important procedures which have been summarized briefly by Henry Mayo, Purdue University extension husbandryman, in a leaflet recently published by the Agricultural Extension service of the university.

Hoosier cattlemen will find the leaflet "Suggestions for Producing Beef Cattle," No. 296, a practical guide for the 1949 season and may obtain copies free from the county extension agent or the university.

Production of spring calves is considered more efficient by most cow herd owners. January or February calves usually do not have much digestive trouble as the cows ordinarily give about the right amount of milk at this time of year for the calves. When pasture time arrives in April or May, the cows give more milk and the calves are large enough to make use of the increased milk.

Mayo said that calves should be kept gaining and not allowed to lose their body fat. This can be accomplished by ample pasture, particularly lespedeza, and also by creep feeding if the cattle man finds the practice practical for his operations. Cows and calves both should have free access at all times to a mixture of equal parts of bonemeal and iodized salt.

The leaflet also discusses a spray program during the fly season, warble control, breeding problems and care of the young calves.

CLEAN UP—DON'T BURN UP!

The nation's fires cost over 10,000 lives and nearly ¾ billion dollars a year. An increasing number of these fires is caused by rubbish and litter. In plain words, negligence. You can help keep our community free from fire by giving your home a thorough clean-up. Here are your spring clean-up suggestions from the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

1. Clear Out Debris: Get rid of rubbish or anything combustible that you're not going to use in attics, closets, garages.

2. Watch Outside Fires: Clean up your yard. Keep grass cut low around buildings. Never burn papers on a windy day when there's danger of sparks setting fire to your house, shrubbery, clothing or outbuildings.

3. Clear Out Paint and Oil Rags: Destroy rags or keep in closed metal containers; hang up mops and paint soiled clothing so air can circulate around them.

4. Check Your Fuses: Use 15 ampere fuses in regular household circuits, and don't put pennies behind blown fuses; keep wiring in good repair.

5. Avoid Flammable Liquids: Remove them from your house. Hundreds of persons are killed annually trying to clean with gasoline, benzine or naphtha.

6. Check Stoves and Heaters: Clean and check all heaters and have repair work done.

7. Portable Heaters: Place portable, open flame heaters so they can't be knocked over or tipped. Avoid using rubber hose as fuel conductors for gas heaters; rigid metal pipes are safer.

8. Check Pipes and Chimneys: Clean soot out of chimneys and smoke-pipes. Check for cracks and holes; have chimneys repaired—where mortar or bricks are loose—and replace pipes if necessary.

9. Check Ash Receptacles: Always put hot ashes into metal containers. Hot ashes in wood boxes set fire to many houses.

In case of fire, call central, giving name and location of fire.

NELSON PACKARD WRECKED IN ACCIDENT TUESDAY

Four people escaped injury Tuesday afternoon in an automobile accident on road 19, three miles north of town, when two cars collided at a narrow bridge. Both cars were badly damaged, with the Denzil Nelson Packard ending up a total wreck.

The accident occurred when Nelson, owner of the Nelson Trucking Co. of Burket, turned his car to the side of the road to allow another vehicle to pass on a narrow bridge. His wheels became mired in the berm, and he lost control of the auto. It sideswiped a car driven by Albert Eyrich, of near Bourbon. The Eyrich car went over a ditch and into a cornfield and the Nelson car struck the bridge railing. The force of the impact cut the frame of the Nelson car in two just behind the front seat. Nelson was alone in his car while Eyrich had his wife and daughter with him.

Damage to the Eyrich auto was estimated at $300.

FREE X-RAY TO BEGIN MARCH 21

The second County X-Ray Survey conducted by the Kosciusko County Tuberculosis Association will begin March 21st and cover a period ten days. March 21 to 25 and 28 to April 1.

One of the Mobile Units owned by the Indiana Tuberculosis Association and operated by technicians from the State Board of Health will conduct the survey. The county nurse and other clerical assistants will look after the records. A sincere effort will be made to reach as many people in the county as possible in the time allotted.

Seniors and Juniors in all the high schools in the county will be X-rayed. The general public from 15 years up also may have this service. Any child under 15 years of age, who has had recent contact with tuberculosis may also have this service. The X-rays will be free to all.

The death rate in Kosciusko county is not high. In fact only seven other counties in the state are lower. However, the only way to keep it low is to find the cases we have and save our county a great expense in the future. We often hear the slogan, "Get out the vote." Therefore we are urging all in the interest of better health to "Get out the people" for a landslide in X-rays.

The schedule follows:

INCLUDE BOSS'S HAY IN SPRING CROP PLAN

Since 90 to 95 per cent of the hay fed to Indiana herds is home grown, plans for the winter roughage supply is receiving important consideration in the spring planning.

According to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, cows in the herds of Indiana dairy men reporting to the Bureau consumed an average of 2.8 tons of hay equivalents annually during the past four years. The hay equivalents included hay, silage and other roughage, one ton of hay being equivalent to three tons of silage. G. A. Williams, Purdue University extension dairyman, said the state consumption however, was above the amount received by many cows.

Williams advises that the needs of the herd should be estimated and set aside before the crop plan is decided, with plenty of allowance made for possible weather damage. Included in the needs will be ample rotation pastures. Any surplus growth can be cut and fed as hay the following winter. Should weather prevent haying at the proper time, grass silage has been the answer for many Hoosier dairy farmers.

If there is danger of hay shortage, annual pastures such as Sudan grass can be grown and the second cutting of legume grass stands, often pastured, can be harvested as hay. These pastures should be provided at the rate of one acre per cow to insure excellent grazing during July, August, and September.

Reports of severe heaving to clover and alfalfa stands, both old and new seedings, are being received at Purdue. The dairyman says that soybeans planted as a hay crop this spring will be more effective in producing milk than any other crop. One acre of soybeans should be planted for each cow, and if allowed to mature partly, the roughage helps to increase the butterfat.

Dairy cattle fed a liberal amount of high quality roughage are able to produce up to 70 per cent of their inherited capacity, an inducement for starting the winter with a sufficient amount of quality hay.

MENTONE READING CLUB

The Mentone Reading Club members celebrated their fifteenth anniversary on Wednesday evening, March 9. They enjoyed a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the Beaver Dam Sportsmen's Club room at Beaver Dam Lake.

After dinner the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Charles Manwaring, invited the ladies to the home of Mrs. Jack Van Gilder. The program for the evening was a very interesting book review of "Remembrance Rock," which was presented by Mrs. Taylor of Rochester, Indiana.

Miss Wreatha McFarren read an interesting history of the club. Her reading was responded to by the various club presidents as they recognized the history that pertained to their regime.

During the reading, we discovered the absence of two of our past presidents who with a couple of our members had wandered away on the wrong road from Beaver Dam Lake. They finally arrived. The committee for the evening was Mesdames Charles Manwaring, Jack Van Gilder, Harold Nelson and Miss Wreatha McFarren. The club will meet on April 13 at the home of Mrs. Robert Reed.

FREIGHT RATES SEEN AS MARKETING COST

The price of food is established where supply and demand finally meet—over the retail counter. The farmer generally receives this price minus the costs of marketing, Don Paarlberg, agricultural economist, Purdue University, states in a recent issue of Economic and Marketing Information. One of the big marketing costs is freight rates. Inter-city transportation at present accounts for about one-seventh of the cost of marketing food. About ten percent of the tonnage carried by railroads consists of farm products. Most of the freight in the United States moves by rail.

Because freight rates are a cost to farmers, farmers generally consider the cost too high and have waged a long and bitter battle to reduce them, Dr. Paarlberg points out. It is generally believed that railroads make great profits. However, after paying wages, taxes, interest and other expenses, the railroads have relatively little left to pay dividends.

Since 1946, freight rates in the United States have increased 44 per cent, and a further tentative increase of eight per cent has been authorized. These increases have, in a large part, gone unchallenged by farmers because of the high level of farm earnings. Justification for the rising rates has been based on the decline in railway net operating income from wartime levels as costs have risen and the volume of freight decreased, Dr. Paarlberg explains.

Farmers often ask that freight rates be made responsive, like farm prices, so that the two go up and down together. It is possible to increase rates when the price level rises, though considerable lag occurs.

It is impossible to reduce freight rates when the price level falls. Though the price level may fall, the railroads' expenses for labor, maintenance and interest go on much as before. With falling prices and receding business the tonnage carried declines and net income reaches the vanishing point even though rates are kept high. Reducing rates in line with reductions in farm prices would bankrupt the railroads and interfere with the movement of food to market. No one would benefit. Despite the fact that freight rates were maintained at a high level during the depression, earnings were either low or absent entirely.

"A real quarrel is brewing between the farmer and the railroad. It will break into the open as soon as the price level declines. Only then will the farmer realize that freight rates, along with taxes and other fixed charges, have zoomed up and are likely to stay up," the Purdue Agricultural economist says.

TO PEEL OR NOT TO PEEL, THAT IS THE QUESTION

Should carrots and potatoes be peeled before cooking?

With these vegetables now plentiful, this question is being asked more and more by homemakers, according to Miss Lois Oberhelman, extension nutrition specialist at Purdue University.

Miss Oberhelman points out that tests at the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, have shown that the potato skin is a great protection against loss of nutrients. This is not the case, however, with the carrot skin.

The studies show that potatoes, boiled or baked in their jackets, retain more nutrients, especially Vitamin C, than those pared before cooking. If potatoes are to be served without their skins, the scientists suggest removing the skins after cooking. Skinning hot boiled potatoes is quicker and easier than peeling them before cooking. This may save time as well as nutritive value.

Carrots present a different case. The carrot skin seems to give little or no protection to nutritive value in cooking. In these tests, the pared and unpared carrots retained about the same amount of nutrients.

Many homemakers prefer to leave the skins on young, small, tender carrots as this saves time and waste. Mature carrots which have been stored have a more appetizing appearance if they are pared before cooking.

SHOULD INDIANA BANKS INCREASE INTEREST RATES ON SAVINGS?

By H. C. Morrison, President, Indiana Bankers Association, as printed in the Bourbon News-Mirror

We have noted that some of the smaller banks in the state have jumped their interest rate from 1% to 2% on time and savings money.

It is a little difficult for us to understand the justification for the 100% increase of the price of our raw materials, which is deposit money.

We are constrained to believe that too many banks have become "totalitis" conscious. We have heard bankers say over the last few years that their bank has increased its deposits so many times, so much per cent, etc., as if to infer that we bankers have been responsible for this increase. Such is hardly the case. The increase in deposits has come about by a deficit financing of our Federal Government and that fact that people had more money than goods and they put the money in the banks. Now, with production increasing we find our merchants, our farmers and our depositors converting some of their money to goods. This, naturally, means that our deposits will go down.

As a result of this, some bankers have shot their interest rate up on time money from 1% to 2%.

Do you remember the Congress of the United States passed the Banking Act of 1933 and authorized the Federal Reserve Board in that Banking Act to set a ceiling on what banks might pay for time and savings deposits? What the Congress really said in substance was "You bankers have been ruining yourselves by carrying on a dog-eat-dog competition in paying too much for your raw materials, namely deposits. Therefore, we, the Congress of the United States, are authorizing the Federal Reserve Board to place a top ceiling on the price that you bankers may pay for bank deposits, because we think this is necessary, in order to promote sound banking." Our own Indiana Department of Financial Institutions passed similar regulations.

To my knowledge, this is the first time Congress ever went so far as to protect business men from competing unsoundly, one with the other, because of too high a price they paid for their products.

The thing that worries us most about the tendency to jump interest rates on savings and time money so much is the fact that it is being done by some of the smaller institutions in the state, and we fear that if this program spreads it will have a tendency to weaken some of our smaller banks that can least afford to increase their operating expenses.

We certainly do favor Indiana Banks paying interest to savings and time depositors to the extent that the banks can afford to make these payments.

There may be an isolated instance once in a while and a peculiar situation which would justify the paying of 2% for savings and time money, but we believe these instances are very rare indeed

However, we certainly do not want to encourage banks to launch forth on a program or engage in a practice which has the potential possibility of leading to an unsound banking practice.

MENTONE CLUB MEETS

Sanitation and care of milk were discussed at the recent meeting of the Mentone Home Economics club held at the country home of Mrs. Harry Sullivan. Mrs. Howard Horn gave the topic for meditation and all joined in singing the song of the month, "Believe Me If all Those Endearing Young Charms." In the business session, conducted by Mrs. Roy Cox, Mrs. Roy Salman was chosen to help at the Kosciusko county fair grounds on March 18. In answer to roll call each of the 24 members present named some one, who is a shut-in, to whom cards could be sent. Mrs. Elmer Sarber received the mystery package. High bidders in the auction were: Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Claude Gates, Mrs. Emra Anderson, Mrs. Salman, Mrs. Fred Swick, Mrs. Elmer Rathfon and Mrs. Silas Hill. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Elmer Sarber, Mrs. Linas Borton, Mrs. Jacob Gross and Mrs. George McIntyre. Mrs. Sarber was in charge of the entertainment during the social hour. Delicious refreshments were served to the 27 members and guests present.

PAUL JACKSON SPEAKS TO MENTONE LIONS

Paul Jackson, county agent, was the speaker at the Mentone Lions club on Wednesday evening. He spoke mainly of soil conservation and the procedure necessary for forming a soil conservation unit in our county. In his remarks he gave many statistics that showed that we generally take more from our soil in the form of minerals than we replace, a process which must be corrected if the fertility of our soil is to remain on a profitable plane. He also commended those who have been practicing good farming methods, and stated he was confident that the future would see a bigger percentage making better use of the lands which they now farm.

Mr. Jackson, who was making his first appearance before the Mentone club, also brought along a colored movie taken at a recent State Fair.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

As you look back through the years it is interesting to compare the popularity of the various breeds of dogs. And, apparently, canine popularity has changed as greatly as the styles of automobiles.

Way back in the late 1800's the hunting dogs were leading the hit parade among canine companions. The English and Irish setter ranked one-two, and the Irish water spaniel was a close third. The pointer, a great favorite with quail hunters today, was fourth. And such other breeds as the collie, cocker spaniel and beagle were in the select 10.

Then followed a period when the pet breeds dominated the dog field, pushing the hunting dogs down and down the ladder until around 1915 most of the sporting dogs were out of the running. The lone exception was the beagle that kept plugging along and in 1948 this breed had climbed to the runner-up spot, with the cocker spaniel on top.

Today the pet breeds—the boxers, collies, boston terriers, pekinese and German shepherds—are most widely distributed along with the cocker and beagle. But moving into a contending position is the English springer spaniel, a fine little hunting dog that has made immense strides in gaining favor with sportsmen in the upland game and waterfowl regions.

And by looking back, possibly we can forecast the future. It is almost certain that our taste in dogs will change as before. But we will wager a diamond-studded dog collar against a penny that a decade from now there will be more of the sport breeds in the top 10. Our reasoning is simple: More and more sportsmen are learning that hunting with a good dog is one of the greatest sports on earth. Too, these sportsmen have discovered that a hunting dog is a great conversationist in finding crippled and dead game that frequently is left unretrieved by dogless hunters.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

The tin fluoride experimental dental project conducted at the University Heights school, Indianapolis, by the Indiana State Board of Health in co-operation with the Indiana University School of Dentistry has been completed with 94.4 per cent of the pupils participating.

The results of the experiment which began last November will not be known for two years. Tried in a test tube in the laboratory of the Dental school, the tin fluoride proved more effective than sodium fluoride in the partial prevention of tooth decay. In an attempt to substantiate the test tube findings, the 615 children of the University Heights school were divided with half of the pupils receiving tin fluoride applications and the other half the sodium fluoride.

The children's teeth will be checked every six months by Dr. Charles Howell, of the State Board of Health. At the end of the two year period, the effectiveness of the two applications will be compared and a complete application of the most effective preparation given.

Both fluorides make tooth surface less easily dissolved by acids.

According to a study of poultry flocks of under 100 hens on Indiana farms, only one flock in ten had alfalfa, clover, wheat, rye or oats for range. Only a few more than one in ten flocks had a new range each year. The remainder of the flocks roamed at large over the farmstead. The study was made by the departments of agricultural economics and poultry husbandry at Purdue University.

REX TUCKER HAS AUTO DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT

Rex Tucker's auto was damaged to the extent of about $400 on Wednesday evening of last week about three miles north of Lakeville when another auto turned in front of him as he attempted to pass on a two-lane highway. Mr. Tucker was passing a South Bend autoist when the car in the outside lane suddenly turned in front of him and forced him into the "island" in the center of the four-lane highway.

Sam Ware of Mentone and Floyd Hines of Bourbon, were in the Tucker auto, and with the exception of a few minor bumps, cuts and bruises, no one was seriously injured.

Miss June Cotey is now employed in the office at the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association.

After six years of directing Panama Canal's building, Goethals looked one day in January, 1913, on a scene of disaster. A big dirt slide into the huge "ditch" had ruined many months of labor. "What shall we do now?" exclaimed his chief aide. Goethals replied with the words quoted above.

LIBRARY NEWS

Mrs. Fred Lemler conducted the Library Story Hour this week by reading two stories, "Greylock and the Robins" and "The Kangaroo Twins."

We have several new books. Young Bess" by Margaret Irwin is the story of the girlhood of Queen Elizabeth of England. "Southern Cross" by Brigid Knight is one of the best books published recently. The heroine, Elizabeth Hugo, was born of Boer parents in South Africa. An orphan at birth, she was adopted by an English family and brought up as their own child until she was nine years old. Then her Boer aunt claimed her and set about with unbending tyranny to eradicate the love in the child for her British foster parents who had been so kind to her. The hatred of the Boers for everything that is English is vividly portrayed, but there is also unusual beauty and understanding in the book.

Two new mystery novels are "Wings of fear" by Eberhart and "Murder within murder" (A Mr. and Mrs. North story) by Lockridge. We also have two new light romances, "The other Charmer" by Peggy Dern and "Change of Heart" by Kathleen Harris. A new western is "Solo Kid" by Abel Shott.

Paul Wellman's new book, "The Chain," is a powerful novel of a clergyman in Jericho, Kansas and of the indomitable faith through which he inspired the regeneration of an entire community.

New Plymouth on Display

Plymouth's new special deluxe four-door sedan (above). Throughout the new Plymouth line beautifully streamlined bodies are lower and narrower, seats are wider and headroom greater. At the same time overall exterior dimensions are reduced, but wheelbase has been lengthened to 118 inches and glass area is increased. Horsepower is raised to 97. Although fenders flow gracefully into the body they are detachable for ease in repair.

New Plymouth on Display

Plymouth's new special deluxe is featured above. Brilliant new styling is combined with outstanding riding comfort, increased roominess, and sweeping mechanical improvements in the new line of Plymouth automobiles.

Completely redesigned, the new Plymouth has a longer wheelbase for a better ride and more road stability, but less front and rear overhang for easier parking and garaging. While the silhouette has been lowered and the width decreased, there is more head and leg room and seats are wider. Typical of Plymouth's many refinements is the ignition-starter combination, with which a turn of the key starts the engine.

The new Plymouths are sleek in appearance. New rear-end styling provides a graceful balance with the horizontal grille lines which emphasize the broadness of the front. Fenders which blend perfectly into body lines are nevertheless separate and detachable, thus avoiding sheet metal panels so costly to repair or replace.

The new Plymouth line includes nine distinct automobiles. Special deluxe and deluxe types are on a 118-inch wheelbase, one inch longer than last year's. Special deluxe models are: four-door sedan, club coupe, convertible club coupe and station wagon. In the deluxe group are the four-door sedan and the club coupe. In addition, Plymouth will build three deluxe models on a brand new 111 inch wheelbase, a two-door sedan, a three-passenger coupe, and a new body type, the Suburban.

The 97-horsepower engine has improved performance and efficiency with a new design cylinder head which increases compression ratio to 7 to 1. A new chrome plated compression piston ring reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, while a newly-designed intake manifold induces quicker, smoother engine warm-up and produces faster throttle response.

Body styling which produces greater passenger room without excessive bulk also increases visibility. V-type windshields have 37 percent more area and provide excellent vision without distortion. Windshield wipers clear 61.5 percent greater area and the rear window is 35.4 percent larger.

CLINTON AND BENTON TOP OAT VARIETIES

Topping the list of oat varieties recommended for Indiana farmers are Clinton and Clinton 59 or the Benton varieties, if taller straw is desired.

Purdue University agronomists state that all the varieties are stiff-strawed highly resistant to smut, rust, and Victoria Blight and are heavy in test weight. Usually, the varieties are ready for combining immediately after wheat harvest. Clinton 59 is a selection out of Clinton that is more uniform in height and maturity and is slightly higher yielding. About 12,000 acres were grown under certification last year so a large amount of seed is available. None of these varieties are "running out."

The Ajax and Beaver, and more recently the Exeter, all Canadian oats varieties, are being promoted by an out-of-state seed company at a price just about double that of certified seed of our excellent Indiana varieties. In Purdue comparative trials at Lafayette for the last four years, Ajax yielded six bushels less than Clinton 59 with a two and one-half pound lighter test weight. The Illinois Experiment Station has compared Exeter and Clinton on two experiment fields for two years. At Urbana, the Exeter yielded six bushels less and tested six pounds lighter than Clinton. At Mt. Morris, Illinois, a difference was 20 bushels in yield and seven pounds in test weight in favor of the Clinton. In five county demonstration trials last year, Beaver averaged 63 bushels compared to 65.5 for Clinton. The Exeter is susceptible to crown rust.

The disease resistant, stiff-strawed Clintons and Bentons are showing a fine response to fertilizer, especially analyses including nitrogen. Trials using 300 pound applications of 3-12-12 produced an average yield of 60 bushels per acre compared to 58 bushels for unfertilized oats in 42 Indiana county demonstration trials during the last three years. This fertilization also helps produce a better stand and growth of the seedlings. Seedlings made in the oats.

TO SPEAK AT AKRON

Dr. W. N. Brigance, head of the speech department at Wabash College, will speak at the Akron Methodist Church on Friday night, March 25th, under the joint sponsorship of Mothers Study Club and the Akron Chamber of Commerce.

Subject of Dr. Brigance's address will be "Making Americans Out of School Children," and is considered very timely, as it deals with the responsibility of parents, the schools and the community towards today's children.

The speaker is the author of 14 textbooks on public speaking, and has trained many national oratorical winners. He delivered the same address before the state convention of the Indiana Federation of Clubs last May at French Lick, and has given the same talk before state groups of teachers and women's clubs in several states.

The public is invited to the meeting, which is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

OUT OF STATE MEN LEASE
HOOSIER LANDS FOR OIL

Officials of the Indiana Department of Conservation today learned of an extensive land leasing program which has been underway in west-central Indiana for more than 30 days.

Interested observers point out that the land is being leased by Youngblood and Youngblood of Oklahoma, who are, it is reported, representing operating oil companies.

Reliable authorities report that approximately 85 lease men have been circulating throughout the central and southern portions of western Indiana leasing land which might contain oil. Activity has been in Montgomery, Parke, Putnam and other counties including Daviess, Vermillion, Owen, Clay and Green.

More than 175,000 acres have been leased in Clay county alone, reports indicate, and it is understood that the terms of most leases extend for ten years. It is, therefore, questionable whether any development will take place until complete geological and geophysical surveys have been made.

It was announced that the state convention would be held at Michigan City, Ind., April 22, 23, and 24.

Mrs. Ivan Tucker became a new member of the unit. During the social hour a musical contest was enjoyed with all members participating. ### RECORD CATTLE ON FEED

More cattle were on feed January 1, 1949, than in any other year on record. Numbers for the nations were up 19 per cent and for the cornbelt, 22 per cent. Largest increase was in heavy cattle weighing 900 pounds or more. Indications are that more fed cattle will be on the market during the next few months than last year with the larger proportion expected to be in the better grades, according to the department of agricultural economics at Purdue University.

LOCAL NEWS

Dr. Dan Urschel attended a medical meeting at Memorial Hospital in South Bend last Monday night.

Mrs. Amanda Imus of Kalamazoo, Mich., who is ninety-years-old, spent the week-end with her sisters, Stella Snyder and Samantha Norris, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Horn.

Dr. Dan Urschel attended a meeting of the Rural Health Committee of the State Medical Association at Indianapolis last week. This committee is attempting to integrate the work of all county health units, such as the Red Cross, the Tuberculosis Association, the County Nursing Service, etc., by the foundation of County Health Councils. Such councils have already been established in many counties, and it is the hope of the committee to make this true in the entire state.

Mrs. Dan L. Urschel attended a District Council meeting of the Federated Clubs, in South Bend, on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pirkins are home after a vacation in Florida.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Maxwell and sons Jimmy and Dickie, of Kokomo, were Sunday guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Maxwell.

George McKinzie is in a very serious condition. He is in the Wilson Nursing Home, east of Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rogers and son Billy entertained Monday evening with a dinner. Guests were Mrs. Bertha Clark, Mr. Emil Brechter, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Alber and son Sidney and Miss Evelyn Smith. The occasion was in honor of Evelyn's and Billy's birthdays.

The farm woodlot is good building insurance at low rates. Purdue University foresters advise that enough large trees of desirable species should be kept in the woods to replace a barn or other farm buildings. "Five Pointers on Farm Woodlands" is the title of a new leaflet available free from the county extension office or the University.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to say that I sincerely appreciate the many flowers, cards and visits from my friends while I was in the hospital.

ED CREAKBAUM.

The department of agricultural chemistry at Purdue University has called to the attention of farmers that the seeds of white clover and ladino clover are indistinguishable. Farmers who sent samples of ladino seed to the department for test received reports on the seed listed as white clover. The department explained that this was done so that the report would not be used to verify the seed as ladino. Future reports on ladino clover seed will carry a note stating that seeds of ladino clover, white dutch clover and other species of white clover seed are indistinguishable.

WAR BRIDE CHERISHES FREEDOM

The freedom enjoyed and taken for granted by so many Americans is a priceless jewel to Gaida Miller of Canton, O. Seeing her country of Latvia overrun twice within a few years, first by the Germans and then by the plundering Russians; seeing her family vanish; knowing the heartbreak of forced labor camps, — all these have taught an appreciation of the freedoms in the country where she came as a war bride of ex-G. I. Gilbert Miller.

The United States is Latvia, enlarged many times, according to Gaida, for her country had a democratic government patterned closely after that of the U. S. Telephones, radios, electrical appliances and many of the other conveniences which Americans enjoy, with the exception of automobiles, were common to them. However her country had nothing to compare with giant industries like the Timken Roller Bearing Company where both she and her husband work. "In Eastern Europe there are no benefits for the working people as are taken for granted here," says Mrs. Miller.

THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP. NEWS

Published Weekly by the

Northern Indiana Cooperative Association, Mentone, Ind.
ARTLEY D. GULLUM, Editor and Manager.

PRINTED IN THE MODERN PLANT OF THE COUNTRY PRINT SHOP

Hunters and fishermen are going to pay more for their fun—if they expect to continue to enjoy America's great outdoors!

Possibly that statement is a little too bold. At least, it is an unpleasant thought. However, the idea was given considerable prominence recently at the annual North American Wildlife Conference in Washington, D. C.

And before you jump to conclusions and condemn the idea, think the question out; study the different phases. For many decades sportsmen in America have been getting a lot for a bare minimum in expenditures. A dollar or so for a fishing license has entitled the holder to countless hours of sport and relaxation on streams and lakes. This sport, too, has provided plenty of "meat" for the table. And the same is true of a hunting license.

Of course it is true that the cost of the license is only a small part of the of the overall expense of hunting or fishing for tackle, guns and other equipment, plus travel and housing costs, mount up to many times the cost of a license. But look at the other side of the ledger. Conservation departments must operate mostly on revenue from license sales. It is their job to keep the streams and lakes productive in good fishing, the forests and uplands filled with game for gunners. That's where the trouble comes in the current setup.

Today you go to your favorite meat market and buy a steak—not at the price you paid a decade ago but at an inflated level. Your housing costs more; so does your clothing. Still, in most places sportsmen are paying little more than they did a decade ago for the right to stalk deer, to gun for upland game or waterfowl. And game and fish management is suffering for lack of sufficient funds to do a first-class job.

If all license fees were doubled, the cost to individuals would be insignificant. We know of few outdoorsmen who couldn't pay an extra buck for the right to hunt or fish. Most of them waste that much money every day. Project this increased license cost over several hundred thousand buyers and the total would swell the revenue of game and fish departments to a figure that would be enough to accomplish the task they have undertaken in keeping the outdoors productive in good sport.

The Wildlife Conference endorsed doubling the fee for a migratory waterfowl stamp—from a dollar to two dollars. We'd like to go on record as encouraging every state to double its current license fees. And before you start tossing brickbats at this column, think the problem through. Then we believe, you'll agree that double license costs would be a drop in the bucket if the streams and lakes produced more fish and the wilderness, uplands and marshes had more game.

FARM LIVING SHOULD BE FUN!

Prairie Farmer Editor Paul C. Johnson says in the March 19 front page story that farm living should be fun!

To make farming the enjoyable, satisfying way of life it should be, Editor Johnson suggests that farm families modernize their homes and take time to enjoy themselves, instead of producing more and more to acquire more land and machinery. He points out, too, that economists say modern conveniences for the farmer and his wife often pay off in increased income, because time released from unnecessary work yields new ideas.

COMMUNIST STATEMENT OF TREASON HIT BY LEGION

Action against American Communists through legal processes and through relentless exposure was called for by James F. Green of Omaha, chairman of the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion. Chairman Green's call was in response to what he called the "Statement of Treason," issued by the Communist Party of the United States in New York City, that American reds would oppose this country in case of a war with Russia.

Signed by William Z. Foster, national Chairman of the Communist Party, and Eugene Dennis, general secretary, the New York statement followed similar declarations by the top red leaders of France, Italy, Germany and Great Britain.

The Foster-Dennis statement was followed by other startling developments on the Communist front. One was the arrest of Miss Judith Coplon, 27-year-old Department of Justice employee, and of Valentine Gubitchev, a 32-year-old Russian member of the United Nation's staff, on charges of stealing American security secrets. The other was the sudden cabinet change in which V. M. Molotov was replaced by A. Y. Vishinsky as Soviet foreign minister.

Chairman Green issued the following statement:

"The false cloak is off!

"American Communists now admit openly their super-citizenship is in Russia. Their training ground is in the United States. Russia is the home of their allegiance. America is their field of operations.

"These facts are their own admission. No longer can there be any argument as to the intents and purposes of American Communists.

"In a period of 72 hours, Americans beheld a clearly marked pattern of world conspiracy by the Communist Party. Publication of its treasonable intent in America was followed closely by the disclosure of another Soviet spy scandal in the United States and by what may prove to be a momentous change in the Russian cabinet.

"These are developments fraught with such danger to America that we must act to save ourselves. We must act and act immediately by law, by the enforcement of law and by relentless exposure to eliminate this cancerous Communistic germ from our national life. The time has come to get tough with spies and traitors.

"American Legionaires, briefly at recent conferences on subversive activities on how best to defend America through educational, legal and legislative processes against Communist conspiracies, were not surprised at the latest red developments.

"The American Legion has anticipated these developments. We have been training defenders to man the ramparts of Americanism. Every decent citizen should and must support The American Legion in this vital fight."

HONEY BEES WINTER WELL IN INDIANA

Honey bees in Indiana have come through the winter of 1948-49 in better condition than they have for many years according to Gerald L. Hodson, Chief Apiary Inspector for the Indiana Department of Conservation. Winter loss to date averages less than 2% compared to a normal winter loss of 5% to 10% for the state as a whole. This is quite in contrast to the severe loss of the winter of 1947-48 when nearly one half of the bees perished.

The relatively mild winter weather is accountable, in part at least, for this bit of good fortune for the beekeepers. But a heavy loss from starvation may still result if beekeepers "robbed their colonies too closely last fall."

Bees usually consume more stores (food) during a mild winter than they do during a severe winter which keeps them more nearly dormant.

April is usually a critical time for bees in that their normal food supply has dwindled away and it is too early for them to gather enough nectar and pollen to sustain the colony.

Beekeepers are advised to examine their colonies as soon as the weather will permit to determine whether feeding is necessary. It is very foolish indeed to have bees come through the winter and then let them starve only a few weeks before honey gathering time.

If found to be needing food, a supply of syrup made of equal parts of pure granulated sugar and hot water can be given through some type of feeder at the rate of about 1 pound of syrup per colony per day until sufficient natural food is available.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR
STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Indiana's 1949 revision of the state hospital and health center plan for 1950 construction is the first 1949 plan of any state to receive the approval of Surgeon General Leonard A. Schoele, United States Public Health Service, according to Dr. Martha O'Malley, director, Division of Hospital Services, Indiana State Board of Health.

The 1949 plan as developed by the Indiana State Board of Health and the Indiana Advisory Hospital and Health Center Planning Council was the first revision of the Indiana plan submitted since the original outline was devised May 5, 1947. This plan was also one of the first to be approved by the United States Public Health Service.

States are required by the federal hospital survey and construction act to annually revise the state plan in order to be eligible to receive federal funds for hospital construction.

Approximately $5,205,488 has been allotted to Indiana for hospital construction.

Construction of hospitals has already started in the following counties: Rush, Whitley, Tipton, Harrison, Lagrange, Fayette, Randolph (Union City), Fayette, Allen (Lutheran) and a public health center in Lake county at Gary.

Plans are proceeding for building either new hospitals or additions in the following counties: Washington, Hancock, Perry, Allen (Irene Byron), Lake (Mt. Mercy), Hamilton, Knox (Good Samaritan), Dubois, Clark, Lawrence (Dunn), Wayne (Reid), Pulaski, Marshall and Marion (Sunnyside).

IT'S PROFITABLE TO HAVE A ROADSIDE STAND

So says the John P. Hartman family of Kane County, Illinois. The March 19 Prairie Farmer story about this farm family's roadside stand tells how it started in 1925 when Mrs. Hartman set up a table out by the road to sell her farm-fresh vegetables as a means of supplementing the family income.

In the 23 years since it has meant a lot of hard work, but from the $300 grossed the first year, the stand has blossomed into a $7,000 a year operation. Most of the produce sold by the Hartmans is raised on their farm, and in addition they raise feed and pasture for their feeder cattle and hogs.

Dr. Dan Urschel was in Indianapolis Sunday attending a meeting of the State Medical Association's Committee on Rural Medical Care. This meeting of the Committee was held in conjunction with Mr. Malcolm Mason, Health Specialist at Purdue University, who has been instrumental in founding a number of County Health Councils throughout the state. Also present were Dr. L. E. Birney, Director of the State Board of Health, and Dr. A. P. Hauss, President of the Indiana State Medical Association.

SCHOOL TO TRAIN

NEW HIGHWAY TROOPERS

Arthur M. Thurston, superintendent of State Police, today announced that a department recruit school to train 25 new troopers will be held at Indiana University, at Bloomington, June 20 to July 30.

Hoosier young men interested in a career as a state policeman should write to Superintendent Thurston, requesting an application blank. A tentative deadline for receiving applications has been fixed as of midnight, April 30.

Fifty men will be selected on a competitive basis from those applying and enrolled in a rigorous six-week training course. At the end of the school, the top 25 police students will be selected for appointment as probationary troopers third class. The training will consist of classroom lectures and actual practice in law enforcement techniques and procedures, to which will be added a physical training program.

Preliminary requirements for appointment to the department are as follows: The applicant must be a graduate of an accredited high school and submit a transcript of his high school record, and have been a resident of Indiana during the year preceding his application. He must be 21 years of age but not more than 35, and he must be five feet nine inches in height with weight in proportion.

The applicant also must be an American citizen of good character, possess a valid unrestricted Indiana driver's license, and be able to pass comprehensive mental and physical examinations.

Superintendent Thurston announced that the training school will be commanded by Captain Norman C. Burnworth, State Police staff officer, who will be assisted by Don L. Kooker, acting director of the Indiana University institute of criminal law administration, and Sergeant J. Russell Prior, State Police training officer.

STATE FAIR

The Indiana State Fair may be several months away in the opinion of some people but to F. M. Overstreet of Columbus, Indiana State Fair Board member in charge of Concessions it might as well be next week.

Of the 338 available spaces which are leased to stand operators during the fair, 210 contracts have been signed so far. Of the leases already signed none of them include Mind Readers, Games of Chance, Palm Readers, Fortune Tellers, or Donation Shows.

These are excluded from the fair according to Mr. Overstreet because the Indiana State Fair Board still maintains its high level idea of presenting only the best for its visitors.

The new enlarged machinery field across the tracks is 65 per cent sold out thus far. Of the 100 available spaces for machinery exhibitors 65 contracts have been signed.

Mr. Overstreet urges those who are expecting to exhibit at the Fair in 1949 to make early arrangements for stands and exhibit space while there are still a few choice spots available.

The Indiana State Fair will be held Sept. 1 through 9 opening on Thursday this year, one day earlier.

Some of the highlighted attractions will be the Grand Circuit racing with purses of more than $145,000 to be given, The nightly Horse Show in the Coliseum, Night Show in front of the Grandstand and Spike Jones and his orchestra and the Cetlin and Wilson Shows held daily at the Midway.

THIS INVENTION SHOULD SAVE LIVES

An Indiana farmer's invention that may revolutionize corn picking is the subject of a story in the March 19 Prairie Farmer.

When Herman Flora of Carroll County, Indiana, couldn't buy a corn-picker four years ago, he built one himself. What will be of interest to every farmer is that this cornpicker is constructed so the snapping rolls can be reversed when the machine clogs. There can be no temptation to risk mangling arms and legs in the rush to get the machine going again on the job of harvesting a crop. Flora stays on the tractor seat when the rolls become clogged, reverses the transmission, and the machine cleans itself.

LISTED IN DIRECTORY

SEED MIXTURES RESTORE HOG ROOTED PASTURE

Serious damage to permanent pastures during the fall and winter through uprooting of the sod by hogs is reported by farmers throughout the state to Purdue agronomists. Farmers are anxious for information on the re-establishment and improvement of these pastures.

The excessive amount of rooting by hogs was caused by the presence of white grubs in the sod which reached the peak of their cycle last fall, M. O. Pence, extension agronomist, explains. The hogs root up the sod to find the grubs to eat. Hogs may be expected to do less rooting of pastures when fed a balanced ration including animal protein.

Fortunately, the grass, when rooted is not destroyed and in time will return. However, the pasture from these damaged areas will be much curtailed this year, especially for early grazing. The damage to "rooted" pasture can be reduced by following practices suggested by Pence.

Korean lespedeza, seeded any time in March, is first choice among the legumes where summer pasture is the main consideration. If rooting has left the land quite rough and uneven, the harrow or disc should be used to smooth the sod. Lespedeza should be inoculated and broadcast at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds per acre with one half pound of ladino clover seed. The seed mixture should be kept stirred in the seeder to prevent settling out of the smaller, heavier ladino. Lespedeza seeding is not needed if it grew in the pasture last year, and in that case, the ladino clover seed can be mixed with medium cornmeal and seeded alone since the lespedeza should volunteer. Unless the soil is quite moist, the seeding should be followed by the use of a harrow or cultipacker.

Moderate grazing should be practiced in order not to destroy the ladino clover, which, when established, will furnish excellent grazing in future years. Lespedeza should reseed and volunteer until the grass and ladino crowd it out.

Both the new seeding and old sod will be benefitted by the application of 300 to 400 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate or, where potash is needed, a slightly larger amount of 0-14-7 or 0-12-12. This is a good time to apply limestone if soil tests show it is needed.

Such seedings should add to the grazing furnished by these pastures during the summer when pasture needs are greatest. The legumes will benefit the grass that remains, hasten its return and increase its future productivity, if fertilized is used.

A total of 1,345 adult leaders of Indiana's 4-H clubs attended the series of training schools completed in March, according to the 4-H club office at Purdue University.

A year ago the total attendance was 950. The schools were sponsored cooperatively by the Indiana Rotary Clubs and the Agricultural Extension Service.

The highest attendance was in the southern district with a total of 488 leaders registering for the meetings. More than 700 new leaders for the 1949 season received the training.

According to the new Agricultural extension service leaflet, "Ten Pointers On Tree Windbreaks," good tree planting practices upon arrival of the trees will include immediate cutting of the strings and opening of the bundles. Trees should be placed in a thin layer in a trench in a moist, shady place. Moist earth should be packed around the roots to avoid air pockets and they should be watered daily if planting is delayed Purdue University foresters advise.

Your Only Real Security: A Home of Your Own

A Message to the Man with a Family

NOTHING ELSE you can buy with your money lasts so long, serves so well, gives so much value year in, year out, as your own home. It is at once the badge of solid citizenship and the mark of a man who is striving to provide security for his family.

Where else can you put your money, the fruits of your labor; how else can you provide so much comfort, happiness and security for your family and yourself, than in a home of your own?

The house you buy today provides shelter and a good life for your family now; and as you pay for it, month by month, it helps you build a solid financial future for yourself. Of all the things you can buy, only a home retains its real worth—twenty, thirty, forty years from now it will still give you safe, secure shelter. All that this house actually costs you is the down payment; your monthly payments are both rent and savings.

Yes, your only real security is a home of your own! Stocks may depreciate, bonds may be defaulted, even savings accounts may be depleted, but so long as your home stands, it is shelter, it is stability, for you and your family.

Fortunate, indeed, is the man who owns his home. It gives purpose to your family life. Come war or inflation, your savings invested in a home always yield their full measure of value in shelter, comfort and satisfaction. Should hard times come some day, your savings might be dissipated while your home still stands as a haven. We learned during the depression of the thirties that it is neither wise, profitable nor necessary to take an honest man's home from him. We learned that there are measures that can be taken to help a man hold his home. This lesson our country will never forget.

In this blessed America of ours, more people own their homes than in any land on earth. They are better homes—far, far better than the people of any other country may aspire to.

And our homes are getting better all the time. Now that material and labor shortages are practically over, you may confidently expect to find this year the greatest home values ever seen in this country.

Like everything else, houses cost more than they did ten years ago. Yet such is the progress of the building industry that more people can afford to own a home today than ever before.

The home building industry of this country is constantly increasing the value of its product and reducing its costs so that the benefits of home ownership may be extended to more families than ever before.

The home building industry of this country is constantly increasing the value of its product and reducing its costs so that the benefits of home ownership may be extended to more families than ever before. In thousands of communities in this country, you can now buy a home for no greater monthly cost than your weekly pay check.

Remember: A home is more, much more, than bricks and mortar, nails and lumber. It is your sure investment in your family's happiness and welfare.

In this insecure world, a home of your own is the only sure bulwark you can erect against the forces that threaten the security of your family.

MERCHANTS FAVOR DAY-LIGHT SAVING TIME

The regular monthly meeting of the Mentone Merchants' Association was held at the town hall Monday evening, with a fine attendance. Several matters of business were discussed, and in the discussion relative to fast or slow time, the members expressed themselves as favoring daylight saving time. The fact that almost all other towns in the county will be on "fast" time was a deciding factor in favoring the earlier opening and closing during the long summer days.

He was lying across the bed in his house, located in the rear of Bill's diner, five miles west of Warsaw on highway 30. He used a .22 calibre revolver.

The young man came to work that morning and then returned to his home, and when he failed to return, fellow employees started a search. Cole left a note but gave no reason for his act.

WILLIS MERIDITH DIES.

Willis Meredith, 77, passed away at the home of his niece, Mrs. Orval Fitton, four miles northeast of Akron, at 10:45 Thursday morning. He had been ill six weeks.

Born June 3, 1871, the son of Simon and Sarah (Catern) Meredith, he was a former employee of the American Fork and Hoe Company and had lived with Mrs. Fitton for the past 13 years.

Other survivors are two brothers, Harvey of Akron and Harry of Claypool, and several nieces and nephews. His wife, the former Mary Eaton, preceded him in death in 1944.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Moyer Hauptert funeral home in Akron. The Rev. D. L. Slaybaugh officiated and burial was in the Akron cemetery.

MENTONE MEN HAUL IN HEAVY BASS

Friday was a real day for some Mentone fishermen. (Some didn't get a thing while Lamar Anderson caught a 5 1/2 pound bass on Mud Lake and Kenneth Riner got one that weighed an even five pounds at McClure. The Anderson fish measured 22 1/2 inches long.

When we said "hauled" in, that is just what we meant. Lamar, without wading boots, was casting from the shore and thought he was caught on weeds when his bait wouldn't retrieve. The line quivered a bit, so he began reeling it in. There wasn't much action and when he saw how large (and tame) it was, he considered it a fish of some undesirable species, and just walked backwards dragging the fish onto the bank. He went into action, however, when he saw the bass start to flop around.

Kenny Riner, too, was casting from the shore, but did have on high waders—that he found leaked at the top when he stepped in a hole a trifle too deep, when his bass hit. There was a series of mud ripples and pot holes between him and the fish, so he managed to drag it over one mound of earth after the other—with a short breather in each tiny pool—until he had him on the bank.

It seems the orthodox fisherman had a bad day.

OLUB CALENDAR

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Food sanitarians from twenty Indiana cities which have approved restaurant sanitation ordinances will bring problems encountered in the enforcing of local grading and nongrading restaurant ordinances to a conference for state and local food sanitarians to be held April 26-28 in Hurty Hall, Indiana State Board of Health, Indianapolis.

The conference will be devoted entirely to the problems presented by the food sanitarians in an informal discussion led by James H. McCoy, sanitarian, Indiana State Board of Health.

"Approved facilities and methods for the washing and sterilization of utensils, and procedures involved in the degrading and revoking of permits in establishments which do not meet sanitary requirements are among the problems which we expect to discuss," Mr. McCoy said today in anticipating the various activities to be brought out in the meeting.

Food sanitarians from the branch offices of the State Board of Health located at Ft. Wayne, Valparaiso, Washington and Columbus, and from the following cities which have approved restaurant sanitation ordinances are among those who are expected to attend the conference: East Chicago, Hammond, Gary, Valparaiso, South Bend, Mishawaka, Elkhart, Fort Wayne, Angola, Logansport, Kokomo, Muncie, Marion, West Lafayette, Shelbyville, Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Vincennes, Anderson and Evansville.

All of the courses will be taught by members of the Purdue staff but no college credit will be given, Dean Matthews said. Included in the courses will be the selection of clothing, clothing construction, family food, nutrition, growth and development of the child, managing the home, housing to include planning or remodeling the house and home nursing.

Expenses for the course will include living in the residence halls, amounting to $120, plus a registration fee for Indiana residents of $8 and a $2 medical fee, both to be paid at the time of registration.

Additional information may be obtained from Dean Mary L. Matthews, School of Home Economics, Purdue.

Just as a farmer cannot improve the quality of an egg after it is laid, marketing can not improve the quality of produce received from the farmer, Alexander Gordeuk, extension poultryman points out. Farmers who maintain the quality of the egg from the time it is laid until marketed usually receive higher than average prices.

Kerosene in Dangerous Role

Sneak killers lurk in virtually every American home. These killers are poisons which claim more than 2,000 lives a year. Small children under five are the most frequent victims. Guard against these sneak killers in three places where they are usually found: Bathroom — medicines and drugs. Kitchen—cleaning, bleaching and disinfecting compounds. Basement or garage—insecticides and kerosene. Kerosene's poisonous characteristics have long been overshadowed by its fire hazard. With the exception of food poisoning, kerosene leads the list of virtually every home poisoning survey, the National Safety Council says.

TO SPEAK IN INDIANAPOLIS

A series of lectures will be given at the Irvington Church of Christ in Indianapolis beginning Monday, April 4, and continuing through Friday. There will be meetings both afternoon and evening. This is the fourth year that the Lectureship program has been conducted. The theme this year is "The Work of the Church."

On Tuesday afternoon Lloyd Boyll will speak on, "Christian Influence."

ENJOY OPERETTA

The gym was well filled last Friday evening when grade students presented the operetta, "Polly Make-Believe."

The operetta was well given, and it's a question of who enjoyed it most—the audience or the cast. The stage settings and the costumes were colorful and clever, and were the result of many hours of work on the part of parents and teachers. However, judging by all expressions, such a production is well worth the effort, and we always look forward eagerly, to such school activities.

SPRAYING BULLETIN
NOW AVAILABLE

Recommendations on the use of 2, 4-D for weed control, which has become a standard farm practice, are given in the newly published leaflet, 297, "Weeding with 2, 4-D" by the Agricultural Extension Service of Purdue University. Prof. Oliver C. Lee, author of the leaflet, reports on the results of four years of experimental work and field observation which have shown that of the 88 weeds on which 2,4-D was applied, 62 of them were affected. The remainder of the weeds are considered resistant and are not effectively destroyed by spraying.

Active photographs in the leaflet illustrate methods which give the best results with 2,4-D. Several mounted sprayers available for use and corn injury resulting from incorrect use of 2,4-D are shown in the illustrated section.

The leaflet also discusses the three types of weed killer, which include sodium salt, amine salts and esters. Purdue studies have shown that crop plants are more easily injured by the esters than by the salts. On the other hand, the esters may prove more effective than the salts when applied under adverse conditions and to plants that are difficult to kill, the author explains.

A discussion on sprays includes tables giving amounts of three types of 2,4-D to use in 50 gallons of water and rates of applications per acre. Timely spraying in small grains including wheat, oats, barley, rye and sorghum with 2,4-D as a selective spray is considered in the publication. Recommendations for spraying turf weeds and spraying in growing corn have also been given in the leaflet.

The author gives recommendations for the application of 2,4-D in spraying fence rows, spraying Canada thistle, field bind weed, wild garlic and the operation of spray equipment.

This bulletin is available at Purdue University or from the county extension office.

TECHNICIAN SCHOOLS TO BE HELD MAY 2-12

Two artificial breeding schools are being held each year to meet the demand for trained technicians in the employ of the artificial breeding associations in Indiana, according to V. C. Freeman, associate dean of the School of Agriculture, Purdue University. During the past year, 14 new associations were organized, bringing the number of associations in operation in Indiana to 47. Approximately 9,000 dairymen are now using the service, Dean Freeman reports.

Announcement is made of the next school to be held May 2-12 at the University under the sponsorship of the School of Agriculture. The course is open to persons 21 years of age or older. The Purdue dairy department advises that those who attend the school have a background in the dairy field and in addition, should desire the management of an artificial breeding association.

The course, designed to meet the needs of the technician, will include such training as insemination techniques, bacteriology and physiology in their relation to insemination, principles of heredity, record keeping, problems of organization, promotion and development.

Frank E. De La Croix, extension dairyman in charge of the course, says that most technicians in Indiana are hired on the "per cow" basis, and receive from $3.75 to $4.50 per first service. A good technician can handle up to 2,000 cows per year.

A registration fee of $10 will be charged for the school. Students will be responsible for their room and board.

Further information and application blanks may be obtained from the office of the county agricultural agent. Application blanks should be sent to Frank De La Croix, dairy extension department, Purdue University.

4-H SAFETY WORKERS STRIVING TO REDUCE FARM ACCIDENTS

More than one and a half million farm residents took enforced vacations last year due to accidents. In short, one out of every 17 farm people suffered a disabling accident.

Motor vehicle accidents now head the list of causes of fatalities to rural people, 7,300 of whom were killed due to collisions, blowouts and other highway mishaps in 1948.

The annual economic toll due to all types of farm accidents is now nearly one billion dollars!

In an all-out attempt to reduce these staggering figures, 4-H Club members throughout the nation are already engaged in the 1949 National 4-H Farm Safety program, reports Guy L. Noble, director, National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

Daily safety practice is stressed in farm buildings and yards, in use of farm machinery, handling livestock and in driving or walking on highways. Through county extension agents and local 4-H Club leaders, rural boys and girls are encouraged to check and remove conditions likely to cause accidents and fires, and promote safety practices in farm life. They are also taught to cooperate in community safety activities. The entire program is under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

As added incentives to produce good safety records, General Motors is again donating awards. Five sterling silver in each county for best safety achievements. The state winner is given an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, and also an opportunity to be selected for national honors and one of the eight $300 scholarships. The county reporting the most outstanding safety program in each state receives an engraved plaque of merit.

PORTABLE SHELTERS AID PULLET GROWING

An inexpensive summer range shelter can save thousands of chicks each year and likewise make available clean pastures which save the poultry raiser money, Joe W. Sicer, Purdue University extension poultryman, asserts.

When brooder houses cannot be moved, the chicks are often compelled to run over ground which is heavily contaminated with the droppings from broods of previous years. Sick and wormy chicks are almost inevitable with such conditions, Sicer states.

The chicks may be confined to the brooder house, or to the house and a clean "sun porch," until brooding heat is no longer needed. The pullets should then be moved to the portable range shelters and clean pasture. Contaminated ground surrounding the permanent brooder house is thereby avoided. Healthier pullets result, and in addition, an abundance of succulent pasture makes possible a saving in feed.

Range shelters should be of simple construction. Walls and floor are commonly made of welded wire. A shelter eight feet by ten feet is large enough for 125 pullets.

Range shelters are also usually needed, when sexed pullet chicks are raised, in order to avoid overcrowding in the brooder house when the pullet chicks reach six to eight weeks of age.

Purdue extension leaflet 251 describes a number of range shelters which have proven satisfactory in Indiana. The leaflet is available through the office of the county agricultural agent.

1948 COLORED SLIDEFILMS

A new 25 frame full color slidefilm entitled "Mainliner Meals" has just been released by United Air Lines School and College Service.

The film, with an accompanying booklet, gives the complete story of the airline's meals, tracing their preparation from the planning stage to actual service aboard its planes. Approximately 3,000,000 meals were served to United passengers in 1948.

The film, of which one thousand prints were made, may be procured by schools, educators and other interested groups on a free-loan basis through the nearest United School and College office in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and New York, or by contacting the nearest United Air Lines traffic office. Six other slidefilms, three 16mm movies, including colorful "Highway to Hawaii," picture sets, booklets, leaflets and outlines of suggested school and university courses also are available.

FROM ROUNDTREE, AGAIN

The following poem was sent in from over Argos way by our friend Roundtree Kubley.

He explains that, according to Webster, "Gabriel's hounds" are yelping sounds made by wild geese at night.

Reveries

The night was clear with listless calm,
When yelping sounds came came on the air,

'Twas Gabriel's hounds on the chase,
To flush the stars out of their lair.

You may not meet old Macbeth's ghost,
Nor hear the crying Banshee's wall,
You e'en may doubt Manchausen's fibs,
And think there's nothing in his tale.

Queen Mab has fancies, too, you bet,
As in her coach she rolls along,
Disdaining all enchanting help,
With witching lilt she hums a song.

Heed! Never cross the river Styx,
Till Gabriel's trumpet sounds the call,
Then, have a ticket for return,
Or, you'll be at a deadend wall.

Some Indiana farmers had difficulty in 1948 in establishing good clover stands due to anthracnose disease, E. C. Miller, extension animal husbandryman, Purdue University, states. Farmers who will be needing pasture this season may grow rape and oats at the rate of one bushel of oats and five to six pounds of rape per acre. The pasture mixture is a cool weather crop and Sudan grass will need to be seeded in June.

Yes, De Soto is lower. It's got a longer wheelbase (all passengers ride between the axles). But there's no penalty for these advantages. Overall length and breadth are not increased. You needn't rebuild your garage. You can still change a tire. And a dented fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job.

More New Books.

Alice Hobart, who wrote, "Oil for the Lamps of China," and "The Peacock Sheds His Tail," has written a new book, "Cleft Rock," which is the story of four generations of a powerful family in Central Valley, California. A beautiful Russian refugee girl coming into contact with the aristocratic Dodd family is the yeast that works incalculable changes both in the Dodd family, and in the entire valley.

"A Candle for St. Jude," by Rumer Godden, has a rather unusual setting of the ballet school of Madame Holbein in London and portrays the pride, passion and discipline demanded of the adherents of the art of ballet.

Two new westerns are, "The Outlaw of Hidden Valley," by Sims, and "Tappan's Burro," by Zane Grey.

THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP. NEWS

Published Weekly by the

Northern Indiana Cooperative Association, Mentone, Ind.
ARTLEY D. CULLUM, Editor and Manager.

PRINTED IN THE MODERN PLANT OF THE COUNTRY PRINT SHOP

We predicted some weeks back that next fall's duck and goose season would be longer and the bag limit more lenient than during this past season. Now a release from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service bears out this forecast.

Although Albert M. Day, director of the Wildlife Service, has not openly said that the season will be longer, he is on record as saying that the outlook is "encouraging" for more lenient regulations. And his reasoning is based on a survey just completed of waterfowl wintering grounds.

This annual waterfowl inventory in the southland and Mexico disclosed that the continent's duck and goose population has increased. A heavy decline in the number of coots, however, has kept the overall 1949 waterfowl count at about the same figure as for 1948.

Mr. Day credited the increase shown in the wintering grounds to improved conditions in the southland for waterfowl and to the stringent hunting regulations of the last two seasons. Also Mr. Day said that the Wildlife Service's refuges helped by providing resting and feeding grounds for the birds on their migration south.

"The regulations have been purposely severe during the past two years," said Mr. Day, "to overcome the 1945-47 tailspin in waterfowl populations. The duck and goose increase in the 1949 inventory indicates that the regulations have had the desired effect and have halted the decline."

Setting the regulations for next season naturally will depend largely on the summertime survey in the breeding areas in the north. But duck hunters are almost assured of a longer season this coming winter.

There has been lots of yelling the last two years about the short season and the comparatively small bag limit, but apparently this did have the desired effect. Now that it is over, let's forget about the strict regulations and plan for the future. And let's not let the 'tailspin' in waterfowl populations happen again.

BREEDERS SEARCH FOR RUST RESISTANT OATS

New oats varieties are now in the plant breeding hopper at Purdue University and are being groomed for release to farmers a few years hence when present oats varieties are no longer resistant to the present strain of leaf rust. This announcement is made by Dr. Ralph Caldwell, head of the department of botany and plant pathology, Purdue University.

Breeders and plant pathologists are always on the lookout for new diseases that may be developing which in time may attack our new disease resistant varieties, such as Benton and Clinton. Farmers and scientists will recall the damage caused by Victoria Blight to Vicland and Tama throughout the state in 1946 and 1947. Luckily, the plant scientists were ready with the new Benton and Clinton varieties which were resistant to the blight as well as to leaf and stem rusts.

Farmers have almost forgotten the damage that rust can do since resistant strains have been developed.

Scientists have discovered a "culprit" known as race 45 of the oat leaf rust, that is capable of attacking Benton, Clinton and the new Clinton 59. It has not done much damage in the field as yet, but it may do so any year when warm and moist weather occur in June or July.

Large breeding programs are in progress to produce newer varieties capable of resisting the race 45 or leaf rust, according to Dr. Caldwell. The new varieties have been produced by hybridization of Clinton and Benton with strains resistant to the menacing race 45 of oat leaf rust.

SCIENTISTS DISCOVER MORE
NEW VITAMINS

Newest information regarding the knowns of the Vitamin B Complex was given recently by Dr. Stefan Ansbacher and Harley H. Hill of the Research Laboratory of Vi-D-Co, Marion, Indiana, and Elizabeth B. Ramsey of the Laboratory of Industrial Hygiene, New York City, before the Division of Agriculture and Food Chemistry at the 1949 Spring Meeting of the American Chemical Society. This joint report entitled "Vitamin B-12 Potency Versus Animal Protein Factor (APF) Activity," reveals that there are more vitamins or vitamin-like factors yet to be isolated and identified.

One of the last additions to the family of B vitamins is Vitamin B-12, clinically known as "APA," the antipernicious anemia factor. Results obtained with this vitamin furnish conclusive evidence that it is highly effective in cases of human macrocytic anemias. It also has growth stimulating activity for single-stomached animals and promotes the hatchability of fertile eggs.

Contrasted with Vitamin B-12 is the Animal Protein Factor, referred to in abbreviated form as "APF." It cannot be a single substance, if the data of Dr. Ansbacher and his co-workers are correct. Their results showed that APF is composed of as yet unidentified biologically active factors in addition to Vitamin B-12. Therefore, APF would be better named "APF Complex."

"Hay and Pasture Seeding and Seeding Mixtures," agronomy mimeograph No. 24, gives rates of seeding single forage crops, seeding mixtures and mixtures for various types of soils such as highly productive soils or those having poor drainage. Purdue University extension poultrymen warn against some common errors in the brooder house. Sudden warm days may find the temperature too high, brooders may get too dry; grain should not be fed with a chick starter; avoid filling feeders too full; water fountains should not be switched abruptly and it is not wise to start two different ages under the brooder stove or to start chicks too close to areas where old hens are housed.

PUT "SPRING" IN YOUR AUTOMOBILE

The official arrival of spring is a signal for a comprehensive conditioning of engine and car body, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, reminded motorists today.

Although production of new cars is fast approaching the level of demand, the average age of cars now in use is over 9 years. Especially with older cars, thorough spring conditioning is urgent and prompt motorists will realize benefits in terms of increased operating economy and greater safety Mr. Hayes added.

Thorough washing of car bodies with particular attention to under surfaces is required to protect parts and finish against the corrosive actions of chemical compounds used on icy road surfaces. Wax coatings must be renewed at this time to insure adequate protection of the finish against the summer sun.

Essential to engine tune-up are: changing grease and oil to summer grades, checking of fuel and carburetion systems, wiring and ignition, tires, cooling system, fan belt, battery level and headlights.

Increased frequency of examination by expert mechanics has helped to prolong the life expectancy of the average motor car. Today with such proper care, an auto will accumulate 90,000 miles and 12 years of service before being scrapped. This contrasts with the 26,000 mileage and six and one-half years of service realized on the average 1926 model, Mr. Hayes reported.

★ Today good will may starve to death. Keep it alive with customer courtesy and careful advertising.

FARM HOUSING COSTS TAKE COMFORTABLE CUTS

Many farm families are asking about cutting the high cost of housing, says Miss Ruth Hutcheson, extension home management specialist, Purdue University.

She points out that the building industry is attacking this problem in several ways which can benefit farm families.

The 4-inch module (unit) which has been adopted as a basis for dimensions in buildings, materials, and equipment will save labor and cost. Supplies come in standard modular sizes in framing lumber, wall boards, insulation board, and many finish materials. Most masonry products are being produced in coordinated sizes. Door and window units now may be had using the modular sizes.

Power tools and labor-saving equipment used on the construction job and pre-cutting of lumber save money. Power saws and drills cut down the time and labor required to prepare materials for fastening into place.

Prefabricated window and door units, stairs, cabinets, and storage units are other developments to take care of the more difficult jobs in house construction. At this time partial prefabrications of this type may mean more economy to farm families than use of the more traditional items.

STATE NURSERIES SHIP 5 MILLION TREE SEEDLINGS

Better than five million pine and hardwood seedlings have been marked for shipment from state forest nurseries, according to Richard Rambo, forester in charge of nursery activities for the Indiana Department of Conservation.

The annual spring lifting program has been underway in three state forest nurseries for the past month and is nearing completion at Jackson State Nursery, Brownstown. Seedlings being shipped from Jasper-Pulaski State Nursery, Medaryville and Clark State Nursery, Henryville, will be underway by the middle or latter part of April.

Mr. Rambo pointed out that a million and a half were hardwood seedlings and the remainder were pines including Scotch, Virginian, white, jack, shortleaf and others.

These seedlings were purchased by Hoosier landowners for use as windbreaks, to check soil erosion, hold water and prevent flood conditions. Many organizations such as the Indiana Coal Producers Association purchase seedlings to plant strip mine areas. This year that particular organization purchased more than a million seedlings for that purpose.

Other uses for the sought-after seedlings include the restoration of wildlife habitat areas and the eventual food and cover for birds and game that trees will provide.

NATIONAL CORN GROWING CHAMPION

Ambia, Indiana (Special)—Good soil, good farming ability and good hybrid seed enabled Lawrence Kincaid, Warren county, Indiana to win the National Corn Growing Championship in the 1948 National DeKalb Hybrid Corn Growing Contest.

With a yield of 180.3 bushels to the acre on a 5-acre selected contest plot, Kincaid's record is nearly three times the Indiana 1948 average yield per acre, according to U.S.D.A. figures.

Champion Kincaid, farming 320 acres, selected a black loam field in corn last year and on which a commercial fertilizer was used. He spring plowed, disked and cultimulched before planting the field May 25 with DeKalb hybrid seed corn, variety 680, in check rows 40 inches between rows and hills. The record 180.3 bushel yield was accurately checked by a disinterested party, according to contest rules.

National average yield recorded in this year's contest was 110.1 bushels per acre—more than twice the 1948 average of all corn grown. During the past 10 years more than 30,000 of the nation's farmers have entered DeKalb's corn growing contests, and over that period have averaged 96.95 bushels per acre.

LIBRARY NEWS

The first grade library hour was unusually interesting this week. Miss Cara Lynne Fenstermaker brought her dancing marionettes and put on a fine demonstration for the children.

Also several of the children brought their books and read stories for the librarian.

These children show promise of becoming very fine readers and they will soon be reading library books for themselves.

NOTICE

When cleaning house, if you wish to get rid of any old chairs, stands or tables, why not bring them down to the library for the use of the children? We would be very happy to have them.

Rev. E. E. DeWitt was in Converse last Friday attending the funeral of a friend, Sgt. Rennaker.
