Girl Scout News

Spring is here! Spring is the time of joy for the Scouts throughout the country and our own troop is no exception. Winter is alright but spring—spring is the time of joy and activity. It is the commencement of the new and happy life.

The Scouts are overflowing with activity which it is impossible to suppress. Plans are rapidly advancing for hikes! Supper hikes, breakfast hikes any kind of hikes. The air is invigorating and how can a Scout resist such temptations.

Winter is the time for indoor, activities such as folk-dancing and singing for minstrel badges but spring is the beginning of the search for outdoor knowledge. The Scouts will be very busy gathering leaves and flowers for their scrap books and for their nature badges. Swimming, baseball, and other outdoor sports will also soon begin and these should by all means improve our gay spirits and health. We hope so after spending a period of eight limitless months indoors.

Scout meetings will now be held every Thursday afternoon at the schoolhouse. Be sure to be there at two o'clock.

Cannibal Sharks

Watchfulness, the law of the sea, applies to sharks as well as other fish. Their span of years—never yet counted by scientists—is dependent on their own alertness, for, although only a shark can bite a shark, these monstrous fish are cannibals, and eat one another as well as everything else in the sea.

JUST INDIFFERENT

A man was buying a horse from a farmer, but before he made any payment he asked the farmer to let him ride. Out in the pasture he got on the horse and the animal started across the field. He hadn't gone far when he bumped into a tree. Then a few yards farther he bumped into the side of the barn. The man dismounted.

"I don't want that horse. He's blind!" he said indignantly.

"No, sir," replied the farmer, "he ain't blind—he just doesn't care what he does."—Washington Post.

BEAUTY RETURNING TO "HEART OF GOLD"

Chorus Girl Declares Love Comes Before Riches.

London.—He told her he had a fortune in gold in the vaults of New York banks. And so the beautiful English girl married the hoarder and came over the seas to find that her American millionaire was just a journeyman electrician. No wonder she left him and went back to merry England!

But now she has found out that although her wire-patcher had no gold in the banks his heart is made of solid gold—and so she is coming back.

Vera Milton, beautiful platinum blond, was a sensation of the London theaters four years ago. Nightly, while she was appearing at the Palace in a Cochrane revue, a stout pleasant-faced American would have a front-row seat—and nightly he would send expensive flowers back to the ravishing chorus girl. Of course they met.

He whispered to her of his wealth in America. Would she share it? She in turn whispered she would. They married and came to New York—and Vera learned that her husband, William Krohm, was just an electrician.

But the little girl was game—albeit angry. She went over to Earl Carroll, got a job in his "Vanities."

She was as good a wife to Bill Krohm as ever a show girl could be to an electrician. But one day some months ago they quarreled and Vera went back to London—and to a greater success than ever.

But by and by she got to yearning for honest Bill and the rugged simplicity of his overalls and plugs and wires. So Vera Milton, with London at her feet and New York in the same place—just for a nod of her pretty head—is coming back to Bill Krohm's flat.

Serves 22 Years in Cell Then Finds Fiancee Wed

Mollara, Italy.—"Women are fickle," said Michaelangelo Gentileore, still downhearted because his childhood sweetheart did not wait for him while he was serving 22 years in a Minnesota penitentiary for murder.

Villagers tried to console him and suggested he marry the widow of the man he murdered.

Gentileore received a letter each month from his supposed fiancée while he was in prison. He came back recently to find that she had been married for many years and that the letters were the result of unwillingness to add to his troubles.

During his imprisonment Gentileore learned to be a shoemaker and sent money he earned to the widow of the man he killed in a quarrel over money. He says he will stay here and make shoes.

Chronology of Time

The present system of chronology, in which we refer to "the year—A. D." was inaugurated in the year 527 A. D. by the monk, Dionysius Exiguus; but its adoption was slow, and it was not until after the year 1000 that the system was generally employed throughout Europe. Various other systems were employed before that time.—Literary Digest.

ALBATROSS TAXIS ON WATER TAKE-OFF

Men have never been successful in building airplanes that fly like birds by flapping their wings—but there are birds that imitate airplanes. For instance, the albatross "taxies" for 70 or 80 yards along the water before rising into the air, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Most birds start flying by hopping into the air and beating their wings. But the albatross, who alights on the water only to get food, spreads his long wings straight out like the wings of an airplane, and then runs on the water until he acquires enough speed to rise.

The albatross has the greatest wing spread of any bird, sometimes reaching 14 feet. But its body weighs only about 18 pounds. Its thick feathers are white with black lines, and the ends of its wings are jet black. The bird is found mainly in tropical seas.

Changing Styles V'reck Shanghai's Pawnbrokers

Rapidly changing fashions in Chinese women's dress in Shanghai threaten to drive the pawnbrokers out of business according to the Boston Globe.

The Chinese woman who wishes to keep abreast of the mode has made it a practice to pawn her clothing after wearing it a few times. Having no intention of redeeming the garments, she adds some money to the loan and is able to purchase a fashionable new outfit.

But the pawnbroker, obliged to keep the pawned clothing at least 18 months, finds that the garments are antiquated by the time he is legally permitted to sell them.

Pawnshops in Shanghai have closed down, the reason given in each case being excess accumulation of unsalable clothing. Some leading pawnshops have suspended dealings in clothing until their stocks have been liquidated.

Can Swallow Fishpole

Swallowing a piece of bent cane about five or six feet long is the amazing feat preformed by members of a newly discovered tribe in New Guinea. The story was told by a government anthropologist. He considered the cane swallowing, which is part of the initiation ceremony of the tribe, as the most astounding act he has ever heard of or witnessed. The witch doctors bend the cane until the ends meet and force it down the lad's throat until only the ends remain projecting out of the mouth. "The discovery of the tribe," he said, "had followed the opening during the past of 4,000 square miles of country in the heart of New Guinea by officers of the district service. The home of the natives was on a vast plateau, 5,000 feet above sea level. They possessed good physique, and were more intelligent than the average New Guinea native."

Huguenots' Descendants Meet

A small group of men whose forefathers were persecuted for their religious beliefs in the Seventeenth century meet once a month in East End, London, according to the American Express company. They are the descendants of the Huguenots who fled to England after the edict of Nantes had been revoked in 1685. Of all the thousands who took sanctuary in England, not more than 150 have preserved their Huguenot individuality. Only three of the original friendly societies remain today, the Normans, the Lincolns and the Protestant refugees from High and Low Normandy.

Radio Wastes Electricity

Radio stations unavoidably "waste" an incredible amount of electricity because less than two one-thousandths of 1 per cent of the power leaving their antennas is ever used. The average station has to send out constantly more than 50,000 times as much energy as its listeners could possibly consume if all of them had their sets turned on during all the hours of its broadcasting.—Collier's Weekly.

Tunnel's Toll 60 Lives

Japan's famous Tanna railway tunnel, 13½ miles long, is nearing completion and will be opened in December. The huge bore has cost the Japanese government nearly $7,500,000, and 60 lives have been lost during the 16 years of construction. It has been one of the most difficult feats in railway history.

Strange Horseless Carriage

One of the strangest horseless carriages in history was made in Nurnberg, Germany, in 1649. It was operated by three men, one of whom steered it from a front seat while the other two, concealed in the rear, propelled it by turning a crank. Although its greatest speed was only two miles an hour, writes Mrs. F. Ogden, Jr., El Reno, Okla., in Collier's Weekly, it had a very effective gadget for making people get out of the way. A large figure of a dragon on the "hood" could spout water for a distance of 15 feet.

"Flowage Rights"

The expression "flowage rights" refers to the right of overflowing land when a dam is built for the purpose of furnishing irrigation or power. The person whose land is overflowed has a right to compensation for any loss. When the right of overflowing a person's land is purchased, this is referred to as flowage rights.

Fairy Stones

Fairy stones are found in Carroll county, Va., on top of Bull mountain. These are starlike crystals simulating the Roman Maltese St. Andrew's crosses. They are found in cross form in their natural state. The stones are a mineral hydrated iron-aluminum silicate in the orthorhombic system. They have a subvitreous to resinous luster and are brown or black in color. The crystalline varieties are frequently cruciform, owing to twinning. The proper name for such stone is staurolite, which is a combination of two Greek words meaning cross and stone.—Washington Star.

First Bread Made

Wholewheat bread, although the first bread made, is often referred to as the "invention" of Sylvester Graham, an American lecturer on temperance and food reform. In 1825, in a treatise, "A Defense of the Graham System of Living," he set forth the attributes of wholewheat bread as a health food and included it in his vegetable dietary regimen, which at one time had many thousands of adherents throughout the United States.

Many Parts to Violin

There are 70 parts of a violin. The back, ribs and bridge are made of maple or plane wood. Spruce is used for the belly, the corners, the molds, linings and sound post. Ebony or rosewood is used for the finger board, nuts, pegs, tail piece and tail-piece button.

DESERT WAR HERO FOUND GUILTY OF SLAYING COLONEL

French Colonial Officer Had Clandestine Affair With Wife of Superior.

Sousse, Tunisia.—A story of the manner in which passions boil under the desert sun of colonial Africa, where so many Frenchmen live in patriotic exile, was told in court recently.

Lieut. Pierre Cabanes, a young hero of desert battles, was convicted of the murder of Col. Jean Caillon, his commanding officer and friend, after a quarrel whose development and climax showed the strain to which France's colonial troops are subjected. He was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Colonel Caillon fell deeply in love with and married Mlle. Madeline Jeudi, a pretty nurse with a past. Gossip pursued her from army post to army post until Caillon asked for a transfer to Tunisia. He was made commander of the Fourth regiment of the crack Sphai cavalry at Sfax.

He did not even there escape from gossip and, perhaps thinking of the price he paid for his love, refused his official permission for Lieutenant Cabanes to marry a young woman who, like Mme. Caillon, was charming and popular—with the officers of the garrison.

He Finds a Substitute.

Angry, Cabanes, dashing and handsome, found a substitute for his fiancée in the colonel's wife.

Caillon seemed not much worried—because he was cementing a friendship with the wife of one Major Perrin of the medical corps.

Caillon and Cabanes continued to respect each other as soldiers, though they were actually enemies.

The colonel lost his life because he made the mistake of proposing a vacation motor jaunt to the southern Tunisian desert, including in the party not only his wife but Cabanes and the medical major's wife.

Trouble began at the first halt, at Cabes. There was a quarrel between Caillon and his wife and the colonel ate dinner alone.

Colonel Caillon spent all his time with Mme. Perrin. His wife reproached him.

A Fight Ensues.

Cabanes found the colonel threatening to kill his wife and commit suicide. He interrupted furiously. Caillon tried to choke Lieutenant Cabanes, who struck him on the jaw, a serious military offense. Others in the club separated them.

They left, all together, next morning, for the lonely oasis of M'Chigdig, with some other officers accompanying them.

Then Caillon publicly told his wife he was through with her. He repeated his determination to her privately after dinner at the oasis. Mme. Caillon went to her room. She found Mme. Perrin already there. They quarreled and fought. Lieutenant Cabanes went in and told Mme. Perrin the party had had enough of her.

Colonel Caillon arrived. He and the lieutenant quarreled bitterly. The lieutenant left, saying he was going to return to Sfax alone. He returned to the group and found that Mme. Caillon had fainted.

Perhaps Lieutenant Cabanes thought Caillon had made good his threat to kill her. Anyway he drew his revolver and fired three times. The colonel fell dead.

The shots revived Mme. Caillon.

"I shot him to free you," said Cabanes.

But in court Mme. Caillon was the chief complaining witness against him, aiding to send him to prison or to execution.

Police Given a Scare by "Unloaded Revolver"

Akron, Ohio.—Police headquarters employees were glad that a wastebasket happened to be the target when Detective Jasper McKinney cleaned his loaded .32 automatic.

McKinney had emptied the magazine. He pointed the gun at the wastebasket and pulled the trigger. The crack of the weapon's explosion through the building brought workers from other rooms running. The bullet tore through the wastebasket and into the floor.

Directly below was Municipal Judge Herman W. Werner. McKinney had forgotten to unload the chamber.

Rabbit Hops Over Alps and Crosses the Danube

Munich.—A copper plate was found in the ear of a large rabbit shot near the south Hungarian town of Babolnyspuszta. It recorded that the animal was released near Berlin in 1931. It was one of a number of baby rabbits sent from south Hungary to improve the rabbit stock of Germany, and experts here say that to return to the home it loved so much it must have hopped its way across the Austrian Alps and the Danube river.

Snake Taken From Egg Tries to Bite Sheriff

St. Clairsville, Ohio.—Highway department engineers have decided they don't want to be herpetologists. They brought several copperhead snake eggs into the Belmont county sheriff's office, after killing the parent snake.

Deputy Sheriff B. F. Mackey cut open one egg with his penknife. A young snake appeared and struck at him.

COMMENCEMENT

The Mentone High School Commencement services were held at the Baptist Church at eight o'clock on the evening of April 18. The friends of the class and the school and the relatives assembled on this evening to see these young people set forth into the world.

As the parents and close relatives gayly entered the Church they were met by gayly dressed Junior ushers, who led them to the reserved seats roped off with streamers of old rose and silver, Senior class colors.

The loft was beautiful decorated and the front of the platform was banked with ferns and roses. Baskets of tea roses, the Senior class flower, were placed in positions on each side of the platform. The center of attention was the motto which read "Climbing Though the Rocks Be Rugged."

Then into the midst of this large audience came the strains of beautiful music. The trio from the Warsaw Conservatory of Music composed of Mrs. Maude Snyder, Robert Whitneck and Robert Shinn instantly commanded the rapt attention of all those present. The march which proclaimed the entrance of the graduates was struck up and the atmosphere became hushed and expectant. Down through the aisle marched the "Class of '35" lead by Herschel Teel and Betty Doran, Junior class officers. The graduates, dressed in caps and gowns, the custom which this class initiated into Mentone, looked very solemn and were followed by the members of the faculty, the speaker, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Myers and the County Superintendent.

Mr. Kelley introduced the speaker, Mr. Phillips.

Mr. Phillips, professor of Political Science of Purdue University and a well known speaker, spoke on "Life." We, as human beings, are capable of two things Prophecy and Retrospection. Prophecy was much used in the olden times when people lived closer to God. People are divided into three classes: the future, the present and the past. These young graduates are living in the future; hoping and wondering about it, having great expectations as to their place in the world. Their parents live in the present for they have found what the future holds in store for them and are now working to live. The grandparents and the other elderly people are living in the past. They found their future, they made their living and now they are feasting upon old memories both happy and sad.

Mr. Phillips then questioned the graduates and in his. Would they be parasites and live off of others thereby gaining their livelihood through vice and crime? Would they be saprophytes and live by drawing sap and life from others? Or would they be vines which stood upright and held their clean course without bending? If they chose this course they would become honored, upright citizens of whom their community would be proud.

Several selections were played by the trio.

Mr. Kelley then introduced Mrs. Helen Huffer, president of the Psi Iota Xi Sorority, who presented the awards given by that society. Mrs. Huffer presented the award given to the first highest scholastic average for four years of high school work to Jean Manwaring. The award given the second highest scholastic average for four years work to Pauline Swick. The Society presented the awards given to the winners of the Short Story Contest held this spring among the Senior girls, also. The short story "Mile Stones" written by Jessie Rush won first award and Charlene Latham was presented with the second award.

Mr. Kelley presented the class to Mr. Harry Lewallen and recommended that they be graduated.

The County Superintendent presented diplomas to the following graduates: Donald D. Blue, Freda Fern Borton, Lova Bush, Robert M. Cole, Weston W. Crevison, Charles W. Eaton, Richard Eiler, Alice Ellsworth, John Ellsworth, Paul Gates, Charlene Latham C. Latham, Dorothy Annabel Long, Paul E. Long, Leo Lynn, Jean Manwaring, Evelyn V. Mikel, Flo I. Mollenhour, Mary A. Mollenhour, Corlyle K. Paulus, Corlyss J. Paulus, Jessie Lucile Rush, Guido Shirey, Evelyn Smith and Pauline Swick.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Leach visited. Mrs. Leach's brother, Joseph Bumarger of Inwood Sunday.

ONE LAW SUIT HAS LASTED 250 YEARS

A lawsuit which began in Poland about 250 years ago is still in progress notes Pearson's Weekly.
A cavalry leader in the Polish army named Colonel Lenk died in the charge which routed the Turkish army before the gates of Vienna, and his estates went to the Carmelite monks.
Then his family produced a document written by him cancelling the legacy, and the suit was begun.
Later it was continued against the Russian government when Poland was absorbed by that country.
Now that Poland is an independent country, the suit continues, this time against the Polish government.
One of the longest lawsuits on record extended over five centuries.
It was a claim for the staggering amount of £207,000,000, made by the heirs of an Italian aristocrat whose possessions were confiscated by the state.
The claimants declared the confiscation illegal, but ultimately an appeal court at Naples decided against them.

Weave Wire Into Fabrics

Fabrics of silk, cotton, wool and rayon now are woven with a fine, insulated copper wire which not only increases their strength and prevents shrinking and stretching but also acts as a conductor for a warming electric current. Those made of cotton and wool are expected to be used widely in blankets, carpets, automobile robes, clothing for invalids and aviators and as a covering for airplane wings where their warm surface will prevent the formation of ice.—Frelling Foster in Collier's Weekly.

Wild Birds Released

To celebrate the enactment of a law forbidding the catching of wild birds for sale in cages, members of the Glasgow branch of the Scottish Society for the Protection of Wild Birds bought all the caged wild birds in the city and took them to Kelvingrove park. The cage doors were opened and 100 larks, finches and linnets were allowed to fly away.

A good attendance answered to the roll call with "My favorite salad receipt". Some valuable Purdue bulletins were distributed by the leaders. Miss Mentzer outlined the plan for 4H club work in Harrison township under the vocational department of the Mentone school. Such work needs to be sponsored by an organized group of women interested in the work and the local Home Economics organization should find it a pleasant task. Esther Sarber and Mrs. Fred Swick were in charge of the contests, and some very interesting and laughable stunts were enjoyed.

Harrison Center Club will join the Mentone Club in a Child Health Day program on May 1st at the Mentone building. The public is invited.

GONE HOME

James H. Welch, son of John and Christena (Brown) Welch, was born November 25, 1859 three miles north of Mentone, Indiana. He passed to his Heavenly Home April 15, 1935 of a heart attack. Although in failing health for the past three years his passing was a very great shock to his neighbors and friends as well as his family. He was united in marriage to Martha E. Workman in March 1894.

To this union was born one son Oral, who resides on his fathers farm three miles north of Mentone. Mr. and Mrs. Welch took into their home Pauline Workman now Mrs. George Borton, when she was nine years old and cared for her as their own.

Mr. Welch was converted and united with the M. E. Church of Mentone, under the pastorate of Rev. O. T. Martin and remained a faithful member, attending all services ever since until the past year when his health would not permit him to attend. He was honest and industrious, always willing to do a kindness and aid in any way he could. He had many friends everywhere who will miss him, but most of all his faithful companion and children who cared for him. He always appreciated everything that was done for him for his comfort by anyone. Mr. Welch was a good neighbor, a kind husband and loving grandfather.

He bore his affliction without a complaint and told his companion several times that he was ready to go whenever the Lord saw fit to call for him. His wife was alone with him when he passed peacefully away without a struggle.

He is gone but not forgotten, our loss is his Eternal gain. He leaves to grieve his departure his widow, one son Oral and wife, a foster daughter and husband and sons Larry and Lynn, one brother John, one granddaughter Elizabeth and husband and one great grand-daughter, Jacqueline Blue with a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral Services were held at the M. E. Church in Mentone. Burial in cemetery near by. Rev. Dewitt officiating.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heart felt thanks to our neighbors and friends everywhere for their sympathy and help during the death and burial of our beloved husband, brother and grandfather, and for the beautiful flowers. Also to the ladies who furnished the music at the Church, and to Rev. Dewitt for his consoling words.

BACCALAUREATE

The Mentone High School graduating class held their Baccalaureate service at the Methodist Church Sunday evening. Rev. Yeager, pastor of the Baptist Church, gave the address of the evening.

The subject of the address was "Luck". Luck comes to those who keep within the law, are in union with Christ, are conscientious or diligent and through prayer. Those who are leaving their life behind them to enter into the bustling world will need the best wishes of the entire community.

The teachers, parents and people of the community have done their best to prepare these Seniors for the world and we sincerely hope these young graduates will do a bit to make the world a finer place which to live.

4H CLUB

Busy, happy 4H girls met at the home of Katherine Eiler, Tuesday, May 2.

A thrill of pleasure surges delightfully through as we excitedly leaf through our instruction manuals. Ambitious fingers are impatient to be working on those absorbing clothing problems or on that delicious food recipe.

After many exclamations over their instructions, the girls heard an interesting discussion, given jointly by Doris Matthews and Miss Mentzer, our club leader. The discussion concerned their stay at the 4H Round-Up held at Purdue last week.

The name "Loyal Workers Club" was chosen by this branch of the 4H. Girls proved their right to this by retiring to corners in small groups and deciding the amount of work to be accomplished by the next meeting. The club is now ready to make on the real work of being a member. We now have twenty-two members.

Alice Meredith demonstrated the correct method of hemming a tea towel to the first year clothing group and Katherine Eiler demonstrated a set-in patch to the fourth year group.

The group was well entertained by the program committee, consisting of Mary Alice Long, Mary Mellott, and Lucille Lightfoot. One of the games was played as follows; the committee gave each member a sheet of paper and a pencil, each girl was given the title of a song, she was to demonstrate the theme of the song by drawing a picture. Miss Mentzer and Katherine Eiler tied for first and Dortha Decker was given the consolation prize.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Mary Mellott's home on Tuesday, May 21.

Wolf Larger Than Dog

Contrary to popular belief, dogs do not run with wolves. A mature timber wolf is half again as big as the largest police dog, and much more formidable. "A wolf can kill a deer any time he wishes," says a writer in the Detroit News. Some kill for pleasure, apparently. Hybrids with dogs are very rare.

Former Winners Have Chance to Set New Track Records With Victories In 1935

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — At least three former winners, two of whom may make track history, will start in the 23rd running of the annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway here on May 30.

Wild Bill Cummings who won a dashing victory last year by 27 seconds, may become the only driver to win two races in succession. Despite the heavy odds against repeating, he will be a popular favorite.

Louis Meyer, who won in 1928 and 1933 to share the two-time winner throne with the famous Tommy Milton, may become the only pilot to win three races. He came to the track with a new car last year with little chance to break it in and this year is a capable threat.

Fred Frame, who won in 1932, will again have three shots at victory, driving one of the trio himself. One of the most prolific racers in the business, competing two or three times a week the year around, Frame will bring short odds from the bettors.

M. E. Conference News

The Methodist Church Conference was held in Fort Wayne. Rev. Dewitt attended the conference and he was re-appointed to the Mentone pastorate; The Mentone Congregation is very happy to welcome Rev. and Mrs. Dewitt to this pastorate for another year.

At the conference it was decided to change the Mentone Church from the Wabash district to the Warsaw district with Rev. O. T. Martin, a former Mentone pastor, as district superintendent.

Rev. J. S. Newcomb, also a former minister, was appointed to take charge at Burket.

Bring on the Brains

"Dar may be what dey calls a brain trust," said Uncle Eben, "but I never yet saw a man wif brains dat he could trust enough to let him go on makin' a livin' by his wits."

Meyer May Become Three Time Winner

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Track history lies within the grasp of the smooth, calm driving of Louis Meyer.

Louis, who won the annual 500-mile competition in 1928 and 1933, may become the only man to win the Decoration Day Classic three times. Meyer will drive over the Indianapolis Motor Speedway here again on May 30.

Only one other man was offered this opportunity. He was the famous Tommy Milton, winner in 1921 and 1923, who retired from active racing before he reached the coveted goal.

Meyer came out of obscurity to win the 1928 race after a pal had pawned a garage to buy the car which turned up winner. Since then he has been one of the most consistent drivers on the track and many proclaim him a second Milton, thoroughly capable of making it a third victory this time.

Wait for Stove to Cool to Steal It!

Kansas City, Mo.—Honesty is its own reward (or something like that), but all it got two negro youths here was a trip to jail. A policeman found the pair huddled around a stove in a garage they had broken into. "We come in to steal this stove," one of the youths explained to the officer, "but it's too hot, so we're waitin' for it to cool off."

MURDER BY MAGIC COMMON IN AFRICA

Doctor Tells of Weird Things Seen in Rhodesia.

London.—Uncanny stories of murder by witchcraft, of a body that disappeared from a grave while he looked on, were told by Dr. G. B. Kirkland, medical officer in southern Rhodesia, Africa, in a lecture to the International Institute of Psychical Research. "Africa teems with magic, and I, a medical officer, cannot explain it." He went on:

"I once saw natives walk unharmed through a pit of fire so hot I couldn't get within 12 feet of it. They came out unscathed and stepped into boiling water. I can give you no explanation. "Once I went to exhumate a tribal chief who, I suspected, had been murdered. The witch doctor warned me not to go. However, I dug up the grave and the dead man lay there. When natives went down into the grave they came out hurriedly, crying there was no body. I looked in the open grave and the corpse had gone. Later the witch doctor declared the body had returned. Sure enough the body was there."

Doctor Kirkland attributed this to hypnotism and said he had seen healthy natives die after a witch doctor had pronounced the "spell of death" on them. The doctor continued: "There is also the 'stretcher of death.' It is placed secretly against the victim's door at night and once he touches it he dies."

Finding of Her Teeth Saves Woman Operation

Prague.—A middle-aged woman burst into a doctor's office and asked him to operate on her at once as she had swallowed her false teeth.

She usually took them out before going to bed, she said, but on the previous night she had forgotten to do so. In the morning her mouth was empty, and, as she had an acute pain, she must have swallowed the teeth.

Preparations were hastily made for an immediate operation, but before it began a message came: "Return home, teeth found under bed."

Tame Wild Ponies

Wild ponies that roam the narrow sand strips off the North Carolina coast become quite gentle once they are captured and trained to harness.

Heart That Whistles Drives Man to Suicide

London.—A whistling heart is strange to medical science, but stranger still to the man who owns one, and Robert Lockyear, a Devonshire saloonkeeper, owned one for some time.

At every beat the heart would whistle, often so loudly that people passing by could hear it. It worried Lockyear, and he went to doctors seeking a cure, but none could help him.

He was found dead recently, a suicide. The inquest revealed he had taken his life rather than go on living with a whistling heart.

Asks His Wife for Kiss, Then Bites Off Her Nose

Toronto.—Mike Kravtz, thirty-seven years old, was to appear on a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm in one of the most unusual cases in local police annals.

Kravtz is alleged to have asked his wife for a kiss and when the request was granted, he is said by police to have bitten off her nose.

Mrs. Kravtz was taken to a hospital where surgeons attempted to restore her nose.

Pussy Saves Lives of Three From Gas Fumes

Vienna.—The piteous crying of a cat outside the closed door of an apartment here aroused the attention of the hall porter who broke open the door. Inside he found a room filled with gas and lying in chairs were Franz Dieberger, aged sixty-five, his wife Wilhelmina and their twenty-four-year-old son, Hans. All were unconscious. The cat was "adequately rewarded."

Hark! Dogs Don't Bark! Burglars Come to Town

Cleveland, Ohio.—The night watch men slept. Two hundred dogs at the kennel slumbered. Two prowlers prowled. The burglars ripped wires from a desk lamp and sash cord from a window and bound the watchman. They knocked the combination off the safe and escaped with $100. And not one of the 200 dogs emitted so much as a single bark.

Can't Kick About Cows

London, Ohio.—Londoners are sleeping undisturbed by nightly bovine noises now. A city council ordinance has been amended to forbid the keeping of cows and calves under three months old in sales barns overnight.

5 Cents a Day for Felons

Ottawa.—Inmates will be paid 5 cents a day for work in Canadian prisons if they behave themselves. It is announced here. The money will be handed to them on release.

Auks as Bait

When great auks were plentiful along the New England coast, cod-fishermen used to chop them up as bait, and these birds died out in America completely in 1840.

Discreet Enthusiasm

"Do you enjoy music?" "Of course I do," answered Senator Sorghum.

"What kind?" "Every kind. I see no possible reason for offending the musician vote."

Protection

"Where did you get that black eye?" "Trying to keep a little boy from getting licked."

"Well, well, that's nice. Who was the little boy?" "Me."—Washington Post.

Influential Oratory

"Do you prefer a political career to marriage?"

"Infinitely," answered Miss Cayenne. "It is quite evident that a stump speech commands more respectful attention than a curtain lecture."

"Very forcefully."

A Small Bible

Gold Brick

"I hears about a man," said Uncle Eben, "who says he knows how to end poverty. All I'm afraid of is dat he'll git a lot of us thinkin' he is showin' us some new get-rich-quick scheme."

Girl Scout News

Amos Skeeta

"Here they come!"
"They came just on time. Let's go meet them!"
"Come on, gang, do your duty as hostesses."

Down the steps we scrambled to be first to greet the Akron Scouts, who had come in response to our invitation asking them to celebrate May Day with us.

The ice was broken by immediately opening our program. We hauled the flag from its hiding place and lined up by patrols. The patrols formed a semicircle around the flagpole and the "color guard" came forward bearing the flag. As the flag arose each young patrol saluted and the usual ceremony was performed. After the ranks were broken the entire assembly rushed out to the athletic field.

The entertainment committee immediately transported us to our primary days by playing the "Tree and the Squirrel." What a chase! Those poor squirrels were almost "run ragged." In rapid succession followed "Cat and Mouse", "Hiram and Miranda", and others. It's no easy task to locate Miranda when you are blindfolded and must catch the fair damsel with only her voice for guidance.

After all this exertion from running, and skipping the announcement that refreshments would be served was unusually welcome. Each Mentone Scout escorted an Akron girl into the cafeteria room. A May-pole was placed in the center of the room with pink and white streamers attached to a small May-pole on each table. The tables which seated four people were gayly decorated in pink, white and blue. Cute favors, which were the handicraft of the younger patrols, were a great attraction. Lovely refreshments were served.

Home Economics News

The Mentone Home Economics Club was sponsors to a "Child's Health Day", program in the Cafeteria at the school house on May 1. Visiting clubs were present from Beaver Dam, Burket, and Harrison Center. About sixty-five were present.

The Davis Sisters and Phyllis Lemer rendered several musical numbers which were appreciated very much.

Reading on Child Health was given by Lucinda Jones and Mabel Alexander. Some very good suggestions and statistics were given.

Refreshments were served by the Harrison Center and Mentone Clubs.

Ran In Second Gear In Annual 500-Miler

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—A capable driver once drove part of the 500-mile race in second gear—but it was in error.

It was Rex Mays, dashing California youth, whose face was made red by this unique mechanical difficulty. Mays has again entered the Decoration Day competition to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30.

Mays was elected to drive one of the three cars entered by Fred Frame, 1932 winner, last year. He broke a front axle on the northwest turn at the 135 mile marker and came back to the pits to watch the other boys go. Frank Brisco, who had set a hot pace to lead the early race, called for a relief driver at 225 miles and Mays was selected to drive.

The car was a four-wheel-drive mount of unusual design but fast as lightning. Mays could not seem to get the speed of which the car was capable. After running eight laps he reported back to the pits where it was discovered that, unfamiliar with the shift, he had been running in second gear.

Mays was again one of the sensations of the Pacific Coast during the winter.

Sportsmanship Award at Annual 500-Mile Race Inspired By Driver of Flaming Car

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The driver of a flaming car which might have headed into the grand stands is responsible for one of the most coveted and unusual awards made yearly at the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30—the Sportsmanship Trophy.

In 1927 the car which the late Norman Batten was driving caught fire as it came into the back stretch. Batten cut his power and applied the brakes to slow it down and then remained aboard, foot resting on the rear axles, until it came to a dead stop. He was severely burned, as the above picture shows. A collection was taken on the grounds and he was awarded the purse for his courage which was to be put to the supreme test a year later when he surrendered his seat in a life boat to a woman passenger and perished in the sinking of the S. S. Vestris. The award became a permanent fixture after the 1927 race.

Ira Hall won it in 1935 when he pinned his wrecked car to the upper wall with his shoulders and held it there for ten minutes, preventing it from rolling down into the swift moving traffic.

Gene Haustein won it last year when he sacrificed his chances in the race and crashed attempting to miss another car spinning on the track.

Mexico's Early History

The history of Mexico, like that of Egypt, extends so far into the distant past that many early chapters have been lost. From the Seventh century, when the Toltecs established their wonderful ancient capital at Tula, it becomes fixed. The Aztecs came about 1200 A. D. and then the chivalrous dons and Spanish adventurers.

The modern Oxford Bible is said to be the only book in the world that does not contain a typographical error.

Climate in California

Plant fossils unearthed in California prove that 100,000,000 years ago the climate of that region was tropical.

Oven 400 Years Old

A cemetery dating from the time of the Empress Marie Theresa and a revolving Roman wall were discovered during the demolition of the district called Taban in Austria. Gem-studded balconies, and a massive oven used to bake bread for the Turkish army 400 years ago were among the finds.

El Askar Now Waste

Near Cairo, Egypt, once stood El Askar, built in 750 by Suleiman as his capital. It is now a desolate waste.

Swans by Themselves

Swans are generally best kept by themselves in captivity, keepers of zoos have discovered. With birds smaller than themselves they often become too quarrelsome and murderous for the welfare of their weaker neighbors.

HENRY VIII CHIMES RUNG BY MACHINERY

Old King Henry VIII probably would raise an incredulous eyebrow if he could see how bells he sold to Southwark Cathedral in London are being rung by modern machinery these days, observes a London United Press correspondent.

The cathedral, which stands on the south side of Shakespeare's old Globe theater, possesses a peal of 12 bells. Six of them were sold to it by the portly King Henry. The bells are all nearly 900 years old.

Recently there have been no wedding chimes at Southwark cathedral owing to the absence of the bell-ringers, who were all away at work. The job of ringing a chime of 12 bells is such a complicated one that only trained experts could do it.

The cathedral authorities decided that the only way out of this difficulty was to install modern bell-ringing machinery for the ancient bells, which always had been rung by hand.

Oxygen Is Man's Enemy, According to Scientists

Oxygen, which gives us life, is also man's greatest industrial enemy, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald. The air we breathe contains one-fifth oxygen, and this gas is a highly corrosive substance. When a house burns down it is simply combining with the oxygen in the air. When soap turns brown on a chemist's shelf it is merely an other instance of the corrosive quality of oxygen. But it is the motor industry that suffers most from the ravages of oxidation. Its two chief organic essentials, rubber and petrol, are especially susceptible. Thousands of pounds worth of these materials have been utterly wasted owing to the action of air—and now the scientists have struck back. They have been experimenting with the development of substances known as anti-oxidants. These compounds when mixed with any product, slow down oxidation to such an extent that its usefulness and life are increased tenfold.

Commits 800 Thefts in 2 Years

More than 800 thefts in two years were admitted by a girl at Oslo, Norway, who was caught for the first time stealing an article from a shop counter. She lived a short distance from town and traveled to Oslo nearly every day, never failing to carry back with her several articles which she had taken unobserved. So slyly did she operate as a shoplifter that she never was even suspected. It was entirely by chance that a shop assistant happened to glance in her direction just as she was fleeing an expensive silk article from a counter. The police were called and her lodgings were searched. Misses of costly articles of clothing were found.

Swiss Great Milk Drinkers

Statistics issued by the United States Department of Agriculture show that Switzerland leads all other countries of the world in the annual consumption of milk, with 280 quarts a person, according to the United Press. Second place for this distinction is shared by United States and Germany, each of which boasts of 220 quarts a person. Canada ranks next with 200 quarts. The figures on other large milk-drinking nations, also computed annually and a person, are as follows: Great Britain, 120 quarts; France, 100 quarts, and Chile, 30 quarts.

Domesticated Wolves

The Moscow zoo boasts of two wolves which apparently are as tame and trustworthy as dogs. They were captured when they were puppies and ever since have been given kind and patient training. Their utter lack of viciousness and desire to return to their native element seems to indicate the fallacy of the belief that grown wolves become dangerous even though they have been trained from puppyhood.

Provide Food for Dead

Ojibway Indians still place food for the dead at their burial grounds at L'Anse and Chicaugon, Mich., says a correspondent in the New York Times. Miniature houses are built for the food, and the Indians say their dead come to the houses at midnight and partake of it. As a matter of fact, small animals and birds usually eat the food.

A Stand Not Understood

"What do your constituents think of the stand you are making?" "I don't know," answered Senator Sorghum. "Every time I think I have made a stand some of 'em get to gether and threaten me with notice that it's my move."

Educated Prisoners

In the last twenty years the number of inmates of San Quentin prison voluntarily taking educational courses has increased from a score to more than 2,000 convicts out of a population of 6,000.

Old Altar Discovered

A carved altar of late Gothic design and genuine Swiss workmanship of 1525 has been discovered in the little church on the Burgenstock, Lake of Lucerne, Switzerland.

"What's your husband's average income?" "Oh, around midnight."—Pearson's Weekly.

Wise Canine

"My dog is most intelligent." "I have noticed it. He always gets behind a tree when you shoot."

Funeral Pyre Habit Abolished

Suttee, the Indian custom of a widow burning herself on her husband's funeral pyre, was legally abolished by the British in 1829.

Lifetime of Horses

A horse's lifetime is usually figured at about twenty-five to thirty-five years, but English writers have mentioned horses that lived to be over sixty.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT FOR CARLIN MYERS

One morning I missed him on the accustomed hill,
Along the heath and near his favorite tree.
Another came; nor yet beside the rill,
Nor up the lawn, nor at the wood was he.
For him no more the blazing heat shall burn,
Or busy housewife ply her evening care.
No children run to lisp their sire's return,
Or climb his knees the envied kiss to share.
Large was his bounty and his soul sincere.

Madam President and members of the Library Board, let us pause for a moment and pay our respect to our departed and honored member, Carl Myers, who served on this Library Board continuously since the Library was started many years ago.

We have lost two of our members in just such a short time. And today while we are meeting here, I fancy also that they are meeting in that Eternal Home. So as we, meet here and think of our past members off yonder in the spirit world, let us dedicate ourselves to the service which they started.

A rose once climbed up the side of a wall, found its way through a crevice and bloomed on the other side. That, my friends, is just what is happening to-day. Part of the bush is here and part there, but it is blooming on both sides.

And so, as the fragrance of the rose remains in the petal long after it is fallen, so may the noble life of our departed member, the words he has spoken, the counsel he has given, the wounds he has healed, the things he has done, remain with us as a blessed heritage, leading us upward and onward, ever, ever upward and onward to brighter, better, higher and noble things.

Where-as, the Supreme Ruler of the Universe has in His infinite wisdom removed from our midst, our worthy and respected member—

Therefore, be it further resolved—that this Library Board extend to the widow and family our heartfelt sympathy.

Therefore, be it further resolved—that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family and that a copy of same be spread upon the minutes of the Secretary's book of this Organization.

Signed,

Mrs. Edna Burns.

Appointed by Pres. of Library Board to draw up Resolutions.

TO FOIL BANK CROOKS

NEW YORK.—The American Bankers Association Protective Committee has developed a plan of bank inspection to bring out exposure hazards or weak spots in respect to attacks by criminals based on its long-established, nation-wide experience in investigating bank burglaries, holdups and sneak thefts.

The inspection covers eighty leading questions and seventeen recommendations which are instructive in the prevention of such crimes. These relate to such subjects as the use of alarms and other protective equipment, also the condition of windows, doors, skylights and other entrances which have facilitated the early morning entry of bandits who kidnap bank employees from their homes during the night, or break into the bank premises and bind and gag the employees.

BANKERS HELP

"Save the Land and You Save the Man" is the essence of a suggested agricultural program recommended by the Arkansas Bankers Agricultural Committee. "Beware of impoverished soil. It leads to impoverished homes," says a statement sent to the banks to be distributed to their farmer customers. "To help nature save the land, build up the soil, by:

- a. Stopping soil erosion.
- b. Planting legumes.
- c. Raising livestock.
- d. Developing pastures.

"Look ahead with confidence know what you are doing, therefore:

1. Draw up a farm inventory.
2. Keep a record, daily or weekly.
3. Budget expense, and keep within it."

Woman Rout Two Thieves With Trusty Umbrella

Lynn, Mass.—Once again a woman's umbrella was used for more than a shelter from the elements.

Mrs. George Hamilton discovered two men stealing silverware in her sister's apartment and notified the janitor, then telephoned police. When she returned, one thief was wrestling with the janitor while the other stood over them. His back turned to her, Mrs. Hamilton struck the second man over the head with her umbrella bringing him to the floor.

Police arrived shortly afterward and arrested the men.

Man Wants to Escape From Jail to See Dogs

Warsaw, Mo.—Harry Lutz, fifty-three, does not mind so much about being in the county jail here, but he certainly is concerned as to how his four dogs are getting along. He was so concerned, in fact, that he penned a letter to President Roosevelt asking for a "permanent leave of absence" from the jail. Although he has not heard from the President as yet, Lutz has not given up hope, saying he has written the Chief Executive twice before, receiving an answer each time.
