The American College of Cardiology held its regional meeting in Cleveland on Friday and Saturday of this past week. Dr. Dan Urschel was among those attending the meeting.

The subject of the program was Congenital Heart Disease, most of the discussion centering about the surgical management of such conditions. A type of congenital heart lesion (malformation of the heart or blood vessels) was the first treated successfully by surgery, and it still offers a very promising field for further development, although greater attention has been paid recently to the surgical attention of defects produced by rheumatic fever.

MORE MACHINERY ON

HOOSIER FARMS

Indiana farms are more mechanized than ever before, according to a summary of 1953 township assessor reports just released by Purdue University agricultural statisticians.

On the dairy end of the farm business, assessors counted 12 percent more farms with milking machines installed this past year. This makes 17 percent of Hoosier farms that have these machines.

More than 8 percent of farms now have pick-up balers. The gain in 1952 was 11 percent where the previous year's gain was 21 percent.

Farmers are using more field forage choppers, also. The assessors' tally showed more than 2 percent of farms with this equipment. This is 22 percent more than a year ago. Statisticians say there are now 23 forage choppers for each 100 silos filled in the state.

The Northwest and West Central districts of Indiana, have half the total of four-row corn cultivators in the state. This implement is now on more than 4 percent of farms.

Fertilizers spreaders, besides grain drills, were found on more than 6 percent of farms.

Little Sandra Nelson has the mumps and is getting along fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Osbia Mills of New Paris called at the Ella Latham home Sunday.

Big Prizes for High School Snapshooters

National High School Photographic Awards

Offers Many Opportunities to Win

This picture won a top prize in the 1952 National High School Photographic Awards and is a good example for this year's sports class.

Picture taking has a special meaning for high school students at this time of year because the National High School Photographic Awards competition is in full swing.

This year's is the ninth annual contest, but it really deserves the familiar description of "bigger and better than ever" because there are more picture classes, monthly prizes and more money involved.

Sponsored by the National Scholastic Press Association, the contest is open to all students in grades 9 through 12. Detailed rules of the contest may be obtained by writing the National Scholastic Press Association, 18 Journalism Building, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The contest got underway October 15 and will continue until March 15. Monthly prizes will be awarded as entries are received in the periods ending on the 15th of November, December, January and February. Three monthly prizes of $15, $10, and $5 each will be awarded for the best entries in each of five classes.

In the final judging, a Grand Prize of $250, a Second Prize of $100, and a Third Prize of $50 will be awarded in each class, plus 100 Special Awards of $10 each for outstanding pictures regardless of class—so entering pictures can really pay off.

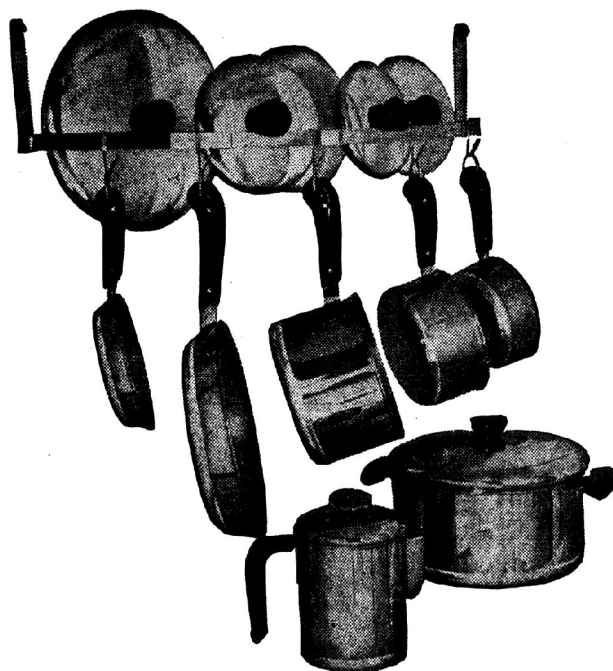

Picture classes cover snapshots that are fun to take, fun to have for personal remembering. There's a class for school life activities; one for out-of-school activities, which takes in the typical family snapshots; another for sports, including everything from school competitions to sandlot baseball, from collegiate football to professional. A fourth class is for art and architectural type pictures such as landscapes, street scenes, scenic views, flowers, etc. Animals and pets are subject material for a fifth class.

According to the sponsor, the pictures will be judged on the basis of inherent interest, appeal and photographic quality.

A good clear picture that tells its story at a glance is the kind that has a good chance of winning.

Give your children real security...

We don't mean the nicest house in the best neighborhood... the newest, sleekest car... the right schools, the right camps.

We're talking about the kind of security they can't do without... the kind that comes from inside.

Faith. In God, in life, in themselves.

For life is no game for spiritual sissies. Only Faith... the armor of the spirit... will give them the stamina to meet it courageously, no matter what it brings.

You can show your children where to find faith... how to build it day by day, if you make praying a family affair.

WELL-KEPT HANDS, PRICELESS ASSET

Perhaps the old saying, "Her face is her fortune" should read "Her fortune is in her hands." Homemakers know that a smart hairdo or bright lipstick can't call attention away from rough, neglected hands, a blemish on an otherwise lovely appearance.

It's a matter of personal pride for a person to have clean, smooth hands with well-shaped nails, reminds Mrs. Lottie E. Sumner, extension clothing specialist at Purdue University. She says a small brush will do the job of removing stubborn grime from the hands. And a cut lemon will erase stains, she adds.

When dishwashing or doing laundry tasks homemakers can protect their hands by wearing rubber gloves. If they'll also draw their nails across a cake of soap before they start an especially dirty task, soil will be prevented from packing underneath.

Mrs. Sumner says it's a good idea to push the soft cuticle back gently with the towel each time the hands are washed and dried. This practice discourages hang nails. A moment should be taken to smooth on a protective cream or lotion.

Nails may be gently buffed to smooth them and improve circulation around them. If liquid nail polish is used, a base coat should be applied before the polish. Two coats of polish may be applied for longer wear. For special protection, a final coat of liquid sealer may be applied.

Allow time for thorough drying of polish before using the hands, says the specialist. If time does not permit repairing chipped nail polish, it is good grooming to remove all polish rather than leave it on the nails.

Back in 1938, two doctors took a look at Derrell Palmer's torn hip muscles and told him to give up football, reports The All-Sports section of The Sporting News.

Right now he's too busy working at his old stand as the Cleveland Browns' defensive left tackle. In his eighth season as a pro, the cool and competent Texan can be counted on as a bulwark of the Browns' line.

When the doctors told him to quit in 1938 after he was injured in a high school game in Albany, Tex., it didn't slow Palmer up for long. He went looking for a doctor who would see things his way. When he found one and got his okay, he enrolled at Texas Christian and starred for three years. After that came two seasons of service football as a Marine on the Hawaiian Islands and then a job in the pro ranks, says The Sporting News.

PARASITES BUILD-UP EASILY IN FLOCK

Whether you have already housed the laying flock, or intend to bring them in from range soon, now's a good time to check birds, nests and roosts for harmful lice and mites.

These pests are probably just starting to build-up in the flock, and they'll be easier to get rid of now, than later this winter when they are well established. Poultrymen are reminded by G. E. Leher, Purdue University extension entomologist, that lice and mites, left unchecked, can quickly cut productivity and profits.

He advises them to look now for a lice infestation at the base of the birds' feathers. Lice spend their entire life cycle upon the fowls, and are never found elsewhere except by accident. Search for chicken mites in cracks, beneath perch poles, mash hoppers and similar places where they hide away during daylight hours. Remember, they come out only at night to feed on the birds.

If lice are the problem, the flock manager's best control lies with lindane treatment. This all-purpose spray, made by adding one-half pint of a 20 percent lindane emulsion to one gallon of water, is effective either as a roost paint or litter spray. One application is strong enough to check lice for periods ranging up to three months.

And it's easy to use. Just clean the perches first, then paint or spray on upper surfaces until they are wet. One pint is enough for 250 feet of perch. On litter, spray lindane just heavy enough to wet the surface.

If mites are causing trouble, and the laying house is already occupied, use the same lindane mixture recommended for louse control. If you are cleaning the house, and the ready-to-lay pullets are not yet confined, try equal parts of anthracene oil and kerosene. The mixture will last as an effective inhibitor longer than lindane.

With either material, make sure you spray roosts, dropping boards, walls near roosting areas, in and around nests, and in cracks, crevices and all other possible harboring places.

For further information, ask your county agent for a free copy of Extension Bulletin 378, "Poultry Lice and Mites." It will also give you tips on how to control other troublesome external parasites.

In Fact, A Complete Hardware Store To Supply Your Every Need!

Co-Op. Hardware

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

This is the second of a series of 52 farm pictures that will be published in the Co-Op. News. All will be pictures of rural homes in the area of Mentone and no one knows whose farm home is being printed. The aerial photographers took them without knowledge of who owned the farm. Even the editor does not know. It is up to you to identify the farm and notify the Co-Op. News. Our phone number is 38, if you should recognize the one pictured above.

The home pictured last week is owned by Artie Miller, and at 11:15 Thursday morning Kermit Zent, of Rural Route Rochester, was the first to tell us whose farm it was. Kermit said even though he had ridden by the place many times over a ten year period of riding the school bus, he still didn't definitely recognize it at first glance.

Others reporting the identity of the farm were, in this order:

Leroy Norris, Mentone.
Oliver Smith, Mentone.
John Laird, Mentone.
Mr. and Mrs. Don Kuhn, Claypool.
Allen Herendeen, Mentone.
Orven Heighway, Mentone.

Free Picture for Owner.

The farm owner will receive an enlarged picture of his farm, absolutely free, but he must call at the Co-Op. News office in person and give us a few facts about his farm. Artie Miller, last week's farm owner, did call at our office, but as the editor was not in the office at the time he did not receive his free picture. Stop in the next time you're in town, Artie, and we'll try and give you the picture.

Mr. Miller stated that Wilbert Utter is now farming the place. Mr. Miller was born on the farm 77 years ago. He and his sister Lydia inherited it in 1906. She died in 1933 leaving it to him. His father built the house. In 1902 the barn was remodeled and the house was improved in 1904. Other improvements have been added since that time.

Mr. Miller has spent his entire life on this farm and the farm has been in the Miller family for 90 years.

EWES FLOCK NEEDSGOOD WINTER CARE

Hoosier sheepmen should plan to keep their ewe flock outside or in open sheds as much as possible during the winter, advises Henry Mayo, Purdue University sheep specialist.

Keep them on winter pasture until just before lambing time, he says. This will keep the sheep barn clean and sanitary for the new lamb crop.

Here's some other winter tips for farmers, now that more of the ewes are bred, and the ewe flock has entered the critical gestation period.

Your bred ewe lambs should be kept separate from mature ewes that are scheduled to lamb, believes Mayo. That's because the older ewes will crowd the younger ones away from the feed trough. It's also wise to keep the rams away from bred ewes during the winter time.

Provide as much good winter pasture for your ewe flock as possible, and supplement with good quality legume hay, advises Mayo.

And remember, that during the gestation period a ewe must grow a fleece, develop her lamb and maintain her body. She should be fed so as to gain from 20 to 35 pounds during the time she's carrying the lamb. To get this job done, each ewe must receive one-half to one pound of grain per day for the last six weeks before the lamb is born.

Ewes need fresh water and a good mineral mixture all the time. A good plan is to mix two parts steamed bone meal to one part iodized salt. Loose trace mineral salt should also be provided.

For further information of winter sheep management, farmers should ask their county agent for Extension Bulletin 353, on "Sheep Management."

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all the friends, neighbors, Country Neighbors Home Economics Club and everyone who were so kind in the last sickness and passing of our husband, father and grandfather, J. Attend College Day At Warsaw Jon Cullum, Don Rush, Mary Ellen Bryan, Mary Van De Water, Janet Rose Reed, and Sherry Shoemaker of the Class of 1954 attended College Day at Warsaw High School on Wednesday. The students were privileged to have conferences with representatives of various Indiana Colleges and Universities.

Bulldogs Trounce Bourbon

Showing mid-season form for the opening game, the Mentone basketball teams rolled over Bourbon last Friday night at Bourbon. The first team won 60-45. Second team defeated the Comet seconds 38-31. Mr. Hoogenboom started Bob Boggs, Jerry Tinkey, Jon Cullum, Clarence Dickey, and Larry Linn, but substituted freely during the game. This Friday in the Community building, the Mentone teams entertain the North Webster Trojans. The second team game will begin at 7:00.

New Bleachers Arrive

Wayne Tombaugh and Noah Tinkey motored to Berlin, Wisconsin last Wednesday to bring back the ninety feet of portable bleachers which were purchased for the new gym. These bleachers were purchased by the township on the low quotation submitted by the Berlin Chapman Manufacturing Company. The equipment is approved by Insurance Underwriters with a high safety factor. Several of the high school boys set up the bleachers in the old gym, since they will be needed there until the new gym is finished. The shop classes removed a large portion of the old bleachers in the gym to be used in those they are building for the new gym.

Present American Education Program

On Wednesday evening in the Community building the Mentone School presented a panorama "School Days—Then and Now." Over two hundred and fifty pupils participated in the program. The committee in charge of the program was Elwyn Weiss, Chairman, Dale Keever, and Barbara Van Gilder. The program took the place of the regular November meeting of the PTA.

Pupils To Participate In Choral Festival

Thirty three Mentone students will sing in the Choral Festival to be presented by Kosciusko County Schools at Leesburg on Sunday, November 15, at 3:00. The pupils will spend Friday afternoon rehearsing for the program. Several parents have visited school this week.

Benny, Sonoro, and Marcito Del Rio have enrolled in the Mentone School.

Several pupils are attending school "overtime" as a result of rabbit hunting adventures on the opening day of the season.

The Mentone teachers attended a teachers' meeting at the school Monday evening. Mr. Owen Frey spoke briefly and showed the film "Skippy and the Three R's."

Producers of high quality eggs need to pay special attention to the humidity of the egg storage room this fall, say Purdue University poultry specialists. Often, eggs are kept in the basement of the home. When the furnace is started, the air loses its moisture, speeding up evaporation from the eggs, and lowering quality. So, it may be necessary to add moisture liberally to the basement during fall and winter.

Twice as many temporary silos were used in Indiana during 1952 than 1951, according to a recent summary of township assessors' reports by Purdue University agricultural statisticians. Temporary silos accounted for 8 percent of all silos used last year and 6 percent of total silos. There were 26 percent more permanent silos used in 1952 than the year previous.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

Posters have been placed in various business houses announcing the Menno-Singers who will be with us on Sunday evening, November 15, for the closing program of the University of Life. One exception to the usual program is being made; the serving committee will provide the meat, rolls and coffee, but all families of the church are asked to bring one side dish, salad or a dessert. Table service is to be brought, included with your dish. The Menno-Singers will be guests for the Supper hour.

The regular offering taken that evening will be during the Program to defray Music expenses and for a project of charity the Singers have. This male chorus has sung in many of the large city churches of this State. They come very highly recommended, and music lovers of the community will not want to miss this fine opportunity. The Supper hour to which all people are invited by providing a side dish or dessert and table service will be at six-thirty. The program of sacred music will be at seven-forty-five.

Chairmen for that evening are Dr.

and Mrs. Dan Urschel, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson. The Committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Harold Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whetstone, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lackey, Mrs. Pauline Borton, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Denton Abbey, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kendall, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Tridle, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Coplen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Prichard, Mrs. Myrtle Davis, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Greulach, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gible, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Oral Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sarber, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Whetstone, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Hoogenboom, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nellans, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ward, Mrs. Emma Clutter, Mrs. Bessie DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Miner, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Igo, Dr. and Mrs. McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stanford, Mrs. Ellen Stanford, Mrs. Rosa Kinsey, and Kenneth Kinsey.

WEATHER FAVORING

THE CORN BORERS

The notorious corn borer could give Hoosier farmers considerably more trouble in 1954 than was experienced this year. It all depends on the weather, reports M. Curtis Wilson, Purdue University entomologist, who just helped complete the fall corn borer infestation survey in Indiana.

He says an unusually warm autumn has favored borer development. Consequently, the insects are "healthy and fat," and in excellent condition to survive the rigors of winter. If blessed with an early spring, they could do serious damage to next year's corn crop, believes the specialist.

The recent survey showed a build-up in populations in 1953 over the previous year, but counts were not usually high. Heaviest infestations were found in the northwestern counties of LaPorte, St. Joseph, Porter and surrounding areas. In southeastern Indiana, Franklin county and vicinity was the other conspicuous danger area for borers.

To prevent infestations in their fields, farmers are asked to follow current recommendations on date of planting and use of adapted hybrids. Mimeo-17, "Corn Borer Control" can be obtained from the county agent or by writing to the agricultural publications office, Purdue University, Lafayette.

THE RIGHT TREATMENT FOR LITTERING STREETS

In times past there have been complaints about trucks, trailers, etc. going through our city scattering sundry items of debris, such as corn shuck, etc. Any citizen can file a complaint under the present state law, such as was done at North Manchester, according to the following article reprinted from the News-Journal:

Wilbur Melick, truck driver for the Check-R-Board store, was fined $25 and costs, $39.75, in the court of Justice Bruce Howe Tuesday. He was hauling a load of corn cobs on Road 13, and in the charges filed by Howard Wolpert, state highway patrolman, the cobs and husks were blowing off the truck onto the highway. The charge was filed under a 1953 law Section 1 of which reads as follows:

Whoever puts, throws, dumps or leaves any tin can, old iron, brush, boxes, tools, machinery, vehicles, rubbish, brick, wood, logs, glass, glassware, glass bottles, glass jars, broken glass, broken glassware, dead animals or fowls, or debris of any kind or character whatsoever in, upon or within the limits of any public highways or any lake or stream, except by direction of the township trustee, superintendent or board of county commissioners or in, upon or within the limits of the property of any person without the consent of the owner shall, on conviction, be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars to which may be added imprisonment for a term of not less than five days nor more than thirty days.

This law also may be invoked for violations in town and city streets and alleys instead of town and city ordinances, which usually provide lesser penalties.

THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP. NEWS

ATTENDS CHEVROLET PREVIEW

John L. Boggs of the Mentone Motors, Inc., has just returned from Indianapolis where he attended a private preview of the new 1954 Chevrolet trucks. The exhibit and accompanying business session were sponsored by the company for all retail dealers and salesmen in this area and emphasized the importance Chevrolet is attaching to its soon-to-be-announced new truck line.

"The meeting was somewhat without precedent in our experience, because it was devoted exclusively to new truck models," said Mr. Boggs. "The reason soon became clear. The 1954 line contains so many new features that even a review of highspots required considerable time.

"Not only will Chevrolet have more to offer the truck user in 1954, but it will expand the forces behind its selling. Included is an expanded advertising program."

Mr. Boggs said he plans to arrange a special showing of the new line in his dealership when the trucks become available for display later this month. It is one of the few times in history that Chevrolet has exhibited new trucks apart from new passenger car models.

The lesson on cake decorating was given by Mrs. Walter Kent. Mrs. Kent stated, "Always have your frosting firm, keep colors in pastel shades and always put a border around the top and bottom of the cake.

An auction was held after the business meeting.

Following the principal's welcome by Mr. Kent, Mr. Weiss, as narrator, introduced the various grades and departments of the school, each having an opportunity to demonstrate some phase of modern education.

The committee in charge of the program was Elwyn Weiss, Mrs. Keever and Mrs. Van Gilder.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

WHOSE FARM IS THIS?

Can you identify the farm pictured above? This is another of the farm pictures to be printed in the Co-Op. News, and as no one knows whose farm it is, can you help us identify it? There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

Whose Farm Was Pictured Last Week?

The pictured printed in our last issue is still a bit of a mystery to us. Readers have guessed the owner to be: Arthur Reese, of northwest of Claypool and the Max Nellans farm south of Mentone. Was it either of these? The owner hasn't presented himself to the Co-Op. News office, but when he does he will be given a mounted picture of his place.

The president, Mrs. Wallace Sperry, dismissed the meeting.

DON'T STUFF TURKEY AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Time-consuming preparations for the long-awaited Thanksgiving dinner keep many homemakers busy in the kitchen on the traditional holiday, and prevent them from spending more time with their families.

This unfortunate circumstance has prompted some homemakers to believe, mistakenly, that it's safe for them to stuff the turkey or chicken a few days ahead of the Thanksgiving feast. What appears to be a time-saver can easily result in food poisoning, warns Miss Ann Liggett, Purdue University extension nutritionist.

She says that bread stuffing prepared too long ahead of baking time should not be consumed since it serves as an excellent medium for the growth of harmful bacteria.

Her advice is to stuff the turkey just before it goes into the oven. Then, homemakers can destroy all dangerous bacteria by making sure a temperature of 165 degrees F. is reached in the center of the stuffing. A meat thermometer, inserted between the first and second ribs of the bird, will do the job.

If you are planning to roast poultry immediately, your stuffing can be either hot or cold, says Miss Liggett. However, if you are intending to wait a few hours to roast the bird, chill the hot stuffings in the refrigerator along with the fowl. If the bird must be stuffed a few hours ahead of roasting time, keep it in the refrigerator at a temperature of 38 degrees F. or lower. This will chill it quickly.

One safe way for homemakers to save time with the stuffing is to prepare the dry ingredients the day before Thanksgiving and keep them in the cupboard. Cover the liquid ingredients, and store them in the refrigerator. Assemble string, needles or skewers and other tools to be used, so the bird's preparation will take the shortest possible time on the big day.

Preliminary reports received by Purdue University agronomists indicate that seed of a number of grasses and legumes will be in smaller supply than a year ago. Blue grass seed production is very much below normal. Brome grass seed is above a year ago, but below the ten year average. Alsike clover and sweet clover seed production are below normal. There is a good supply of ladino clover, including the carryover, to meet all demands.

Rev. and Mrs. C. K. Oglesby and daughter, missionaries from Africa, were guests in the Dewey King home this past weekend. Rev. Oglesby spoke in the Talma Christian Church Sunday morning and in the Mentone Baptist Church Sunday night.

VENTILATE THE LAYING HOUSE

Lafayette, Ind.—Don't be afraid to give the laying flock plenty of ventilation this coming winter, even on the coldest days, says M. L. Wilson, Purdue University poultry specialist. Layers can stand the cold a lot better than people can, he reminds poultrymen.

Winter weather won't bother the laying flock so long as the birds are not exposed to drafts. Keep the front windows open until the water fountains begin to freeze. Then partly close them. Eliminate drafts by keeping the back wall and ends closed tightly.

Also make sure that layers have plenty of water this winter, warns Wilson. Ordinarily, 100 hens will drink about 8 gallons of water a day in cold weather and they should have it at the right temperature.

Egg production will drop off sharply if the water is too cold or frozen. The smart poultryman overcomes this management problem by using a good automatic water warmer. It's also wise to protect exposed pipes with electrical heat tape.

Use of grass crops for silage in Indiana increased two per cent in 1952 over the previous year, report Purdue University agricultural statisticians. Their summary of the township assessors' tallies for 1952 shows that grass crops were used in 16 per cent of silos during the year. In the North Central and Northeastern districts, 21 per cent of the silos used were filled with grass crops last year. The 9 per cent used for grass in the Southeast was the lowest of the nine districts in the state.

If you haven't yet cleaned the garden tools, do it now. Sharpen them and give needed repairs, say Purdue University horticulturists, so they'll be ready to use next spring.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

Over two hundred persons heard the splendid program presented by the Menno-Singers last Sunday evening. Not one of the thirty men were professional musicians, but the program was so well balanced and the voices so well blended that the native talent was displayed to an advantage to the congregation and choir alike. Persons who were absent missed one of the best musical programs ever to be presented in Mentone.

Following is the program presented: Hallelujah! Amen! an Invocation by the Pastor, The Holy Hour by Ethelbert Nevin, Cherubim Song, Fierce Was the Wild Billow, Thanks Be To God sung by a quartet, Joshua Fit De Battle Ob Jericho, Old Ark's A'moverin', Salvation Belongeth, The Lost Chord, The Holy City sung by Wilbur Huneryager, The Old Rugged Cross, Cast Thy Burden on The Lord, Shepherds' Sunday Song, Thanks Be To Thee, Prayer of Thanksgiving, Benediction by the Pastor, and Jesus Grant Me Hope and Comfort. Miss Grace Yoder was the accompanist. Mr. Walter Kent introduced Mr. Stutzman and the Chorus following the Invocation.

Fifteen different denominations were represented by the Chorus and almost the same number of vocations. This was a demonstration of inter-denominational cooperation and the results of dedicated talent wisely directed, and lots of hard work. It was a fitting climax to the University of Life Program which had as its theme this year, "What We Believe and The Way We Worship." There have been several requests that this same theme be carried over into the evening worship services after the Holiday Season.

This coming Sunday evening at seven-thirty there will be a Song Service of Gospel Hymns and a brief summary of What We As Methodists Believe. The morning Service will be the Thanksgiving Worship Service.

The local church many times becomes absorbed in its own problems and concerns. It exists not so much to perpetuate itself as to witness the living Spirit of Christ in this world today. The National Board of Education Conference attended by Rev. Gosser presented many practical solutions to problems which keep the churches from fully attaining their stature and purpose.

Official results of 5 Acre Corn Club and soybean yields are being returned earlier than usual this year, announce Purdue University extension agronomists. Most of them will be received at Purdue by Dec. 1. A few farmers irrigated their corn and their yields will be of much interest to other corn growers.

ROBERT HOOVER PRESIDENT
KOSCIUSKO CO. POULTRY ASS'N.

At a meeting of the Kosciusko County Poultry Association, held at the Beaver Dam Sportsman's Club this evening, Robert Hoover of North Manchester was named president for the year to begin in December. Miles Manwaring, Mentone, was named vice president, and Everett Besson was elected secretary-treasurer.

The business session, with retiring president Gordon Rapp in charge, was held following a bounteous turkey dinner served at the well known eating establishment at Beaver Dam Lake.

The newly named organization is intended to include not only hatcherymen and producers, but all others in industries allied to poultry.

John Huttar, of Creighton Brothers, gave a very interesting report of the Northeastern Poultry Council meeting held recently at Syracuse, New York. Mr. Huttar stated his main interest in attending the meeting of poultrymen in the eastern city was to find out if they were using any methods other than those employed in the industry in Kosciusko county. He found they had about the same disease problems—and possibly one or two we have not encountered—as we have here. He found a few changes in what he termed management. Many poultrymen there are starting chicks at all months of the year in the belief that the birds would reach heavy production at the peak of the egg market. Also, many are rearing their chicks in confinement. This system of never permitting the young birds to be at large alleviates the possibility of predatory losses, and with good sanitation procedures, often protects the birds from disease carriers such as wild birds, animals, etc.

The final part of Mr. Huttar's message dealt with the sale of chicks by the hatcherymen, and he stated most hatcherymen should maintain a closer contact with the producers to whom they sell. Oftentimes goodwill is a matter of interest and acquaintanceship rather than poor quality chicks.

The county organization, for the present, is to meet the second Thursday night of each month.

Farmers should follow the county demonstrations and local farmers' experience in the use of nitrogen on corn, believe Purdue University extension agronomists. This year, many farmers used extra nitrogen on corn in mixed fertilizer or as a supplement, plowed under or side dressed, in addition to row application at planting. Agronomists observed that fields receiving additional nitrogen showed less "firing" than corn receiving no extra nitrogen. Under conditions of severe drouth it will be interesting to find out if nitrogen gave profitable returns this year.

50,000,000 TELEPHONES

H. E. Hussey

The number of telephones in the United States reached 50,000,000 today. President Eisenhower took part in a brief ceremony at the White House commemorating this communication milestone. The symbolic fifty millionth telephone was presented to the Chief Executive in recognition of the fact that he is head of the first nation to achieve such a number of telephones.

H. E. Hussey, president of General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., pointed out that in this country there is approximately one telephone in service for every three persons as compared with one for every 65 persons outside the United States. Mr. Hussey said, "Under the American system of private enterprise we have been able to develop a vast but closely integrated telephone communication system which gives the public access to any telephone in the United States regardless of its ownership by any one of more than 5,000 telephone operating companies.

"General Telephone System has played an important role in the development of the nation's communication network. Of particular significance in the rapid growth of the telephone industry is our own Indiana Company. General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., now serves 122,000 telephones in its 67 exchange areas. This is more than twice the number we served ten years ago. During this same ten year period we have increased our plant investment from 8.5 million dollars to over 27 million dollars.

"The increasing use of the telephone in the Mentone exchange is an example of the need of the telephone as a vital link in our American way of life. Statistics are the best measure of the importance of the use of the telephone in our everyday life. While the increase in the number of telephones served in the Mentone exchange is proportional to the growth in our other exchanges, an average of 1,800 calls are handled here each day."

WORD FROM TED SHULL

November 6, 1953

Dear Art,

Since I have been restationed in Germany, I would appreciate it very much if you would send me the Co-op. paper again. Because its always good to hear about the things that go on around home.

I am in a scouting company along the American zone and Czechoslovakia border. The work isn't hard but we sure hope they never come across because we would be in a mighty bad place.

I think Germany is a nice country and the people are very nice of course they are several years behind us because you don't see any open working in the fields around home.

Yours Truly

Pvt. Ted A. Shull
U. S. 55385013
Co. I 2nd A/C APO 46
%P. M. New York, N. Y.

In writing to his parents Ted says: "It is very cold over here — The coldest place I've ever seen, and they say it gets 20° - 40° below. They still need winter clothes.

The city of Amburg is a fair sized city of 41,000 and bicycles never saw so many in my life. I saw the place that Hitler was to keep all the rulers of the world. Some place!

The American Zone is an up and coming country. You should see that big four-lane highway. Amburg is about 28 miles from camp.

I am to be home in April, 1955. They said, they would send me back then. I and Lloyd Smith are together. (Lloyd is from Warsaw.) Armeey went to Frankfurt, Mauzy and Mattix went to Berlin.

The money we use is paper, from nickles up. You can get all you can possibly eat for 50c over here, and German cooking is good. They sure keep their gardens clean. You never see a weed. The soil is red.

We landed at Bremerhaven, Germany. Its up by Denmark. We traveled the length of Germany on a slow train, six of us to a car compartment. Some places are the most beautiful I have ever seen. I'll say one thing, you have never been sick 'till you've been seasick. We traveled on the U.S.S. Henry Gibbins, 17,000 tons. It was nice.

TO RELEASE NEW OATS

Lafayette, Ind.—A new spring oat variety, bred and tested for its resistance to all known North American races of crown rust, will be officially released this week at Purdue University. It's called Clintland, and is similar to the popular Clinton 59 in most all respects, except for this incorporated resistance to crown rust, Indiana's number one disease of oats.

Purdue plant breeders who developed the variety say a limited supply of the new oats will be distributed to certified seed growers next year. By the spring of 1955, an abundant supply of seed should be available to farmers for seeding.

Breeders of Clintland were Ralph M. Caldwell, Leroy E. Compton, John F. Schafer and Fred L. Patterson of the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

They found Clintland looked good from the standpoint of yield as well as disease resistance. The new variety outyielded Clinton 59 in seven of nine tests conducted in the state in 1952 and 1953. The overall average superiority in yield was 9.3 per cent in all nine tests—a yield advantage which is traced, for the most part, to Clintland's crown rust resistance.

Clintland and Clinton 59 appeared identical for stiffness of straw and time of heading. They both attained the same height, and were indistinguishable in Indiana fields in the absence of crown rust.

Both varieties are resistant to race 8 of stem rust and susceptible to race 7. They both carry resistance to Victoria blight and Indiana collections of smut.

Clintland's resistance to crown rust will help farmers in the future to meet the threat of potential loss from crown rust epidemics. It is also believed that the new variety should be of special value in areas where Clinton and its selections have proven adapted and where their superior stiff straw has been needed.

Indiana Farm Bureau

Votes For Schenck

Two hundred thirty-three delegates to the Indiana Farm Bureau convention held in Indianapolis last week voiced their approval of their leader, President Hassil E. Schenk, by electing him to another two-year term. They also passed more than 30 resolutions which constitute the state organization's 1954 policy and serve as recommendations for consideration at the convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago early next month.

Indiana delegates elected to that meeting are: John R. Linton, DeKalb county; Lawrence Holloway, Clinton; Harmon Rogers, Montgomery; Webster Heck, Fayette; Glen Day, Washington; and the three state officers who are delegates ex officio. They are President Schenk, Boone county; George Doup, Bartholomew, vice-president; and Mrs. Russell Cushman, Hancock, second vice-president.

Among the significant resolutions passed was one that urged expansion of foreign trade without undue discrimination against imports or exports, and extension of technical assistance to help other nations to help themselves. The group also went on record as favoring flexible price supports over rigid supports, — this after heated debate on the floor of the delegate session. They also asked by resolution that Agricultural Conservation Program payments be continued as in the past.

Still another resolution asked that the Production Marketing Administration look with favor on allowing farmers to sow wheat as a fall cover crop to be used as green manure; furthermore that all farmers affected by wheat allotments be allowed to vote on the referendum when it occurs. Indiana farmers also would like to see the St. Lawrence Seaway developed by issuance of revenue bonds, and the project should be given to the Rural Electric Cooperatives, and written into law, according to the resolution.

A resolution urged the President of the United States and the Congress to use all their powers through the United Nations to promote universal disarmament, with provision for inspection. Indiana farmers also favor the expulsion of all known communists from places of responsibility in Government, on local, state, and national levels. They further urged that a re-evaluation of all Government budgets be made to cut out duplication and to decrease expenditures. They asked that the Federal gasoline tax be repealed.

The organization leaders were asked to study the possible establishment of a dairy department and to make a report at the 1954 convention. To eliminate frequent losses to the farmer when he sells products to an unreliable firm which fails to pay him for the purchase, the delegates passed a resolution asking that such purchasers be required by law to provide bond covering their responsibility. They opposed a general sales tax and asked for econ-

THANKSGIVING . . . Today and Forever

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord,
and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High:
To shew forth thy lovingkindness in the morning,
and thy faithfulness every night.—Psalms 92:1,2.

At another Thanksgiving season, we pause to again count the many blessings which God has bestowed upon America and her people. Americans enjoy every blessing in greater measure than any people upon the face of the earth—we have more to eat, more to wear, more to spend, more freedom, more leisure, more of almost everything. We have much for which to be thankful.

All of these blessings above are possible only because we are a free people, operating in a democracy where the individual is a human being and not just an economic equation. We should be extremely thankful to every true American that is putting forth any effort towards maintaining that freedom from our enemies, both within and without.

And to a just God, whose promises are ever true, we give our daily thanks . . .

THANKSGIVING . . . Today and Forever

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord,
and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High:
To shew forth thy lovingkindness in the morning,
and thy faithfulness every night."—Psalms 92:1,2.

At another Thanksgiving season, we pause to again count the many blessings which God has bestowed upon America and her people. Americans enjoy every blessing in greater measure than any people upon the face of the earth—we have more to eat, more to wear, more to spend, more freedom, more leisure, more of almost everything. We have much for which to be thankful.

All of these blessings above are possible only because we are a free people, operating in a democracy where the individual is a human being and not just an economic equation. We should be extremely thankful to every true American that is putting forth any effort towards maintaining that freedom from our enemies, both within and without.

And to a just God, whose promises are ever true, we give our daily thanks . . .

Shop Boys Completing Bleachers

The three shop classes were varnishing bleachers this week as a final step in the project they have been working on for over a month. The boys have built five sections of bleachers to go below the concrete bleachers on the south side in the new gym.

This has been a large project carried out under the able supervision of Elwyn Weiss, vocational agriculture and shop teacher. It was first necessary to tear out a large portion of the bleachers in the old gym to save money by using the lumber again. After the supports had been built, they were tied together with a sub-floor and a finish floor. Seat boards of twelve-inch planks were then sanded and painted. It is estimated that by building these bleachers in the shop a saving of three or four hundred dollars has resulted. It has also given the boys a practical project of considerable educational value.

Mr. Snapp gave music tests to part of the seventh grade on Tuesday. Barbara VanGilder was absent from school on Tuesday due to illness. Mrs. McKinley substituted. There were fifteen first graders absent on Tuesday due to mumps, colds, and other diseases. Attendance in other rooms was normal for this time of year.

Christmas For State Mental Patients

The patients in all of the state mental institutions will have Christmas presents this Christmas if the plans of the organizations cooperating with the Indiana Association for Mental Health work out successfully.

In a recent meeting in Indianapolis, Mrs. Russell Pierce, President of Delta Theta Tau; Mrs. Hubert Goodman, President of the Indiana State Medical Society Auxiliary; Mrs. Rinda Raines, President of the American Legion Auxiliary and Mrs. Emily Shonkwiler, Health Chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, made plans for specific action by their statewide organizations to accomplish this important goal. All of the organizations will be asked to obtain Christmas presents from their own members in every county in the state.

Mrs. Raines, on behalf of the American Legion Auxiliary and with the support of her Council, reported that the American Legion Auxiliary throughout the state would accept responsibility for erecting a Christmas tree in the county seat in all 92 counties of Indiana. This Christmas tree will be illuminated gradually as reports of the gifts which have been accumulated are made. As soon as all of the patients in the state institutions are assured of Christmas presents, the Christmas trees will be fully illuminated, so that all the people of our state will know that they have remembered all of the patients in our state mental institutions.

Individual posts and groups of posts in all of the counties of the state are currently making plans to obtain the Christmas trees and the lighting equipment and obtaining permission to erect and dress the Christmas tree in a suitable public place.

Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Goodman, and Mrs. Shonkwiler have communicated with all of their county leaders, presenting the need for patients in our state institutions and giving the leaders suggested lists of gifts.

This is the second annual Christmas presents project of the Indiana Association for Mental Health designed to make certain that all 16,700 patients in our state mental institutions are remembered at Christmas. Indiana's mental patients are inadequately housed in overcrowded buildings and cared for by professional and service staff who do not approach the minimum number required by American Psychiatric Association standards.

CORN EARWORM SERIOUS THREAT

Lafayette, Ind.—Corn earworm, always a threat to market sweet corn, was again a serious pest in Indiana during 1953, says M. Curtis Wilson, of Purdue.

A general build-up in population of this insect occurred throughout northern Indiana, and infestations in the southern part of the state, where earworm is usually a problem, stayed about the same this year as for 1952.

A survey made by entomologists in October showed a state average of 30 per cent of dent corn ears infested with earworm. Southwestern counties averaged 56 per cent infestations with a high of 89 percent in Vanderburg county.

While the corn earworm usually does not overwinter in Indiana, the insect is known to survive mild winters, warns the specialist. This is a big reason for the increased earworm infestations in past years.

Wilson states that the pest is difficult and costly to control. However, he says it will pay farmers to strike back at earworm, particularly on sweet corn and hybrid seed corn.

Farmers interested in treating for the pest in 1954, should be sure to obtain Mimeo E-31, on "Corn Earworm Control." Spray and oil treatments are discussed in this mimeograph, available from the county agent or by writing the agricultural publications office, Purdue University.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

WHOSE FARM IS THIS?

Can you identify the farm pictured above? This is another of the farm pictures to be printed in the Co-Op. News, and as no one knows whose farm it is, can you help us identify it? There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

Nov. 11 Farm Picture Identified

As we went to press last week, we had not heard from the farm owner whose farm picture was printed Nov. 11th. We had two guesses by readers, but the only correct one was K. H. Kinsey of west of Mentone. It was the Arthur Reece farm, one and a half miles northwest of Claypool. Mr. Reece is a Co-Op. News subscriber, but it remained for his neighbor, Jimmie Zinn, to tell him about his farm being pictured.

The place is the old Shipley farm and Mr. Reece has been on the place for 35 years. He has built nearly all the farm buildings and remodeled the farm home. He does general farming, raises registered Angus cattle and Hampshire hogs.

There are three children. One son, Charles, teaches at Etra Green and owns his own farm, but helps his father in the summer. He has another son Marshall, and a daughter in Goshen.

Lee Thompson Home Pictured Nov. 18

The farm picture in our last issue was that of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thompson who live five miles south and one and one-half miles west of Mentone. The farm is owned by Mrs. L. E. May of Laporte but has been rented by the Thompsons for the past 15 years. Mr. and Mrs. May, who formerly resided in Chicago, purchased the farm from the Earl Barr estate.

The Thompsons have two married sons. Hubert lives in Chicago and Robert in Cincinnati.

Mr. Thompson said he didn't believe in "putting all his eggs in one basket" so has about 800 pullets, 20 ewes, some sheep and Hampshire hogs, in addition to his regular program of grain farming.

Several Recognized Picture

Reports from those recognizing the farm picture started arriving early on Thursday morning. They were:

Mrs. Gerald Ballenger, Mrs. Carl Whetstone, Edith Heighway, William Blackburn, Mrs. Harold Vandoran, Nora Tucker and Mrs. Robert Hoffman.

Will Your Farm Be Next?

All of us wonder just whose farm will be pictured next week. None of us know, but look them over carefully.

METHODIST NEWS

The Mary and Martha circle of the WSCS met on Monday evening for a continuation of the study of Jeremiah. The study and presentation has been helpful and inspiring as members of the circle each take a chapter of the WSCS study guide for succeeding programs.

The sermon topic for this Sunday will be "What Price—Sin?" On Sunday evening the concluding topic on What We as Methodists Believe will be a study of The Social Creed as found in the Discipline of the Methodist Church.

The Pastor reports that the National Conference of the Board of Education held in Cincinnati two weeks ago was inspiring and very practical. He and Dr. B. B. Shake, a former District Superintendent of the Warsaw District, along with the Rev. Donald Barnes, Rev. Paul Stevenson, Miss Helen Clark, and Dr. George Fens-termacher were representatives of the North Indiana Conference. Miss Edna Butson, Miss Lois Harris, and Rev. Lear were Religious Education Directors sent by local churches from this Conference.

Approximately six hundred persons from every state participated in the very unusual and exceedingly well directed program of the conference. Each session was high-lighted by dramatized incidents of "human-relationship problems," and the entire assembly of six hundred successfully divided into groups of four to six persons for discussion and evaluation. A spokesman of each individual group had an opportunity to present the group's summary or comment on the floor.

For three evenings Dr. Plumb of Buffalo, New York, presented a challenging and inspiring address on Christian Disciplines. He spoke on the need of emotionalizing our Christian beliefs, of improving personality through a positive faith, and living the "Dress Rehearsal" of a Christian character.

Rev. Gosser regrets that all Methodism, laymen and clergy alike, did not have the opportunity of attending these highly inspiring sessions, including the very timely address by Bishop Oxnham presented on Thursday morning of that week. Only when the limited capacities of man take hold on the great ideas of God can there be these great moments of inspiration.

BENSON SAYS DIRECT CATTLE SUPPORTS UNWORKABLE

If there were a satisfactory way to control cattle production, a direct price support program would be worth considering, Agriculture Secretary Benson said today in an article written exclusively for the current Life Magazine.

The cattlemen, organized by the National Farmers Union, who recently came to Washington to ask that cattle prices be supported at not less than ninety percent of parity "were invited to submit a plan for direct support," Secretary Benson said. "After deliberating they came up with their original proposal. There was no plan, no suggested means of carrying out their proposal. These men, whose sincerity I do not question, simply ran up the same dead end in logical reasoning that numerous farm experts here and abroad have encountered."

In the Life article the Secretary of Agriculture stated that the possibility of supporting livestock prices through a direct program has been tried in other countries, where it had to be abandoned because it proved impractical. "To this day no one has come up with a workable means of controlling cattle production," Benson said.

Secretary Benson said he felt the demand for direct price supports among cattlemen was "less widespread than some incidents would indicate."

"I asked 23 major farm and livestock industry groups for their advice. Eighteen said they opposed supporting prices, four favored doing it and one expressed no opinion," Benson said. "These groups included nearly all the regional and nationwide ranching, feeding, processing and distributing organizations."

Secretary Benson also revealed that the mail he received after the cattlemen's caravan left Washington was 25 to 1 in opposition to cattle price supports.

The Department of Agriculture's current price support program on cattle is getting results and "proving a definite stimulant to market prices," Benson said.

The government's six point program for cattlemen, as outlined by Benson, includes:

1. The purchase of the equivalent of 750,000 head of cattle for sale through foreign outlets, the school lunch program and into institutions.
2. Emergency credit loans in drought areas.
3. Providing low, cost feed to cattlemen. So far, 922,000 tons have been allocated and the price cut fifty per cent.
4. The railroads have agreed to reduce cattle and feed freight rates to drought areas.
5. Ten million dollars has been taken from the President's emergency funds to finance the distribution of hay in drought regions.
6. Every available channel of information is being used to promote the use of beef. Beef consumption will be up thirty percent this year over 1952, and per capita consumption is about to reach a record 75 pounds.

Secretary Benson cited these serious drawbacks to a government direct price program for cattle:

First: Price differentials would have to be established for all the various grades of cattle to arrive at an average reflecting ninety per cent of parity. Trained manpower to grade at the three thousand large and small cattle markets would be impossible to find.

Second: A seasonal schedule of prices for all the various grades would have to be set because of the nature of cattle production cycles. This might make it necessary to fall back on embargoes and shipping certificates as it was when the government tried supporting hog prices ten years ago.

Third: If farmers believed ninety per cent price supports were on the books for good they would hold back cattle for breeding purposes which would in the end aggravate the problem through oversupply. On the other hand, they might flood the market with cattle on every occasion when it appeared the support was on its way out.

Secretary Benson warned against a possible glut of beef.

"I doubt if the farmer and the general public would stand for it. They nearly rebelled when we destroyed potatoes, and the memory of the slaughter of little pigs in New Deal days makes many people wince after two decades," Benson said.

"I believe that the people who provide our food would agree that the purpose of all farm production is consumption and that production merely for the sake of a government subsidy is undesirable," the Secretary said.

MENTONE READING CLUB

The Mentone Reading club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Reed for the November meeting with Mrs. Emma Clutter as co-hostess. The club voted to support the projects being sponsored by the thirteenth district of the Federation this year. Mrs. Maude Snyder and Mrs. Allen G. Shirey presented the following program—Joy Ryder, of Burket, piano solo, "Rhapsody in Blue;" vocal solo, "By the Waters of Minnetonka;" "Pale moon" and "Thanks Be to God" by Carol Ann Dickey, Beaver Dam. Marita Tucker of Mentone sang "Indian Love Call," "The Man I Love" and "With These Hands." Mrs. Snyder accompanied at the piano. Several members and a guest, Mrs. Loren Tridle, closed the program with a humorous play. The club adjourned to meet on December 9 with Mrs. H. V. Johns.

NAVYMAN TARDY

Rex Borton, 18, who had been spending a 19-day furlough with home folks after serving in the navy over in Korean waters, was scheduled to be back at his base at Norfolk, Va. Thursday morning. He started back by bus on Tuesday evening, but evidently decided to stay here a bit longer. When he arrived back in Mentone late Wednesday night, relatives sought the aid of the county sheriff to notify military authorities at Peru. The sheriff took the lad into custody until the military authorities arrived to deliver him back to Norfolk.
