Duck Season Opens

Judging from the gun-fire that burst out at 7 o'clock Monday morning it is our opinion that there aren't just an awfully lot of ducks left in this section of the county. Several Mentone business men got to work late; some reported good luck, some otherwise. So far as we've been able to find out, the highest number caught back by one man was fifty. To Dr. F. B. Davison goes this honor.

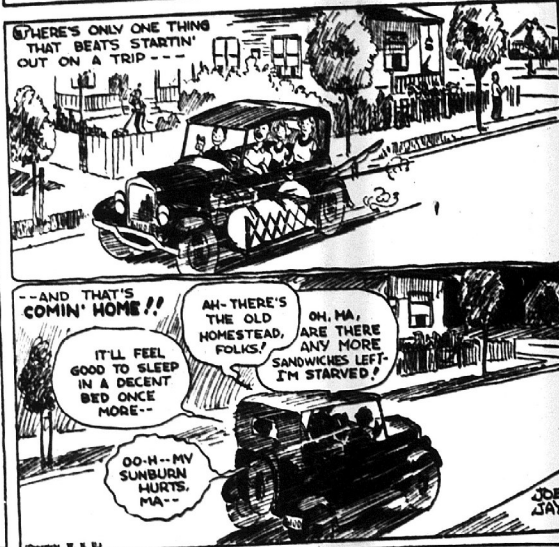

MENTONE METHODIST CHURCH

On Tuesday evening, November 2, at 7:30 o'clock there will be a special meeting for men of the church and community, conducted by the Bourbon sub-district Mens Organization. Rev. J. Walter Gibson of North Webster will be the speaker. A large attendance of the men of this community is desired.

On next Sunday morning there will be special music at the Meyer Service hour and in the evening at 7:00 there will be a special Armistice Day program, directed by Mrs. Dora Taylor and one of the speakers will be a World War Veteran.

Home Coming day will be observed on November 14 with a basket dinner at the noon hour. In the afternoon there will be an exhibition of McGuffey's School books, a "First Reader Class" will be conducted during the afternoon program, and Mr. Tecumseh Kilgore of South Bend will represent an eighth grade graduate and give a number of readings taken from the McGuffey School Books. Dig up your old McGuffey's School Books and have them ready to bring to this service. E. E. DeWitt, Minister.

Fire Destroys Home

The residence and offices of Dr. J. E. Saunders, located in Burket, were burned to the ground Wednesday morning with a loss of approximately $2,000. The fire was believed to have started in the attic of the one and one-half story all-modern frame building owned by the Warsaw Building Loan & Savings Association. The fire broke through on the wood shingle roof before anyone noticed it. The daughter, Twile Saunders, was in the house alone when notified of the fire.

The Burket fire department responded to the call, but was unable to do much to save the residents, although the fireman prevented two other homes to the south, those of Belle Bechtol and Samuel Secor from burning. A strong wind blowing from the north caused great danger to the other properties.

The contents of the Saunders property were saved by firemen and others who assisted. Temporary offices of Dr. Saunders have been established in the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Ward Williamson, of Burket.

The spirit of the times is revealed in the following story. A used Whip-pet sedan was displayed in the show room of an automobile company with a price placard stating, "Runs good, $6.95". A prospective customer looked it over carefully and turning to the salesman said: "What kind of time payments can I have?"

Saturday a friend of the Co-Op. News told us that one morning last week there were ten people standing in the lobby of a bank in a neighboring town. Four of them were on the public payroll, federal and local, and two others were waiting to cash federal checks. He went on to say that he presumed the other four were there to borrow money with which to pay their taxes.

George Washington once said: "A slender acquaintance with the world must convince every man, that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends; and that the most liberal professions of good will are very far from being the surest marks of it."

A woman we know has her neighbors all guessing. She sent in a card of thanks to be published in which she stated that she hoped her friends and neighbors would all receive their just reward in the world to come.

Most towns fight for better highways leading into town and then complain when the citizens of the town use the highways to go out of town to trade.

About the only thing that the federal government has not worked out in its program is the little matter of furnishing the right amount of rain at the right time.

The newspapers of the country are making a valiant effort to bring the obituaries up-to-date. There are still obituary writers who feel that a newspaper obituary should eulogize the departed. The best type of obituary is the one that states the simple facts in connection with the life of the departed and does not attempt to glorify the deceased. A good obituary leaves it to the reader's imagination that the departed lived a consistent Christian life and was a kind husband and loving father who was respected by all who knew him and so and so, and so and so. While these may be a necessary part of the funeral sermon, they are not a necessary part of a newspaper obituary according to most editor's ideas. Too many obituaries give the impression that some one has questioned the deceased's possession of these qualities and some posthumus defense is necessary.

Did you know that Polar bears do not hibernate?

The most tragic thing in small town life is the effort of the Smiths to keep up with the Jones', and the effort of the Jones' to keep up with the Johnsons. The happiest person is the one who isn't interested in keeping up with any one, but is content to manage his own business, earn all he can, buy what he can pay for, and save a part of his earnings for his old age, and to send the children to college. The formula is simple. The wonder is more do not solve it.

There are times in this country when we feel that the missionaries could find more to do in this country than they could possibly find any place else in the world.

How good is your memory? In what town in Texas did an explosion recently occur, which wrecked the school house, resulting in the death of nearly all of the pupils.

A reader of this paper, who formerly lived in a section of the country where grasshoppers were plentiful, stated that the campaign of the Japs against the Chinese reminded him of trying to fight the grasshoppers. One could kill millions of them, and, as far as appearances went, there were just as many left. Japan will wipe out a hundred thousand Chinese and by the next day there is as many more to take their places. It has been said that if all the Chinese should attempt to march past a given point eight abreast, at marching pace, the time would never come, when the last Chinaman would pass, for the reason that the birth rate in China each day numbers more than could pass a given point in one day marching eight abreast.

Some one has asked us the question: When a woman says that her husband is the only man who ever kissed her, is she bragging or complaining? We can't answer that one until we see the man-and the woman.

HOROSCOPE

NOVEMBER 1, 2 - You possess a power for good, but also can do an immense amount of mischief. You should be careful how you lower your standard, because when you fail you are very apt to take others with you. You are deadly in earnest, energetic and independent.

NOVEMBER 3, 4, 5 - You should try and be more hopeful. You need sunshine and to look on the bright side of life, as you have a tendency to grow sad and despondent if you meet with defeat. Generally you are very hopeful and enthusiastic.

NOVEMBER 6, 7, 8 - You have a persistent, determined nature and people often take unfair advantage of you. You rarely get paid for what you do, and sometimes you have to resort to shrewd methods, which you do not like in order to gain half what belongs to you. Because of misunderstanding you are often criticized and wrongly blamed. You enjoy fun, and like comedy rather than tragedy. You will not fight for what belongs to you and friends often have to step in and lend a helping hand.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

THE HELPFUL TONGUE: In the third chapter of the book of James appears an admonition by the author against the careless use of the tongue. The writer cautions his readers to be ever watchful of their speech, ever careful of their tongues. Though written especially for a certain group the evils of which James cautions his readers, are just as present today as they were the day his epistle was written.

The human tongue can do a great deal of harm, or it can do a great deal of good. The tongue reveals the individual and gives a fair cross section of his mind and thought and life. It reveals depth of character and thought, or it reveals shallowness, superficiality, insincerity, dishonesty and littleness. The tongue of the liar, the gossip, the destroyer of ideals, the profane, the one who is constantly tearing down others, undermining reputations, blasting characters, can do a great deal of harm.

On the other hand the one whose tongue is wholesome, who inspires, uplifts, who lights ambitions and desires, who awakens within others a new hope, a new vision, a new dream who shows them how to build effective, helpful lives, who points out to men how to waken the best that is in them, who shows them how to meet and overcome discouragement, how to achieve faith - his is a helpful tongue.

It is such a tongue that James besought his hearers to cultivate and to covet. It is such a tongue that mankind everywhere needs today. It is such a tongue that everyone should strive to possess.

What It Means To Be A Junior

What it means to be a Junior is of very great importance to us. We are called Jolly Juniors, this is a very high calling for someone, and this is one of our goals.

Juniors are in their third year of high school work and are expected to be more studious and have good behavior.

Being a Junior means a lot to the student. First, is the class ring. Most Juniors get a ring so they can remember the jolly times they had during this year.

Next is the class play. This is the first experience in play acting. The money they make goes toward the reception for the Seniors.

Then comes the time when we must prove ourselves to be good salesmen as well as good students. We sell candy at the basketball games.

After we have worked all year making all the money we can, we give a grand farewell party for the seniors.

Now to be more serious as we think of ourselves with only one more year of school we realize how we have wasted our time, and how little knowledge we have acquired. It makes us ashamed of ourselves that we have not acquired more knowledge, good habits, better character, and sweeter personalities than we have. Many of us will probably leave school next year never to pick up a book for real study again, while some of us may be privileged to go to some college and continue our learning, still others may not be privileged to go to college, but will take advantage of the vast number of books available for our use. But what ever we do after we finish high school, we have a great zeal for greater learning which we feel will never come a miss.

ATTENDANCE CONTEST

Last week Mr. Kelley announced a contest between the six upper grades, starting November 1, to find out which grade has the best attendance.

This contest is to promote better attendance in the school. Some students have been a little lax in keeping up their attendance as they should. This effects our standing as a school. All pupils in the grades that have highest percentage who have a citizenship grade of an A or B are given special privileges the following month.

TYPING STUDENTS REACH GOAL

A fifteen minute speed test was given to the advanced typing class and the following received forty word pins. Lucille Lightfoot, Mary Ellen Myers, Jeanette Blue and Everett Mikel.

NEW SCHOOL COLORS

Last Monday morning the high school voted to change the school colors from orange and black to green and white. Since several other schools in the county had the same colors, the students decided it best to choose something different. As the result we have selected green and white.

Three cheers for the green and white!

BEING POLITE

Are we the students of the Mentone High School polite toward each other?

I, a spy, saw a few things in the past few days. I noticed the boys are exceptionally polite to the girls. They show this by opening the doors for the girls to pass through first.

The most courteous example was when John Bayne and Margaret Swick were both going down the hall. They were going to go in different directions. John stepped back so that Margaret could pass on.

Don't these few things show that boys respect the girls?

BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

Mentone's basketball season got under way on October 15 when the first practice was held. From all appearances it will be a young squad, with Juniors predominating. The following is a list of the boys as to their classes: Seniors, John Bayne, Harold Horn, Jack Shinn, Marion Smith, Juniors, Dale Black, Robert Eiler, Herschel Linn, Orval Secor, Junior Wallace, Dale Wiltout; Sophomores, James Beeson, Richard Manwaring, Lowell Marquess, Eldred Paulus, and Dean Shirey; Freshman, Carl Whetstone.

Coach Fenstermaker expects to have a small, but fast team this year. Another thing to consider this year is the elimination of the center jump except at the beginning of each half. This reduces the advantage of height in favor of speed and endurance. This of course, should play to our advantage. Another good sign is that the group shows much improvement in the fighting spirit over last year's team. It is our prediction that although the Bulldogs will not win all of their games, they will surprise many of us.

GUESS WHO

As I look upon this youngster, I see a brunette with broad muscular shoulders. He is tall, slender, and a well set-up young man. He is good in his subjects, although in History class he is much better at entertaining with his monkey shows.

He is one of our star basketball players and is a good sport.

He is rather bashful around the girls but in Bookkeeping class he is fond of winking at a certain girl.

RECEIVES AWARD

In first year Latin class the prize that Lewis Blue won in a contest sponsored by Mr. Kelley, was presented to him Tuesday. He received it gracefully, but said nothing. The class required him to open it and show them his award. Behold! three candy bars lay before him. By his expression we presume the prize went over exceptionally well.

CANOEING ON THE RIVER

A silvery moon hangs overhead; the tall trees sway in time to the breezes; and white clouds drift by like tufts of feathers. Stars twinkle in and out like baby eyes peeping from behind velvety curtains. At our feet the river lazily ripples along as our paddle makes a faint swish-swish.

In the distance an owl can be heard at times and from far away the lowing of cattle drifts across the fields. On the bank a campfire comes into view. Around it a group of laughing children are playing. From the other direction a sudden splash attracts our attention. A few of the group have been out canoe riding and are just returning. Their gay laughter and songs come to us over the water and echo through the murmuring woods. Slowly the moon sinks below the horizon, leaving only the stars to bid us good-night.

REPORT OF CORN YIELD

The agriculture boys have been checking their corn plots, which were part of their farm practice program, to determine their yields per acre. The results were very commendable, ranging from 56.47 bushel to 112.90 bushel per acre. The average yield for the state is from 45 to 55 bushel per acre.

The highest yield per acre among the boys was produced by Devon Cain, which was 112.90 bushel. This corn was grown on a field that had been pastured for the last twenty years. Devon also fertilized the corn when he planted it. The corn was checked and he cultivated it two times length-wise and once cross-wise. Paul Vandermark, the second highest, raised 104.5 bushel per acre. This corn also was grown on a field that had been pastured for the last 15 years. Paul however did not fertilize his corn. His corn was drilled and he cultivated it four times.

Others, whose yields were fairly high were James Beeson, 88.98 bushel; Dale Beeson, 58.98 bushel; and Devon Hibschan, 56.47 bushel per acre.

COMMUNISM TO BE FACTOR IN CHINA

Will Communism succeed in China? Out of the transitional period through which China is now suffering, a new China will emerge, very different from the picturesque, easy-going Mandarin China seated upon the backs of millions of starving coolies, writes George E. Sokolsky in Asia Magazine.

It will be a China with industrialized cities, with modernly organized farms, with a literate youth, with a socially-minded government. But it will not be an imitation of the United States or Japan or Russia. The Chinese will do to Communism what they have done to Christianity and to Buddhism. They will make it Chinese.

Communism, like Christianity or nationalism, will play its role in the forming of this new China. It will play a potent and bloody role. It will accomplish a little that is beneficial by means of much that is murderous. But, whatever may be the result a century hence, this much is certain: that between sixty and ninety million Chinese are at present under Communist influence, that the number will increase and that no force now exists which can effectively prevent the Communist experiment from taking place somewhere in China.

Jane Austen's Writings

In her novels Jane Austen (1775-1817) rarely wrote about anything that she herself had not witnessed. She did not even attempt to narrate a conversation between gentlemen alone, as she could not have been present, of course, in such a situation.—Collier's Weekly.

Buttons on Men's Coats

Buttons on the sleeves of men's coats are a matter of style. But how the style originated isn't known. Tradition puts the responsibility on Frederick the Great. This Prussian king was very particular about the appearance of the uniforms of his soldiers, and he had a row of buttons put on the upper side of their coat sleeves to break them of the habit of using their coat sleeves to wipe the perspiration from their faces, which gave the uniforms an untidy appearance. The buttons shifted until they were finally put on the lower side of the sleeve.

Made First Pressed Glass

The honor of making the first pressed glass in this country, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times, belongs to the Sandwich Glass company, located in the little town of Sandwich on Cape Cod, Mass. This factory was established in 1825 and closed its doors on account of labor troubles in 1888. Other contemporary factories adopted the same method of making pressed glass and the quantity manufactured was extensive. The name "Sandwich" has become a generic term for much of this glass produced from 1850 to 1880.

The man who always plays safe in his business ventures may never suffer any big losses but he misses a lot of fun that the fellow who takes chances experiences.

Already a lively interest is being taken in who will be the candidates of the two major parties of the next National election. Among the Democrats Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky is being considered, and among the Republicans, attention seems to center around Vandenberg of Michigan.

If one's work program isn't such that he gets real pleasure out of it, that each day is a new adventure, an adventure to be looked forward to with anticipation and eagerness, then the program needs adjusting or the individual may as well make up his mind that life will never hold anything but drudgery for him.

The man who plans some day to quit and retire when he has made his pile will never have that experience. Things just don't work out that way. We get our pleasure and enjoyment in and with our work as we go along or we will never get it.

One of the dangers of the Social Security program in a democracy is that rival political factions, in an effort to secure support of those eligible for relief, will compete with each other in the amount of relief or pensions to be given and the ages at

A Cheerful Temper

A cheerful temper, joined with innocence, will make beauty attractive, knowledge delightful, and wit good-natured. It will lighten sickness, poverty and affliction; convert ignorance into an amiable simplicity; and render deformity itself agreeable.

Ohio Once Had Most Churches

The census of 1890 showed that Ohio then had more churches than any other state in the country.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

WHY SHOULD I ATTEND CHURCH? Why should a man go to church? I have had the question directed to me a number of times when I have approached men in the matter of church attendance. There are many answers to the question, but the basic one, I think, is that man should attend church for the purpose of spiritual renewal. The essential element of the Christian religion is spiritual contact. Without it religion becomes mere mechanics rather than the communion of the individual soul with the infinite.

When the battery in our radio runs down, we must connect it with a source of new power, that it may be recharged and renewed. Everything else about the radio may be in perfect order, the tubes, the ariel, the amplifier and the condenser. There may be the most beautiful music riding on the waves of the ether, the most inspiring addresses, the very things our heart and life is hungering for and that we need to carry on, but if the battery is run down we are deprived of their blessing and their needed strength and upbuilding, because we cannot make contact and cannot hear them.

The body needs food to keep alive its physical functions. All plant life must receive sustenance from some outside source, or disintegration and decadence soon takes place. The same is true of man. He cannot starve his physical life and maintain a strong, robust, healthful physical body, and he cannot starve his spiritual life and maintain a strong spiritual life. As the life of the battery must be renewed, so man must visit the source of spiritual strength, that his spirit may be fed and renewed. This is best done in the service of his church.

Finds Metal Not Always Solid

Metal is not always solid. Proof of this was given by Dr. W. R. Ham of the physics department at Pennsylvania State college, when he passed hydrogen gas through red hot metal plates. Metal is composed of crystals, molecules and atoms with vacant spaces between them, and as its temperature is raised the crystals change their structure. In his demonstration, Dr. Ham heated a metal plate slowly, and at first no hydrogen went through the plate; but as it reached a critical temperature more and more hydrogen passed through the vacant spaces in the expanding metal. By studying metals in this way the scientist learns to predict the points at which changes in the physical nature of the metals occur, such as elongation, tensile strength, magnetic permeability, conductivity and crystal structure. — Popular Mechanics Magazine.

How About A Good Manners Week?
Why not have a Good Manners Week for the High School? Why not for one week or longer try to have better manners?

Boys, can you use correct manners when taking a girl to lunch or a show? Would you like to know some manners considered important when you have a date?

Do you know the proper way to eat at a banquet? Should we interrupt when some one else is talking? If not, how should we break into a group?

Girls, should you powder your faces or comb your hair in public?

Lets have a Good Manners Week set aside purposely for developing and using good manners.

During the opening exercise period each morning of that week we could have explained some of these questions which are puzzling us.

I am sure that we can improve our manners if we will think and try to do this. Putting on a good manners week would help to develop our manners and we would form the habit of using them. Lets all strive for good manners and I'm sure you'll find that good manners, after we have attained them, are much easier to continue than bad manners.

MENTONE SELECTS CORN HUSKING CHAMPION

On October 27, our local vocational agricultural classes held a corn husking contest at the Ora Besson farm north of Mentone. There were four boys trying for a chance at the district championship held at South Whitley. The four boys were John Bayne, James Besson, Robert Muffley and Max Huffer. The winner of the contest was Max Huffer who husked 518.46 pounds in 40 minutes. His reward was a chance to compete in the district contest.

On Saturday October 30, the winner of the husking contest held at South Whitley was Raymond Kottle of Bourbon who husked 729.75 pounds in 40 minutes. Max took sixth place husking 631.5 pounds. The awards for the district championship were 2½ bushel of hybrid seed corn. The winner of this contest took part in the state contest also.

JUST LEARNING TO WRITE

The shorthand class is just beginning to write. The first six weeks were spent in memorizing and reading but on starting to write they have to take it a bit more serious. They find it quite difficult to make such queer signs correctly to mean definite words. But don't ask us to spell your name, for we can't spell our own yet.

PARTY A SUCCESS

All the members except four attended the Sophomore class party, Monday evening, November 1 at the school house. The evening was spent playing games. Refreshments consisting of cider, doughnuts and popcorn balls were served. The class was much honored by having their sponsor, Mr. Mervil Smith, present at their party.

FRESHMAN NEWS

In this issue we hereby repeat a few mistakes in speech featuring Miss Langell and Mr. Fenstermaker.

Miss Langell, our Biology teacher, was giving each of us a name of an insect to find reference for, when she came to the insect called Buffalo Carpet beetle, her tongue twisted and she said to Juanita Nellans, "You take the Buffalo carpet beater."

Mr. Fenstermaker explaining an Algebra problem to us came to a point he thought worth our remembering so he said, "Now don't remember this." A roar of laughter from the class. Mr. Fenstermaker said, "I mean don't forget it."

In English last week, we had a good (?) old English test. A day previous to the test, Mr. Smith sensing our needs said, "If you don't know the parts of a business letter, you better go home and say your prayers and start studying." We had the test but leave the outcome for you to decide.

Until the other day we were under the impression that Mr. Paul Smith was our English teacher when he turned primary teacher and read us a 'little story about two 'little teeny weeny mice named Squeaky and Squirmy. We gave Mr. Smith a hand as it was his own composition.

The Freshmen were delightfully entertained at a Hallowe'en party given by Helen Long and Belva McGowen at the latter's home. We were all masked for the occasion. Mouth-watering refreshments were served consisting of apples, popcorn, weiners, and marshmallows. As an honored guest, Franklin Molebash, who recently moved to Elkhart, was present. We find that Helen and Belva are excellent hostesses.

GUESS WHO

As the various students stroll into the assembly around the eight o'clock hour the first person they usually see is a certain blond boy with blue eyes. He is about five feet six in height. His one great pastime is being interested in the girls. You can hear him most any time singing one of his favorite love songs. His one great fault is speaking out of turn in his class recitation periods. He is well liked by all the students and his various friends. He is very active in outside activities although he does not play on the basketball team.

GRADE NEWS

The first grade students are reading from their primers now. They are also learning to count. Ask them to write the word "me" and see what results you get.

The second grade students are studying about Indians.

The fourth grade geography class is studying contrasts in ways of living in different parts of the world. A striking difference is found in the life of the Eskimo of the far north and the natives of Central Africa. The natives of Central Africa live chiefly on vegetables, while the Eskimos live entirely on the fat of animals.

The sixth grade are writing poems. This was chosen from several excellent poems.

Frosty nights clear and cold,
The leaves are red and gold,
Bonfires burning all around,
Because the leaves are falling down.

WHAT ARMISTICE DAY

MEANS TO ME

Armistice Day is not just another day for me. It means the celebration of the ending of the Great World War. It means the remembrance of the brave men and women who died trying to make the world safe for democracy; who gave their lives so that we would never need fight again. It is the day on which we are to turn our thought to eleven o'clock, nineteen years ago, when the fighting ceased. It is the time to think of all the things that Armistice Day means to us. I wonder who has more right to be proud of their country than we Americans who still have our freedom, because of the supreme sacrifice of so many brave American men and women. I also have to think of the American men and women who remained at home. They too were sacrificing; for the men at the front and for us. I agree that it is a very patriotic thing to stand at attention at eleven o'clock on Armistice Day. It brings me closer to God and my fellowmen and makes me want to serve my country more than before.

"A Sophomore Theme"

CLASS ELECTION

The seventh grade held a class meeting Friday of last week. They elected their officers for the following year as follows: pres. Dean Nellans Jr.; vice-pres. Richard Hudson; secy-treas. Forrest Meredith.

SUMMARY OF BASEBALL SEASON

The Mentone Bulldogs completed a very successful season defeating the Milford Trojans for the county championship. The Bulldogs had a record this year of six wins and no defeats. This is the second time in the history of the school that this has been done, although Mentone has won three championships.

Mentone outthit their opponnets during the season for an average of 8 to 6 and out-scored them on an average of 10 to 5. The comparison of the total hits and runs are; opp. 40 hits, 31 runs; the Bulldogs, 51 hits, 59 runs. The opponnets had an average of 9 errors and 9 strike outs a game while Mentone had an average of 5 errors and 6 strike outs.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Related Arts class is studying about interior decorating at the present time. We are trying to select the right kinds of paint, varnish, wall paper and rugs for different rooms. If anyone is planning to redecorate or remodel their home I advise them to seek advice of the Related Arts Class.

The Foods class have been arguing about "Why one should eat breakfast." Some said they didn't get up early enough, others said they didn't have any appetite. When this was mentioned one girl replied that if they would get up early enough to do some work and get some exercise they would have an appetite. This latter statement we all find to be true.

The seventh grade are finishing their aprons. They are also busy selecting samples and attempting to name them.

The Seniors are busy learning how to cook satisfactorily for their future husbands. They have been preparing desserts for lunch or supper and are going to prepare a liver loaf for their next project in cooking.

IN THE WAKE OF FLOOD

This scene was enacted many times in refugee centers established by the Red Cross during the Ohio Mississippi Valley flood. Inevitably floods bring the danger of disease as drinking sources become contaminated and large groups of people are thrown together. The medical-health service of the Red Cross serves thousands each year, and is maintained by membership funds contributed to the organization at the time of its annual Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanks giving.

Reminder of Polish Peasant Life

The most vivid reminder of peasant life in old Poland is to be had by religious processions celebrating the feast of Our Lady's Nativity. These days are observed throughout the country by peasants who go on long processions wearing their native costumes, carrying sacred banners and singing hymns to shrines of the Blessed Virgin to pray.

Cellophane, Trade Name

Cellophane is a trade name applied to viscose solidified in thin transparent waterproof sheets or strips. Viscose is a viscous orange solution made by treating cellulose, as wood pulp or cotton linters, with caustic alkali solution and carbon disulphide. Chemically, it is a caustic alkali solution chiefly of alkali cellulose zanthate, a colorless amorphous compound.

Oddest Stained-Glass Window

Probably the oddest stained-glass window in existence is installed in the great cathedral in Winchester, England. Almost 300 years ago it was shattered into thousands of pieces by the cannon fire of Oliver Cromwell's army. Although every bit was recovered and the window reconstructed by experts, says Collier's Weekly, not one piece is in its proper place.

Frozen Niagara in Mammoth Cave

The Frozen Niagara in Mammoth cave in Kentucky is 75 feet high and 50 feet wide. Scientists say it has been forming for more than six million years.

Timber Crop in 25 Years

A forest plantation of 324 acres started by a coke company of Scottsdale, Pa., from 1906 to 1912 now contains many trees ready for cutting for mine props and lagging. The plantings were made under plans furnished by the United States forest service in 1906. Large areas of red oak and smaller ones of silver maple made the best growth. Some of the 25-year-old stands of oak and maple recently examined by extension foresters were found to be 50 feet high, containing trees 10 inches in diameter, although most of the stands were 20 to 40 feet in height. Except where forest fires had invaded portions of the area, the plantings proved commercially valuable.

New Pigmy Colony

Humans made small by iron have been found near Wuchang, Manchuria. They constitute a colony of pigmies less than three feet tall. Thirty of them have been taken to Peking to be examined. Their diminutive size, which is particularly apparent in their tiny hands and feet, is attributed to the excessive iron content of their native soil.

Employer—You can. Push on that door marked "Exit" and keep going.

Harry—How many Lapps are there to the mile?

Gun for Plowshare

The Biblical ideal that swords might be beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks was attained symbolically in a recent celebration in Mexico, the twenty-sixth anniversary of the 1910 revolution. Before a large gathering at Torreón Coahuila, the oldest officer remaining who was in the 1910 revolution, Felipe Munguia, was given the honor of standing before the president. Approaching the president, the officer handed him an old-fashioned musket. Accepting it, the president in turn presented the officer with a plow to signify that Mexico has turned from fighting to tilling the soil.

Blind Present Opera

Written and performed entirely by blind people, "The Stowaway," an opera, was pronounced a success when presented recently at Sheffield, England. The composer was A. Varley, one of the city's blind men, and it was his first effort. All parts were played by sightless men and women, who knew their roles perfectly and moved about the stage with surprising assurance.

First to License Automobiles

New York was the first state to license automobiles. Way back in 1901 some lawmaker saw a "horseless carriage" and, presumably, said: "Aha! Chance for taxes, eh?" Every other state and every other country followed suit soon thereafter. The first driver's permit, same year, same state, according to the American Automobile association, was termed an "engineer's license."

Neighbors Husk Corn

Friends and neighbors to the number of fifty men with ten teams gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fanning, one mile south of Tippecanoe Thursday, November 11, and husked over 900 bushels of corn, filled all available space in the barn with shredded fodder and hauled all remaining fodder to feed lot near barn to be fed. All litter was cleared up around the barn before the men left.

Mr. Miller gave the use of his shredder and tractor and his service for half price for the days work, the amount being enough to furnish the gas and oil to operate the machine.

Mr. Fanning met with a serious accident September 26, while cutting corn with a sled cutter, is still unable to work and will be for quite some time.

Friends, neighbors and ladies of the Methodist Church of Tippecanoe, numbering thirty-one ladies in all, assisted Mrs. Fanning with the dinner.

Mentone High School lost its first home basket ball game to the fast Beaver Dam team to the score of 24 to 22. The teams were evenly matched and the game was close all the way. Mentone made more field baskets than the Beavers, but could not make good on the attempts from the foul line.

In the preliminary battle the Beavers won 31 to 25 in an overtime game.

Both High Schools are to be commended on the fine spirit shown.

The Mentone High School Band performed in a very creditable manner. This organization is progressing very rapidly and will soon appear in new green and white band uniforms.

HOROSCOPE

November 17, 18, 19 - Although your life is somewhat strenuous, things usually turn out all right with you in the end. You are a good buyer and generally a good salesman, as you have a gift of eloquence in a marked degree. You often sustain losses through misplaced confidence. If you had some one to look after your financial interests, you would make a successful merchant.

November 20, 21, 22 - Possessing the traits necessary, you are often found in positions of responsibility and trust. Being an independent thinker you are not apt to follow any one persons lead and quite frequently kick over the traces. People have found you trustworthy at all times. You can keep your own secrets and council, and no one can worm any information from you, except by playing upon your affections.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Rosa Perlina Horn Moriarty was born Dec. 31, 1872 in Marshall County, Indiana, the daughter of Mr. William and Ann Rockhill Horn. She peacefully slept away Nov. 6, 1937, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Stella Snyder near Mentone at the age of sixty-four years, ten months and six days.

She grew to womanhood at the home of her parents where on Jan. 6, 1919, she was united in marriage to John Moriarty of Hammond, Ind. After three short years this happy union and Christian home was visited by the angels of Heaven and the husband was called to his eternal home.

Since that time Mrs. Moriarty had kept the home fires burning and with sweet memories of the past in her heart she had fondly anticipated her call to join him.

Mrs. Moriarty will be remembered among her many friends as an ardent church worker. After moving to Hammond she worshiped at the First Christian Church though she was converted to the faith at the Church of Christ at Sycamore in Fulton County and became a charter member of the Church of Christ at Mentone to which she moved her membership at its organization.

While the deceased was not a mother she was possessed of those motherly qualities which made her to be known, to those in need, as one who went about doing good.

Her last illness was one of intense physical suffering, thought she was spiritually compassed and testified many times to her faith and trust in God and her great desire to stand before Him.

Mrs. Moriarty leaves to mourn her, three brothers, Mr. Washington Horn of Argos, Mr. Emanuel Horn of Tippecanoe and Mr. Granville Horn of Mentone; three sisters, Mrs. Amanda Imus of Fort Wayne, Mrs. Stella Snyder and Mrs. Samantha Norris of Mentone, together with a stepdaughter, Mrs. J. D. Fender of Calumet City, Ill.

May relatives and friends find solace and comfort in the words
Sunset and Evening Star
And one clear call for me;
And may there be no moaning at the Far,

When I put out to sea
But such a tide as moving seems asleep

Too full for sound or foam
When that which drew from out the boundless deep,
Turns again Home.

Twilight and Evening Bell
And after that the dark
And may there be no sadness of farewell

When I Embark.

An "Island Graveyard"

Pitched in the South Pacific ocean, 2,000 miles from the South American coast, Easter Island fittingly has been dubbed an "island graveyard." For, ringing its tortuous, mountainous coast are some 260 enormous stone tombs. How did they get there? No one knows. Neither can anyone account for the colossal stone statues, one 37 feet high, which are scattered about. Some believe the people who carved those statues were the remnants of a mighty, skillful race, dwellers on a continent in the Pacific which was suddenly swallowed by the sea.

Contrary to the popular assumption, he who laughs last may simply be very dense.

It must be amusing to a railroad company when it discontinues the operation of a branch line, because of lack of patronage from the community, to have the Town Board and other civic organizations get busy and appeal to the railroad and the Corporation Commissions to require the railroad to keep its trains running, even though no one rides on them, and all the freight is shipped by truck.

With few exceptions every railroad that has been abandoned in this country has been given up because the community has quit using the road as a freight transportation medium and has given its passenger business to the bus lines.

It is practically impossible for a person to transmit a cold germ to another in an air-conditioned room.

It is pretty generally agreed that the application of a commercial boycott by other nations would be the most effective means of putting an end to war.

The difficulty lies in getting other nations to give up the opportunity to profit that the supplying of war munitions affords. In other words, when we say we are in favor of peace, we say it with our fingers crossed.

Jim Farley will be remembered by the newspaper men of the country as the author of the ruling that requires an editor to pay two cents for a notice of change of address of a subscriber.

The rules of life are not going to be changed by men. The man who has things come easy to him, who never practices thrift or self denial, who has not been called upon to work for the good things of life, is not going to develop much character.

It seems to be one of the laws of life that character and self reliance are not the products of a soft existence.

We were talking to a church worker the other day. He was more or less discouraged. He had worked, and called, and worried to get a certain member out to church. Finally, after a lot of effort, the member came, but sat near the door. Before the closing hymn was finished he slipped out before anyone got a chance to see him. The next day our friend, the worker, saw him on the street and told him he was glad he came to church and hoped he liked it. "Well," the backslider said, "I came but I didn't like it very well, the members of that church are all too cold and unfriendly." Our friend, the church worker, told us that the time he spent getting this fellow to come, if spent on non-members and members of no church would have gotten a dozen out.

Let's put it this way: Do unto others as though you were the others. (Elbert Hubbard)

The first product made by the Heinz Company was horseradish, raised, dug and grated by the father of the present head of the Heinz Company. The first plant was a small red brick house at Sharpsburg, Pa. The house still stands opposite the administration building at the Heinz factory. On its outside wall is a sign bearing the announcement "The House Where We Began."

The turkey is the only species of poultry to originate in the United States.

With the increase in good roads, and the common ownership of automobiles, consumers can shop and buy where they choose. The matter of a few miles to another town is of no consequence, if by traveling these few miles the buyer can get what he wants, and the type of service he wants.

Consumers have become more discriminating, not only in the choice of merchandise, but in the spirit of friendly hospitality and personal interest of the community seeking their trade. It requires something more than smart merchandising, good stocks attractively displayed and liberally and intelligently advertised.

Towns whose merchants fail to see this and continue to cling to old precedents, time honored practices and post-war prices are going to see their trade slip away in spite of all the high pressure methods of trade promotion that they can invoke.

A local office girl remarked in this office yesterday that the only thing that can give a woman the same sort of a sinking sensation that is produced when one receives notice that she has over drawn her bank account, is to discover the night of the party, after the stores have closed, that there is a big runner in her last pair of hose.

INDIAN DERIDES ANCIENT CANOES

Sam Pequingway, aged Chippewa Indian, steps out bravely and takes his place with the better known inconclasts of history. Sam's attack is leveled at the birch bark canoe of the Indians.

In his youth Sam covered a lot of water in birch bark canoes, first as an infant passenger and then as a young man at the paddles, so he can establish himself as a critic.

Birch bark canoes were no good, Sam says. They were cranky and unseaworthy and unsubstantial. Sam didn't exactly say unsubstantial but that they "wore out all too soon," which is more or less Chippewa for unsubstantial.

They were a lot better than no boat at all but a white birch canoe could not compare with the present day cedar and canvas craft. Somebody was always putting his foot through the bottom of the Indian canoe. Sam says, just when the family was ready to start on a hunting, fishing or drinking expedition and it took two or three days to repair it.

Then, too, it was always springing leaks along the seams. Sam remembers, and passengers and crew were all furnished with a big chew of spruce gum just before the canoe started anywhere and had to keep chewing it throughout the voyage so it would be soft enough to be used in stopping leaks.

Government Hatcheries Increase Fish Supply

More than 100,000,000 game fish were produced by the United States bureau of fisheries in the last year. In addition to more than a billion other fish of species common to the Great Lakes and interior waters, such as the whitefish, cisco, lake trout, pike perch, yellow perch, carp and buffalo fish.

"While a considerable number of game fishes are handled in rescue operations," said Commissioner O'Malley, "the majority of these species are produced at the bureau's own hatcheries, limited only by the space and funds available, and it is, therefore, possible to exercise much greater control over the output."

"As a result of this, almost all of the more important forms, including trout, landlocked salmon and the large-mouth and small-mouth bass, were distributed in greater numbers to keep pace with an increase in the number of applications which are reaching new high totals each year. Since only two new hatcheries were actually placed in operation during the year, the increase is largely attributable to more efficient methods and in few instances to more favorable weather and water conditions."

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

LIFE, WARMTH AND ENTHUSIASM: Not long ago I attended the Sunday service of a church in a county seat town. The subject of the morning lesson was, "Why do not more people attend church and Sunday school?" the service, I thought, answered completely the question. The leader arrived late and floundered lamely through a pointless, and unprepared opening service. Throughout the service there was evident an air of indifference and lack of interest. It was impersonal, methodical, cold. It lacked utterly interest, warmth, enthusiasm.

If every member of the church, and the members of other churches like it, should read at least once each week from the life and letters of Paul, and catch some of the fire, and the zeal, and the enthusiasm, and the singleness of purpose, of this great character, it would bring about the greatest revival in church attendance that this country has even seen.

With too many, their religion is not a part of them, it has never become an essential element of their life. If it were it would make itself known, not only in their attendance and participation in the service of the church and Sunday school, but through it and because of it would make of these services a warm vital, living, attractive force for which men and women would eagerly seek out the house of God on Sunday morning, because they would find there that satisfying, fellowship and companionship, and spiritual strength, and upbuilding, for which every man and woman secretly hungers. This might well be one of the answers to the question, "Why do more men and women not attend church and Sunday school?"

NEATNESS

Neatness is very important. We should practice it in the school. Does your desk look neat or are your books cramed in so that they will fall out and maybe lost if the desk is jarred. Do you put your chair back in the proper place when leaving the classroom or do you jump up pushing the chairs aside and leave the room looking as if a cyclone had just left instead of a class of high school or junior high school students? Do you shut your locker door when you use it? Are you careful to see that all waste paper is put in the waste paper basket and not thrown carelessly on the floor?

Neatness is very necessary because both we as individuals and our school are judged by it. Lets all try to improve it. (Eleanor Wallace)

I think neatness should be considered in the school, pertaining to the pupils and also to the school building.

The girls and boys should be very careful to be completely dressed before coming to school, such as having shoe strings tied and neck ties straight. We should always keep our hair well combed.

The school building should be in order at all times. The seats in order, black boards cleaned and paper off the floor. We surely would be surprised if we could hear the floors, chairs and desks talk. They would probably tell about the boys and girls scratching, writing and kicking the desks and chairs around. The boys and girls also sliding on the nice slick floors just after they have had their faces polished. (Juanita Nellans)

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED

In observance of Armistice Day the high school witnessed a very impressive flag raising ceremony given by the Girl Scouts. The flag was carried by the Color Guards to the flagpole where it was slowly raised to the accompaniment of "A Call to Colors" given by Devon Cain.

When the flag was raised the pledge to the flag and the Girl Scout promise and laws were given by the scouts, who then sang "America", followed by the reading of a poem by Marjorie Long. The scouts then sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and closed their ceremony.

Upon our return to the assembly Mr. Kelley gave a very appropriate talk on "Armistice Day." At eleven o'clock everyone stood for thirty seconds and faced the east in memory of those who gave their lives for our country.

A DOUBLE COURTESY

Each week we plan to tell about the most courteous act seen by the Spy. Here is this week's: (Editor)

As Alice Deaton was going down to get her instrument the other night after school was dismissed, Forest Meredith was just coming out of the room. He picked up her instrument and carried it to the bus for her. When Forest got in the bus Alice said, "Thank you Forest."

The Spy

IS IT PASSING

Friday Mr. Paul Smith was giving a talk on telegrams. Presently Dick Manwaring held up his hand and asked what 75 would be on a test, which the class had just taken. Mr. Smith answered, "Well, looking on my paper I see that 75 is one higher than 74." Mr. Smith went on telling about the telegrams.

Mr. Smith had the whole class write a precis and the five best received the privilege of remaining in the assembly on Wednesday. The five best were as follows: Lucille Reed, Eldred Paulus, Dorothy Thomas, Dick Manwaring and Macine Leighter.

GUESS WHO

A dark haired lad with his hair combed neatly, will often be seen hurrying from and to classes. He is of medium height and not bad looking. He very seldom looks at the girls. He is not on the basket ball team but is a very prominent member of the band. He is very talented in playing the cornet. Who do you think corresponds to this description?

HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

The Freshman and Sophomores were surprised to find that a small piece of candy and two large heads of lettuce were both equal to one hundred calories. Each student brought something which would equal one hundred calories and compared them. They also have been studying breakfast cereals and found that whole grain cereals contain more vitamins and minerals than the polished ones. They have been studying dried fruits and have been learning how to prepare them. They learned that fresh fruits had more vitamin C in them than the dried fruits and that lemon juice has a large amount of vitamin C. Therefore it is healthful to put lemon juice in dried fruits for flavoring.

SENIORS TO PUBLISH

A 1937-38 YEAR BOOK

The Senior class is planning to publish a year book this year, including pictures of the four high school grades, activities, play casts, last will and testament, snapshots and other thing of great interest and importance.

The Seniors as a whole are putting forth their greatest ability to accomplish this undertaking. The book will not be expensive and will prove to be worth while. The Seniors are proud that they can contribute something to M. H. S. during their last year of school. We hope those outside the school life will be interested in this project as well as those in school.

GYM CLASS NEWS

This week the girl's gym class played kick ball. The two captains chosen by Miss Le Hew were Ruth Wagner and Alice Cleveland. Alice's team won the game.

The boy's class has been playing basket ball. They are divided into four teams called the Tigers, Elephants, Bulldogs, and Bearcats.

The first round the Bear Cats beat the Tigers and the Bulldogs beat the Elephants. This week's schedule is Tigers vs. Elephants and Bulldogs vs. Bearcats.

NEW STUDENT

The seventh grade has reported a new member, Anne Leininger. Anne is from Akron. We hope that she will like it here in our school.

EIGHTH GRADE NEWS

In Geography class the other day they all drew a map of Italy on the board and put in the rivers, mountains, and chief cities. Italy is shaped like a boot as we all know, but before we got through we had shoes, hightops, and everything but the form of a boot.

GRADE NEWS

The second grade has been studying about Indians which is very interesting.

The fourth grade is enjoying very much their story telling hour which occurs each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday morning. It's object being to aid their ability to speak or read before a group.

Sake, the Japanese national beverage, is prepared chiefly from rice. It is fermented with a kind of yeast cake called koji. Sake is yellowish in color, sherry-like in flavor and contains from 12 to 15 per cent alcohol.

A Man's Duty

Can anyone say on any day that he has done his whole duty; that he has done all that he ought to have done; that he has uttered no hasty word, entertained no wrong thought, or passed no harsh judgment upon his fellow-man?

The Name "Chautauqua"

The name "Chautauqua" first applied to the lake in western New York, is from the Seneca language and is said to signify "here one has caught fish." It became the name of the summer educational assembly first held on the shores of that lake in 1874, and then to the educational and entertainment system patterned after the Lake Chautauqua gatherings.

Elephants in Two Races

Elephants may be broadly grouped into two races, the Asiatic or Indian elephant, which is the common elephant of the circus, and the larger, bigger-eared African elephant, who includes among his kind a local race of pigmy elephants living in the hinterland of the Congo and standing only about five feet high. The white elephants in Burma and Siam are albino individuals of the Asiatic elephant race. Some sixty of them have been recorded in history, mostly of a mottled pink skin and pinkish eyes, due to the absence of body pigment, a characteristic of albinos.

Animal Noses Know Needs

Animal noses are particularly suited to their needs, points out Nature Magazine. The deer, with its narrow nasal slits, located on either side of its muzzle, is especially proficient in picking up the scent of enemies from cross breezes. The sharp-edged pug nose of the pig is admirable suited for rooting up the garden. The ant-eater's long, narrow nose is just the thing for turning up anthills and the dog is adept at following the scent because his nose is flat and can be held close to the ground.

Heatless Light From Fireflies

The light generated from the luminous organs of fireflies and glow-worms is almost perfect, in the sense that it is nearly heatless, and it has never been duplicated by man. These luminous organs are made up of cells, secreting a chemical substance which undergoes such rapid oxidation that light is emitted.

Related to Garden Pepper

All paprikas are made from the fruit which belongs to the same family as the common red pepper which is raised in our vegetable gardens. Climate and soil determine the intensity of flavor and make possible degrees of pungency. Much of the heat, sting or bite resides in the seeds and the surrounding membrane.

MENTONE WINS

The "Battling Bulldogs" from Mentone invaded Akron Friday night, with fangs bared. After the growls, smoke and fury had cleared away and the "Bulldogs" were through with the "Flyers", it looked like another disaster similar to that of the Hindenburg had taken place. The Bulldogs finally showed the pugnaciousness for which they are famous. Mentone brought home the bacon to the tune of 33 to 18.

The younger clan of Bulldogs who have been beaten twice before by small margins, once again were not graced by Lady Luck. They put up a great drive near the end of the game which kept the crowd on its feet. Though trying all the way they fell short by a mere one point. The final score was 16 to 15.

The Mentone Marching Band also went along and favored the crowd with a concert and made an "A" for Akron during their maneuvers between halves of the first team game.

AN INTERVIEW FROM OUR FARMER STUDENTS

The Freshmen and Sophomores are studying about irrigation and drainage. They are learning how to take care of untillable low lands, that are made so by water. The place where water decides to settle is usually a very fertile spot because it brings the rich top soil of the upper land down to settle with it in the low land. Therefore this land usually raises the best crops.

They have learned all about irrigation of which there are several different methods: flooding, piping, subirrigation and the furrow system. They have also been studying about ploughing, its importance, its purpose, and the different methods and tools used.

The Juniors and Seniors are studying "The Livestock System." This includes, time required per month for labor in taking care of livestock,

It is our desire to serve the financial needs of the farmers of this community. If you are interested in a types of feed and the amounts required of each feed. They have also studied the cropping system to find out the best crop rotations also time required for horse labor, time required for man labor and if you use a tractor, the required time for the tractor labor for different labor times. This enables the farmer to keep busy during the crop raising time with out having certain rush periods. The livestock system and the cropping system intersect because the majority of the work in livestock comes in the winter and thus does not interfere with crops. So we have learned it is good management to have a certain amount of livestock that is, enough to keep a person busy during the winter months.

Some one has discovered that taxpayers live to a ripe old age. The reason, it is said, is that they are kept so busy working to make the money necessary to pay their taxes that they haven't time to get into mischief and after they have paid their taxes, what is left permits only the simplest of living.

We read in a daily paper the other day a comment to the effect that every time our watch ticks the government spends $257.

Since reading that we have been unable to sleep with our watch under our pillows. The thought of what each tick means keeps us awakes.

At a nation wide safety meeting held in Kansas City recently a device was exhibited by which it could be scientifically determined whether or not a car driver involved in an accident is drunk. The suspect is required to inflate a small rubber balloon. The sample of exhaled breath is then tested for alcoholic content.

The inventor of the machine did not tell his audience what method of procedure to follow if the suspected car driver was too drunk to inflate the balloon.

Mohair, so desirable in furniture upholstery, is made of goat's hair. Four-fifths of the domestic crop of goat's hair comes from Texas where 3,000,000 goats supply 12,500,000 pounds of hair a year. The clip sells for around 6 cents a pound. It is protected by a duty of 34 cents a pound levied against Turkish and South American goat's hair.

A local woman, at whose home her aged mother also lives, finds herself embarrassed frequently because of the fact that her mother, who is quite garrulous, frequently exposes all of the family skeletons to those who drop into the home, and often at the most inopportune moments. It so happens that the family is possessed of a very ordinary collection of family skeletons, otherwise the frequent revelations would be more embarrassing than they are.

Some of the fellows who criticize the government for spending all the money it gets are doing the same thing themselves.

The United States, while she enjoys a position of neutrality in regard to the foreign wars, is nevertheless enjoying a splendid business sup plying warring nations with the tools to kill each other. During the past two years $81,229,527 worth of arms have been shipped from this country.

In the matter of relief, as in many other things in this world, some of those who are most worthy and deserving hesitate longest to ask for help, and those who never have done much for themselves are first and loudest in their demands.

Boiled down to its simplest terms the new relief system consists in taking it away from those who have it and giving it to those who don't have it.

Repairs were completed recently on the 800-year old Reims Cathedral which was almost destroyed by 287 German shells fired into it during the World War. The repairs cost $27,000,000.

A local business man told us the other day that he is quite sure that if more of the men worked half as hard to make a living as he himself does to raise enough for his payroll and social security taxes, there wouldn't be near the need for these taxes as there seems to be.

Did you know that corn is grown in every state in the union?

It is a good plan for every one to stop for a while and check up on their lives. How much of life is left for you? What have you accomplished so far? Is there something you could do to make the rest of life more profitable and more worth while and more satisfying?

Some things seem never to change. The moth and the rust still corrupt and thieves still continue to break through and steal.

There is very little reason for any of us to worry about growing old when everyone around us is doing the same thing.

Why is it that the boy who can't sing and the girl who can't play are the ones who do most of the practicing?

When we have been wrongly accused by our enemies and revenge looks sweet to us-it is well to remember the old Chinese Proverb: A wise man revenges himself for injuries by kindness

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

WHEN A MAN FINDS HIMSELF:
Not long ago I interviewed a number of men to discover the reason why they did not attend church more regularly. The usual line of reasons was given, but one man said: "The reason I do not attend church more regularly is that the service does not interest me, and I really get little or nothing out of it." He was not at all antagonistic toward the church, and, I felt spoke more frankly than some of the others. Unfortunately, to many, their church is not, and never has become, a source of spiritual strength and upbuilding.

They have never really found themselves spiritually. They have never established that contact that would enable them to make their religion a vital, usable thing in their own lives. It is an unfortunate, and if true, is tragic. Without exception these men do not hunger for this relationship because I believe we will all agree there comes often in the life of every man, no matter with what self-confidence and assurance he goes about, times in which he feels he must call upon some strength beyond his own.

Those who really feel a constant renewal and spiritual upbuilding when they attend church, come when ever they can, and enjoy and are rewarded by the service. As a physically hungry man needs no urging to take food, so a spiritually hungry man needs no urging to partake of spiritual food. I feel the best work of many ministers is the seeking out of such men and helping them, at all times, to establish this contact, and to find themselves spiritually.

FIND NEW SOURCE OF MANGANESE ORE

Discovery Vitrally Important to Steel Industry.

Washington.—With Cuba today the United States' only nearby commercial source of manganese, vital to the manufacture of steel, widespread interest was aroused in official circles here by the recent announcement of Cyril von Baumann, noted explorer, that he had discovered rich deposits of the ore in Ecuador, South America.

Von Baumann, who returned to this country from South America recently with his wife, leaving his explorer-partner, Andre Roosevelt, in the Ecuadorian jungles to complete their explorations, did not announce the exact location of his discovery. However, he said he estimated the deposit was worth $5,000,000.

Only a small amount of manganese is now mined in the United States, which, except for Cuban supplies, is dependent on such far away countries as Russia, India, South African Gold Coast and Brazil.

Used in Steel Making.

In the nine years through 1936, imports accounted for about 90 per cent of total United States consumption of manganese ore in steel making. Of the total ore imported, Russia accounted for 44 per cent; Brazil 23 per cent; the Gold Coast, 19 per cent; British India, 9 per cent; Cuba, 6 per cent; all other countries, 22 per cent.

At present, production of the ore by the Cuban-American Manganese company, near Santiago, Cuba, amounts to between 10,000 and 12,000 tons monthly. While it is pointed out that this amount probably could be stepped up considerably, additional nearby stocks of manganese would be desirable to supply the demand of the American market in the event of an emergency.

Manganese is of particular significance to the United States in that it is one of the eight basic war materials in which this country is not self-sufficient, according to the natural resources board. The army and navy munitions board places it at the head of the list of 23 vitally necessary raw materials for wartime manufacturing.

Vitrally Important.

With daily threats of general conflict in Europe, and the Far East already involved in undeclared war, officials here see a double importance in von Baumann's announcement. It is pointed out that if the Ecuadorian supply proved as rich as the Cuban-American holdings, the American steel industry, largest user of manganese in the world, would be able to get its supply at lowered cost because of the shorter distance it would have to be shipped. But more important, it was noted here, the United States navy also would be in a position to protect shipments from this source as well as from Cuba in time of war.

It was felt here that while difficulty of production in the undeveloped interior of Ecuador would defer for many years the actual appearance of Ecuadorian manganese on the market, development of the new find could be speeded up, in event of emergency, to the point where it would be an important supplement to the rich Cuban supply.

U. S. Surgeon in Spain to Repair Shattered Faces

San Sebastian, Spain.—An American surgeon began recently in San Sebastian a mission of mercy through insurgent Spain to repair the shattered faces of thousands of men. The surgeon, Dr. J. Eastman Sheehan, professor of plastic surgery of the Polyclinic Medical school, New York, has a distressing assignment. Medical aids to insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco say there are as many mutilated faces in the insurgent army today as in the British army at the end of the World war.

Dr. Sheehan began a tour of insurgent military hospitals in San Sebastian, in Saragossa, and in Salamanca. Associated with Dr. Sheehan is Dr. Robert McIntosh, professor of anesthesia at Oxford university, England.

Many of Franco's soldiers in most urgent need of plastic surgery were wounded in hand-to-hand fighting. There has been more personal combat, with slashing knives and bayonets, in the more than a year of Spanish strife than in most modern wars, according to military experts.

Church Abolishes Its Collection Plate; Gains

Rock Falls, Ill.—Abolition of the collection plate in the Rock Falls Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. R. M. Furnish, pastor, has more than doubled the church's revenue. Together with doubling the church's revenue, the pastor believes the innovation has created a more devout feeling among his congregation.

Instead of contributing to Sunday collections the members are visited each month by a collector and a definite sum is paid toward support of the church.

Each parishioner knows at the beginning of the church year what he will be expected to pay and those not members of the congregation may contribute voluntarily by dropping whatever sum they wish into a small box kept in the vestibule of the church.

Mink Fur Valuable

The mink is among the topnotchers as a fur-bearing animal, the value of its pelt being exceeded only by otter and beavers.

Kidd Not a Pirate

Captain Kidd wasn't a pirate, asserts his descendant, Fay Bragg, thirty. Silverton clerk, after an exhaustive study of family and official records.

Capt. William Kidd was commissioned by the crown to hunt down pirates as a "privateer" and was "railroaded" in his conviction of piracy, which caused him to be hanged on Execution Dock May 23, 1701. Bragg says he is ready to prove that.

The good captain's downfall came after he captured the Quedah Merchant of Surat, property of the English East Indian Co., but sailing under French pass of safe conduct—which made the vessel fair game. The boat was taken February 1, 1698.

The English East Indian Co. was so powerful at home, however, that it succeeded in having Captain Kidd convicted of piracy.

An unexpected charge of murder was brought against Captain Kidd, who did not deny he struck down the chief gunner, but held he had done so to prevent mutiny.

Protects Deposits

The chief function of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation is to insure the deposits of all banks which are entitled to the benefits of insurance under the law. Incidental to this function, the corporation may act as receiver for closed banks and may operate for a limited time new national banks which may be chartered to make available to depositors in closed banks the insured amount of their deposits. In the discretion of the board of directors these new national banks may be capitalized by the sale of stock to interested persons, preferably the stockholders in the closed banks, and when so capitalized they may be authorized to continue in business, otherwise they will cease to exist after two years.

Students Try Hunger Strike

When Lieut. Col. G. S. Hutchinson resigned as principal of the Chivaji Memorial Preparatory Military school in Poona, India, recently a section of the students went on a hunger strike as a protest. The slogan, "We want Hutchinson" was chalked along the school walks, and parents threatened to remove their boys.

Son—No. I asked once and they didn't hear me—so I helped myself.

OPENING EXERCISE PERIOD

Opening exercise time—that first ten minutes of school which every student looks forward to with a constant dread and an anticipation of a bad feeling which will start the day off with a disagreeable taste in our mouths. That time of all times at school should be spent profitably and enjoyed by all. It should be an inspiration so that we could work through the day with a feeling that we wanted to work upward and reach a higher standard than the one on which we are thinking and living. The programs for the mornings should be both enjoyable and educational.

Everyone in high school and junior high should have a part in the activities so that they might experience the joy of seeing their plans and hopes come to life. This would perhaps be unnecessary every morning of the week but at least three mornings out of the five should be spent in giving the student body as a whole a chance to see the accomplishments of their fellow students, the interest that outside school activities can bring to the student, the progress of the different groups and of students; such as Band, Glee Club, Dramatics, and Athletics.

May we include you students in our drive for a more profitable opening exercise period?

OUR SCHOOL SONG

Recently the school chose a new school song. The tune which was chosen was "Anchors Aweigh" march of the Navy. This was used for the first time at our ball game with Beaver Dam. The verses are as follows:

Up! Mentone High, Arise!
Girded for fight

Always where honor lies
There we find the Green and White
Loyal and strong are we
Steadfast and true
Striving so valiently
As now we sing and tribute bring to you.

II.
To dear old Mentone High
Our praise we sing
Onward to victory
While our voices ring Rah! Rah!
Loyal and true are we Steadfast and strong
Honoring the Green and White
And with our hearts we join with you in song.

(Written by Marjorie Long, Jean Burns and Mr. Kelley.)

We hope that our patrons will bring these words with them to the games and join with the school in singing.

ART ABILITY

The Senior girls in the assembly were very much amused when Mr. Harrison asked Winifred McCutcheon to draw a picture of a cow. With her drawing ability (you ought to have seen the cow) it took the whole period to sketch the cow and really when it was finished you couldn't tell whether it was a cow or a what?

SENIORS ARE SUBSTITUTES

In the last two months we have had three of our Seniors substitute for teachers of the lower grades. Bob Thorne substituted for Mr. Hollar, the sixth grade teacher. Winifred McCutcheon substituted for Mr. Arthur Witham, the fourth grade teacher and Lena Rush substituted for Miss Eileen Mollenhour, the primary teacher.

PRIMARY TEACHER ILL

The first grade has been taught by Mrs. Walter Bowers for the past week during the absence of the regular teacher, Miss Eileen Mollenhour. They have been continuing their study of pilgrims. Just ask them how the children in those times were kept awake in church.

FOURTH GRADER RETURNS

The fourth grade is very pleased to see their companion, Robert McClaren, back at school again after two weeks absence following an appendix operation.

THANKSGIVING

With a gobble, gobble here and a gobble, gobble there, we again have that day long looked forward to, called Thanksgiving. A day on which everyone eats to his hearts content. Those good things, such as mince pies, cranberries, and the turkey that meets his Waterloo in helping everyone to be thankful, equally constitutes the meal that arouses our appetites.

Our forefathers, the Pilgrims, were the first to observe this day by being thankful for this new land of ours. Each year following, the last Thursday in November has been set aside to express thanks to God as did the Pilgrims. So on November 25, let's be thankful and give a thought to that group who sacrificed an abundance of things for their new land.

GUESS WHO

This person is a gentleman of no small musical ability. He is a member of our faculty and is about 5 ft. 9 in. in height, has fine features and is always well groomed. He has a very attractive personality. He has a highly developed sense of humor and uses it at all opportunities. He has an understanding of young people and helps them in every difficulty he possibly can. All in all he is one grand friend.

For the benefit of those who didn't recognize last weeks Guess Who, we will relieve you by telling you that it was Devon Cane of the Junior Class.

The Home Management class visited the Tombaugh Furniture Mart on Tuesday. They studied the different types of wood in the modern furniture. The types of rugs, and also different kinds of light according to direct and indirect. All enjoyed their trip I'm sure.

In the seventh grade Home Economics class they have progressed considerable on their aprons. Genevieve Kraatz and Miriam Shull have completed theirs.

The 9th and 10th year Foods class have been preparing some very interesting and appetizing foods such as, bananas, broiled, fried, and baked.

PATIENTLY (?) WAITING

The Juniors have ordered their class rings and are eagerly awaiting their arrival. They are expecting them before our Thanksgiving vacation.

MIXED GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club this year is not only composed of girls, but also there are some boys taking an interest in singing. Different things have intervened to keep us from meeting every week but we hope to have a real mixed chorus before the year is finished. We find Mr. Bowers a very capable and patient director because the boys do get rather noisy. Those singing this year are: Sopranos, Mary Myers, Lola Mollenhour, Ruth Baker, Jeanette Blue, Mary Mellott, Margaret Swick and Geraldine Nellans. Altos: Louise Jones, Winifred McCutcheon, Betty Hammer, Mary Mosier, Betty Ellsworth and Marjorie Long. Tenors: Bob Thorne, Sam Blue and Martin Ernsberger. Basses Dean Bowen, Bob Nottingham, and Elwin Creviston.

IMPOSSIBLE

Some impossible things by the Eighth grade:

1. General Science class without an argument.
2. Arithmetic class without everyone trying to talk at once.
3. Mr. Mervil Smith not keeping order in the assembly.
4. English class with everyone wanting to answer the questions.
5. Seventh and eighth grade boys not wanting to go out and play the extra period on Friday.

FAMOUS SMITH TESTS

It looks like the Smith's are giving a few tests this week. Mr. Mervil Smith, History teacher and Mr. Paul Smith, English teacher both decided a good old-fashioned test would be good for the Sophomores. They rallied bravely and took their tests as usual.

Lipton Bequest Delayed

Trustees of the estate of the late Sir Thomas Lipton have announced in Glasgow, Scotland, that because of the very large payments of death duties and other taxes they are at present unable to arrange for the disposal of the funds under Sir Thomas' will "for the benefit of the poor mothers of the working classes of Glasgow and their children." Sir Thomas bequeathed $500,000, less two gifts of $50,000 which he gave during his lifetime, for the mothers and children.

Lightning Prank

Lightning played a queer prank in Buranda school, New South Wales. Following a loud clap of thunder and a vivid flash, a "ball of fire" the size of a billiard ball darted through the open window, slid down a boy's pencil and set fire to the paper on which he was working out a sum. The boy put out the fire with his hand. He was unhurt but complained of a bad headache.

Russian Landmark Falls

Before the relentless march of progress another historic Russian landmark has fallen. The Soukhareff Tower, one of the most picturesque monuments in Moscow, is being torn down to permit a freer flow of traffic through Soukhareffsky square, in the center of the city. It was erected in 1692 by Peter the Great in honor of the faithful troops who helped him regain the Russian throne from his sister Sophie. After housing Russia's first school of navigation for many years, the tower became, more than a century ago, the center of a market place similar to London's notorious Petticoat Lane and Thieves Market. Here, daily, people bartered stolen goods, were robbed of their belongings, and frequently fought with each other to the death. Conditions became so bad that the market itself was closed several months ago and now the tower itself is being removed to make way for traffic.

Queer Marriage

Gabriela de Jesus' son married Jose Bernardo's daughter many years ago. And now Gabriela, aged seventy-two, and Jose seventy-five, have married. Both lost their first spouses over 30 years ago. The best man and the bridesmaids at their wedding in Alqui-dao were their own children and grandchildren. The newlyweds are enjoying their honeymoon in the north of Portugal and apparently are not worried over the unusual series of relationships their marriage created.
