MANY IN HALLOWE'EN PARADE HERE FRIDAY

The Lions Club Halloween parade committee announced Friday evening that 155 masked persons were in the parade at their annual frolic. Mrs. Charles Manwaring, Estel Smith and Clayton Clutter served as judges and their task was most difficult, requiring a good part of the evening.

The entertainment contest was very entertaining with nine entered in the contest. They were: Barbara McDaniels, Mrs. Alfred Tossell and son, Henry Lockridge, Billy Miller, Janet Teel, Claudia Chilcote, Beverly Teel and Sandra Witham. First prize went to Janet Teel and second to Barbara McDaniels.

Other prize winners in the parade were:

Largest family group, Wm. Schooley and Bunk Hudson families. (There was a tie in this contest and the two families divided the prize money.)

Best dressed couple, Zanna and Mary Hammer.

Most unusual costume, Sue Fens-termaker.

Ugliest costume, Jack Smalley.

Best Clown, Gregory Smalley and Roger Mollenhour. (These boys divided the prize money in this one, too.)

Best tramp, Gary Hatfield.

Youngest person masked, Lorna Tridle.

Oldest person masked, Mrs. Maggie Dille.

The members of the Lions club were well pleased with the fine attendance and splendid cooperation of every citizen and extend their thanks to everyone.

WORD FROM REV. IRWINS

The many friends of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Irwin will be pleased to learn that they are not driving through to Alaska, but are flying.

Word received in Mentone states that they have stored their goods and will go by plane to Anchorage and on to Seward by train.

The Irwins had originally planned to go to Alaska by boat, but the maritime strike changed those plans. They then talked of going by the Alcan highway, but everyone tried to discourage this idea, as it was so late in the season to attempt a car trip through such desolate and unimproved country.

NATION GOES DEMOCRATIC; KOSCIUSKO CO. REPUBLICAN

Republicans were stunned and democrats shocked after election returns beginning to indicate a definite democratic sweep in Tuesday's election. Many there were that felt that the democrats would run a good race, but few there were that imagined that the party would come through so unanimously victorious.

The election results now places the democratic party in one of the most precarious spots in its history. It has full control in every branch of the federal government and its success or failure within the next four years depends upon the party members.

Former governor, Henry F. Schricker, was given the privilege of returning as governor of Indiana, by a wide margin. Unofficial radio reports indicate his margin well over one hundred thousand above Hobart Creighton, the republican candidate from this county. The vote in Harrison and Franklin townships gave Creighton about a two to one margin over Schricker.

In the state returns, the voters favored the eventual payment of a soldiers bonus and suggested a sales tax to finance the payment. They also favored changing the law to change the length of the sheriffs' terms of office to four years instead of the two-year term at the present time.

MENTONE WINS FIRST GAMES

The Mentone high school basketball teams journeyed to Beaver Dam on Monday evening to open the 1948-49 season.

The second team boys won by a fair margin, but the first team boys encountered a capable and determined bunch of Beavers. The final score was 43 to 44 in favor of Mentone. Beaver Dam took an early lead 6 to 12 but the scores at halftime were 17 and 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper returned on Tuesday from a business trip which took them to Indianapolis, Greensburg and Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Kesler and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker returned on Monday from a three day trip into Ohio and West Virginia.

NEW MINISTER AT METHODIST CHURCH

Officials of the Mentone Methodist church announce that Rev. David Gosser, of Kempton, Indiana, has been appointed to serve as pastor of the local church.

Rev. Gosser is expected to be in the pulpit this Sunday and he is expected to move to Mentone next week.

SERIOUSLY ILL IN HOSPITAL

Mark Burkit was taken to the Woodlawn hospital last Saturday evening after being taken suddenly ill.

He is suffering with obstruction of the bowels, an affliction which attacked him once previously, about ten years ago.

He is in an oxygen tent and latest reports give his condition as critical.

WHETSTONE—GOODMAN

On last Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Dora Goodman and Abe Whetstone were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Bailey in the Methodist Parsonage at Crown Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cole were the attendants.

The group enjoyed a short trip into Chicago before returning to their home here.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On Sunday, October 31, 37 relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Molebash met at their home to help the couple celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary. A delicious pot luck dinner was served at noon. The afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Schooley, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Reichard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker and family of Mentone; Mr. and Mrs. George Grubbs and family, Miss Martha Sprong of Warsaw; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pittman, Miss Lena Pittman, Miss Vicky Lyn Pittman, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Welch, all of Elkhart, and the children of Mr. and Mrs. Molebash; Mr. and Mrs. William Walters of Mentone; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Molebash and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Molebash of Elkhart, Frank and Dale and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Molebash.

MRS. ESTHER BORTON BURIED HERE TUESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Esther Borton, aged 82, a lifelong resident of Mentone and community, were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Johns funeral home. Lloyd Boyll, pastor of the Mentone Church of Christ, and Rev. Frank Parker, of Claypool, were in charge. Burial was in the Mentone cemetery.

Mrs. Borton was a member of the Mentone Baptist church.

Mrs. Borton died at 11:45 a. m. Sunday at the McDonald hospital in Warsaw. She had been seriously ill for five weeks, due to complications.

Wellington R. Borton, to whom she was married May 31, 1884, at Mentone, died in February, 1945. Mrs. Borton was born April 7, 1866, the daughter of Zachariah and Sarah (Johnson) Griffis.

Surviving relatives include two daughters, Mrs. Ora Dick, of Talma, and Mrs. Chloe Williamson, of Claypool; four grandchildren, Earl Smalley of Crystal Lake, Donald Smalley of Claypool and Mrs. Olive Tucker and James Gates, both of Mentone; eight great-grandchildren; two half-sisters and a number of nieces and nephews. Two daughters preceded her in death. Mrs. Gladys Gates died in 1941, and another died in infancy.

New ideas are popping up all over the outdoor field these days, and one of the latest and most remarkable items to be announced is an outboard motor featuring neutral, forward and reverse gears.

This new motor, made by Johnson and known as Model QD, has a gear shift control that allows the motor to be operated much the same as driving an automobile. First you put the gear shift into neutral, then start the motor. If the boat is in a storage stall, you shift to reverse and back out into open water, or you shift to forward to just move away from a dock.

The Model QD also features another new twist in outboard motors. Instead of the customary fuel tank built into the motor, this outboard has a separate five-gallon tank with a 12-foot flexible fuel line attached. On the other end of the line is a self-seal connector that is plugged into the motor to complete the fuel circuit.

With hunting pressure mounting steadily, available hunting areas decreasing annually, it probably would be wise for all states to consider programs similar to Michigan's Williamson plan. Under this program in recent years the Wolverine State has opened up thousands of acres of good hunting territory that once was closed to all sportsmen.

Here's how it works: First, conservation department employees contact the farmers and solicit their cooperation. The farmers agree to let a certain number of gunners shoot daily, the number depending on the size of their respective farms. In return for the right to hunt on farms in the Williamson plan, sportsmen must park their cars in the farmer's yard, stop by the farmhouse and get a permit. At the end of the day the sportsmen check out at the house and report their kill.

The permits and signs for the farms are furnished by the state. Farmers who have participated in the plan for several years are sold on its merits. They say it eliminates the trespassing type of hunter that frequently is careless and not responsible for damage to livestock or crops.

We see no reason why similar programs wouldn't work equally well in all states. At least, it's a point worth considering.

New Brazing Technique

Coming era of jet engines and rockets is being accelerated by development of a new brazing technique which makes possible the joining of precision, high-temperature stainless-steel parts, according to national patent council. The new process succeeds with tricky stainless steels by brazing them in a hydrogen atmosphere more pure than any previously used. Before removing the work from the cooling chamber, the hydrogen, which is explosive when mixed with air, is exhausted and replaced by nitrogen, which is not explosive.

AVOID THE COMMON CALCIUM DEFICIENCY

All babies are born calcium-poor because bones must be soft and flexible to survive birth, explains Miss Lois Oberhelman, extension specialist in nutrition, Purdue University. Miss Oberhelman goes on to say that safely born, the body needs to catch up rapidly in calcium to develop normally. A child needs quantities of calcium rich milk to build him up.

Unfortunately, many people remain calcium-poor throughout life for lack of enough calcium in their food. A child's growing body has greater need for calcium than adults, but calcium deficiencies in both children and adults are much more common than many people realize because there is no good method of accurately detecting calcium deficiencies. Studies of American diets do show that, along with riboflavin, calcium content most often falls short of what it should be.

Milk is richer in calcium and riboflavin than any other food. Without milk it is impossible for the average person to get the calcium he needs for adequate nutrition. No matter how low the family food budget, the homemaker should make sure that growing children get three to four cups or nearly a full quart of milk each day. Adults need at least two cups per day. In fact, states Miss Oberhelman, the less money there is to spend for food, the more important milk becomes with its high nutritional value. Not all milk need be taken in liquid form. For cooking, evaporated milk and dried milk may be used to a good advantage.

CATTLE FEEDERS PLAN FIELD DAY

Hundreds of Indiana livestock-men from throughout the state are expected to attend the annual Cattle Feeders' Day to be held at Purdue University November 12.

The program will begin with an inspection of Texas feeder cattle at the experimental beef cattle barn, located south of the livestock judging pavilion at 10 a.m. A group of these cattle will be put on an experiment this fall to determine the value of ground corn cobs as the principal roughage for wintering calves. The experiment will be discussed by Dr. W. M. Beeson, of the animal husbandry department, who will direct the study.

Dr. Beeson will also give the results of pasture feeding studies carried on the past year which showed the maximum use of pasture following the wintering of calves on different types of rations, including the use of cob meal.

Highlights of the experiment concerned with the effect of hormone treatments in growth and fattening of heifers will be reported by Dr. F. N. Andrews of the department of veterinary science. President Frederick L. Hovde will be the opening speaker on the afternoon program in the livestock pavilion.

Prof. P. R. Snapp, head of the beef cattle division, University of Illinois, will discuss systems of handling beef cattle. "Profitable Cattle Feeding for 1949" will be the topic of the talk to be given by R. W. Grieser, manager of the cattle department, Producers Commission Association, Chicago.

A business meeting of the Indiana Cattle Feeders Association will precede the afternoon meeting.

PRESERVE YOUNG TREES FOR FUTURE HARVEST

"Farmers" who think timber prices are higher now than they ever will be again should consider that the long-time trend of these prices has been definitely upward. Since 1920, log prices have consistently stayed at higher levels than the average price of all farm products," says J. L. VanCamp, extension forester, Purdue University.

Reports from foresters indicate that woods owners are questioning the advisability of leaving any trees having a cash value as growing stock to provide for future crops and income.

Present high stumpage and log prices make this a good time to sell mature timber, and also offer opportunity to sell low quality and deformed trees, removal of which is beneficial to the woodland. Young thrifty trees, the Forest Service advises, should be kept for future growth, cutting and sales.

FAIR TREATMENT FOR FARMERS URGED IN HUNTING SEASON

"Give the farmer a break if you want to hunt on his land." Hoosier sportsmen were asked by the Indiana Department of Conservation.

The quail, rabbit and Hungarian partridge season opens Wednesday, November 10, while the three-day male pheasant season runs November 11, 12 and 13. Hunters and trappers may go after fur-bearers November 15.

With a few days remaining before thousands of Hoosier nimrods take to the woods and fields the following suggestions were made by John H. Nigh, director of the Conservation Department:

"Obtain permission before hunting on another's property. Don't park cars in front of gates or drives likely to be used.

"After opening gates, be sure they are properly closed. Always climb a fence at a strong post; mashed fences and broken posts not only represent property damage but they also permit livestock to get out on the highway, with possible fatal results.

"Avoid taking dogs through fields where there are sheep and dairy cattle; many farm animals are frightened by barking and shooting.

"Don't 'clean' a farm of all available game; save some for the farmer and his sons. Many farmers are finishing their corn shucking when the hunting season opens and they would like to have a little hunting available when this work is done."

Excess male pheasants — approximately 10,000 of them—have been liberated in every county in the state prior to the opening of the hunting season. This release was so general that practically every township received some of these game birds.

EARLY ENTRIES PRESAGE RECORD CHICAGO SHOW

Entries for the 49th International Livestock Exposition are pouring into show headquarters at the Chicago Stock Yard from all parts of the continent, and show officials say they indicate the biggest International ever held in the nearly 50 years of its history.

With entries closing Monday for the individual livestock classes, it is expected that the final tally may bring the total number of head of livestock to be shown in Chicago to between 13 and 14 thousand.

Entries have already been noted as coming from 30 states and 4 Canadian provinces, and W. E. Ogilvie, show manager, states that scores of these represent showings from stockmen, breeders and farm folk who have never exhibited livestock at the Chicago show before.

CORN DRYING OFFERS MANY ADVANTAGES

A critical grain storage shortage, as is anticipated this year, sharply focuses the attention of the farmers on the need and possibilities of drying grain. However, Purdue University agricultural engineers have shown that even in normal times, the adoption of new drying methods will pay dividends.

Efficient drying methods offset losses in the field and also in storage, and result in millions of dollars being kept in the farmers' pockets, the engineers say. Satisfactory results achieved last winter and spring in drying corn with heated air, for the first time, give a positive control of moisture. In the future, portable crop driers will be as common on farms as corn pickers are today, and they will more than pay their way, the engineers believe. One midwest farmer increased the value of 100 bushels of corn by $560 at a fuel cost of only $24.

Some advantages of drying corn as given by farmers are as follows:

The corn can be picked earlier in the fall when the weather conditions are better for working in the field. This reduces labor requirements and machinery difficulties, to say nothing of making the job much more pleasant. Picking can start when the corn kernel moisture content reaches 30 percent or less. Corn is fully matured and does not gain any more dry matter after it dries to 33 percent moisture.

Less corn will be left in the field, due to the stalks bending over and the ears snapping off when they are picked up. Last winter some farmers reported that they picked up by hand as much as 20 bushels per acre behind the picker. Some corn fell down so badly last year that it was impossible to harvest it with a mechanical picker. A farmer near Lafayette was harvesting corn by hand in April.

Husking rolls of the picker clean the corn better if the picking is done before the corn is completely dry as this practice results in removing more of the shucks and silks.

Furthermore, if corn is picked early, wheat can be sown after the corn where this practice is desirable. Also, early picking permits drying and selling of corn before the market declines.

Probably one of the greatest advantages is no appreciable loss of dry matter in storage. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has shown that loss in dry matter alone may be as high as 15 percent or more when corn is stored with as high as 25 percent moisture. This means that 15 bushels out of every 100 bushels disappears in storage, not counting moisture loss.

Mrs. Allen Dille will entertain the Townsend Club at her home Thursday evening at a 7 o'clock potluck supper. Mrs. Marshall Goodman underwent a tonsillectomy last Thursday at the McDonald hospital in Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shipley, of Warren, Ind., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Mentzer and daughter Annabelle Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Shipley are the parents of Mrs. James Mentzer of Park Ridge, Illinois.

Mrs. Milt Dorsey and son spent Sunday with her daughter and husband in Goshen.

Mrs. Flo Borton, of Wabash, spent a part of Tuesday and Wednesday in Mentone.

Shirley Shumaker, a niece of Mrs. Margaret Dillie, gave a party for some of her girl friends at the home of Mrs. Dillie. Those present were Thelma Smith of Warsaw, Jalene Smythe, Rebecca Bowser, Beverly Coleman, Nancy Ware, Sandy Witham of Mentone.

Mrs. Allen Dillie and Mrs. Harvey Poulson were Plymouth shoppers Tuesday.

Thelma Smith and Shirley Shoemaker were at the Mrs. Margaret Dillie home over the week end.

Mrs. Harvey Poulson and Mrs. Margaret Dillie shopped in Peru last Wednesday.

Mrs. Allen Dillie spent Thursday with her aunt, Edith McFarland.

EASTERN FARM TOUR PROVING POPULAR

Scores of Indiana farmers are now making reservations on the Hoosier Christmas Special train, which the Indiana Farm Bureau is organizing so local farmers may conveniently go to the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Atlantic City and also do some sight-seeing at Niagara Falls, New York City, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. The low-cost, all-expense tour of 11 days will depart from Indianapolis on December 9 and return on December 19, according to Glenn W. Sample, Farm Bureau director of information and in charge of the tour.

The tour folder, available upon request, reports that the tour price of $197 per person includes all necessary trip costs, such as railroad ticket, all meals, hotel reservations and costs, all sight-seeing, tips while on the train, and many other similar items. Persons making reservations from the same county will be assigned the same railroad car and all Hoosiers will be housed at the same hotel and train travel will be during the daytime.

Sample said that requests for reservations for the "no-worry" trip, the fourth conducted by the Indiana Farm Bureau during the last two years, have been received already from throughout the state. Indications are, he added, that more than the usual number of parents will have their first vacation-educational trip as a surprise gift by their sons and daughters. Farmers who have never before had an opportunity to travel and see other scenic and historic parts of America are now asking for early reservations to avoid being disappointed later by a filled passenger quota.

The tour train will move over the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Of the 11,375 screening x-rays taken at the Indiana State Fair, 456 were found to have abnormalities, according to Dr. Merle Bundy, director, division of Tuberculosis Control, Indiana State Board of Health.

The screening tests were made through the cooperation of the Indiana State Board of Health and Indiana Tuberculosis Association.

Of the abnormal findings, 125 persons were suspected of having tuberculosis and 331 were suspected of having other pathology of the chest.

"All the x-rays have been read and the findings sent to the local communities where the follow-up work will be done," Dr. Bundy pointed out. "The information has been forwarded to the local full-time health department or the local tuberculosis association.

"Persons showing abnormalities in the chest are being instructed to see their family doctor, who has been advised of the readings of the x-ray specialist. The disclosure of abnormalities does not always mean that the person has tuberculosis but that the condition should be investigated," Dr. Bundy concluded.

The Mentone Volunteer Fire Department announces that on Nov. 16 they will conduct a scrap paper drive in Mentone.

Citizens are requested to bundle the paper, and if possible, to separate the magazines from the newspapers. Rural citizens can bring their paper to Mentone prior to that day and leave it at the Mollenhour Lumber Co., if they choose.

Money derived from the sale of the paper will be used by the department on the fire fighting equipment.

CONDITION IMPROVED

The condition of David Marble, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Marble, is now improved. David was injured last Friday evening when he fell beneath the wheels of a wagon which was being pulled behind a corn picker. Both the front and rear wheels passed over the boy, the front one passing over his head, causing a fracture; and the rear one passing over his chest, breaking several ribs, and causing a puncture of the lung.

He is at the McDonald hospital.

Both young people are graduates of the Logansport high school. Mr. Whiteman is a telegraph operator with the Pennsylvania railroad company.

FORMER MENTONE LADY MARRIED IN COLORADO

Word of interest to Mentone friends was received this week of the marriage Sunday, October 17, of Shirley Louise Stoddard of Denver, Colorado, to Herbert Corkran, Jr., of Baltimore, Md.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Stoddard. Around Mentone and vicinity Mrs. Corkran Jr. will be better known as the granddaughter of Cora A. Manwaring and the late Loren D. Manwaring, former residents of Mentone.

The ceremony was performed in the splendor of a colorful Colorado autumn at Foss Park, in Indian Hills, 25 miles west of Denver. After the ceremony in the beautiful Memorial Chapel, built of native stone, the guests reassembled in the rustic shelter house for the reception. Dr. Erdmann Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Denver, officiated.

Following the honeymoon in New York City, a Caribbean cruise and visits in Central America, the couple will reside in Washington, D. C., where Mr. Corkran is employed in the state department of the government.

The bride is a graduate and former member of the faculty of Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota, and the groom is an alumnus of Johns Hopkins University. Both are members of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and graduates of the School of Advanced International Study in Washington, D. C.

Out-of-state guests included Helen Joyce Western, who attended the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Corkran Sr., and Miss Gertrude Richards, all of Baltimore, Maryland.

Mrs. Maude Snyder and Mrs. T. J. Clutter went to Fort Wayne last Thursday, where they attended the concert given by the Piano Quartet.

SISTER OF MENTONE MAN DIES AT ROCHESTER

Funeral services will be held at the Foster funeral home at Rochester at two o'clock Friday afternoon for Mrs. Maude Dove Thomas, 57, who died on Tuesday morning at the Woodlawn hospital. Rev. Harry J. Bailey will officiate and burial will be made in the Mount Gilead, Ohio cemetery.

Mrs. Thomas was born July 4, 1891, at Fulton, Ind., and married Holmes L. Thomas Dec. 20, 1917.

Surviving are the husband and two brothers, Claude Barkman, Mentone, and Irvin Barkman, Milton, Mass.

WAS IT THE ELECTION?

Last week Roy Rush was going about with a patch above one eye and with a sling, and Robert Riewoldt had one of his arms in a sling for a few days. And then the Co-Op. News fell down to its first ten-page issue in 1948. Other incidents indicated that something was a bit out of kilter somewhere, so we wondered—

But Roy said he fell down his cellar stairs, Bob slipped while doing a bit of unloading—and the News is back to its usual 16 pages this week, which is a rather rapid recovery.

DOZENS OF DOUGHNUTS DELIVERED SATURDAY

Band students were busy all day Saturday delivering doughnuts which they had helped to fry and sugar at the school kitchen.

Mrs. Arthur Witham and Mrs. Arlo Friesner spent the entire day there making doughnuts and overseeing the "help."

Altogether, over 3000 doughnuts were sold.

Lard for frying the doughnuts was donated by a couple of Mentone merchants.

All of these efforts were greatly appreciated.

DISTRICT-GOVERNOR VISITS MENTONE LIONS CLUB

District-Governor Waite, of Wabash, was a visitor at the Mentone Lions club meeting held Wednesday evening of last week at the school building. Lion President Jack VanGilder was at his post and extended a hearty welcome to the district-governor on his official visit.

After a short business session, a motion picture of a fishing trip into Newfoundland, by airplane, was shown to the members present.

A report on the Halloween celebration showed that the affair was self-supporting, there being over three dollars left after paying all prizes and expenses. This was made possible by the fact that the Lions Club ladies contributed the many pies and cakes given as prizes at the bingo stand.

TO HOLD ART EXHIBIT

Mrs. Inez Bollinger, of Warsaw, is holding an exhibit of the work of her art students all this week and up until Wednesday of next week.

This should be of particular interest to Mentone people, as two or three local ladies are students of Mrs. Bollinger.

The pictures are on display at her studio.

ON "WE THE PEOPLE"

Friends who have been reading of the ex-convict, Arthur Martin Hillier, 29, and his conversion through the efforts of Rev. Peter Tanis, were pleasantly surprised to hear both of them on the program on Tuesday evening, "We the People." In the interview Mr. Hillier told of how he asked to stay in prison for an additional six months after his term had expired, to study the Bible. He had been a child criminal in Chicago, and in prison many times. It was through Rev. Tanis that he had turned his attention to the Bible and spiritual matters.

Rev. Tanis resided in Mentone several years ago. He now lives in Wheaton, Illinois, and is chaplain for Bridgeport prison, having succeeded "Lucky" Baldwin as chaplain there, and for two other prisons. His ambition is to purchase a large 600 acre farm and turn it into a spot where young reformed criminals, who have been paroled to him, may be made into useful citizens.

LOREN TRIDLE NOW OPERATING IN NEW STOCK YARDS

Monday Loren Tridle started doing business at his new stock yards just south of Mentone on highway 19.

The new stock pens, 11 in all, are completely covered for protection to the animals, and the floor is heavily concreted. The pens cover an area 44x84 feet, plus a small scale shed to the south, and loading and unloading chutes extending to the east.

BAND TO MARCH AT BALL GAME FRIDAY

Mrs. Blickenstaff, music instructor at the Mentone schools, announces that the school band will put on fifteen inches of marching before the basketball games at the Mentone Community Building next Friday evening, Nov. 12th. The band will march from 7:00 to 7:15 o'clock.

The Mentone band is not accustomed to marching and playing, but they have been practicing diligently of late and want to show you how they have progressed.

NEW SMOKE STACK ERECTED AT FRANK MANUFACTURING CO.

The large steel smoke stack for the heating system at the Frank Mfg. Co. was placed in an upright position this week. (It should make a nice pylon for Frank or Dale to circle around every time their fly back to Mentone after their business trips to other parts of the nation.)

HATFIELD TO OPEN APPLIANCE STORE SATURDAY

The Hatfield Appliance Store, next to the fire station in Mentone, will be officially opened on Saturday, Nov. 13th. (See their advertisement elsewhere in this issue).

Frank Lee, of the Talma community, will manage the new store.

HERENDEEN-PERRY

Miss Joyce Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Worden Perry, of Beaver Dam, and Don Herendeen, son of Mrs. Retha Mollenhour, and Allen Herendeen, Mentone, were united in marriage last Friday evening. The double ring ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cray, of Warsaw, by Rev. W. B. Brant, pastor of the First Brethren church.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wallis, of Peru.

The bride wore a street length dress of pink silk and wore a corsage of white rosebuds. Mrs. Wallis wore a green crepe and a corsage of white mums.

A reception for the guests was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Miss Kathleen Perry, Mrs. Richard Whittenberger and Miss Eleanor Hershberger assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Herendeen are residing in Warsaw.

GOCHENOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gochenour, of Oklahoma City, Okla., are the parents of a daughter, Carleen, born Sunday at the City hospital there. Mrs. Anna Gochenour, of Atwood, is the paternal grandmother of the infant.

BASKETBALL BOYS FETED TO BIG TURKEY DINNER

Dale Kelley, Mentone principal, was host to the Mentone basketball squad and coach at a turkey dinner held Monday night in the cafeteria room. It was Mr. Kelley's way of complimenting the boys upon winning the first two games on their 1948-49 schedule.

Mrs. Witham and Mrs. Friesner prepared the bountiful meal of turkey, all the trimmings and a big piece of cherry pie for each. Ice cream served as dessert.

NRA SAFETY HINT

Ballistics experts in the National Rifle Association, in a recent test, put five inches of grease in the muzzle of an Enfield .30-06 sporting rifle and fired it by use of a string attached to the trigger. The barrel of the gun was completely demolished by the pent-up pressures in a blast which would have at least seriously injured the left hand of a shooter.

Inspect your gun for excessive grease left from its off-season storage before going into the field. While in the field, check the barrel periodically for signs of an obstruction of mud or snow. Never under any circumstances, try to shoot out an obstruction.

In the case of a jammed cartridge in a gun, be especially careful. John Morganthaler, of Los Angeles, California, recently tried to force a jammed cartridge from his gun chamber when it accidentally went off and killed him. That's not a job for amateurs. Take a jammed or disabled gun to a competent gunsmith for repair.

A decade or so ago, when the waterfowl population was large and the hunting pressure comparatively light, the loss of a couple of million ducks and geese annually from lead poisoning was not considered too important in the overall waterfowl picture.

But it's a different story today! Waterfowl populations are down; the number of hunters is at a record peak. And the saving of all the ducks and geese possible is a must if sportsmen are to continue to enjoy this great gunning sport.

Frank Bellrose, game technician with the Illinois Natural History Survey, recently estimated that between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 ducks die each year from lead poisoning. This malady results from the ducks swallowing lead pellets picked up while feeding in the heavily shot areas.

Last winter a severe outbreak of the disease at an Illinois wildlife refuge focused attention on the need of finding a remedy, if possible, for lead poisoning. This resulted in the current fullscale attack on the malady launched at the Natural History Survey's field laboratory at Havana, Illinois. Cooperating in the experiments are the University of Illinois and Olin Industries, parent organization of Winchester and Western, at East Alton, Illinois, in addition to the Survey staff.

Utilizing all the modern technical equipment and with trained biologists conducting the experiments, it is hoped that a remedy can be found to stop the inroad on waterfowl resulting from lead poisoning.

The preliminary tests are being made on domestic Pekin ducks in an effort to learn the effect of ingested lead shot on waterfowl. Later wild ducks will replace the domestic species for the final field tests.

Should the findings of these experiments warrant additional study, Olin Industries' experts will experiment with the production of a non-toxic shot to replace the present lead pellets used in scatterloads.

With many agencies striving to up waterfowl production in the north country breeding grounds and steps being taken to protect the birds in the wintering areas, the lead poisoning experiments are just another step in keeping outdoor gunning available to sportsmen. We wish them luck in finding a remedy.

Indiana poultry production records are looking up, according to reports from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Eggs laid per 100 layers in September increased as compared with 1,101 eggs laid in the same month by 100 hens a year ago.

"VITAMIZE" YOUR CAR FOR WINTER DRIVING

Prompt conditioning of automobiles for cold weather now will insure motorists a minimum of car failures during the winter months, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, advises.

Driving safety, convenience and economy are important factors also in the need for proper winterizing of cars before the first spell of freezing weather.

A seven-point program of pre-winter precautions which motorists should have executed on their cars by competent mechanics or service station operators is recommended by the motor club executive.

1. Change to light weight engine oil and gear grease.
2. Drain and flush the cooling system; check all hose connections and tighten clamps; check fan belt and thermostat before adding standard brand anti-freeze solution.
3. Test battery for full charge; clean, repair or replace terminals and deteriorated cables.
4. Check and adjust the fuel and ignition systems thoroughly, including distributor points, timing, spark plugs, carburetor and fuel pump. Removal of the engine pan is advisable to permit a cleaning along with fuel pump screws and air cleaners.
- Driving safety will be increased by having the following items checked:
5. Brakes, steering wheel, wheel alignment and tires.
6. Blown out gaskets, loose manifold and exhaust connection and holes in mufflers and exhaust pipes. Defective exhaust systems can be fatal sources of deadly carbon monoxide gas fumes.

7. Be sure that windshield wipers operate efficiently to carry heavy loads of snow and sleet.

Mechanical conditioning of cars for winter safety and economy should be supplemented by two practices: (1) add eight ounces of pure grain alcohol to each full tank of gasoline to prevent frozen fuel lines; (2) carry a shovel and a bag of salt, sand, cinders or ashes in your car as a starting aid on icy streets, ruts or curbs.

100 MILLION MOTOR VEHICLES ARE PRODUCED

Celebration of the production of the one hundred millionth motor vehicle by the automobile industry will be held across the country until November 17. It was stated this week by Leroy Cox, local DeSoto-Plymouth dealer.

Today we take the automobile pretty much for granted, forgetting the revolution it has caused in American life during our own lifetime. In a little over 50 years the automobile industry has grown until today one out of every seven persons employed in the United States works at a job connected with the automobile.

Production to fill the enormous American demand for cars has steadily grown. It took twenty-nine years, from 1931 and 1939. The war intervened and twenty-five million vehicles. The second twenty-five million were produced in the next six years; the third in the seven depression years between 1831 and 1939. The war intervened and production stopped in 1942, but a total of one hundred million cars was produced by this year.

The automobile has become a necessity in our American way of life and so it is fitting that the thousands of automobile dealers across the country are celebrating the manufacture of the industry's 100 millionth vehicle.

DEATHS GO UP WHEN TEMPERATURES GO DOWN

As the temperature goes down, traffic accidents go up. Col. Robert Rossow, superintendent of State Police, enjoined all Hoosiers to remember that rule in the cold weather driving days ahead.

A total of 844 fatalities at the end of October places Indiana highway deaths for 1948 four per cent lower than last year's 887 for the corresponding period.

"This downward trend will continue," Col. Rossow declared, "if only Indiana motorists will take the necessary precautions for safe driving during November and December."

Murky daylight hours, longer hours of darkness, and wet or icy pavements were cited as seasonal hazards motorists could combat. A survey taken by the State Police indicates that ice and snow figured in 52 per cent of all rural and 47 per cent of all urban accidents last winter.

Colonel Rossow urged all motorists to make sure their lights, windshield wipers, defrosters and brakes are in good working condition. He further cautioned drivers to remember that stopping distances are three to 12 times longer on snowy and icy roads than on dry concrete.

As in past years, the State Police will cooperate with county and state highway maintenance crews by reporting dangerous driving areas. Reports of unusual weather and road conditions throughout the state will also be available at State Police posts.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Tessie Newton and grandson were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Newton's sister, Mrs. Earl Meredith.

Are you going to the Thanksgiving supper November 20? Your best friends will be there.

Robert Reiwoldt, Jr., who is in training at the Great Lakes Naval Base, Chicago, is spending several days here at the home of his parents.

Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meredith of Akron were visitors of the former's mother, Mrs. Earl Meredith. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Clinker and granddaughters of Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Mentzer, Annabelle Mentzer and Mrs. Orpha Blue were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weissert and daughter, Carol, in Mishawaka. They spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Rose Boggess and Mrs. Miriam Kern.

Dr. Dan Urschel was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Elkhart County Medical Society which was held in Elkhart on Thursday evening, November 4. Dr. Urschel spoke on "Chronic Brucellosis," and because of the widespread interest in this disease among cattle growers and veterinarians, the members of the County Veterinarian Society were invited as guests. Most of the veterinarians present had been ill from this disease themselves, and the discussion provided a very interesting survey of the entire subject.

Fruit Juice Improved

Fruit juice, having the characteristic color of the fruit from which it is derived, but without being cooked or treated with dyes, is produced by a recently patented process. Crux of the process is uniform refrigeration of the fresh juice to a mass containing fine ice crystals, subsequent addition of heat, separation of liquid from the ice mass which retains solid pulp particles and running the latter through a colloid mill, adding the colored product to the juice separated from the ice.

SHALL IT BE FLUORESCENT OR INCANDESCENT LIGHT?

Many families are interested in improving home lighting and one of the first considerations may be whether or not to install fluorescent lamps. Miss Gertrude Monhaut, extension specialist in home management of Purdue, offers some information to help home owners in their decisions about fluorescent lighting.

Fluorescent lamps give off less heat than incandescent lamps when lighted and give between two and three times as much light for the same wattage. Thus, fluorescent tubes can be said to give cheaper light. Also they last two to three times as long as incandescent bulbs, unless they are turned on and off frequently. The original cost of fluorescent lamps is usually greater than the incandescent.

Miss Monhaut says that fluorescent lights may be used to advantage in many places in the home. The straight tubular fluorescent lamp is the most common type but it is also possible to find a circular fluorescent bulb now. The tube type is particularly good for use over book cases, cornices, cabinets, reading lights, on beds, sofas or for lighting kitchen sinks and work counters.

Fluorescent lights are popular for locations where a white light similar to daylight is desired. Several hues of near-white light may be obtained. The tubes known simply as "white" and "daylight" are best for work rooms, the shade called "soft white" is the warmest and most pleasing for other rooms.

Subtle color changes in the home furnishings are sometimes evident with fluorescent lighting. Fluorescent tubes cast a cool, blue-white light, which emphasizes the cool colors, like blue and green, and tones down the warm colors. Many people like cool fluorescent lighting in kitchens and bathrooms because of the clean, crisp look it imparts.

New instant-starting fluorescent tubes, which do away with the slight delay in lighting, characteristic of fluorescent lights, are now on the market. An electrician should be consulted as to whether those can be used in fluorescent fixtures already installed, or whether an adjustment will be necessary.

It is a good idea, remarks Miss Monhaut, to get expert advice on the selection of fixtures and lamps. Fluorescent lamps can be installed in a home already wired, though special fixtures will be required.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

An increase in the incidence of four childhood diseases since the first of January as compared to a five-year median is shown by the weekly morbidity report of the Indiana State Board of Health which is a summary of diseases reported by Indiana doctors to local health officers.

The diseases showing an increase over the five-year median and the same period a year ago are measles with 17,204 reported cases; mumps with 3,786 cases; diphtheria with 350 cases and rubella with 218 cases.

"Most of the increase in these diseases was this spring when school was in session. But with the opening of this school year cases are still being reported," Dr. J. W. Jackson, director, Division of Communicable Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health, pointed out. "Diphtheria can be prevented by immunization. Immune serum globulin should be administered to infants under three years of age and to older debilitated children for either a temporary immunity or to lighten a case of measles and thus develop a permanent immunity."

Both scarlet fever and whooping cough are below the five-year median and only three cases of smallpox have been reported this year.

VETERANS' FORUM

The South Bend November Veterans Affairs Forum will be held Monday, November 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the V.F.W. Post 1167 Club Rooms, 1047 Lincoln Way East, South Bend. This meeting is sponsored by the Department of Indiana V.F.W. and Eugene Frey, Post Commander of V.F.W. 1167 will act as moderator.

Earl Goodnough, legal rating specialist, from the Adjudication Division, Veterans Administration Regional Office, Indianapolis, will discuss "Claims of Living Veterans."

Service officers from all service organizations, civic organizations or anyone interested in veterans' affairs are cordially invited to attend this forum.

Production of farm machinery in 1948 is expected to exceed 1947 by 15 per cent. Purdue University agricultural economists say that it will be the highest on record. Big increases in tractors and tractor machinery, items in shortest supply, are expected. Machinery export increases in 1947 will be offset by machinery import increases in 1948.

Months for the ensuing year were drawn, and new officers elected: Lena Igo, president; Vera Black, vice president; Roselynn Nellans, secretary and treasurer. The rest of the afternoon was spent in playing bingo, prizes going to Othello Huffman, Georgia Nellans, Wilma Tucker and Bernice Valentine.

Lovely refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mary Tucker will be the December hostess.

LEGION AND AUXILIARY MEET

The Mentone Legion and Auxiliary met Tuesday evening at the Mentone school house in commemoration of Armistice Day. The evening began with all present enjoying a delicious carry-in dinner.

Nell Reed, Auxiliary president, welcomed all members and guests, after which she turned the meeting over to Mrs. Maude Snyder, who presented the following musical program:

A vocal solo, "Your Land and My Land" by Emma Clutter; a piano duet, "Diana," by Maude Snyder and Shirley Igo; a vocal solo, "My Hero," by Marita Tucker.

Nell Reed introduced Wilbur Cochran, past commander of the Mentone Legion, who in turn introduced the speaker of the evening, Harry Lewallen. His theme was "Causes and Results of World War I and Lessons We Should Learn from the Aftermath."

A short business session was held at the close of the evening. It was voted to donate $5.00 to the Mentone School Band fund.

It was decided to have a Tea at the Legion home on January 9 in honor of our second anniversary.

Any member wishing to send a gift to our adopted daughter Dotty was asked to bring it to the December meeting.

All Auxiliary members present then enjoyed a talk given by Mrs. Harry Lewallen, who is past district president, on "Our Auxiliary—Its Aims and Purposes." We learned many new things from her talk.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

Evangelistic meetings are continuing with fine attendances at the Mentone Church of Christ. Evangelist J. C. Roady, of Sullivan, Ind., uses blackboard charts and diagrams to help explain great Bible truths, and it is said he does not lecture about the Bible, but expounds and explains the Bible itself. He has preached in more than half of the states and in Canada and Mexico and has averaged preaching 432 sermons a year since 1919. He has missed only 17 nights in 1948 and has given over 400 messages so far.

Officials of the church urge all who have not been attending to be sure to come at least once. The song service begins at 7:30 each night through Sunday, Nov. 21.

Frank Carles was taken to the McDonald hospital Wednesday morning in the Johns ambulance. He is suffering with a heart ailment.

If you happen to see a new trout fly tied with a thread-like fibre that gives off a fiery glow or a hunting cap that stands out in the heavy brush like a flaming torch, don't be too alarmed. Chances are it'll be a new creation with Gantron or Gantron F, the "F" denoting the fishing part.

This new cloth (and the fibre strands used on flies) is the brightest material we've ever seen. It is made by a secret process known only to the manufacturer.

Flies tied with Gantron F strands are bright and beautiful. We can't see how a trout could possibly refuse to take a smack at one of them if presented properly on a stream or lake. Bass and panfish should like them, too.

And for hunting clothing the material should prove a great asset in cutting fatal gun accidents resulting from poor visibility. And this is particularly true of deer hunting where some hunters are inclined to "shoot first and ask questions later."

A friend of ours recently wore a Gantron hunting cap on a woodcock hunting trip. His companions were amazed how they could see the bright red cap back in the heavy cover, even when the man's figure could not be seen. Actually, the cap was visible.

Gantron is a material that is activated by ultra violet, soaking up the rays and then giving them off with a brilliance that is almost beyond belief. And on a dull day this brilliance is greater than on a bright, sunny day.

Frankly, that's about all we know about Gantron and Gantron F. Recently Gene Burns, noted author, newspaperman and wartime foreign correspondent, stopped in the office and explained Gantron F to us. He is the man behind its use for tying this new creation in producing trout, bass and other finny gamesters.

He talked for an hour about the material, how it can be adapted to fly tying, ultra violet rays and other scientific data. It went in one ear and quickly out the other, for scientific talk is a little too deep for us to understand. But we do know that Gantron has remarkable characteristics that are equally good for the fisherman or hunter.

If there is a drawback to Gantron, it would be that possibly flies tied with the strands might catch too many fish. And we don't know whether our

MENTONE READING CLUB

Mrs. Walter Lackey was hostess to the Mentone Reading Club at her home on Wednesday, November 10.

The program, a miscellaneous one, was in charge of Mrs. F. B. Davison and Mrs. Dan Urschel, and was in keeping with the season.

Several poems by James Whitcomb Riley were read by Mrs. Broda Clark, who interprets Riley especially well.

Roland Ferverda gave a talk on our local school management as it applies to taxpayers and parents. This was appropriate during Education Week, as the General Federation of Women's Clubs emphasizes participation of its members in school affairs.

A series of scenes of New England colonial days was then presented by a group of children of the club members. The scenes were described by the reader, Mrs. Raymond Cooper, and the children taking part were Elener Rose Norris, Janet Reed, Beverly Walburn, Leah Nell Lemler, Sarah Urschel, Sue Fenstermaker, Cara Lynn Fenstermaker, Pierre Ferverda, Charles Urschel, Merrill Peterson, Larry McKinley, Frank Manwaring, Dick Tombaugh and Jon Cullum.

The program closed with the singing of two Thanksgiving songs by the Reading Club quartet, Mrs. Walter Fenstermaker, Mrs. H. V. Johns, Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh and Mrs. Fred Lemler. Accompanist was Mrs. Artley Cullum.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistant, Mrs. Robert Firkins.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

NRA SAFETY HINT

Accidental discharge of an autoloading shotgun took the life of Leo J. Erdkamp, of Denver, Colo., while on a hunting trip with three of his buddies. Erdkamp, a naval veteran of the late war, and three of his buddies were walking near the South Platte river, hunting cottontail rabbits when Paske Pietro, 37, stumbled and the gun which he was carrying discharged.

The wild shot struck Erdkamp near the abdomen and he died on the way to the hospital.

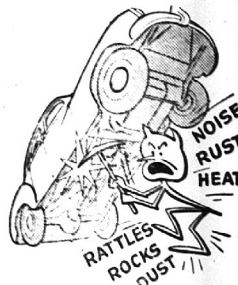

Always be prepared for the unusual, warns the National Rifle Association. Wet leaves, mud, ice, snow, loose rocks, roots and fallen branches present hazards underfoot to the hunter. When walking alone or in a group, consider the possibility of an untimely fall and keep your gun muzzle pointed so that it can do no harm—in the air, toward the ground, or cradled in the arms toward the side. A little forthought and common sense will tell you which direction.

GETS DIVORCE

Walter Wilson, Mentone trucker and log hauler, was granted a divorce in circuit court Friday from Elvia Wilson on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The divorce decree provided that Mrs. Wilson's former name, Elvia Klinck, be restored to her. The Wilsons married Jan. 13, 1944, and separated Aug. 23, 1948.

ADVICE OFFERED TO GARDENERS BY ENTOMOLOGIST

To prevent insects from destroying your garden next year, you should start a sanitation program this fall and winter, according to Jim Clark, Assistant State Entomologist, of the Indiana Department of Conservation.

All vines and stalks in the garden should be piled and burned. Especially you should destroy cucumber, bean and tomato vines, for they help insects and disease to carry over the winter.

In the flower garden all tops of the peony, iris and dahlia should be burned, in fact any debris which might harbor borers should be burned. A soft mulch of rotted manure, straw or peat moss should be spread around roses and other perennials. The evergreens should also be mulched with peat moss.

Tree leaves should not be burned, for when rotten, they are equal to the same weight in manure.

Mr. Clark also reminds all berry growers that they should mulch their strawberries after the first hard freeze that comes after Thanksgiving day. Wheat straw that has been winnowed, should be used. The mulch should never be put on too heavily. A light mulch left on the ground year around not only protects in winter, but helps hold moisture in summer, prevents the growth of weeds, and keeps berries clean.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Elkhart and Clark counties are the first two Indiana counties to take advantage of the 1947 full-time health department referendum law with both counties favoring the establishment of full-time health departments by large majorities. The next step in the forming of the full-time health department in these counties will be the appointment by the county commissioners of a seven member board consisting of three physicians, a dentist, school superintendent and two other representatives.

"The results of the vote on the referendum in both counties show that the people are aware of their public health problems," Dr. D. C. Barrett, director, Bureau of Local Health Administration, Indiana State Board of Health, said. "There are approximately 37,000 registered voters in Elkhart county and 22,258 cast their votes in favor of a full-time health department with 7,529 against. In Clark county, 5,283 votes were cast for the full-time health department, with 609 against.

"The creating of a full-time health department in Elkhart county will result in combining four health jurisdictions headed by four part-time health officers. Clark county will join two health jurisdictions with two part-time officers. With the establishment of these two new departments, Indiana will have nine full-time health departments with approximately 30 percent of the population covered after January 1, 1949. Communities now having full-time health departments are: Gary, Hammond, Indianapolis, Vanderburgh county, Floyd-Harrison county and Rural Lake county, with Kosciusko county establishing a full-time department by resolution beginning January 1.

FATHER and SON

ELECTRIC DERRICK

Budget: Dad, $3.00 for motor—Son, 45 cents for materials
Materials may be obtained at local hobby shop.

Dear Dad:

This little power-operated crane works like a charm from one standard Eveready flashlight cell and has plenty of lifting power besides, since the cable drum is stepped down by two simple friction gears which insure a slow steady and positive hoist.

Parts needed besides the motor include a 10c switch (obtainable at any electrical supply or dime store), a sheet of stiff cardboard (2-ply illustration board is admirable for the purpose), two circular typewriter erasers, two ordinary rubber pencil tips, a discarded thread spool, a bit of 1/4-inch wood, a tube of model airplane cement, some pieces of tin which can be cut from any old tin can, and a 10c Eveready flashlight cell.

Drive from the motor is taken off by centering one of the rubber pencil tips on the motor shaft and mounting an idler shaft "A" complete with friction wheel (one of the typewriter erasers) between the shaft brackets so that the pencil-tip drive pulley engages the eraser wheel firmly yet without binding. Another pencil tip is mounted on the idler shaft flush against the friction wheel and this in turn engages a second friction wheel (your other eraser) which is mounted on the drum shaft "B". Shaft "B" is mounted in one plain bearing and one slotted bearing (see Fig. 2). The shaft extends through the slot and into and beyond the clutch lever. Reason for this is so that when it is desired to lower the hoist cable the clutch lever can be moved forward and thus disengage the drum shaft, which then is a free wheeling unit and lets the cable lower itself for a fresh hoist. Care should be taken in aligning the shaft bearing holes, and this is best done by punching or drilling the holes in both shaft brackets as one piece after carefully determining their position, which of course will depend upon the exact size of the typewriter eraser friction wheels available. As these vary in size, no exact dimensions can be given at this point.

Fig. 1 shows a sectional view of the model with the gear train in proper relation. The thumbnail sketch, Fig. 3, shows how this little crane may be adapted to fit on a standard "O" gauge truck to form a neat little derrick car which will make an interesting addition to any railroad modeler's rolling stock.

Sincerely yours

Sam R.

Indiana poultry production records, as of October 1, reflected improved management practices of Hoosier poultrymen during the past year. Eggs per 100 layers increased too 1,182 this year in September as compared with 1,101 a year ago. Although the number of layers on Indiana farms had dropped from 11,718,000 to 11,434,000, eggs produced for the first nine months of the year increased from 1,703 million of the previous year, to 1,733, million.

Phenomenal increases in the use of fertilizers and lime have taken place during the war and postwar years. Farmers are using twice as much fertilizer as they used in 1935-39, Purdue University agricultural economists report. With the return of peacetime price relationships, there may be some slackening in the use of these materials. However, many farmers have found their use profitable and will continue to use them in increased quantities.

Mothers of World War II are again taking the responsibility of seeing that local boys who are serving in the army will be remembered with Christmas boxes.

On Monday evening Mrs. E. E. Wagner and Mrs. Horn packed six boxes—four for overseas, and two for the states.

Boys who were remembered with Christmas boxes from here, during the war, can testify to what a morale builder they were. This certainly continues to be a very worth while project.

WORLD WAR II MOTHERS MEET

Mothers of World War II Unit 106 held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Horn, with seventeen members present. Plans were made to send Christmas boxes to the boys still in service, also for fixing Christmas baskets.

Remembering the veterans at Marion hospital at Christmas was also discussed. The unit decided to hold a bazaar and bake sale December 11 at the library.

Mildred Fawley and Maude Romine had charge of the social hour. Refreshments were served in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Our December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Davis Wednesday afternoon, December 8. Each member is requested to bring a 50 cent gift for a Christmas gift exchange.

They announce they will make another round of the town next Tuesday, Nov. 23, after 5 o'clock. (This time, they say, if it rains, the collection will be the following evening.)

TWO NEW ADVERTISERS

This week's issue of the Co-Op. News carries the messages of two firms from our neighboring town of Etna Green.

T. J. Hamlin & Co., an old established firm, prints a long list of groceries and merchandise for their many friends in the Etna Green area.

Don Poulson, Etna Green's genial Ford dealer, announces that he can give delivery on the new made-in-England Ford cars. Don has the agency for the entire county and extends an invitation to everyone to look over these low-priced automobiles.

FIREMEN GIVE THANKS

The members of the Mentone Fire Department want to extend their thanks and appreciation to the citizens for the fine response in the scrap paper drive. Over four and one-half tons of paper was collected, which, in addition to reducing several fire hazards, brought the department about $25 in cash.

The boys did not let the rainstorm bother them too much Tuesday evening and went out and gathered up the paper just the same. However, as all

CUTS SERVICE TROUBLE

There will be more tomorrows for today's gasoline engines if farmers will give proper care to storing the engine on the combine, forage harvester, and hay baler before the weather discourages doing outdoor chores.

Ray M. Lion, extension agricultural engineer, Purdue University, cautions that the cooling and fuel systems, crankcase and cylinder walls need special attention.

He advises owners to drain, flush, and rinse the cooling system, and after this is done to leave the drain plugs out to allow all the water to escape. To eliminate the fire hazard and prevent the formation of gummy deposits in the fuel system, the fuel should be drained from the tank and carburetor and all cocks left open.

The crankcase should be drained, flushed, and refilled with new crankcase oil. Operate the engine long enough to circulate the new oil to all working parts. Also, the air cleaner should be serviced.

To prevent rust from forming inside the engine, Mr. Lion advises removing the spark plugs and placing about two tablespoons of heavy motor oil in each cylinder. The engine should be turned over several revolutions so as to coat the cylinder walls with an oil film.

Dirt should be cleaned off the outside of the engine and the exhaust pipe closed up with a piece of rag or some sort of cover to prevent moisture and dirt from entering the engine. The engine should preferably be stored inside. If this is not possible, it should be covered with a canvas to protect it from the weather.

Raspberry canes which bore fruit this past season should be cut out and destroyed this fall. Not only will the pruning job be easier next spring, but much of the possible source of anthracnose infection will be eliminated. B. B. Sproat, extension horticulturist, advises.

Now is the time to obtain straw for the strawberry bed. Over-winter mulching of strawberries is necessary in all parts of Indiana and the mulch should be applied by December 1, extension horticulturists of Purdue University advise. If leaves are used, it should be remembered that they mat down easily and too thick a cover may 100 layers increased to 1,182 this year with the result of yield being reduced in the coming season.

STATE PARK INNS READY TO SERVE WINTER VISITORS

Officials of the Indiana Department of Conservation's Division of Parks announce that Indiana State Park hotels at Pokagon, Clifty Falls, Turkey Run and Spring Mill will remain open during the winter months.

Potawatomi Inn at Pokagon offers the visitor an opportunity to live amid the snow covered wonderland of northern Indiana. Skiing, sleigh rides, tobogganing and other popular winter sports are a part of the vigorous recreational program at this park.

Clifty Inn, which offers many of the same recreational features of Pokagon, will be closed for a short period, through December and January, for redecoration and repair; following these repairs, the Inn will open once again to the public.

Spring Mill and Turkey Run offer the winter vacationist a chance to view scenic trails and outstanding views in a winter wonderland. Indoor recreational programs are planned at all the Inns.

The remainder of the state parks will be open to visitors not desiring overnight accommodations. Reservations may be made through inn managers at each inn.

Crafts for 4-H camps, county 4-H projects, vacation schools and family recreation are being featured in the district handicraft institutes held throughout the state in November. Institutes remaining to be held include: the following towns and dates: Hamlet, Nov. 15; Indianapolis, Nov. 22; and Columbia City, Nov. 23.

In only 3.9 per cent of Indiana's farm homes does the light fail to shine out brightly. That number alone fails to be serviced by a central electric station, according to a report from the Rural Electrification Administration. A total of 169,051 farms in Indiana have such service. Remaining farms to be electrified number 6,919. Indiana's allotment for loans in 1949 will amount to $725,180. Indiana ranks sixth in the nation for number of farms electrified. Ohio is first with only 2.4 per cent not electrified.

SIX HUNTERS DIE, 21
WOUNDED, SAYS REPORT

As the 1948 hunting season neared completion, officials of the Indiana Department of Conservation released word that six Hoosier sportsmen died this year as a result of hunting accidents. Twenty-one others were injured.

These figures were released by Henry P. Cottingham, director of the Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Habitat Restoration Project, who keeps an annual tabulation of deaths or accidents attributed to hunters.

Mr. Cottingham points out that his method of tabulation is not complete, since he lists only those accidents described in Indiana newspapers. It is likely that some news stories might be overlooked and still other accidents or deaths might not be reported to newspapers.

Of the deaths reported this year, five were caused by gun shot wounds, while the sixth was heart failure while hunting. Fatalities for 1946 numbered 16, and the 1947 tabulation showed 14 lives were lost.

Most of the victims were young hunters, with ages ranging from 15 to 31. The hunter who suffered heart failure was 56, however.

Eggs with blood spots are considered inedible by most consumers, and as such are a loss.

Cracked or checked eggs are not worth as much as sound shelled eggs.

The tendencies to lay eggs with an excessive amount of blood spots, or with poor texture shells that check easily, are inherited characteristics in birds.

It is well to keep this in mind when ordering chicks.

FROM THE IRWINS IN ALASKA

Saturday, Nov. 6, 1948
4:45 P.M. (Alaska Std.
Time, which is 5 hours
earlier than yours)

Dear Friends:

We arrived safely (after much wondering) Tuesday, a little before noon and were met at the air port by a delegation of men and women from the church, together with Mrs. Knight, the District Superintendent's wife. The ladies had lunch all prepared for us and we were soon enjoying our first meal in our new home.

We left Seattle via Pan-American Monday morning at 10:00, arrived at Anchorage 7:15 after an hour's lay-over (or more) at Juneau and changing to a Pacific Northern Airlines plane. Met the pastor at Anchorage and stayed overnight there. Then on Tuesday morning at 10:20 we took off in a twin-motored amphibious plane with Mr. Christiansen, one of the famous "bush pilots" who was mentioned in an article in Reader's Digest about two years ago. He started out the short route to Seward, but it became so foggy we couldn't see where we were going, so he turned around and headed for the other, longer route. This way we flew right down a canyon, with mountains towering on either side of us and oftentimes there wasn't much space between the wing tips and the mountains. Paul and I especially were glad to be down on good old terra firma once again.

We have been royally welcomed—they had our reception last evening. The W.S.C.S. ladies served tea, coffee, and punch with fancy cookies following the program.

These people are thrilled to know that Paul wears a robe. They so much wanted their other minister to do so, but he preferred otherwise.

Has snowed parts of yesterday and today until now we have around six inches.

We do have to keep reminding ourselves of the future, instead of reminiscing too much, or we could be pretty miserable in a short while. Nevertheless, we do remember the good times there with you people and they seem bigger to us now than at the time they were happening.

Johnny stood the trip all the way much better than Becky did. She was confined to too small a space too long to suit her. But now she is happy to be in her own home and again is getting along nicely.

Johnny has fared real well once we arrived. There was already here a Taylor Tot, play yard, high chair and rocking horse, and we have the loan of a bed for him while we're here.

Paul has his study over at the church, so is feeling quite at home. I am busy trying to keep the rest of the family happy, so I'm happy, too.

Thursday evening we were invited out to supper at the Jesse Lee Home, and that was the thrill of a lifetime. They have 105 youngsters now from 10 months to 18 years, and they are certainly a well-trained group. We spent the evening going through the buildings and seeing the different age groups in their own suites of rooms. Last night it commenced to rain on top of all this snow and it kept it up until awhile ago. Now we have slush and ice, but it still isn't so cold. Right around 32°.

Despite the inclement weather we had 174 for Sunday school and at least 30-35 more for church. Both the senior and junior choirs sang and did real well, too.

Our love to all,
Paul, Martha, Becky and Johnny

MENTONE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MET THURSDAY

Mina Nelson was hostess to the Mentone Home Economics Club at her home on November 11. Mrs. Elmer Rathfon was co-hostess.

Twenty-four members, two guests and two children responded to roll call, with a Grateful Thought.

The pledge to the flag was given and the club song, "America the Beautiful" was sung. Club creed was given in unison. Mrs. Roy Salman, president, conducted the business session and also gave two very interesting poems for meditations. Before singing the song of the month, "All Through the Night," Mrs. Blanche Paulus gave the history of the song. It was the first Thanksgiving song.

Mrs. Maud Cox gave a very interesting lesson, "Handicraft" on double finger crocheting and braiding. Mrs. Lena Anderson won the mystery package. We also had an auction.

Several anniversary gifts were given. Club prayer was sung.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the afternoon very much and refreshments were delicious. Hoping to all meet at the home of Mrs. Roy Salman for the all day Christmas meeting December 9. Don't forget the gift for your club friend.

THIS BRILLIANTLY HUED COCK PHEASANT and his more drably colored mate fortunately were "shot" by a camera and lived to tell the story. If she is a wise old hen she will not envy the cock's brighter colors as the hen's protective coloring makes her much harder to distinguish against the corn.

RESPLENDENT IN COLOR AND SELF-CONFIDENCE, this 30 pound turkey on a Boone County, Iowa farm has a jaunty air. Eat, drink and be merry may well be his creed.

During the past eight years, soils of the midwest have been taking a severe "beating". To meet wartime needs for food and to make top profits from this era of high grain prices, farmers have been working the land for all it's worth.

Millions of tons of plant food have been "mined" from the soil through intensive cropping. Growing grain on hillides that should have been in grass, has allowed erosion to make serious inroads. Diminished use of winter cover crops has let leaching drain still more of the vital elements from the soil.

If bumper crops are to continue, damage to the soil must be repaired through better soil management. One important step is to replace "lost" plant foods by applications of commercial fertilizer. By investing in soil-building, instead of more land, many farmers can double crop production and income without buying a single additional acre.

The picture story below shows some of the ways commercial fertilizer can help rebuild the land for bigger farming profits.

Before you buy fertilizer, find out which plant foods your soil lacks. One good way to tell is by having your county agent make a "tissue test". In the tissue test, certain chemicals are applied to sap from the plant leaf. Resulting color indicates amount of plant present.

Another way to check up on plant food needs is by noting "hunger signs" in your crops. Alfalfa grown on potassium-deficient soil, shows speckled leaf edges (right) as compared with normal leaves (left). Chemical soil tests are also effective in figuring which fertilizers will give best results.

Fertilizers indicate amounts of phosphorous and potash on analysis tag. The bag in this picture has the numbers 0-12-12 which means no nitrogen, 12 percent phosphorous and 12 percent potash. Fertilizer of the right analysis meets needs.

Side-dressing corn with extra nitrogen at the second cultivation, increases yield and crop quality for many farmers. Nitrogen helps most, however, when the soil is already well supplied with phosphate and potash. Also, applying fertilizer at planting time gets corn off to quick start.

Here's Why MORTON CURED HAMS Keep Safer and Longer

STARTING the cure at the bone is what makes the Morton Way of curing meat so sure. It's at the bone area where bone-taint, off-flavor, and souring are most likely to develop. The Morton Way helps stop them before they ever get a chance to start.

And it's this simple to do. Dissolve Morton's Tender Quick in water for a fast-acting curing pickle. Pumped into the meat with a Morton's Meat Pump, this immediately starts the cure INSIDE — gives you a feeling of security and a certainty of results you get only with this method.

Here's why Morton Cured Hams taste Better

After starting the cure at the bone, rub the outside with Morton's Sugar Cure. This sugar-curing salt strikes in, curing toward the center, and gives your meat a rich, old-fashioned, wood smoke flavor.

The result of this double-acting cure — from the INSIDE out and from the OUTSIDE in — is the best tasting, best keeping meat you've ever had — mouth-watering goodness, sweet-as-a-nut flavor — no bone taint — no waste. Annual Chicken Pie Dinner

Social life in the rural community gets off to a good start this time of year with the annual chicken-pie dinner and the church bazaar. For in the country, the church is the center of community life!

The annual church dinner may be held out in the open during the early autumn days amid the colorful setting of Indian Summer. More often the event is held indoors later in the season when a bazaar can be combined with a chicken-pie dinner served in the church parlors.

Country churches generally serve chicken-pie with flaky biscuit topping as the piece de resistance along with gobs of food served country style plus second helping for all. City churches and those in small towns often favor a turkey dinner as a means of raising money for the year. In Scandinavian communities the lutefisk dinner, complete with melted butter, lefse and all the trimmings, brings forth great hungry crowds from miles around.

For days in advance, every woman in the community works in her own kitchen baking dozens of rolls and pies and cakes of every description.

Comes the big day and operations switch from home to church kitchen! Chicken-pie does a grand march from the kitchen as hungry visitors swing into action at the long tables in the dining rooms beyond. There's nothing so satisfying as a chicken-pie dinner served at the country church.

Remove the cooked meat from the bones and cut in large cubes. Cook the vegetables until just tender. Cook the onions in the stock for 10 minutes; strain them from the stock. Melt the fat; stir in the flour; add this to the hot stock and cook until thickened, stirring constantly with a wire whip. Combine all the ingredients and taste for seasonings. Pour the mixture in casseroles. Place baking powder biscuits on top of chicken mixture and bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 15 minutes or until done. Makes 55 to 60 servings.

- 1¼ teaspoons cloves
- 1¼ teaspoons nutmeg
- 2½ teaspoons cinnamon
- 2½ quarts pumpkin
- 10 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2½ quarts milk
- 5 ounces butter, melted
- 6 unbaked 10-inch pie shells
- 1 pound shredded coconut
- 8 ounces corn syrup

Mix together sugar, flour, salt, and spices; add to pumpkin. Add eggs, milk and butter, and mix well. Turn into unbaked pie shells. Bake in hot oven (400 F.) 15 minutes, then decrease heat to moderate (350 F.) and bake 30 minutes longer. Top pies generously with coconut, sprinkle with corn syrup, and return to oven to brown coconut. Makes 6 ten-inch pies.

Pie Crust

(6 pies)

- 2½ pounds pastry flour
- 1½ tablespoons salt
- 1½ pounds shortening
- 5½ cups (about) ice water

Sift flour and salt together twice. Cut in shortening until uniformly distributed. Add water, a small amount at a time, mixing only enough to blend ingredients. Press dough together lightly. Cover tightly and chill before using. Roll out on slightly floured board to ¼ inch thickness. If possible, avoid turning pastry over during process of rolling as this tends to lessen the flakiness of the finished crust. Use for pie crust, pie shells, and tarts. Makes pastry for 6 nine-inch two crust pies.

Shorter gunning seasons and reduced bag limits are the common methods employed by conservation agencies in efforts to control the pressure on our wildlife resources. No one questions that these controls do play a part in controlling game populations. And sportsmen who obey all the rules and regulations are participating in the overall program to save the game birds and animals.

Still, there is another important conservation idea that often is overlooked and that is the use of a dog on each trip afield. As it often has been said, "Use a dog, get that cripple."

The number of rabbits or quail or pheasants that are harvested each season by hunters is not the number of birds or animals that go into the game bag, but the number that is shot. And without a dog to retrieve, the losses in cripples and unretrieved dead birds is staggering.

We know actual cases of pheasant hunters without dogs leaving more than 70 percent of the birds they shot, unretrieved. Waterfowl gunners, too, show a high percentage of unretrieved ducks and geese. So if you shoot four pheasants and only find two, and eight ducks and only retrieve four, you've actually harvested twice your limit. Game populations can't stand that type of hunting.

Just compare those figures with the losses shown by hunters using dogs. A ten per cent loss is high, and we've known hunters to go an entire season without the loss of a single bird. Of course, that is the exception and they had remarkable dogs.

Frankly, it is better to hunt with a well-trained and well-bred dog, for, usually, the dogs in this class are the best game-savers. Yet we've seen six-month old pups find crippled bobwhites, outrun a fast ringneck downed by a wingshot, or outswim a big mallard making a dash for the weeds.

Also the breed of a dog is not always important. Naturally some breeds are better suited to certain tasks and it is an advantage to use them in their specialties. But we know of collies that work well on ringnecks and beagle hounds that will retrieve quail.

Hunting with a dog saves game; there's no argument about that. And, too, it is far more sport to take to the field or marsh with a good dog. You'll need no more than one trip after quail with a good bird dog or a trek to a marsh after waterfowl with a retriever to be sold on the merits of hunting with a dog. You'll soon learn that it's as much sport to watch a dog work as it is to kill game.

So think it over, brother sportsman, and use a dog the next time you go hunting.

Farm people will be better able to do more of the things they want to do in the time they have, as a result of the 4-H Better Methods Conference to be held at Purdue University December 6 and 7. Each county will be represented by an adult leader and county extension agent.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED ON SUNDAY

Over 150 relatives and friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Dickey Sunday to help them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

A large three-tiered wedding cake, topped with golden bells, had been secured for the occasion, and each guest enjoyed a piece of the cake with a dish of ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickey received many valuable gifts, and everyone wished them many more years of happy wedded life.

D. A. R.

Mrs. Walter Fenstermaker was hostess on Tuesday evening in her home to the members of the Anthony Nigo Chapter, of the Daughters of the American Revolution and their guests, the Tippecanoe River Chapter, of Bourbon.

The Regent, Mrs. Ernest Igo, welcomed the members and guests. Mrs. Heisler, Regent of Tippecanoe River Chapter gave the response.

Mrs. F. R. Burns of North Manchester, State Regent, and Mrs. McClellan of Kokomo, Northern Director were special guests of the evening.

Mrs. Burns gave a very interesting report of the trip the D.A.R. members made in visiting the approved schools of the organization. The schools visited were Blue Ridge, Bris, Va., Crossnore, Crossnore, N. C., Tamasee, Tamasee, S. C., Berry, Mt. Berry Ga., Kate Duncan Smith, Grant, Ala.

She also reported the conservation committee had planted 35 acres of trees in southern Indiana.

Mrs. McClellan gave a talk on her work as director of the various chapters.

Mrs. Fenstermaker and daughter, Cara Linn, entertained by giving the reading and recording of "To Grandmother's House on Thanksgiving Day." Mrs. Kay Paulus of North Manchester was among the guests of the evening.

The Chapter was happy to have with them a non-resident member, Mrs. Goldie Polen. It has been a number of years since she has been privileged to attend any of the meetings.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Eldred

Paulus, Mrs. Ray Linn and Mrs. Dale Wallace served ice cream and cake. Chapter will meet in December with Mrs. Max Smith.

Wideman was driving a Todd Dressing Plant truck north of Bourbon on road 331, when Jensen, who was playing football at the Lowell Berry farm, ran into the truck. Wideman drove into the ditch and against a tree in an effort to avoid the man as he ran out into the road. Jensen is suffering from a brain concussion. The Todd truck was considerably damaged as it hit the tree.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR
STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

"Thanksgiving dinner menus should follow a well planned pattern of foods that fit together, rather than a collection of foods that are seasonable," according to Lelia Ogle, nutritionist, Indiana State Board of Health.

"Although the holiday meal is the time for the homemaker to shine before husband, youngsters, relatives and friends, she should not waste her time and energy in preparing too many foods which tend to encourage overeating and continue to appear on the table for days afterward. The meal should include roast meat or poultry, dressing or potatoes—but not mashed potatoes, baked potatoes, sweet potatoes and potato salad—a cooked vegetable, such as peas, cauliflower, asparagus, broccoli; a fruit or raw vegetable salad, rolls or bread, butter, milk and a dessert. Of course pumpkin pie is a reasonable dessert and may be topped with whipped cream or ice cream.

"To add enjoyment to the meal, we should dress up the table," Miss Ogle said. "If there are children in the family they might enjoy making cutouts of green, brown and yellow leaves. Or, they could hollow out a small pumpkin and fill the center with fruit, or with bright colored leaves and bitter-sweet. It also helps if the meal has color in either the salad or vegetable. Bright colored jelly adds to the table. But don't have jelly, jam and honey, too."

PURDUE DECEMBER 1-3

The seventh annual Poultry Breeding school, to be held at Purdue University December 1 to 3, will attract poultry breeders and hatcherymen from Indiana and surrounding states. Dr. J. Holmes Martin, head of the Purdue poultry department, announced. The sessions will open at 1:30 on Wednesday, December 1.

Poultry specialists, including several members of the Purdue poultry department, will contribute to the two-day school, which approximately 80 persons interested in breeding problems are expected to attend.

One of the highlights of the course will be a talk, illustrated by motion pictures and slides, on "Inheritance and Physiology of Fertility and Hatchability" by Dr. M. W. Ison, physiologist, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

SURVEY SHOWS HUGE MACHINERY INCREASE

Indiana farmers are turning more than ever to machinery to lighten the burdens of helping to produce food for this and many other nations. A survey recently completed by Department of Agricultural Statistics of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, and the United States Department of Agriculture, and announced by M. M. Justin, head of that division, show that:

Tractor drawn motors which now number over 25,000 in this state, increased by 29 percent the past year.

Pick-up balers, numbering more than 5,100, increased 41 percent in the 12-month period covered by the survey.

Hay loaders now number more than 19,000, a decline of about six percent. The loaders are not being replaced as they wear out, due to the adoption of different methods of handling the hay.

Buck or sweep rakes used in hay making which are found mostly in the central part of the state, now number 6,700, a gain of 11 percent during the past year.

More than 6,000 farms now have manure loaders, a gain of 39 percent during the year, and manure spreaders number more than 55,000, showing a gain of eight percent in the same time.

Corn, king of Hoosier crops, is also coming in for its share of attention in the speed-up process, as the number of four-row corn planters went up 34 percent during the year to a total of more than 3,700 in Hoosier farms. Portable corn elevators, which eliminate the necessity of shoveling corn, number more than 11,000 a gain of 36 percent over a year ago.

More than 27,000 milking machines are now found on Indiana farms, an increase during the year of ten percent.

Electric pig brooders, which give the baby pigs a better chance of living, total 2,300, showing no change over last year.

Another new gadget, plowsole fertilizer spreaders, number about 1,400.

HERO of the Month

AS SELECTED BY THE DAY

Robert James Hall of Indianapolis, Indiana, stepped on a land mine at Iwo Jima while serving with the Marine Corps Fifth Division.

When they patched him up again he was minus both his legs and had only the use of two fingers on his right hand.

Today Bob Hall is a useful and productive citizen of Indianapolis, working at a full-time job. Because of his outstanding achievement he has been selected as the "Hero of the Month" by the Disabled American Veterans.

The selection is part of a national program to honor each month a seriously disabled veteran who has successfully rehabilitated himself.

Following Iwo Jima and several years of hospitalization, the Marine Corporal was filled with the determination to use his remaining abilities.

Without his legs — and possessor of a right hand with only four fingers — Bob Hall couldn't go back to his pre-war job, that of driving a truck for a large food manufacturing firm. For a brief period he took on the job training as a gunsmith.

ROBERT HALL

Shortly after, however, he became interested in tool and die making and was employed by Charles H. Robb, owner of the Robb Built Products plant.

Here, with the splendid cooperation of Robb, Hall works at a bench — drilling, sawing and filing. His progress has been more rapid than that usually expected from an able-bodied apprentice.

Robb's plant entrance is a street level, which enables Hall to get out of his car into his wheel chair and wheel right in the shop. The plant has special ramps to high machines where Hall can work comfortably for eight hours a day, forty fours a week.

Hall, a member of Indianapolis Chapter No. 52 of the Disabled American Veterans, attributes his rehabilitation to his own determination to go ahead and the cooperation of his employer.

Some of the credit rightfully belongs to Mrs. Hall, the former Grayce Sorenson of Decatur, Michigan. The pair met while Hall was driving a truck in pre-war days, and she stood by the Indiana hero, marrying him during one of his hospital leaves.

Mr and Mrs Hall are the parents of two red-headed children, Carolyn, 17 months, and Roberta, 4 months. They live in a home on the outskirts of Indianapolis that Bob's father, Glenn Hall, built adjacent to the latter's residence and where Bob helps paint the fence and is a general handy-man around the place.

which is an increase of five percent.

Burr type feed grinders are just under 6,000 and have gained less than two percent. Hammer mill type feed grinders indicated as 18,300 are reported as nearly three percent above last year.

Trucks on farms are reported as having gained 17 percent since 1947, but the indicated number of 38,000 is lower than was shown by previous surveys. Trailers or other vehicles may have been included in former surveys to make the difference.

PROTECTION FROM THE SILENT KILLER

Adequate ventilation of their cars at all times provides motorists with their most dependable defense against the winter hazard of carbon monoxide poisoning, actual killer of several hundred highway users and a contributing cause of many more accidents each year. Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, warns.

Present in the exhaust gas of all cars, this colorless and odorless gas claims a majority of its fatalities among motorists when their engines are running in closed garages or in parked cars.

The Chicago Motor Club urges motorists never to run the engines of parked cars unless at least the side vents are open, and preferably windows, too. Garage doors should be kept open when the engine is running.

Partially opened cowls and a side vent will usually provide adequate ventilation in moving vehicles, providing they have been competently inspected at the outset of winter for leaks in the exhaust system, and if their exhaust pipes extend well beyond or above their rear.

At the outset of winter all cars, new or old, should also receive an engine tune-up to assure maximum combustion efficiency and minimum carbon monoxide content in exhaust gases, the Chicago Motor Club recommends.

Motorists unwilling to accept the occasional discomforts of adequate ventilation may obtain minimum protection only at the expense of not one but weekly inspections of the exhaust systems for leaks, particularly in the average car now aged nine years, the Motor Club warns.

Motorists should stop their cars and walk in the fresh air the moment they note a headache, dizziness, drowsiness, or a feeling of nausea, all common symptoms of the advance of carbon monoxide poisoning. Only three parts of carbon monoxide in 10,000 of air is sufficient to reduce driving efficiency dangerously, while 16 parts in a closed sedan is sufficient to kill within an hour.

It's not too late to practice some garden sanitation. Many insects winter over in the adult stage and unless controlled in the fall will be alive and active early next spring. Garden refuse can be plowed under, cut down and composted, or destroyed by burning.

Hookworm Infection

There is danger that the tougher variety of hookworm found in the Pacific islands may establish itself in southern states in which the American hookworm already is an unwelcome guest, says American Medical association. Hookworm infection results in gastro-intestinal disturbances, abdominal pain, a fever that comes and goes, progressive anemia, pallor and emaciation.

ABOUT EGGS

Eggs with blood spots are considered inedible by most consumers, and as such are a loss.

Cracked or checked eggs are not worth as much as sound shelled eggs.

The tendencies to lay eggs with an excessive amount of blood spots, or with poor texture shells that check easily, are inherited characteristics in birds.

It is well to keep this in mind when ordering chicks.

PENNY SUPPER SUCCESSFUL

The Penny Supper served at the school cafeteria last Saturday evening and sponsored by the Band Parents, proved very successful. Everything was sold out early.

The untiring work of Mrs. Witham and Mrs. Freisner, the enthusiasm of the parents, and the fine cooperation of the teachers made this an entirely worth while venture.

The lady teachers, wearing white caps and aprons, dished up the food, while the men teachers, in white aprons, kept the tables cleared.

The tables and walls were colorfully decorated by pumpkins and silhouettes made by the grade students.

Visitors also enjoyed the truly old-fashioned "pictures" in the show windows, which had been arranged by Ken White. The old fireplace and its familiar trappings, the quaint old lady at the spinning wheel, the many antique items, and the fine old quilts were all appreciated by many — collectors and otherwise.

RETURNS FROM MICHIGAN HUNT

Henry Konneck returned Monday afternoon from a ten-day big game hunting trip north of Munising, Mich. The nine men killed five deer and two bear, plus a 50-pound bobcat.

Henry said they hunted in 16 inches of snow and had to drive the deer out of the deep brush in the swamps. One of the bears got mad when he was first hit and the nine men fired eighty shots at the animal before he was killed. A total of nine rifle slugs were found in the animal. The bear weighed 380 pounds.

Also included in the party were Harold Wagner of Union, Mich.; Don Bondine, Elkhart; Fred Richardson, of Bristol, Indiana, and five other men from Elkhart.

Henry said that was the roughest country he had ever seen and wouldn't take five hundred dollars for his experiences.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Hiram Mollenhour, who celebrated her 82nd birthday November 13, was pleasantly surprised by her Friendly Neighbors Club last Thursday noon, when they arrived at her home southeast of town with a carry-in dinner. She was presented with a beautifully decorated cake from the club, along with several other gifts from friends and neighbors. Mrs. Mollenhour, who with her daughter, Mrs. Exie Creager, make their home during the summer months at the old Mollenhour Homestead, spend their winters in the city. Mrs. Edward Driesbach of Burket is a daughter and Gus Mollenhour is her only son.

The community wishes Mrs. Mollenhour health and happiness through the winter and will anxiously be waiting her return with the birds in the spring.

GRACE — WORKS

The New Testament commands us to do certain things, the doing of which is in a certain sense the performance of works. James establishes that we are saved by the doing of these works. When we do those things, we are not working the works of the laws of Moses, neither are we performing works of human merit, but we are doing the works of God. Jesus said: "This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent." (John 6:29). Faith is called a work of God, and yet it is something we do. It is referred to as God's work because he is the author of it and commanded it. In that same sense repentance, confession, baptism, etc., could be called works of God. When a person is baptized, he is not working a work of the law of Moses, neither is he doing a work of human merit, but he is doing the work of God. And when he has completed his primary obedience by being baptized, his sins are forgiven, but there is no ground for boasting on his part. He has not earned his salvation; it is still a matter of grace. Therefore, the passages which teach that salvation is not of works, do not mean that there is nothing for us to do in order to be saved.

NEIGHBORS PICK CORN

On last Thursday the neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tinkey went in with 24 tractors and 12 corn pickers and picked 50 acres of corn. They began about 7:30 and finished up around 11 o'clock. The ladies furnished a big potluck dinner.

Those present were: George Cumberland, Jay Swick, Richard Moore, O. V. Jones, R. B. Williams, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goshert and daughter, Linda; Mr. and Mrs. Merl Fitton and daughter Linda; Gerald Ballenger, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Igo, Don Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bruner, Ned Igo, Alden Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Kern, Walter DeTurk, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Polk, John Carter, Robert Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bowen, Foster Parker, Deverl Jamison, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Curen and son Roger, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McCloughan, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Driesbach, Amos Engle.

Harvey Smith, Everett Rookstool, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Fitton, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Drudge, Everett Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sarber, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smalley, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Drudge and son Darell, Don Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williamson, Devon Shipley, Curtis Riner, Gurney Alexander, Guy Baker, Clifford Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Latimer, Mr. and Mrs. Ote Darr, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Tinkey, Bernard Zolman, Ira Helser, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Umberger, Mrs. Ike Kern, Mrs. Lloyd Jones, and the Tinkeys, Cleo, Clarence, Merl and Norman.

It was so thrilling to hear from Mrs. Clarence Tinkey, who writes, "Here are a few facts about a good deed done at our house today. I'll ask you to write it to suit yourself, 'cause I feel too full of thanks to do justice in any way."

"Enclosed you will find a poem that I would like to publish. Please print it along with this 'Thank You' from us.

Thank You!

"We sincerely wish to thank all our neighbors and friends who picked our corn, and also for all the good deeds and kindness shown us during the past year.

"Clarence & Cleo Tinkey and Family"

Friends are happy to know that Mrs. Tinkey is still "in there fighting," even though still spending the most of her time in bed, since being seriously injured in an automobile accident a year ago this coming Dec. 31.

Following is her poem:
If nobody smiled and nobody cheered,
And nobody helped us along,
If every man looked after himself and
Good things all went to the strong:
If nobody cared just a little for you,
And nobody thought about me,
And we all stood alone in the battle of life,

What a dreary old world it would be.
Life is sweet just because of the friends we have made and things in common we share.

We want to live on, not because of ourselves, but because of the people who care.

It's giving and doing for somebody else,
on that all life's splendor depends.
And the joy of the world when you have summed it all up, is found in the making of friends.
