HEAVIEST GAINS RESULT FROM DEFERRED GRAZING

Deferred summer grazing increased beef production 46 percent over season-long grazing on fertilized permanent pasture in Purdue grazing trials. Dr. G. O. Mott, agronomist in charge of trials, points out that deferred grazing looks promising for beef production. Results are based on preliminary tests, however.

Permanent pastures used in the experiment were typical of much permanent pasture in Indiana. The two pastures studied were largely bluegrass. However, both received 300 pounds of 0-20-10 fertilizer and 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate during 1948, when the experiment was conducted.

One pasture was grazed under a rotation grazing system from May 20 to October 7, a period of 140 days. The other pasture was grazed from May 20 to July 15, and again from September 9 to October 7. During the rest period, the grass was allowed to grow and accumulate.

The pasture grazed under the deferred grazing plan produced 346 pounds of beef to the acre. The second pasture grazed under the all-season, rotation grazing plan produced only 237 pounds of beef to the acre. This was 109 pounds less beef to the acre than what the deferred plan produced. This emphasizes the importance of grazing bluegrass pastures when they are most productive, and resting the bluegrass when it is dormant during the summer, Mott said.

Dr. W. M. Beeson and W. M. McVey of the animal husbandry department at Purdue assisted with the study, selecting the comparable groups of cattle used for both experiments.

The Purdue men cautioned that these grazing results were obtained after only one year's experimentation. But the results are a strong indication as to what will probably be true over a long period of time. The tests will be continued during 1949 and 1950, according to present plans.

STATE CHEMIST WARNS FERTILIZER BUYERS

Indiana farmers are being offered various low grade phosphate fertilizers under names that may be misleading to buyers unless they pay strict attention to the statements appearing on the Indiana fertilizer tag, according to Dr. F. W. Quackenbush, state chemist, Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

For example, private advertising circulars use the terms "20 per cent phosphate," "20 percent colloidal phosphate," "Crop-phos 20" or "Cal phos 20 per cent" which mean that the materials contain 20 percent of total phosphoric acid; only a small part of which is immediately available to plants. This is in contrast to 20 per cent superphosphate which has been treated so as to make it immediately available to plants.

"Official Indiana fertilizer tags provide for a statement of either total phosphoric acid or available phosphoric acid or both and a careful study of the tag is necessary for the purchaser to be sure he is getting his money's worth in available plant food," says Quackenbush. He states that one advantage of the official tag system, in effect in Indiana since 1881, is that the printing of the tags is in the hands of the state chemist. So-called "colloidal phosphate" in Indiana must be called "rock phosphate with colloidal clay" which correctly describes the material. Although this material often has the appearance of superphosphate, it usually consists of the washings from high grade rock phosphate, is high in iron and aluminum phosphate and contains a large percentage of clay. Iron and availability of all the untreated phosphates which have been used for direct application as a source of phosphorus.

Instances have been found where 20 per cent rock phosphate with colloidal clay is selling for as much or more than the higher grades of rock phosphate testing up to 33 or 34 per cent total phosphoric acid. This indicates that some farmers are not paying strict attention to values when they buy plant food.

The labeling of fertilizer is always important, perhaps more so now than ever before. Farmers who are offered untagged fertilizer or who are in doubt as to exactly what they are getting for their fertilizer dollar are urged to communicate with the State Chemist at once.

Results of the 1948 inspection of legume inoculants have been published in Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station circular 346. The authors of the publication are F. W. Quackenbush, state chemist; A. S. Carter, chief inspector; and L. C. Shenberger, associate seed analyst.

This circular gives the regulations which companies must follow when they manufacture plant inoculants. In 1948, a total of 51 inoculants were registered for sale in Indiana by 15 companies and all cultures were reported satisfactory.

DRINK MILK TO LOOK YOUNG AND FEEL YOUNGER

How to look young and feel younger received a few significant glances from science today.

It came about through research supported by the National Dairy Council and the American Dairy Association, Chicago, on nutritional requirements of persons growing older.

It puts its finger on good nutrition as one of the most important factors in adding more zest and vitality as well years to life, and recommended to the 50 million adults, 45 years and older in the United States, that they regularly consume liberal amounts of milk and its products. This is essential, because, according to the study, persons growing old need proteins for body tissue building as much as younger persons.

Science also spoke wisely for the calcium needs of persons growing older. It said milk and its products are the only foods that can supply enough calcium in daily meals. A glass of milk at each meal with frequent servings of cheese and ice cream will do the trick. An inadequate calcium diet shows up around the age of 50 and may lead to broken bones and the familiar stooped shoulders.

The study showed up that persons in good health, despite age, consumed more milk and its products, ate more fruits and vegetables, whole grain cereals and eggs than those in poor health.

The study is being carried on at Michigan State College under the direction of Dr. Margaret Ohlson, head of the Department of Foods and Nutrition in the School of Home Economics.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

The observance of May 1 as Child Health Day called attention to the programs operating in local communities throughout the state in an attempt to keep Indiana's children well and happy.

"Thirty-two Well Child Conferences are being conducted in local communities," according to Dr. George M. Brothers, director, Bureau of Preventive Medicine, Indiana State Board of Health. "These conferences are held to promote health, prevent, reduce mortality, observe growth and development of children of the local community, detect early deviations from the normal and assist the parents in understanding the needs of the child and how to meet them."

"The 50th local baby was recently examined at the Well Child Conference at Mt. Vernon which was organized in June, 1948. Other cities in which conferences are held are: Indianapolis, Terre Haute, New Goshen, Charlestown, Jeffersonville, Corydon, Seymour, Tell City, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and Elkhart.

"School and preschool immunization programs conducted by local communities also help in protecting the child from such diseases as diphtheria, whooping cough and smallpox. One program recently completed was sponsored by the Shelby County Medical Society with 338 children receiving immunization against diphtheria and smallpox," Dr. Brother pointed out.

SOCIAL SECURITY
RADIO PROGRAM

"You and Your Security" is the title of a new series of broadcasts, dramatizing the story of Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance," Gerald Kellver, Manager of the Elkhart Field Office of the Social Security Administration announced today.

"The program is a public service feature to acquaint the people with the services of the local field office of the Social Security Administration.

"The first program in this new series will be presented over WTRC, Elkhart, Wednesday, May 4, 1949 at 2:30 p. m. and will be heard each following week at the same time.

On Tuesday evening Dr. Urschel was the guest speaker at the North Manchester Kiwanis Club. The Club had invited all of the local Doctors to be present as guests, and Dr. Urschel talked on Angina Pectoris and Coronary Occlusion.

On Wednesday evening Dr. Urschel was the speaker at a Farm Bureau meeting held in the East Wayne School in Warsaw. His subject was Surgery in Heart Disease, and he discussed the various operations which are performed on the heart and blood vessels. This is a subject of increasing importance at this time. The first such operation was performed only 10 years ago, and already many types of conditions are being safely and successfully corrected. So far this surgery has been confined to conditions are being safely and successfully corrected. So far this surgery has been confined to conditions referred to as congenital heart disease (in which the heart has not formed normally during growth), but recently rheumatic hearts have been successfully operated in rare instances.

Mrs. Glen Snider, Rev. and Mrs. DeWitt, Rev. and Mrs. Gosser attended the all day Warsaw District Conference of the Methodist Church held at Nappanee on Tuesday.

BEVERLY WRITES A POEM

The following poem was written by Beverly Teel, eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Teel, of south of Mentone. Beverly wrote the poem while convalescing from the mumps, and we believe she expresses some of our "spring fever" symptoms very well.

Spring-time Melody

Ah, I would that Spring-time come,
And to my ears the music drum.
Oh! I would that it come soon,
The spring-time with its merry tune.
The constant buzzing of the bees,
The leafing and budding of the trees,
The flowers springing here and there,
What a wonderful time God made us to share.

In the tree-tops birdies sing
Of what? Why, of beautiful spring!
The melody's here, for each one to enjoy.

If only God's love and help we employ.

An average of 688 farmers in Indiana attended the 1949 Purdue Dairy Caravan at each of its 33 stops throughout Indiana. A total of 22,697 persons, or about 1/7 of all farmers milking dairy cows in Indiana, registered for the Caravan. The following counties led in attendance at the Caravans: Vanderburgh, 1,533, DeKalb, 1,465; Adams, 1,242; Wayne, 1000. All but four of the 33 Caravan stops had an attendance of over 500 persons.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

For almost three decades we've been roaming the country with rod and gun, sampling the fishing here and the hunting there. It has been a wonderful 30 years for which we are deeply thankful. We are sorry for one thing, however. We failed to record most of these trips on film.

That has all been changed in recent months and now we have pictures of our most recent treks after fish and game. And re-living the hunting, fishing and camping experiences through pictures is a sport second only to actual participation in these wonderful outdoor hobbies.

Since being bitten by the camera bug, we did a little checking and found many sportsmen have discovered that it's fun taking pictures. Having a camera along is almost as important as a rod or gun. In fact, we know several sportsmen who now are hunting with a camera alone, leaving their guns and other equipment at home.

That's okay with us, but we still like to do both—fish or hunt and shoot pictures on the side. So it was interesting to note the recent announcement of a new pocket-size camera that does an amazing job of taking pictures that can be enlarged without losing the detail.

Lugging a big camera along on a stream or into the field after game frequently creates a weight problem. This new "Petal" camera solves that for it is only about the size of a fifty cent piece and can be carried easily in a pocket, on a watch chain or fastened in a coat button hole.

Marketed by Mycro Camera Co., Inc., of New York City, this new camera takes six pictures from a roll that sells for a dollar. The film price includes the developing and making prints for the owner.

And you can bet the old fly rod against a box of flies that we'll have one of these new cameras conveniently tucked into a shirt pocket this spring and summer when we're after trout and bass.

CLASSES ADDED TO STATE HORSE SHOW

Three new classes have been added to the Second Annual Spring Horse Show to be held May 13, 14 and 15 in the Coliseum, Indiana State Fairgrounds.

The Show is under the sponsorship of the Indiana Saddle Horse Association and the Robison-Ragsdale Post No. 133, American Legion.

The classes that have been added, according to E. F. Kinney, Indianapolis, general chairman of the show, are the Harness Pony Class, three Gaited Pony Class and the Road Horse Class.

The show is one of the best and most complete being held in the Midwest. It is well rounded and has a variety of classes. It has all the classes one would normally expect at the shows held in Chicago, New York, Louisville, Kansas City and Houston, Tex.

Entries are continuing to arrive and already have exceeded last years total of 300 entries. The show opens at 7:30 o'clock Friday night and many entries have signified being on hand the day before the show opens.

The saddle horse barn housing many hundreds of horses, riding equipment, saddles and tack rooms will open to the public free of charge.

Four performances will be held. Each night show begins at 7:30 o'clock and the Sunday afternoon performance begins at 1 o'clock, DST.

Governor Henry F. Schricker will officiate at opening ceremonies and the American Legion Post Color Guard will present colors.

Highlight of the show will be a competitive Roadster Race to be held at each performance. Top flight roadster horses from over the midwest will compete.

CORN MEAL EASES LADINO SEEDING

It's a tricky job—this sowing of ladino clover so that there is a good distribution of seed. Farmers who have sown ladino know that the seed drops to the bottom of the hopper when sown with grass seeds, while in mixtures with larger clovers it moves up near the top of the hopper.

R. R. Mulvey, agronomist at Purdue University, suggests that farmers will get a good "scatter" of seed if the ladino seed is mixed often while in the hopper when used in a mixture.

When ladino is sown alone, a good stand can be obtained by "diluting" the seed with corn meal, Mulvey advises. This overcomes the problem of adjusting the seeders to distribute the small quantities of one-half to one pound rates of ladino recommended. The best method is to use about two quarts of corn meal for each acre to be seeded to ladino. The corn is ground to a medium fineness but not into flour, the agronomist cautions.

Mulvey cited the example of one farmer who purchased the recommended amount of ladino seed for ten acres but was out of seed before seeding two acres. His dealer explained that the use of corn meal would have given the right distribution.

WEAR A POPPY

Nearly four years now have passed since the last shots were fired in World War II—more than 30 since World War I reached its victorious conclusion. The world has moved on to face new difficulties, new dangers. Minds are busy with today's problems and tomorrow's uncertainties.

Yet, the dead of those two wars are not forgotten. Their memory has been kept bright all through the years by the little red poppy made by our disabled veterans. They are made in the hospital wards by men and women who are suffering because they defended America, comrades of those who died. The poppy is for them, too. For them the poppies mean interesting occupation and the encouraging experience of earning money again. With strength and health gone, they cannot do regular work, but they can make poppies. The work is of real value in aiding their recovery, occupying hands and minds, breaking the tedium of long idleness, and restoring spirits crushed by hopelessness.

The poppy is the official flower of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary. Once a year the American Legion Auxiliary organizes the sale of poppies. The Auxiliary furnishes the materials for these poppies, at no cost to the veterans, and the men and women receive remuneration for every single poppy made. The Auxiliary women who distribute the poppies on Poppy Day receive nothing for their efforts, only the satisfaction of having helped brighten the memory of the dead and of having contributed to the welfare of the living.

The poppies are for children, also—for the children of the dead and disabled. Contributions for the flowers help bring to them the things they need for a happy, healthful childhood and a fair start in life.

By TOM GREGORY

IF YOUR SCISSORS REFUSE TO CUT ROSE STEMS AT THE FIRST SNIP, IT'S PROBABLY BECAUSE THEY'RE TOO DULL.

IN ADDITION TO SHARPENING THE BLADES AND TIGHTENING THE SCREW HOLDING THEM TOGETHER, FILE OR GRIND A NOTCH IN ONE OF THE BLADES.

THIS WILL HOLD THE STEM IN PLACE WHILE THE OTHER BLADE IS CUTTING IT FROM THE ROSE.

A DOOR OR WINDOW FASTENED WITH AN ADJUSTABLE HOOK OF THE TYPE SHOWN HERE CANNOT BE OPENED BY SMALL CHILDREN. THIS SAFETY HOOK IS MADE BY CUTTING A REGULAR DOOR HOOK IN TWO, THREADING THE FRESH-CUT ENDS AND SCREWING THEM INTO A TURN-BUCKLE. A MERE TWIST WILL TIGHTEN OR LOOSEN THE HOOK.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR HERBERT GRAY

Funeral services were held in Akron last week-end for Sgt. Herbert C. Gray, who was killed in action in France on September 16, 1944. Rev. D. L. Slaybaugh was in charge and a complete military funeral service was given by the local post of the American Legion.

Gray was the first service man from this community to be killed in action and the local post of the Legion added his name to their post, making it the Merley-Gray post instead of the Adolph Merley post as it had been until World War II.

Gray was born in Peru, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Gray, and moved here at an early age with his family. He trained at Camp Forest, Tennessee and Camp Phillips, Kansas before being sent overseas.

Survivors are: his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Gray; one son, Dennis Dean, Rochester; five brothers, Edward, Robert and Garland, Akron, John, of Rochester and Orville of Plymouth; four sisters, Vivian Gray, Akron, Mrs. Lois Woolley, Akron, Mrs. Mary Ellen Wise, Burket, and Mrs. Kathryn Benner, Jefferson, Iowa.

Burial was made at Denver. Herbert Gray lived with his parents in Mentone a number of years ago. His father was accidentally killed by a flying board, thrown from a saw, while passing the building now occupied by the woodworking shop of the Mentone Lumber company.

PUBLIC FORUM

(Communications from our readers. Opinions expressed are those of the writer and they may or may not coincide with the opinions of the editor or publishers.—Ed.)

Mentone, Ind., April 25, 1949.
TO THE PUBLIC:

Why all the fuss over this daylight wasting time? You have to get up early and use lights and then get off in the middle of the afternoon, then call that saving time. God established this time for us to follow. Now you would change the sun if you could. I am glad you can't. What a fuss over this world. The devil is causing all this trouble. He is a trouble-maker and you are following in his steps. The Good Book says all the devil's work will be cast in the lake of fire. Is that where you want to go? You had better leave God's world alone that He has established for us. You had better think where you are going after death instead of changing God's time.

Mrs. Margaret Southers and children of Chicago visited Mr. and Mrs. Lon Walters and other friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Manwaring returned to Mentone last week after spending the winter in Florida.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

There's more than one way to increase the profit margin in the chicken business, it seems, especially if you have "Spud" Eaton as a silent partner.

Mentone's town marshal caught H. V. Johns the other day with two sacks of somebody else's corn in the trunk of his car. Like a hen delivering a fresh egg, he didn't have much to say for a minute.

It seems that Homer Blue left two sacks of corn at the Co-Op. Mill for cracking into little chick feed. Peck's bad boy always seems to arrive at the proper moment and he slid the corn in Enoch's trunk while he was waiting on a sack of oats. The law didn't catch up with him until several miles later.

(Just as a precautionary measure, I suspect I'd better warn Co-Op. News readers to look for something unusual to happen one of these days, especially after "Spud" reads this. He'll likely get even with me one of these days, just for orneryness, of course.—Ed.)

NO GARBAGE COLLECTOR YET

The members of the town board announce that they have been unable to secure anyone to gather the garbage in Mentone, even though they have a fund appropriated to do this.

In the meantime, the board states, the citizens will have to make arrangements to dispose of their own garbage to comply with common health practices.

MAX SMITH EXPECTS TO ERECT NEW GARAGE BUILDING

Max Smith announces that he is in the process of clearing out a piece of ground just across the street from the Co-Op. Mill, next to the Nickle Plate railway where he expects to put up a new and modern garage building. Construction is expected to start within the next two weeks.

TRASH DUMPERS BUSY

We've had a lot of loud complaints recently of some people dumping tin cans, trash, etc. along the public highways, and virtually in the front yards of many of the farm folks. This is a dirty trick in any language, and it should not be practiced by any citizen.

It isn't necessary for us to enumerate the bad features of this sort of trash dumping, and we trust that the offending citizens will consider just how they would feel if someone did the same thing to them. Let's show a little better brand of sportsmanship and friendship than this practice indicates.

FORD WRECKED TUESDAY NIGHT

Max Smith was called from his slumbers about two a. m. Wednesday morning to rescue the Alvin Nuell Ford from a ditch north of town on highway 19. The car turned just as it approached the bridge and nosed into the ditch. The four occupants of the car were badly cut and bruised, but none seriously.

Others in the car were Harvey Mathew, and Earl and "Butch" Smith, all of Rochester. The car was damaged to about $400.

Northern Indiana Cooperative Association, Mentone, Ind.

PRINTED IN THE MODERN PLANT OF THE COUNTRY PRINT SHOP

REV. IRWIN WRITES

Dear Art,

Just a little letter to let you and all the folks of Mentone know we are still on the map. I would appreciate getting a copy of the paper once in a while. We get hungry for news from home. We were saddened to hear of the tragic death of Bud Summers.

Our Easter program is now over and we are now trying to catch our breath after a very busy schedule. During Holy Week we gave the Messiah. Choir of 30 voices with solo parts. Nearly 300 in the audience and it was well received. It was broadcast over our local station KIBH 1340 on the dial. While this station is only 250 watts they have received letters from as far away as Pennsylvania and Australia. Anyone with a good radio and with proper weather conditions may be able to hear it as there is a time difference of four hours. The station goes on the air at 5:00 p.m. and off at 12:00 midnight. That means on at 9:00 p.m. in Mentone and off at 4:00 a.m. Mentone time. Most U. S. stations are off by then and I wish those who stay up late would try to get our station and if you do let me know.

On Maundy Thursday (April 14) we served Holy Communion to 94. Among them were Eskimos, Indians, and those of mixed blood including Russian blood, one of Mexican blood, and some with Scandinavian.

Easter Sunday was a full day. After the Easter Sunrise Service at 7:00, 20 men of the church served a beautiful Easter Breakfast which was a real Alaska breakfast. The menu consisted of sourdough hot cakes, bacon and eggs, fruit juice, jelly, coffee and tea, hot cross buns. There were 116 at the breakfast and everyone had a marvelous time as well as all they could eat. At the 11:00 service the church was packed, over 300. The Masons, Rainbow Girls, and Eastern Star all came in a body. There were 16 baptisms, 5 preparatory members, and 24 full members received. The choir presented two anthems. In all we had a wonderful Easter.

The sourdough for the hotcakes has a real history and they are simply "out of this world" when it comes to eating. If Chance Mollenhour and the Jonah Club boys ever got a "start" of this sourdough and started serving it at some of their dinners and at the camp they would be famous not only in Indiana but all the surrounding states. The "start" that we have is one that for 50 years, ever since the gold rush of '99, has gone up and down the Yukon country and every old "sourdough" (old time prospector) has had in the bush and the back country. It is a batter for hot cakes that raises just like bread raises and makes the hot cakes light and fluffy so that they melt in the mouth. Maybe we can send down a start that can be worked up. Take my word for it, you have never eaten anything like it and will never be satisfied again with anything less.

There is still 4 feet of ice on the lakes but the days are beginning to get longer. It gets light now a little after 3 a.m. and by June it will be daylight the day round except for a little dusk for about an hour around 1 a.m. Then the sun starts to come back up again. It is never dark enough for the cars to use their headlights.

It won't be long now until the bears come out of hibernation and I plan to get some good pictures and perhaps a good story at some. There is open season on Black Bears but the Brownies are protected. The Black Bears kill off too many moose is the reason for the open season on Black. However if a Brownie rearing up sometimes 12 feet high comes at you with the speed of an express train you either climb the nearest tree or pump lead until one of you goes down. These bears can run over 40 miles per hour and are impossible to run away from. It is either climb or shoot. If you climb they wrap their tremendous paws around the tree and begin to shake the tree and many a hunter has been swayed back and forth until he thought he would fall.

There are a great number of disillusioned people in Alaska. They have the idea that there is wealth and opportunity up here. Well, there is . . . for a few. There is a thin veneer of civilization up here but one is never far from the raw brutal facts of the wilderness and the law of the wild. While Seward has a radio station, newspaper, electricity, and dock which ocean steamers visit weekly, never-the-less we are within three blocks of rugged raw mountains that bears come down occasionally right into the back alleys of town. A five year old boy was recently swept out to sea and there are drownings every year and the bodies are never recovered because the water is so cold and the huge fish and sharks eat them before they can be found. Believe it or not we have octopus all around our beach and the world's largest octopus was found off an island on the Aleutian chain. I had always thought they were a tropical, south sea island creature.

In event of war the orders are that women and children are to be evacuated, the docks and Standard Oil tanks blown up, the town burned and the men are to fight a delaying guerrilla type action. We are truly in one of the great frontiers of the world.

Houses as a result are not of the permanent variety but cheap temporary dwellings. Conveniences are few. Selections in the stores are limited. While Seward has the most beautiful scenery imaginable the town itself is a frontier town, rough, crude, and at first glance resembles a shanty town near a large city. It would take me too long to discuss the needs, the problems and the solutions. When we return I can do that.

Liquor is the curse of Alaska and the cause of much of its trouble. The ratio of men to women is 6 to 1. The single men without homes and proper influence have no place to go but to the bars and saloons. There is no YMCA or men's club to go to and the reason they go to the "devil" is because there is no where else to go.

The Church (meaning the composite Church) has a great work to do in this frontier land. The need is great, the laborers few. We are happy in our work and would not have missed this opportunity for a great deal. We are having experiences we will never forget.

We now have a Webster wire recorder and would be very happy to send spoils back and forth by mail. If I remember correctly Dale has a wire recorder. It would warm our hearts to hear the voices of the folks back home and it would be great fun to correspond by wire recording.

Some of you might be interested to learn that I have recently received my commission at Lt. (j.g.) Chaplains Corps, United States Navy Reserve.

Well, I must close for this time. If any of the folks are interested in the sourdough "start" let us know and we will try to figure out a way of mailing you one. We would also be glad to start a wire recording correspondence with the church and our other friends. Don't forget to try to get our radio station.

Best regards and wishes to all,

PAUL I. IRWIN

CHILDRENS PICTURES TO BE PUBLISHED IN THE CO-OP NEWS

"The best investment is in children," says Wm. J. Cameron. "You had better take a good look at them as they pass you on the street, for they are the ones who are going to make a new world for you, and you can catch some glimmer of the dawn in their fresh young faces."

Nationally Known Studio To Take Pictures

The only way we can give all our readers a good look at these future "world builders" is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series titled "Citizens of Tomorrow."

To assure the latest and best reproduction picture—they must all be of a uniform size and quality—we have made arrangements with the Woltz Studios, nationally known children's photographers, to take these special pictures for us.

Expert children's photographers for the studios, with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work, will be here Tuesday, May 17. The special studio will be set up at The Peterson Hardware and will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

There Will Be No Charge To Parents

There will be no charge to the parents! There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. There is no age limit. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain them by arrangement with the studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them!

The Co-Op News has no financial arrangement with the studios, and assumes no responsibility whatever. The firm has had its representatives in Mentone on two previous occasions, and the first time they apparently complied with their promises in a splendid manner. The other time their photographer was ill, causing disappointment to many mothers.

A series of four meetings on 4-H judging contests will be held for new home demonstration agents and women county 4-H Club agents. Judging activities, their place in the 4-H program and planning and supervising of county 4-H home economics judging contests will be emphasized. Meetings will be held at Bedford, April 29; Versailles, May 10; Indianapolis, May 13; and Rochester, May 27.

MALE PHEASANTS TO BE COUNTED BY WARDENS

Conservation officers in Northern Indiana will take the second annual spring crowing pheasant census the latter part of April, according to Henry P. Cottingham, director of the division of Fish and Game, Indiana Department of Conservation.

The count will be under the supervision of the research and investigation section of the department, it was said.

During the mating season, the male pheasant crows at regular intervals and thus it is an easy matter to determine just how many there are in any given locality.

Officers will travel over routes which have been mapped according to the various soils. At each mile a stop will be made and the number of crowing pheasants will be tabulated.

By comparing the number of crowing pheasants at each stop this year with the number recorded in 1948 the trend of the male pheasant population will be shown. Information forthcoming also will indicate pheasant distribution as well as show a possible preference for a particular type of soil. Indiana and Missouri are the two states pioneering in this type of census with respect to soils.

LONGER LIFE FOR SHEETS BY PROPER LAUNDERING

Sheets properly laundered and carefully hung to dry will last longer, says Miss Gertrude Monhaut, extension home management specialist, Purdue University. If sheets are ripped or torn they should be mended before laundering because small tears may become larger. Stains from Medicine or cosmetics should be removed before washing, as many otherwise removable stains are set by laundering.

Sheets may be washed either alone or with other white clothes. Light-colored clothes can be washed along with the sheets if the colors are fast to washing.

Hot, water and plenty of soapsuds are of first importance to laundering sheets. Thorough rinsing in hot, clear water is also important. Cold water hardens the soap and makes it more difficult to remove. Soap and washing powders weaken and yellow the sheets when allowed to remain on them indefinitely. Some homemakers like to use their washing machines for the first at least. In an automatic washing machine the sheets are washed and rinsed and ready to hang when the machine stops.

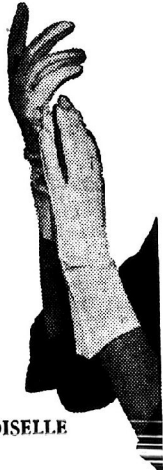

If a bleach is used, the manufacturer's directions should be followed carefully. Then the sheets should be rinsed at least twice after the bleach is used.

Clothes lines should be cleaned before the sheets are hung to drip. The white sheets may be hung in the sun but the colored ones are hung in the shade or in the house.

The way the sheets are hung to dry is also important. They are folded evenly from hem to hem, edges are straightened and hung with twelve inches of double thickness over the line. Three or four clothes pins hold them securely.

When the sheets are removed from the line they are folded again in the same direction, and they are ready to be ironed. Folded in this way, they will be easy to iron, first on one side and then on the other.

HOOSIER WINTER MILDEST IN YEARS REPORT REVEALS

The winter of 1948-49 was the mildest Indiana has seen for 17 years, according to a report issued by the Division of Water Resources, Indiana Department of Conservation.

In addition, the report indicated that although the weather was variable during the past few months, there were no extremes as have been experienced in years past. The mean temperature at Indianapolis was nearly three degrees higher than normal for March, the report said.

The lowest temperature for the year was reputed to have been zero, when the mercury dropped to that low on January 30th. The regular monthly report also revealed that while snowfall was slight the first three months of the year, there was between 5 and 6 inches of snow in March.

Stream runoff for the East Fork of White River at Shoals was 14,060 second-feet or 153 per cent of normal. On the Mississinewa river at Marion, the runoff for March was 886 second-feet or 71 percent of normal.

Lake levels, covered in the report, were about 0.40 foot lower than normal for that time of year. This was doubtless due to the "below-normal" rainfall for the month.

NEW VET HOUSING BOOK GUIDE FOR HOME BUYER

What the veteran should know when he buys his home is set forth in a new 24-page booklet titled "For the Home-Buying Veteran," now available. It was prepared by federal housing experts.

The booklet is intended to give the veteran an understanding of the powers and limitations of the government in assisting him with his housing problems. Its purpose also is to furnish him with some basic guidance in the exercise of his own responsibility. It affords a dual guide—(1) to government assistance on a home bought or built under GI-guaranteed loans, FHA-insured loans and Veterans' Emergency Housing Program priorities; and (2) to self-help and protection in any home purchase transaction.

Copies of this booklet may be obtained from the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., at a cost of five cents each.

Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Laird and son, of Richmond, visited her mother, Mrs. Jane Laird, and his sister, Mrs. Claude Barkman.

ELM DISEASES NOW POSSIBLE TO CONTROL

Many American elms have died in Indiana and neighboring states of two diseases known as phloem (flo-em) necrosis and Dutch Elm disease. No control was available in previous years, but today it may be controlled by spraying with DDT formulations to kill the insects by which the diseases are spread. The diseases have been described and directions given for their control in a mimeograph circular, No. B. P. 37, prepared by the botany and plant pathology and entomology departments of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station.

The phloem necrosis is the most widespread and destructive of the diseases and can be controlled by a spray in June followed by another in August. Special equipment for spraying is necessary to reach the tops of large elms.

The disease usually appears first during the hot weather of mid-summer. The leaves wither and drop over a period of a few weeks. Only healthy trees should be sprayed to protect them from infection. Trees showing the disease cannot be saved. The Dutch elm disease is controlled by spraying before the first leaves of flowers appear. Mimeograph B. P. 37 can be obtained from county agricultural offices or the Agricultural Extension Service at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

The cost of spraying is relatively high but is well worth while in communities where valuable elms are dying.

HOOSIER SCOUTS TO LEARN ABOUT CONSERVATION

Hoosier boy scouts who attend summer camps throughout the state are going to have an opportunity to learn something about Conservation, officials of the Indiana Department of Conservation revealed today.

At a recent meeting of Boy Scout executives, district fire wardens, foresters and members of the educational division of the Conservation Department, arrangements were made to educate the scouts in fire prevention, tree and wildlife identification.

The meeting at Clifty Inn, Clifty Falls State Park, was set up by Gunn Smith, boy scout executive of Madison, and dates were scheduled for summer camps in the Brazil, Vincennes, Evansville, New Albany and Madison areas.

This is the sixth year such training has been given by the conservation Department to scout groups. Field work during the day and films and lectures during the evenings will make up the program.

Joseph DeYoung, co-ordinator for the Forest Fire Fighters Service of Indiana, will be in charge of the fire prevention program and Milt Wyson, of the Educational Division will conduct the lectures and show movies on conservation.

HUMUS DESCRIBED AS KEY TO SOIL CONSERVATION

How humus has made David McDowell's Marquette County, Wis., problem farm into a well-paying one is told in the May 7 Prairie Farmer. McDowell's 360-acre farm has been in the family for 96 years, yet the land is more productive now than when his grandparents settled there. The farm presents a number of problems in good soil treatment, because there are 10 distinct types of soil.

Generous applications of manure and lime before sowing alfalfa on a heavy red clay helped produce a good stand of alfalfa that was cut for hay two years and pastured by a hundred steers for three years. More manure and limestone were applied before planting it to corn, and the yield was 100 bushels to the acre.

At the other extreme in soil type was a light sand field which was practically worthless. McDowell spread lime and manure, disked it, and sowed alfalfa and brome grass. The result—an amazingly thick crop on this land that wouldn't even grow buckwheat before.

All cornstalks, straw, and manure are put back into the soil, with not a scrap wasted. This farm has no permanent pastures because McDowell feels that after five or six years grass should be turned under to add humus and let air in. He fertilizes at the same time.

McDowell's advice to farmers is to put half of land into legumes and carry all livestock possible. He says humus is the answer not only to a better living, but that it is directly responsible for the health of our people.

INDIANA AUTOS STILL SHOW 18% DEFECTIVE

Many motorists seem to be getting their cars fixed to avoid being caught in a blockade in the current statewide safety check by local and state police and sheriffs, the Indiana Traffic Safety Commission observed today.

Information compiled from police and sheriffs' reports on the campaign showed that the number of cars having safety defects dropped from 24 per cent in the first 3 weeks to 18 percent last week. James H. Mohr, director of the commission, ascribed this decrease largely to publicity of the "Check Your Car-Check Accidents" program and to drivers responding to the safety check by having defects corrected.

Pointing out that the safety check will continue through May, the safety director urged motorists to have their cars checked to reduce the possibility of accidents due to mechanical faults.

"Drivers should welcome the chance to have their vehicle inspected in one of the 'courtesy check lanes' being set up at various times by state and local police," he said. "Cars bearing the special courtesy inspection sticker being issued to cars passing inspection may look a bit less conspicuous to police after May 31. This will be especially true in case the car is involved in an accident. This is just another of the good reasons to hunt up one of the 'courtesy check lanes' or take the car to the garage for a checkup."

During the first few weeks, reports to the commission show lights and brakes most numerous among defects.

Britain Tops List

For the first time in 25 years, Britain became the world's largest passenger car exporter in March. March exports, which numbered 19,100 cars, were 78 per cent of Britain's total passenger car production and 1,000 more than United States' February exports, which made up only a small percentage of U. S. output.

Colorado's world-famous Trail Ridge road between Estes park and Grand lake crosses the backbone of the continent in Rocky Mountain National park at 12,183 feet above sea level. An essay contest on the subject "Conservation of Our Soil Resources," which is being sponsored by the National Grange, is now in progress and will close June 15. Prizes amounting to $15,000 will be awarded to the young men and women under 20 years of age whose entries are judged as winners. ### GRASSLAND FIELD DAY DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Dates and locations for six Indiana Grassland Field Days have been announced by Virgil D. Sexson, of the Purdue University Agricultural extension Service who is in charge. Last year nine such events attracted more than 37,000 farmers.

The first of the field days will be held May 31 on the Lee Foster and Son Farm, Fountain County. Other dates are as follows: June 3, Eagle Valley Farm, ten miles northwest of Indianapolis in Marion county; June 8, E. G. McQuinn farm, three miles southwest of New Castle, Henry county; June 10, Allen County Farm, eight miles north of Fort Wayne in Allen county; June 13, Gilbert Gruenberg farm, three miles north of Rochester, Fulton county; and August 24, Shelby Wright and Son farm, one mile south of intersection of state roads 66 and 75, Spencer county.

At Grassland Field Days, farmers see their grass problems dramatically solved by the latest developments in varieties of grasses and pasture management. Features will include pasture renovation demonstrations with the use of new equipment. The making of grass silage and weed and insect control will also be included in the demonstrations.

Plans for the series of field days are being completed by local county agents farmers, business and civic leaders, in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service of Purdue University, and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

Purdue specialists will direct many of the operations and will answer questions for the farmers. A large trailer is being built by the short course exhibits department, for the purpose of displaying six panel exhibits of all six of the Grassland Field Days.

Machinery displays for pasture improvement will be shown by dealers at all of the field days with the exception of the opening date in Fountain county.

NO SOIL WASHES ON THIS INDIANA FARM

A dramatic battle against erosion is described in the May 7 Prairie Farmer. It is the story of Oscar Paschke's 140-acre farm in Floyd County, Ind. When the Paschke family came to the farm in 1945, erosion had already made inroads, with gullies and bare subsoil in many fields. His first spring there, heavy rain scarried away much of the soil loosened by his early spring plowing, leaving nastier scars than before.

Paschke and his county agent set out to harness the land. Division ditches and terraces were planned and stock ponds were discussed. The first ditches accomplished their purpose and the soil stayed where it belonged. In 1948 more terraces and diversion ditches were built and now the entire farm is either terraced or has diversion ditches, according to plans worked out by the soil conservation service.

This conservation-minded farmer says the three important steps in reclaiming land are to check the water, build up soil fertility, and establish grass sods. Now his land is more fertile, barren spots have become green, and erosion is halted. He feels that he has made a worthwhile contribution to agriculture.

4-H CLUBS TO OBSERVE RURAL LIFE SUNDAY

Plans for the observance of Rural Life Sunday, May 22, as 4-H Club Sunday are being made by hundreds of Hoosier clubs according to F. L. McReynolds, rural youth and recreation specialist of the 4-H club staff at Purdue University.

Mr. McReynolds said that the objective of the observance is to bring club members in closer contact with churches and to emphasize the spiritual values in the 4-H club program. The state club office at Purdue is urging club members to attend the church of their own choice either individually or as members of their local club.

In a letter to 4-H'ers throughout the nation M. L. Wilson, director of extension work, U. S. Department of Agriculture said, "It is most appropriate for club members to set aside one Sunday during the year as 4-H club Sunday. The observations of our 4-H'ers who visited Europe in 1948 support the traditional American belief that people of all faiths can work in happy unison to achieve the goals of humanity."

COUNTRY NEIGHBORS MEET

Mrs. George Craig and Mrs. Henry Konneck were hostesses to the Country Neighbors Home Economics club. For devotions Mrs. Charles Shock read a short story and a few Bible verses. A collection was taken for the "Friendship Fund." A donation of $5.00 was made to the Cancer Fund.

Mrs. Leroy Norris was selected to write a theme entitled "What My Home Economics Club has done for me."

A county-wide contribution public sale, to be held Thursday, May 5, at the Fulton County Community Sale Barn, was discussed.

An interesting program was presented by Mrs. Richard Notz and Mrs. Jim Richardson. Delicious refreshments were served to 21 members and our guest, Mrs. Jake Gross.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We'd like nothing better than to discard the old "soap box" and write only about the sunny side of the outdoors—the beautiful days ahead on a trout stream or the relaxing moments on a bass lake.

Still a recent announcement about forest fires brings up a point that needs stressing. We all can enjoy the outdoors to the fullest; yet we must be good woodsmen to avoid costly fires that annually reap such a great toll of wildlife.

"The most hazardous forest fire season since 1933 is more than a remote possibility this year," says J. A. Mitchell, veteran fire research expert for the U. S. Forest Service.

This forecast is for the Great Lakes region where Mitchell is headquartered. It is believed that critical fires in this region are following an eight or nine year cycle and charts bear out this opinion. Critical fires in Michigan were in 1925, 1933 and 1941. This is the year at the top of the cycle!

Whether or not a similar cycle effects other parts of the United States is not known. Actually, it makes little difference, for almost every year can be considered critical. And whether the losses are only a few acres or a million, wildlife suffers when its habitat goes up in smoke.

The most serious danger periods for fires are in the spring and in the fall. Before vegetation turns green in the spring it burns easily; when it is brown and dry in the fall, fires start quickly.

Forest fires most often are the result of carelessness, with a high percentage of them started by man. But with a little thought and cooperation they can be avoided.

So, Brother Sportsmen, let's all try hard this year to save the wooded habitat of the game by being sure that all camp fires are out, that matches are cold before tossed to the ground, that cigarettes are out before being flipped away. That's not much to ask of all sportsmen—and it will prevent most forest fires.

FIVE POLIO PRECAUTIONS ARE LISTED FOR PARENTS

Warning that the 1949 polio season is "just around the corner," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today issued a list of precautionary measures to be observed by those in charge of children during the epidemic danger period which usually runs from May through October, reaching its peak during the hot, mid-summer months. The five easy-to-follow health rules for children are:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.
2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise, or irregular hours.
3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.
4. Avoid sudden chilling. Remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.
5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Garbage should be tightly covered and, if other disposal facilities are lacking, it should be buried or burned.

The National Foundation also listed the following symptoms of infantile paralysis: headache, nausea or upset stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever. Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent serious crippling, the National Foundation pointed out.

The organization emphasized that fear and anxiety should be held to a minimum. A calm, confident attitude is conducive to health and recovery. Parents, it said, should remember that of all those stricken, 50 per cent or more recover completely, while another 25 per cent are left with only slight after effects.

If polio is actually diagnosed, contact the chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis serving your community. The chapter will pay that part of the cost of care and treatment which patient or family cannot meet.

CUT OUT AND KEEP FOR REFERENCE

Principal Walter Jones; Presentation of Diplomas, by Earl S. Rouch, County Superintendent; Benediction, Walter Jones.

A very large crowd attended the exercises.

Farm land prices in Indiana for the fourth quarter of 1949 as compared with the third quarter were about the same, although the number of sales were less and the sales for cash declined to 38 per cent.

★ Buy Co-operatively — And SAVE!

The number of tractors has more than doubled, and the number of motor trucks on farms is up 83 per cent from 1940 figures, following a general trend in the increase in value of farm machinery since 1940. The value of all autos measured in 1940 dollars, was down one-third, and the value of other machinery about 35 per cent. The increase in farm machinery has replaced high priced labor on farms. For each dollar per day spent for farm wages in January 1935-1939, $3.70 was spent in January, 1949.

FACTS NO AMERICAN SHOULD EVER FORGET

Courtesy Southern Coal and Coke Co.
There was an ad in the Times-Herald the other day that hit us right between the eyes. It asked this question:

"How does American business pay the world's highest wages and sell at the world's lowest prices?"

The Magic In Profits

The authors of the question are the Standard Steel Spring Company, of Corapolis, Pa. They answer themselves, "profits."

The Standard Steel Spring people use themselves as a good example of what the profit system can do. Back in 1914 they were making buggy and wagon springs with 50 employees and $5,000 of invested capital. Today they are a big company doing business on a national scale. Profits built them.

They feel hot enough on the general subject of prices, wages, profits and productivity to spend a whole lot of money having their say, and they're saying it in language that anybody can understand.

For instance, they have worked up a little feature entitled "Facts No American Should Ever Forget."

How Long We Work to Get Ten Dollars

No. 1 in this series states that to earn $10 the average time an American must put in is about eight hours. To get the same $10, a Briton must work in his country 19 hours. A Russian, to get $10, has to give 81 hours of work.

In the U. S. we have the capitalistic system of private investment, profits and losses. So far, anyhow.

Britain staggers along under a system of state socialism. Taxation many times heavier than in the U. S. A., makes up the losses that result. Britain still has so-called "private ownership" of some industry, on paper. But in fact this is merely trustee operation for government.

In Russia, the communistic system does not bother with any such delicate consideration for so-called "owners." Everything worth having in cities, towns and on the farms, is owned by the government.

And the rewards in Russia are scaled this way: FROM each according to what the Communist party can get out of him. TO each according to his pull inside the Communist party. Some life.

The second set of "facts no American should ever forget," courtesy of the Standard Steel Spring Company of Corapolis, Pa., stacks up thus:

Shoes, Sugar and Smokes

To get the price of a quart of milk, an American must work 10 minutes, on the average. A Briton must work 20 minutes, on his national average. A Russian, on the average in HIS unhappy land, must put in one hour 18 minutes. All this, to get the PRICE of a quart of milk. Whether the Briton or Russian can get the milk itself is another problem. But not for the American. We have more milk than we can consume, even at the cheapest prices in the world.

Continuing, the average American must labor nine minutes for the price of a pack of cigarettes, the Briton one hour and 24 minutes and the Russian two hours and four minutes.

For a lump of sugar, the American must sweat five and one-half minutes of work, the Briton nine and one-half minutes and the Russian two hours and 34 minutes.

For a pair of men's shoes, the American's working time is seven hours and 15 minutes, the Briton's 11 hours and the Russian must labor 104 hours and 30 minutes.

So? So we suggest that a system which gives us milk in 10 minutes of labor is a system that we should strengthen and enlarge, rather than allow to be destroyed. Said system is the profit AND loss system of the U. S. A.

POPPY FUNDS AID CHILDREN

The Mentone American Legion Auxiliary members are urged to take an active part in the work of Poppy Day, to be observed here Saturday, May 28, in order that the auxiliary may have sufficient funds for its activities for the welfare of needy veterans and veteran's children during the coming year. "Poppy Day contributions make up a large part of the financial support for the Auxiliary's Child Welfare Activities," Mrs. Wilbur C. Cochran, Knightstown Home Chairman, said. During the past year aid was supplied to children in Knightstown Home through the work of the auxiliary.

Knightstown Home for Orphan Children of our veterans is located a few miles east of Indianapolis. It is one of the main projects of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

The Mentone Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary has adopted a thirteen-year-old girl there. The Unit provides her with birthday and holiday gifts and sends her money that is placed in the bank for her for the purpose of occasional spending money.

The unit's contributions to the Knightstown Home has totaled $50.37 in cash to be used among the children as the Matron of the Home deems necessary. The members of the Auxiliary also send many donations and personal gifts to the children.

Contributions are sent for the Knightstown Home Christmas Fund, a Child Welfare project, so that Christmas at the Home may assume the atmosphere of family life, the State Department committee shops for gifts, seeking to give each child his choice.

Many of these children are the children of disabled veterans, whose only chance to help support them and their families is by compensation received from the Auxiliaries for the poppies made in their workshops.

When you buy your poppy May 28, think of the disabled veteran in a hospital or convalescent workshop who has fashioned the little blood-red flower. Think of the fatherless family whose struggles during the coming year will be lightened by the extra few drops into the poppy worker's box. Think of the brave American boys who gave their all that justice might be supreme. Think of these things and you will understand the true significance of the poppy.

Mrs. Earl Meredith had Sunday dinner with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meredith, of Akron.

THE CAMERA AND "BIRDIE" AWAIT MENTONE KIDDIES

Your child's picture may be published in this newspaper without charge.

Tuesday, May 17th is the big day for the picture taking of your youngsters! Pictures will be taken of all children who are brought by their parents or other guardian to the Peterson Hardware between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m., absolutely free of charge. The Woltz Studios, of Des Moines, Iowa, nationally known children's photographers, will be in charge of the photography. The Co-Op News will print a picture of your child in its forthcoming feature "Citizens of Tomorrow," a series of photographic studies of local children. The more we get the better the feature will be.

It often seems to parents that the children are little one minute and are grown up the next, so fast does a child's growing stage pass. Here is a splendid opportunity to catch a likeness of your child or children at this present stage for the pleasure you will get out of it in the future years and for the pleasure you will enjoy in seeing it in print.

There is absolutely no charge or obligation for taking the pictures. Parents don't even have to be a subscriber to the Co-Op News, nor even a reader. You do not have to purchase pictures either, though you may obtain additional prints by arranging direct with the Studio if you want them. That is entirely up to you! There is no age limit.

LIBRARY NEWS

The last library story hour of the school year was conducted by Mrs. Wayne Nellans. Mrs. Nellans played records which reproduced the thrills of the circus day for the children and a record which taught the children sound perception.

We have a new cook book entitled, "The Joy of Cooking," by Irma Rom-Bauer.

New Library Hours.

The library will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Saturday and on Saturday evening from 7 to 9 p. m.

MENTONE 4-H MEETS.

Our meeting was held Tuesday, May 10th.

The 4-H club of Mentone was named the Harrison Hustlers.

The assistant county agent, Bill Johnson, visited us. He spoke on our enrollment. We have 24 members that have turned in their cards. Our club set its goal for 40. It will take a lot of hard work to do that.

On the 18th of April the officers met at Warsaw. They got their duties outlined for the year, played games and then went home.

HAVE GUEST NIGHT

On Monday evening, at the school building, the Jolly Janes Home Economics club entertained members of the Mentone Home Economics club and other guests.

The cafeteria room was beautifully decorated with lilacs, tulips, and other spring flowers.

The main feature of the evening was a style show, given in cooperation with Carter's Department Store and Men-augh's of Warsaw. This proved a very colorful and interesting affair, with models ranging from 1½ years to the mature years of grey hair. The costumes were varied, too—from sophisticated afternoon and evening wear to sundresses and bathing suits. A musical background was furnished by Mrs. Dan Urschel at the piano.

The clarinet quartet played two numbers and Marita Tucker sang two solos.

Refreshments were served from a long table centered by a miniature Maypole and miniature ladies in gay spring colors. Mrs. Harold Utter and Mrs. Earl Anderson assisted in serving.

Over a hundred members and guests enjoyed the evening's entertainment.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Kenneth Romine, Mrs. Roland Ferverda, Mrs. Delford Nelson, Mrs. Herschel Teel, and Mrs. Artley Cullum.

MEDICAL PLAN STARTS IN AREA

A home medical plan is starting in Mentone and vicinity this week when enrollment officers from the World Insurance Co., of Omaha, Neb., start solicitation of members locally.

A series of advertisements explaining the voluntary medical insurance plan are being published in the Co-Op News.

Enrollment will start May 14 and will continue through May 20. Doctor and surgical bills up to $500 are covered in the plan with various set amounts for certain ailments.

The demand for various forms of medical insurance is quite general over the United States, and the plan presented by the World Company is said to be the answer of a veteran organization in this field to this demand and within the reach of a great portion of the population.

The World Insurance Company, according to a letter from the deputy commissioner of the Department of Insurance of Indiana, has been in business in Indiana, for a long period of time and insofar as its records indicate, are fully meeting their policy requirements.

Those in charge of the solicitation state that the several communities in Indiana have been solicited for this plan and that large percentages of the population in these were enrolled.

Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Davison are leaving Thursday for a 10-day vacation trip at the Waltonian Inn, Collander, Ontario, Canada.

ANNOUNCE RULES FOR DAIRY SIRE AWARD

Announcement of a change in the rules for giving the meritorious sire award by the Indiana State Dairy Association to producers of outstanding dairy sires is made by Frank E. DeLaCroix, extension dairyman of Purdue University.

In the future all records of the daughters of the sires are to be computed on a 305 day basis, twice a day milking, and figured to mature equivalent. Before a sire is eligible to compete for this award he must have at least six daughters that produce at least 300 pounds of butterfat in 305 days on a twice a day milking schedule, actual production.

DeLaCroix said that in the past 20 years 518 medals have been awarded, of these 67 were gold awards, 173 were silver and 278 bronze. Gold medal requirements are that a sire must have at least six daughters that produce 500 pounds or more of butterfat in 305 days, with twice a day milking, mature equivalent. A silver medal is awarded for 400 pounds of butterfat and a bronze medal is given for production of 300 pounds of butterfat, in the required period.

The purpose of this award is to stimulate greater interest in proving more sires. Proved sires are in great demand, with the advent of artificial breeding. It is now possible for any owner of dairy cows to breed to proved sires at a cost less than that of keeping a bull.

Dairymen who are interested in nominating an outstanding sire should contact their dairy herd tester, the county agricultural agent, or write to F. E. DeLaCroix, Dairy Extension Office, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana.

Total amounts of butter, milk, cheese and other dairy products made or sold by Indiana creameries, milk plants, cheese factories, condenseries, etc., are available from the circular, "Thirty-Fourth Annual Report of the Creamery License Division for the year Ending March 31, 1948." The circular is published by the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station. Copies are free upon request from county agricultural agents.

To gardeners who like to use pyrethrum it is good news that the United States Department of Agriculture chemists have made compounds in the laboratory almost identical in composition with the natural insecticidal compounds in pyrethrum flowers, and are equal—even superior in some cases—in insect killing power. A number of commercial companies have expressed interest and some plan to run pilot tests on the synthetic pyrethrum.

★ Today good will may starve to death. Keep it alive with customer courtesy and careful advertising.

Fed up with seeing hogs waste corn in the barnyard mud? Purdue University swine specialists recommend a concrete feeding floor, wit hseven to eight square feet allowed for each hog. The Agricultural Extension Service Bulletin "Home-Made Hog Equipment" No. 199, gives further details. Copies are free upon request from the county agricultural agent's office.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Mentzer visited their daughter, Rosalind, at East Lansing, Michigan, over the week-end. Saturday they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sell, former residents of Mentone.

MAXIMUM CORN YIELDS NEED CULTIVATION

Weeding with chemicals will not replace cultivation in the corn field. At least, this was the opinion of investigators from the North Central States, reporting results of tests in 1948 with the use of 2,4-D for weed control in corn.

O. C. Lee, Purdue University weed specialist, said that in practically all experiments conducted, cultivation in addition to spraying was essential for top yields. It was evident that cultivation was essential for the control of grassy weeds. Especially on heavy soils, cultivation was essential for developing the desired tilth, thereby inducing nitrification of the soil.

Corn grown on four different types of soil common to Indiana were treated in various ways to determine the effect of spraying with 2,4-D in comparison with cultivation alone and a combination of spraying and cultivation. Replicated plots were sprayed when corn was six to eight inches in height, using one-half pound of 2,4-D per acre. One-half of the plots were cultivated when corn was 18 to 24 inches in height, and the remainder of the plots were not disturbed. Another series of plots were cultivated twice when corn was six and 24 inches in height. These plots were not sprayed.

The average yields of corn from the various treatments were as follows: On the Brookston silt loam, the sprayed plots without cultivation produced 52.8 bushels per acre; cultivated and sprayed plots, 61.9 bushels; and those only cultivated, yielded 65.7 bushels per acre. On a Vigo silt loam, the yields were 66, 81.6, and 81 respectively; yields on a Crosby silt loam were 79.8 bushels, 95.4 and 95.2 respectively; while on muck soils the yields were 72.5, 78 and 77.7 bushels per acre respectively, for treatments of spraying alone, spraying plus cultivation, and cultivation without spraying.

Lee pointed out that although spraying produced adequate control of broadleaf weeds, grasses including fox-tail, crabgrass, and pumi grasses were abundant on all areas that did not receive cultivation. Observations revealed that corn grown on heavy soils suffered from nitrogen starvation when cultivation was omitted. The combination of cultivation and spraying with 2,4-D appears most practical for weed control in corn. Early spraying followed by cultivation is recommended when early annual weeds are the major problem. In the event of perennial weeds and vines, it may be most practical to cultivate small corn and then follow by spraying when corn is 18 to 24 inches in height.

Some Indiana History

Research on Indiana by Dr. Wm. O. Lynch, professor emeritus of history, Indiana university, for the World Book encyclopedia, has revealed one of the first automobiles in the United States was demonstrated by Elwood Haynes near Kokomo on July 4, 1894. A bicycle chain was used to connect the engine with the rear wheels. Other facts disclosed by Dr. Lynch: Furs from Indiana were worn by ladies of the French court in the 1600's and were shaped into beaver hats for the lords and princes of Europe. The first newspaper in Indiana was the Indiana Gazette published in Vincennes in 1804. Other early papers had colorful names like the Coon Skinner, The Grubbing Hoe of Truth, and the Round Ax of Freedom.

New Wonder Drug Found
Penicillin and streptomycin have a new ally, a synthetic compound called histadyl, which combats allergic reactions limiting the usefulness of many potent drugs. In the past, when a patient receiving regular doses of a drug suffered side reactions such as hives, it was necessary to halt the treatment. It now has been found possible to continue to give such patients penicillin, streptomycin and other drugs to which they have become allergic for periods as long as three months by the concurrent administration of histadyl.

INDIANA ARTIFICIAL BREEDING ASSOCIATION SHOWS GAINS

The Indiana Artificial Breeding Association at Carmel improved mightily in 1948, their second year of operation, as compared with 1947.

Considered as a whole in 1948—of the 32,636 cows inseminated, the average non-return percentage of service was never under 60.5. Of the 36,589 cows bred in the State of Indiana the association bred 89.2%, making Indiana one of the ten leading states in artificial insemination according to figures released by the Bureau of Dairy Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The Indiana Artificial Breeding Association services forty-nine affiliated organizations with semen from 100% proved sires. The Kosciusko County Co-operative Breeding Association is one of those who are furthering the objective of I. A. B. A. to increase the efficiency of the production of human food through the wide use of desirably proved dairy sires.

The semen from these desirably proved bulls is made available to every dairyman in the state of Indiana, either through a local co-operative breeding association or directly from the Indiana Artificial Breeding Association at Carmel.

INTERNATIONAL DAIRY SHOW AT INDIANAPOLIS OCT. 8-15

The world's best animals in the seven dairy breeds will compete for a potential purse of $59,500 in the first International Dairy Exposition at the Indiana State Fair Grounds here October 8 through 15. It's the greatest amount of premiums ever offered in a dairy cattle show.

Robert D. Hammer, executive secretary of the "world's fair of the dairy industry," said actual commitments already have been made to the extent of $42,500 in premiums.

If the associations of the seven dairy breeds—Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, Milking Shorthorn, and Red Poll—also make contributions to the premium awards of their own breed, to be matched by the exposition, the purse could go to $59,500 before the opening of the exposition, it was pointed out.

Official association international shows of three of the seven breed groups will be held in conjunction with the exposition. They are Ayrshire, Milking Shorthorn, and Red Poll. International shows also will be held for the other four.

All show classes will be official classes of the Pure Bred Dairy Cattle Association, designated by the association.

Altogether there will be five shows in the exposition proper—the above-mentioned senior show for judging in each of the breed classifications (28 in all); an invitational national 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America junior dairy show for a minimum of $10,000 in prizes; a producers show of commercial exhibits; a Festival of Dairy and Related Foods; an evening show that will be of general appeal to the public through the presentation of outstanding entertainment, featuring the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride.

SIX CHILDREN SHARE IN ESTATE OF MRS. SAEMANN

The extensive holdings of Mrs. Laura N. Saemann, who died May 3 at Phoenix, Ariz., will be divided among her six children, it was learned Tuesday as her will was admitted to probate in circuit court.

A son, Franklin I. Saemann, of Warsaw, and a daughter, Jennie Saemann, of New York City, were named as co-executors of the will, which was made on Nov. 7, 1947.

Specific bequests were made as follows:

The building occupied by Sears Roebuck at Warsaw and the "Taylor avenue bungalow," Oak Park, Ill., to daughters, Charlotte Saemann Kniazzeh, Joan Saemann River and Jennie Elizabeth Saemann.

A lot at Chapman lake to sons Franklin and John.

The building housing the Ambulatory Splint Co., Chicago, the Ogden-Van Buren building, Chicago, and three vacant lots at Calumet City, Ind., to be sold and proceeds divided among the six children, including a son, Robin.

Three lots at Phoenix, Ariz., to Robin and Franklin.

The sum of $10,000 to John to equalize bequests of real estate.

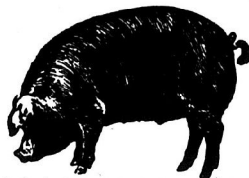

All of the decedent's stock in the Ambulatory Splint Co., Chicago, to Franklin.

Forty-five shares of stock in the Warsaw Grain & Milling Co. to John and Franklin equally.

The rest of the property to be converted into cash and divided equally among the six children.

End of current steam locomotive production came to the American Locomotive company plant at Schenectady for the first time in a century as an accelerated diesel-electric locomotive program entered a new phase. As the last steam locomotive left the 112-acre plant under its own power for Cleveland, a huge 1500 hp road freight diesel-electric for the Central Railway of Brazil was being completed in another part of the locomotive factory. This is the first post-war road locomotive built for export.

4-H GIRLS MAKE 20 MILLION*MEALS IN FOOD PROGRAM

Will 20 million meals placed end-to-end reach around the world? Nobody seems to know. But it is a fact that some 400,000 4-H Club girls last year planned, prepared and served 20 million meals as part of their training in the National 4-H Food Preparation program. In Indiana, 34,219 were enrolled in the project, according to Harold B. Taylor, State Club Leader, and the 1949 program is off to a good start.

Designed to help 4-H'ers understand food values from both health and economy standpoints, the program also develops desirable personal food habits. The youthful cooks range in age from 10 to 21 years, and as in all 4-H activities "learn by doing." Use of home-produced food is stressed.

Merit awards will again be provided by Servel Home Economics department. They are educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress for state winners; gold-filled medals for county winners, and six $300 scholarships for members of a special blue award group. The Co-operative Extension Service directs the program.

Phyllis Albright, Cayuga, won the 1948 state and Vermillion county awards. There were 46 other county medal winners named in Indiana.

scholarships of $300—in place of the usual $200—will be given this year. An all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will again be provided for winners in each of the 45 states participating, and for county winners a goldfilled medal of honor. 4-H girls in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico also enroll in the contest, and champions receive a $100 U. S. savings bond.

For the 1948 record judged best in Indiana, Doris Lathrop, of Farmersburg, was awarded a trip to the 4-H Club Congress. There were 39 county medal winners.

HOMEMAKING PROJECTS RANK HIGH AS 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

"With more than a million home-making projects being undertaken, 4-H girls are putting the 1949 theme 'Better Living for a Better World' into action," declared Guy L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. Indiana girls carried 56,775 of the projects, and accepted the challenge to report good records of work well done in 1949, according to Mr. Noble.

Clothing, canning, home improvement, home grounds beautification, garden and poultry are among the activities considered in the National 4-H Girls Record awards program. In addition to learning the job of home-making, the girls come to know the basic principles for happy family relationships and community responsibilities. The Cooperative Extension Service supervises the program.

For over a quarter of a century, Montgomery Ward has rewarded girls whose accomplishments in this contest have been outstanding. Six national

THYROPROTEIN OPENED TO DAIRYMEN'S USE

Thyroprotein, a new milk stimulating compound which may increase a cow's milk production from one to 15 pounds a day is now being sold for the first time to Indiana dairymen under a temporary permit, issued by Dr. F. W. Quackenbush, state chemist.

This chemical contains the hormone ordinarily produced by the thyroid gland, according to Dr. F. N. Andrews, Purdue University animal husbandryman, and E. A. Harmon, Purdue extension dairyman. Thyroprotein is manufactured by the combination of casein and iodine under controlled laboratory conditions. Dr. Andrews and Mr. Gannon, state that the hormone which thyroprotein contains is a powerful substance and a very small quantity will produce a response in animals.

The Purdue men state that it is well known that thyroprotein stimulates general bodily activity and when this substance is fed, there is usually an increase in pulse rate, respiration rate, and some loss of body weight. It has been likewise shown that pulse and respiration rates can be increased by heavy feeding.

The cost of commercial feeds containing thyroprotein range from $120 to $140 per ton. It is recommended by the commercial companies to feed three pounds of the thyroprotein carrier per cow per day plus the regular rations.

Results reported on 100 cows show that, on the average, two cows will not respond to the hormone, about two cows will give 15 pounds or more increased milk production, and about 20 cows will give five or six pounds more milk per cow per day. The remainder will vary from one to 15 pounds more milk per day.

The manufacturers recommend feeding thyroprotein to cows about 40 days after the start of the lactation period, when they have reached their peak, and then continue until about the 200th day of pregnancy.

Under existing rules of the purebred dairy cattle association, thyroprotein cannot be fed to cows on official test. Under Indiana conditions, thyroprotein has a very restricted field, that of the highly specialized commercial dairyman who is interested in forced milk production.

THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP. NEWS

Published Weekly by the Northern Indiana Cooperative Association, Mentone, Ind.

ARTLEY D. CULLUM, Editor and Manager.

PRINTED IN THE MODERN PLANT OF THE COUNTRY PRINT SHOP

Outdoorsmen generally are an ingenious lot. We can't recall at the moment any world-shattering inventions by fishermen or hunters, but you always can count on sportsmen to come up with devices that add flavor to outdoor sports.

During the recent sport shows, always a good place to uncover new gadgets, we ran across items that, we predict, will meet with the approval of many sportsmen.

For instance, Rudolf Hagen, a veteran gunsmith living at 5211 South Monitor Street in Chicago, has developed a process whereby an amateur can "engrave" his guns with fancy scrolls or the figures of upland or big game animals and birds that compare favorably with the work of skilled craftsmen.

Mr. Hagen calls his process "Gun Tatoo" and the kit includes all the ingredients essential in turning any gun into a beautifully engraved model. We know that the process is fool-proof and adapted for amateurs for we have successfully "engraved" two shotguns.

There's a new-type duffle bag on the market that eliminates the old bugaboo of cost similar bags where the item you want is always in the bottom and everything else must be removed to get to it. This duffle bag, a product of the E-Z-Pax Company, 509 North Fairfax Avenue, Los Angeles, consists of four pieces—a lid and three zippered sections with each having its own bottom. The zippers run horizontally around each section, and through these openings you can get into any part of the bag without having the old trouble. You can use one or two or three sections depending on the amount of space needed.

And if this isn't enough, the company has designed the bag with straps so that it can be carried on your back as a pack.

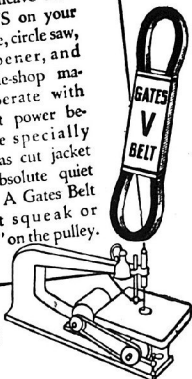

Frank Steel, 176 West Adams Street, Chicago, the nation's No. 1 campaigner for the use of a thermometer in locating where game fish most likely will be hiding, has combined a thermometer and facts on water temperatures fish prefer into a little plastic book. You just dunk the book over the side of your boat, leave it a couple of minutes and pull it back for a temperature reading. Then you flip through the pages to the chart devoted to the species of fish you're after and find how deep you should fish.

Mr. Steel has proved that certain species of fish prefer certain water temperatures and he's written several books on his theories. Much of the information in these books is condensed into "Steel's Fish Finder," the plastic book-thermometer combination.

Seeing these gadgets has our mind working overtime trying to come up with something new. We'd like to get on the sportsman's bandwagon of inventors. And trying to think of a new idea is almost as much fun as fishing.

WHY WORRY?

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Now is the time to start watching for ticks.

This warning was issued today by Dr. J. W. Jackson, director, Division of Communicable Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health, to persons going into the woods or heavily wooded areas. The bite of the tick may carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever. The ticks may be recognized by their flat, leatherly appearance and eight legs.

"Anyone bitten by a tick should contact a doctor promptly. The symptoms of the disease are sudden and include fever, headache, extreme sensitivity of the eyes to light, pains in the muscles and joints, and chills. A rash spreads over the body after the third or fourth day.

"Many Rocky Mountain spotted fever cases are fatal. We have not had any cases reported this year with warm weather just starting but last year after June 1, there were 14 cases reported with two deaths. In 1947, of the 23 cases reported, eight died. Counties in which cases have occurred within the past few years include: Orange, Marion, Shelby, Dearborn, Newton, Daviess, Dubois, Warrick, White, Jackson, Ripley, Bartholomew, Clark, Vigo, Greene, Gibson and Tippecanoe.

Precautions which may be taken against the disease include the wearing of heavy, protective clothing and inspecting the clothing carefully for ticks after being in the woods. If a tick is found, it should be removed with tweezers or paper so the hands will not touch the tick. Vaccination of persons who plan to be in tick-infested areas is also recommended. The severity of the disease is often abated by Rocky Mountain fever serum and recently discovered chemotherapeutic agents have been found to be extremely effective.

SECOND AG. CONFERENCE PLANNED FOR AUG. 2-4

Purdue University will hold its annual summer Agricultural Conference or Farmers' Week Aug. 2, 3, and 4, it was announced by Harry J. Reed, Director of the agricultural activities at the University. Plans are being made to care for at least 10,000 farm men and women who are expected to combine the three day farm and home session on the campus with a short vacation jaunt from their busy summer's work.

Plans are already well underway for the three day affair with W. F. Graham, of the Agricultural Extension exhibits division, serving as superintendent of the conference which will bring together the leaders in practically every phase of Indiana agriculture. It will be the second year that the summer conference will be held and full co-operation of the numerous state agricultural and home economics organizations is anticipated. Last year more than 3,000 were present for the annual meeting of the home economics association alone and a much larger attendance is expected this year, since the women changed the time of their annual gathering on the campus from winter to summer. The 36th annual meeting of the Indiana Home Economics Association will be held Thursday, Aug. 4, with a chorus of 1500 providing music that evening.

An important feature of the conference this year will be a thorough discussion of "What's Ahead in Farming" with Purdue staff members and other authorities taking part in the program. Demonstrations of new developments in farm machinery to further lighten the load which every farmer must carry will be another important attraction. Farm and home safety and health will also come in for considerable attention. A small building built especially for the occasion will be set afire to demonstrate how to fight farm fires, which are a hazard faced constantly on every farm.

Special features on pasture improvement as it relates to livestock and poultry production will include tours of various experimental farms and fields near Lafayette, so that pork producers, poultrymen, beef cattle feeders and dairymen will find a veritable short course for their respective interests. State meetings of a dozen or so groups will be held during the week.

Start the locker season right. Purdue University extension home economists suggest that a written plan be made of the amount, kind, and varieties of food to be prepared for freezing. This will help secure a greater variety of food and avoid the danger of getting the locker overloaded with only a few different products.

St., east to Boadway, south to Main, east to the Methodist church. Transportation will be provided for anyone wishing to attend either or both services and unable to march or otherwise attend.

"They fought for us. Now, with one accord, in deepest reverence, we do them honor. Let us not remember them in anguish: they would not wish our pity, for their sakes also let us not forget the loved ones they left behind. Our tears or words of sympathy cannot bring back the comfort of their loving hands or the music of their voices now stilled. All the world, because of what they gave, is debtor to them."

Everyone is earnestly requested to attend the observance of this most sacred occasion.

CARE OFFERS NEW

$5.50 FOOD PACKAGE

Reductions in wholesale food prices have enabled CARE to offer a new $5.50 "Thrifty" food package for delivery in 11 European countries, Paul Comly French, Executive Director of the non-profit agency, announced today.

CARE will continue to carry its big 22½ pound $10 food parcel, which was recently increased in content value, Mr. French stressed. The $5.50 package, he explained, was devised for Americans who want to continue to help still needed by the people overseas but do not feel they can afford $10, as well as to provide an additional variety for regular CARE donors.

Orders for the new food package can be placed immediately through CARE headquarters, 20 Broad Street, New York 5, or any CARE outlet throughout the country. Delivery is guaranteed in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, the Western zones of Germany and all Berlin, Italy, the Netherlands and Norway.

The $5.50 assortments features a two pound, pre-cooked ham, skinless and boneless so that there is no waste, and seven ounces of assorted spices, a rarity in Europe since the war. Complete contents are: Two-pound ham; one pound each of rice, cheese, peanut butter and coffee (a half-pound tea will be substituted for the British Isles); 14 ounces of condensed milk; a half-pound of chocolate; one ounce each of pepper and nutmeg; one and a quarter ounces each of cinnamon, ginger, mustard, and paprika; two cakes (six ounces) soap.

"For a long time," Mr. French explained, "CARE has wanted to make available a lower-priced food parcel so that more Americans could afford to participate in the vital postwar task of helping our neighbors overseas."

"The problem was to find an assortment that could be offered at less money, yet still contain enough nourishing, tasty foods to bring Europeans the things they need and want. Now, through the lower wholesale prices CARE has been able to obtain, we feel we have a package that will bring satisfaction to the Europeans who receive it, as well as the Americans who give it."

Like CARE's other food and clothing textile parcels, the $5.50 food package can be ordered for guaranteed delivery to friends, relatives, or needy families and institutions selected by overseas representatives of CARE's 26 member welfare agencies.

FARMER SHOULD GET PLATE NUMBER OF STRANGER

If a stranger comes around your farm and appears to be sizing things up, be sure to take his license number. Do it, because an epidemic of livestock and other thefts now seems to be spreading in many parts of the country, advises the Prairie Farmer Protective Union.

In the pocket area of Indiana it is estimated that more than $5,000 worth of hogs have been stolen from farms in Posey, Gibson, Vanderburgh, Warrick and Spencer counties in recent weeks.

The technique is this. Apparently the thieves first look over the farm in the daytime, then come back at night in a small pickup truck and load a few hogs into it. They quickly take them elsewhere, load them into a larger truck and haul them to market. This same pattern has been followed in many of the thefts, points out Prairie Farmer in its May 21 edition, so it pays to be suspicious of strangers. Those who are honest will not object to your taking their license numbers.

If they have no legitimate reason for being on your premises they can be arrested in Indiana or Illinois under trespass laws that Prairie Farmer sponsored through the legislatures about 10 years ago.

SOUTHERN INDIANA HAS NICE RAINBOW TROUT

There are rainbow trout in Southern Indiana, and whoppers, too.

The Indiana Department of Conservation's fish experts in the Fish and Game Division, headed by Henry P. Cottingham, for a time were a bit on the dubious side in regard to getting a start of the speckled beauties in Southern Indiana because the warm waters there are not supposed to support the rainbows.

However, some time ago a shipment of rainbows nine to 12 inches long were put in Cave River, a little stream that flows from a limestone cavern north of Campbellsburg into White River.

Later, many five and six inch trout were seen in the stream and when trout season opened May 1, several nice ones were caught. One was 22½ inches long and weighed three pounds and ten ounces.

Officials of the department feel they have found a way in which to break the jinx against trout in Southern Indiana waters. The cave stream has a temperature of about 55 degrees for some distance after it leaves River Cave. That does the trick.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Seventeen million shooters! Yes, believe it or not, that is the estimated number who use firearms for sport annually in the United States. And the authority for the statement is the Remington Arms Company which recently completed a detailed survey that included interviews with 4,562 persons in 157 cities, towns and rural areas.

It also was interesting to learn more about these 17,000,000 shooters. For instance, it was apparent that gunning is a "start early" sport for more than 60 per cent of those interviewed started shooting before they were 20 years of age. At least another 20 per cent took up shooting when in their twenties.

The small town and rural areas showed the highest percentage of shooters. That's only natural, however, for in the small towns and rural areas a kid can start hunting by just walking a short ways from home. This youngster also has more free time to learn the sport and to develop his gunning ability.

Actually the survey disclosed that 29 per cent of those interviewed in the urban areas were shooters, with 46 per cent of those living in small towns interested in gunning as a sport. Fifty per cent of the farm persons contacted used firearms for sport.

Big business! Sure, gunning is a big business in two ways. First, it is big business in dollars, for the buying of arms and ammunition, plus expenses in getting to and from hunting ground and lodging while there, and other expenditures, add up to many millions.

Also, gunning is big business in recreation. When you add the number of fishermen to the gunning field, you really have an amazing total. And it is necessary that all of us who gun or fish practice sound conservation policies if we're to continue to enjoy America's outdoors.

Freedom Stronger Than Atomic Weapons, Says Louis Johnson at Legion Cornerstone Laying

Indianapolis.—The American spirit of freedom is more powerful than all atomic weapons

This was the keynote of the address of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson featuring the laying of the cornerstone of the new $2,000,000 national headquarters building of The American Legion.

The cornerstone-laying ceremony was preceded by a thrilling hour-long parade under a warm spring sun through the downtown section of Indianapolis. In the line of march were bands, drum and bugle corps, color guards and various uniformed military units, including ROTC groups from all local high schools. Overhead during the parade the U. S. Air Force provided a thrilling cover of latest types of aircraft. It included a flight of 18 B-29 bombers from Salina, Kansas; 16 F-80 jet fighters from Selfridge Field, Michigan, and eight F-51 Mustang fighters from the Indiana National Guard. The speedy jets flew here from Detroit in 20 minutes. The parade and ceremony were recorded by radio and newsreels.

Freedom Spirit Invincible

"We have one weapon more powerful than all the atomic bombs, the guided missiles, the battleships, the airplanes and the tanks," said Secretary Johnson, a past national commander of the American Legion. "This weapon is not a mechanical invention nor a physical contrivance. It belongs to another realm. It will never become obsolete. It always will be modern. And far from keeping it a secret we are anxious to share it with others. It is the spirit of freedom in which we have nourished our youth. This spirit of freedom permeates our history and has served to keep our country ever young and our democracy ever vibrant."

Secretary Johnson expressed a fervent hope for world peace. But he sounded a warning that America will be ready for war if it should come.

"Let no nation deceive itself," he said, "and read in this desire for peace any note of softness and weakness."

He said the laying of the cornerstone for the new American Legion home "is a consecration . . . to this spirit that has served so valiantly to protect our liberties in the past and today, as ever, constitutes our bastion of defense for ourselves and our posterity."

Governor Henry F. Schricker pledged "Indiana's eternal loyalty to the cause which The American Legion represents."

Judge Clarence M. McNabb of Ft. Wayne, president of the board of trustees of the Indiana World War Memorial Commission, introduced National Commander Perry Brown of The American Legion, who in turn presented Secretary Johnson.

MEMORIAL

"As He died to make men holy Let us die to make men free."

—The Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Snow-white against the green rolling hills of Arlington the headstones mark the resting places of men of three wars who died to make men free. Not far away, Alexandria, lies another—marking the Unknown Soldier of the American Revolution. All over America, all over the world, there are others. Some gleam white; some are gray, worn with time.

The park facing the White House memorializes the Frenchman, Lafayette. In the park stands a statue to the Pole, Pulaski; another for the German, Von Steuben.

"Let us die to make men free."

Why are men willing to die for freedom in war but unwilling to pay the smaller price to keep their freedom in peace? Why do they march, gun on shoulder, to battle but fail to march, pen in hand, to the polls? Why do they fight through the flame and steel of the foreigners' guns and bombs but cringe before the anticipated blast of the embattled politician in their home town?

As we honor the Frenchman Lafayette, the Pole Pulaski, the German Von Steuben, do we forget that their countrymen, too, have often died for freedom, and as often seen it snatched from them by enemies from within?

Freedom lost must be again won by the courage of those willing to die. Freedom won must be retained by the courage of those willing to live by the ideals for which the others died. Freedom rests not on guns, money or modern plumbing. Its foundation is no stronger than the hearts of the men who would be free. Wars end. The battle for freedom never ends.

It is right to pause on Memorial Day to honor our dead and the families who gave them the cause of freedom. But, my friend, you cannot pay your debt to them with a garland of flowers, a moment of silent prayer, a parade and a firing squad. Look in the mirror into your own eyes. Ask yourself, "What am I doing, today, in my town, to hold safe the freedom they held so dear?"

As He lived to make men holy
Let us live to make men free.

This editorial is reprinted from the May, 1949 issue of the AMERICAN RIFLEMAN.

PLANNING ANOTHER "FOURTH" CELEBRATION FOR COMMUNITY

The Lions Club here announced this week that it is planning another Fourth of July celebration for this year, and already committees are at work arranging a "bigger and better" time for all.

Delford Nelson has been named general chairman, and will have several committees at work on the various features of the evening's entertainment.

STATE FAIR OFFERING MORE PREMIUM MONEY

The nine big days of the 1949 Indiana State Fair are offering more premium money than in the history of the fair.

The Indiana State fair will begin on Thursday, September 1, and be held through September 9. The added extra day will be September 1.

An increase of more than $13,000 is being offered by fair officials for exhibitors during this year's fair.

The increase in premiums was brought about by the stimulated interest shown in exhibiting at the Indiana state fair. Exhibits are larger and more exhibitors are showing at the fair than in previous years.

Actual money offered by the state fair board to exhibitors totals $191,561.48. Money donated by associations and classed as specials totals $116,179.35. This makes a grand total offered of $307,740.83.

This is over $13,000 in excess of what was offered last year.

Nearly all departments were affected by the increases. The largest amount was attributed to the Grand Circuit Racing program. The Women's Department, Agriculture and Horticulture, Cattle Department, Swine Department, Poultry Department, Draft Horse Department and Horse Show also increased their offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swick are visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Earwood, at Terre Haute. They were about a mile away from the tornado which did so much damage in southern Indiana Sunday.

SHOW WINDOW HERE EXEMPLIFIES THE SPIRIT OF NATIONAL POPPY DAY

"In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses row on row —"

A miniature Flanders field is blooming today in the west show window of the Denton Drug Store in Mentone, portraying the message of Poppy Day to be observed here and throughout the nation next Saturday, May 28.

The window, decorated under the auspices of Mentone Unit, No. 425, features a display of souvenirs of World War I and World War II with a background of poppies. In the foreground is a miniature war cemetery, with its white crosses, "row on row."

Mr. Glen Denton, proprietor of the Denton Drug Store, donated the use of the show window to the Mentone Unit No. 425, The American Legion Auxiliary. The window was decorated by Mr. Victor E. Hudson, of Warsaw, member of Mentone Post 425, The American Legion. Mrs. M. G. Yocum, Mrs. Clara Baker, Mr. Earl R. Shinn, and Mr. Eldred Paulus helped make the display possible by their contributions of war souvenirs.

Saturday, May 28, is Poppy Day. On Saturday, volunteer workers from the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute poppies to be worn in honor of the war dead throughout Mentone and other communities and, will receive in exchange contributions to be used for the welfare of disabled war veterans and the needy children of veterans.

The idea of wearing a poppy in tribute to the war dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild poppies grow in the fields of France and Belgium, where so many men of many nations gave their lives in the two World Wars. The poppy was the one touch of nature's beauty which survived the devastation of the battle front and the only flower which grew around the battle graves.

Even before the end of World War I, poppies were worn in honor of the dead. With the return of the troops from France, the custom sprang up in widely separated parts of the United States. Poppy Day was first sponsored by The American Legion in 1920, and that year the poppy was adopted as the Legion's national memorial flower.

Now more than 25,000,000 crepe-paper replicas of the Flanders fields poppy are made every year by disabled veterans working under the direction of the American Legion Auxiliary and are worn throughout the nation to pay tribute to the dead of both wars. Contributions given in exchange for the poppies are used in Legion and Auxiliary work for the welfare of the disabled and of needy children of veterans.

The poppy is truly the flower of both World Wars. While the dead of World War II fell in many parts of the world, many of the fiercest bat-ties of that war took place in France, Flanders and western Germany, where the poppy is a native wild flower. Again it bloomed between the crosses which marked the resting places of American dead and it became the memorial flower for World War II as well as World War I. No matter where they died, the poppy is the flower which says we remember and honor their great sacrifice for America.

READING CLUB ENDS SEASON

The Mentone Reading Club held its final program for the 1948-49 season on last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Miles Manwaring.

A 6:30 potluck supper was enjoyed.

Preceding the business meeting an installation ceremony was conducted by the out-going president, Mrs. Guido Shirey. Officers for the coming year are: Mrs. Fred Lemler, president; Mrs. Harold Nelson, vice president; Mrs. LeRoy Norris, second vice president; Mrs. Walter Lackey, secretary; Mrs. Raymond Cooper, treasurer.

The clarinet quartet played two numbers and the program was turned over to Mrs. T. J. Clutter, who gave a most interesting review of clothing from several hundred years B. C. to the present time. She illustrated her talk on Suitable Clothing with her group of hand-made model dolls.

OPEN SAEMAN ESTATE

The $115,000 estate of Mrs. Laura N. Saemann, of Warsaw, who died in Phoenix, Ariz., on May 3, was opened in circuit court Thursday with the qualification of a son, Franklin I. Saemann, of Warsaw, and a daughter, Jennie Elizabeth Saemann, of New York City as co-executors.

Personal property of the estate was valued at $15,000 and real estate at $100,000.

Mrs. Saemann's will, admitted to probate earlier last week, provided for division of the property among six children, the co-executors and these four—John S. Saemann of Port Washington, N. Y.; Robin S. Saemann, of Phoenix, Ariz.; Charlotte S. Kniazeh, of Chicago; and Joann Saemann River of Oak Park, Ill.

HOW FARMING IS GETTING MORE COMPLICATED

How farming is almost daily getting more complicated is pointed out in an editorial in the May 21 Prairie Farmer by Editor Paul C. Johnson.

He says there are now a hundred different kinds of chemicals sold for the control of weeds alone. This is in addition to the large number of chemicals also used for controlling insect pests and diseases.

Then after licking the other farm problems of picking the best of many new varieties, outguessing the weather, and paying for some of the new kinds of farm machinery now on the market, you'll also have to have time to study the different farm programs now in the legislative hoppers.

Farming has a lot of things to commend it as a way of life, but it never was the easiest occupation in the world.

HARRISON HUSTLERS 4-H

Our meeting was held Tuesday, May 10.

The 4-H Club of Mentone was named the Harrison Hustlers.

The assistant county agent, Bill Johnson, visited us. He spoke on our enrollment. We have 24 members who have turned in cards. Our club set its goal as 48. It will take a lot of hard work to do that.

On April 18 officers met at Warsaw. Their duties were outlined for the year. They played games and then went home. —Reporter.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH*Septic Tank Installation

It may be the atomic age, but Hoosier farmers find it's still more fun, more profitable—and more healthful—to get together for their biggest jobs.

In the best log rolling or spellin bee tradition, farmers in four counties—Floyd, Harrison, Kosciusko and Putnam—have been working together to install septic tanks at nominal cost. By doing the work themselves they make the best possible installation for $150. It can be done for $100. And if it's only the tank they need they can get that for $25.

All this is possible by employing reusable forms furnished by Purdue University and doing the work themselves. The estimate of cost covers all pipes and construction from the house to the tank as well as the tank itself.

The latest gathering was last week to install a 540 gallon tank at Raymond R. Pursell's farm about three miles northeast of Greencastle. Purdue drew up the plans and furnished the forms after Kenneth W. Harris, Putnam county agent, had decided where the installation should be. Robert Leach, State Board of Health sanitary engineer, was in charge of construction and Dr. James B. Johnson, Putnam county health officer and president of the county medical society, concurred in the planning. Even though it was good farming weather, between 100 and 150 farmers left their work to help Pursell.

Interest was so high that the Board of Health took pictures of the entire operation. From these pictures slides are being made. The slides will be available from the Board of Health to groups whose members are interested in making an installation or want to use the slides on a program.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

In memory of our departed Neighbor, Pearl Smith, who was a member of Maple Leaf Camp No. 2462 Royal Neighbors of America, departed this life April 29, 1949.

Therefore, be it resolved that we sincerely and deeply sympathize with the family and friends of the departed in their sad bereavement, and that we implore kind Providence to comfort them in this, their hour of trial. Death has entered our camp and has taken one of our dear Neighbors; we are again reminded that life is but a vapor, a dream, a shadow that passeth away; and when most unexpected, death comes to all and severs from us one that is dear.

Therefore, be it resolved, that our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days and that a copy of these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of our next meeting.

MEMORIAL WEEKEND
USUALLY MOST DANGEROUS

The opening of the summer motoring season will witness fifteen fatalities and 570 serious injuries on Indiana highways over the Memorial Day weekend, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club predicts.

Holiday traffic will exceed that of any other Memorial Day traffic if weather is favorable, Mr. Hayes said.

To reduce the hazards of holiday traffic Mr. Hayes recommended the following program to motorists:

Schedule holiday activities to eliminate driving when fatigued or after consumption of alcohol.

Schedule holiday activities to eliminate driving, producer of two-thirds of all traffic fatalities.

Increasing margins of safety, especially passing and following distances, and speed controls at intersections, railroad crossings and on curves.

Make sure that brakes, windshield wipers, lights and all safety equipment are in good operating order.

Motorists entering the congested Calumet region in Lake County, Indiana, are urged to use special care at railroad crossings which honeycomb the region. Fatalities at rail crossings constitute fifty per cent of the traffic toll in Lake County, compared to the state average of only 13.4 per cent. Many crossings are poorly protected and have poor visibility.

Route 20 east of Gary is one of the most hazardous highways in the middle west. All motorists will do well to control their speeds carefully on this section of U. S. 20.

State parks report heavy demand for advance reservations. Motorists are advised to make advance reservations for all overnight accommodations during the Memorial Day Week-end.

McCLAIN—SISK

White tapers in candelabra lighted the altar of the Northwood Christian church in Indianapolis on May 12, at 7:30 p.m., as marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Pauline Sisk and Samuel O. McClain of Muncie.

Preceding the ceremony a prelude of organ melodies was played by the organist, including "Because," "At Dawning," "My Happiness," Schubert's "Serenade," "Til the End of Time," and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," in addition to the traditional wedding march and recessional.

Attendants at the double ring ceremony, which was read by Dr. O. L. Shelton of the Butler University School of Religion, were Miss Jennie Lou Hall, who served her sister as maid of honor, and Granville McClain, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

A gown of pink and white taffeta brocade was worn by the bride. A tiara trimmed with seed pearls held her finger-tip length veil in place. She wore a strand of pearls and carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses centered by an orchid which she later pinned to her going-away dress.

The maid of honor wore a turquoise taffeta gown and carried a Colonial bouquet of deep pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Gordon, for the immediate families.

The newlyweds took a short trip to Chicago and are now at home at 315 West Adams Street in Muncie, where the bridegroom is employed at the Indiana Employment Security Division.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Hall of near Mentone and she graduated from the Bourbon high school.
