Two Minute Sermon

By

Thomas Hastwell

THE HIGHWAY TO HAPPINESS:

The other day I had occasion to sit through a session of a large city police court. One after another of the wrong doers were brought before the judge, who, after inquiring into the facts of the case, sentenced them. One thing I noticed that they all had in common. They all appeared unhappy. There was not a smiling care free face among the lot. There is something in the violation of civil law and the threat of apprehension that seems to destroy happiness and plunge the wrong doer into the depths of unhappiness. In like measure is it true of the man who violates God's laws. His sins make him unhappy. They are a burden upon his heart and conscience that weigh down his spirits. Once he quits the error of his way and the load is lifted the feeling of a great sense of relief from an oppressive burden comes over the sinner. This fact alone, if there were no other reason, is evidence that no wrong doer can be truly happy, that happiness and contentment, and the fullest measure of living lie only in the obedience of God's laws.

Literary Club

Opens Season

Tuesday evening twenty-one members and five guests of The Mentone Reading Club were entertained for the first meeting of the year, at the home of Mrs. C. G. Carter, who extended greetings and welcome.

A violin solo, "The Holy City" was beautifully rendered by Miss Rowena Lackey. A report of the "Golden Jubilee" was given by Mrs. Dora Taylor. A book, "Reaching For The Stars" was very ably reviewed by Mrs. Cora VanGilder. Two numbers, "Lullaby" and "Big Brown Bear", sung by Miss Frances Clark and Miss Margaret Ward was the closing feature of a very enjoyable club meeting.

Royalties on Songs

Royalties for popular songs vary, depending largely upon the individual arrangement. As a general rule, the song-writer will receive on a non-production number between two and three cents for regular sheet music copies, and about two cents for orchestration. For a production number, the songwriter will usually receive six cents for regular sheet music copies and about three cents for orchestration. Melody writer and lyric writer each receives one and one-half cents per copy of regular sheet music on a non-production number.

World Standard Time

In 1884 an international congress was called to consider the subject of world standard time. The world was divided into zones each covering 15 degrees longitude, the time for each zone being that of the meridian passing through its approximate center. The meridian passing through the observatory at Greenwich, England, was chosen as the meridian from which all time should be reckoned. This plan was gradually accepted by most nations of the world with few exceptions, of which Holland is the most notable. Holland goes by its own time which differs by 19 minutes and 32 seconds and a fraction from western European time.

Deer Lifesaver

Citizens of Chetek, Wis., hail Matt Deweyer as a deer lifesaver. Deweyer was cruising in his motorboat on Lake Chetek when Oscar B. Olson called his attention to a doe struggling in the water. Deweyer maneuvered his boat close to the animal, seized it and hauled it aboard.

$6,000,000 for Safety

To develop a new safety plate glass, possessing greater elasticity and two to five times the shatter-resistance of present types, five chemical and glass companies have spent an estimated $6,000,000 for research in the last six years, the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia reports.

Grape Industry Legislation

Legislation affecting the grape and its products began early in the history of the United States. The Virginia colonists, seeking to produce good wines in America, passed laws establishing penalties for failure to cultivate the grape. The records do not tell us, however, whether enforcement was attended by as many difficulties as the late prohibition era.

Regina's Grasshopper Day

There are apple days and orange days and tag days aplenty in cities across the continent, but Regina, Saskatchewan, decided to be different, and for a good cause. It held what was known as "Grasshopper day," when the citizens and city employees co-operated in spreading poison bait for the pests.

MENTONE— TEN YEARS AGO

Taken from Community Farm News published by C. W. Krathwohl

Mrs. James Gill, 58, died at seven o'clock Sunday evening at her home two miles east of Mentone. Death was due to heart trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. Harve Poulson moved to the W. R. Coomler property on East Main St.

(Things were kinda quiet 15 years ago this week.)

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from Tri-County Gazette Published by C. M. Smith

Francis Marion Shively passed away at the age of 21 years. He was survived by the widow, Rennie Black Shively.

The Editor of the Milford Mail voiced the following bit of editorial sarcasm, proving that human nature remains pretty much the same in spite of the passing years:

"The local newspaper that carries the news into your homes once each week and for a compensation, trivial in its nature, hears of all its mistakes, but no word of praise, or even a good word spoken in its behalf. The local paper stands by the town, speaks in the highest terms of each member of your family, has the best words for your churches, your lodges, your social orders, and your homes. It refrains from setting out in bold letters even the truths at times, which might ruin your home forever, yet these helpful omissions carry no weight with the thoughtless unappreciative individuals among the readers."

Dr. Clutter of Atwood, decided to locate in Mentone. He rented the Bennett property on North Broadway and opened an office in the Mac Forest building.

Adam Bowen purchased the north 40 acres and I. H. Sarber the south forty acres of the Jeff Blue farm.

Some Mouthful

The fact that Sam Lee, student in the Pastors Course at The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, is beginning the study of his sixth language may not be sensational news, but the incident recently took a different turn when Sam revealed the devious means through which he gained his linguistic ability. Sam is a Korean by birth. At the local school he learned to speak Japanese. From residence in China for a short time, he learned Chinese. He studied English in a Japanese high school, and German in a Japanese university. Today he is studying Greek in English—and in an American school.

Feature of the program is a talk by Dr. Will H. Houghton, president of the Bible school. Moody Men's Octet, under the direction of Talmage J. Bittikofer, also will be heard. Originating in Chicago, the half hour program will be carried for 26 weeks by stations WAAB, WHN, WMBI and others at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Leroy Norris Plants Test Plot Of Hybrids

With interest in hybrid corn steadily mounting throughout the Corn Belt, farmers in the county are expected to pay particular attention during the harvest season to the yield performance of locally popular hybrid varieties in hopes of learning which will be best for them to plant in 1940.

Leroy Norris of Mentone has gone one step farther and adopted scientific experiment station methods to prove to himself and other local corn growers just what the various highly publicized hybrid varieties will do on Kosciusko county farms.

Last spring he planted more than a dozen different varieties in a 5-acre proving field near here and now farmers have an opportunity to see the difference in the varieties as they grow side by side under the same conditions of soil and weather.

He reports that local farmers are showing a great deal of interest in the test plot and several are going through the field every day. From the wide variety selection, they are able to find corn that meets all of their many needs, including many types of kernels and ears ranging from the smooth and shiny to the soft and rough and stalk heights from very tall down to almost sweet corn height.

Plans are under way to hold a public husking bee and visitors will be welcomed to see the varieties husked out and the final yields compared.

It always burns up a creditor to see an item that the debtor and his family are taking a vacation in the mountains or by the seaside. The creditor knows who's paying for the vacation.

The quickest way to repeal an obnoxious law is to strictly enforce it.

A local "Alexander Woolcott" insists that the expression "Jazz music" is incorrect. He says that there is no such thing as jazz music. It is either jazz, or it is music, and cannot be both.

It has taken us quite a while to catch on to it, but we can spot a mile away the fellow who asks our opinion about the war merely to make an opening for him to unburden his tiresome and unimportant opinion upon us.

"I judge a restaurant," a local man who does a good deal of running around, said yesterday, "by it's gravy. If the gravy is an insipid greasy mess the rest of the institution's cooking is probably of the same kind. If the gravy is good every thing about the place will likely be good. An otherwise good dinner can be spoiled with poor gravy. Strange how many restaurantmen don't seem to know this."

We sleep, but the loom of life never stops, and the pattern which was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up in the morning.—Henry Ward Beecher.

A reduction in automobile prices on the 1940 models has been announced by several manufacturers. Buick announces a cut of $17 to $281 on nine of its models. Nash has announced reductions from $20 to $50.

Germany's largest single item of food is potatoes. So important is the crop that the Ministry of Foods recently issued an order that any person seeing a potatoe bug should report it at once to the police.

Kay Boysen, of Denmark, has built the largest toy business in Europe through the construction of simple wooden toys made of maple or beech wood. Boysen does not paint the toys. He believes that the child's imagination will do this in a most satisfactory way to the child. The toys are made on simple artistic lines which it is believed will give the children an appreciation of good design. The success of Boysen with a simple line of toys in a field already crowded with competition is an interesting story.

Man could not live without salt. It is claimed that it is essential to digestion in that it forms the hydrochloric acid necessary for digestion.

A local man has placed himself definitely on record as a neutral. He says he doesn't care who licks Hitler.

It is a fine thing to believe that everything works out for the best in the end, but when one looks at world conditions it does seem that some lengthy detours are being made.

It is a nice art to be conscious of criticism but not discouraged by it. The fact that one is criticized is evidence of the fact that he has done something, which is more than can be said of most of the critics.

Minor Operation At McDonald

Clayton Clutter was removed to his home in Mentone Wednesday after a minor operation at the McDonald hospital.

We Won't Tell Either

"Daisies won't tell", and neither will we. Plucking petals proves nothing and neither does talk.

With flowery words we could tell you all about the top-cylinder oil in Tydol—about Tydol's mileage and performance. We could give you a point for every petal on a daisy. We could tell you—but we won't! We'd rather let you try Tydol and let Tydol talk for itself.

So, stop at your dealer's today—test a tankful of Tydol—let performance and not words tell you the facts.

Warning For Motorists

A recent survey of 426 cities among all classes of population revealed that 11.52 per cent of all legitimate fire alarms during 1938 were calls for assistance from motorists. A very high percentage of these were for fires caused by anti-freeze solutions catching fire from the heated motor after leaking from the radiator and hose connections, according to the motor club.

Because unseasonable cold snaps foretell that an early winter is in the offing, here is a timely warning for motorists:

"Before adding anti-freeze solutions during these next few weeks in preparation for winter driving, have your radiator and its connections carefully checked to prevent your car from being a fire statistic."

Air-Filtering Device

In an air-filtering device air is passed between two surfaces between which a high electric potential difference is maintained. Dust is precipitated on the surface at the lower potential by electrostatic attraction and ionic bombardment of the electric wind created by the corona discharge. Potential differences from several thousand volts up are used. Much higher voltages can be used in power plants for precipitating fly ash, since the ozone produced by the discharge goes out the stack and is therefore not objectionable.

Cross of Gold

Mark Sullivan, in "Our Times," says: "Almost every paragraph of the Cross of Gold speech had been delivered scores of times to audiences up and down the Missouri valley, during two years preceding. The speech, as delivered at the convention, was extemporaneous only in the sense that the order of its parts was arranged to fit the occasion, and enough sentences improvised to form an introduction, to supply connections between the parts and to adapt the whole to the particular audience and circumstances."

New, Interesting Articles On Child Training

Beginning this week and continuing for the next twelve weeks we are printing a series of articles on Child Training. Each of the twelve articles is written by a different author and parents of growing children will find them interesting, informative features of unusual appeal. They are prepared by outstanding authorities in the field of child training and education. Actual examples of child behaviour, told in short-story fashion, enliven the series, making it invaluable to parents.

When Johnny or Sadie spend too much time day-dreaming—when Billy can't stay interested in any one thing—do you know what to do about it?

Most parents don't know what to do, and that's where the work of the National Kindergarten Association proves helpful. Members of that group have prepared "Child Training" just to answer such questions as these. They know the problems commonly confronting parents everywhere, and know the logical experience-tested answers to those problems.

Each of the twelve writers who prepared "Child Training" is a recognized authority. Years spent with kindergarten-age youngsters have given them a keen insight into their problems. They are not faddists or theorists. Theirs is a practical knowledge, and from it comes practical advice and suggestions.

The first of this series of articles will be found on page four of this issue. Don't miss a single one.

Mrs. D. L. Bunner, assisted by Mrs. Dan L. Urschel, Mrs. Ernie Manwaring, Mrs. H. V. Johns and Mrs. C. G. Carter, entertained the Sodales club at a 1:00 o'clock luncheon at the former home Thursday. After the luncheon a hilarious cat and mouse game was played and Mrs. R. G. Reed was the winner.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent playing bingo and each player won a prize. This was one of the nicest birthday parties the club had ever had.

Find Bull Elk Too Ornerly, Loses State Protection

DURANGO, COLO.—A 27-year-old bull elk which apparently concluded it was too old to forage for itself brought on its own death near here through sheer meanness. The huge old animal, believed one of a consignment of 23 calves brought here from the Jackson Hole country in Wyoming in 1912, took possession of a rancher's feed lot and allowed no other live stock or even the rancher to penetrate his well-provisioned domain.

Game officials, called in to settle the dispute, observed the bull's stiffness, quarrelsomeness, and other indications of infirmity, and sent a bullet into its brain.

Police Chase Children Lugging Away Foundry

SAN FRANCISCO.—When W. A. Schimmelpfenning telephoned police that children were carrying away his foundry piecemeal they thought he was joking.

But they investigated and found one nine-year-old girl in pigtailed carrying off 200 pounds of pig iron; another girl, nine, staggering away with a huge casting; two boys with a coaster who admitted they had carried off two earloads of fish-plates, and several other boys who shamefacedly admitted that they had succeeded in getting away with a ton of iron. The loot was being sold to junk dealers.

Receive Bandit Warning, They're Already Present

SALINAS, CALIF.—Police Capt. Ralph Placie demonstrated a remarkable faculty of timing in informing citizens that thieves were operating in their district, but the thieves showed even better timing.

Miss Margaret Adams answered the police call at 1:15 in the morning and listened to Placie's warning, but the thieves were in her apartment and one of them was holding an automatic pistol to her temple. She merely thanked Placie and hung up. Later the thieves departed with $55.

Mother Slides Down Rope In Well and Saves Child

CHILDRESS, TEXAS.—With no ladder at hand when her two-year-old son, Donald Glenn Rickman, fell into a 14-foot well, Mrs. O. J. Rickman tied a rope to a post and slid to his rescue.

She pulled the child from two feet of water, grasped his clothes in her teeth and climbed back hand over hand.

Donald Glenn suffered only bruises, but Mrs. Rickman was painfully burned by the rope.

GIRL IS SERVING STRETCH IN PRISON BECAUSE OF LOVE

Attempted Holdup 'to Get Out Of Way' for Two to Win Happiness.

PADUCAH, KY.—Convicted of robbery, a young Chicago woman is serving a 10-year sentence in the Kentucky women's prison—because she wanted to "get out of the way" and let two other persons in a love triangle find happiness.

But relatives, friends and even state and city officials are joined in a move to obtain mercy and possible executive clemency from Gov. A. B. ("Happy") Chandler.

The young woman is Ruth Strickland, 23. She came here from Chicago on a bus and four hours later was arrested for trying to hold up two women patrons in front of a theater with a toy gun.

Hides Identity.

At the time of her arrest, she said her name was "Barbara Williams," but admitted the name was fictitious. She refused to reveal her true name or where she came from. She told police:

"I wanted to be arrested. I want to go to jail."

She refused to answer questions and when arraigned reiterated her plea to be sent to prison, saying:

"I came here to commit a crime and get sent to jail so two friends of mine can be married."

"You see, I'm in love with a man. And he's in love with another girl. Both of them feel obligated to me—never mind why—and I felt that as long as I was around they would never marry. His happiness is all that matters to me."

"If I disappear they can marry. However, I didn't bargain for a ten-year sentence."

Recognize Picture.

The girl's picture was printed in newspapers and one was recognized by Mrs. Hazel Strickland Jones of Harvey, Ill., as Ruth Strickland, her sister and a music student.

Ruth, whose natural brown hair had been dyed blonde, had adopted her mother's maiden name of Barbara Williams in the effort to conceal her identity.

Mrs. Jones came here in an effort to get her sister's sentence reduced or commuted.

The latest to come to the aid of the girl was Mayor Edgar T. Washburn of this city who wrote to Governor Chandler asking executive clemency.

Although Kentucky newspapers have criticized the severity of the sentence meted out by Circuit Judge Price, Governor Chandler has often boasted that he has yet to grant a pardon or commutation of sentence.

OBITUARY

Cornelia Rebecca Fowler, daughter of Thomas W. and Lucy L. Fowler, was born October 21, 1855 at Metamora, Ohio. She departed this life at Guide Rock, Nebraska, October 3, 1939, at the age of eighty-three years, eleven months and twelve days.

Her early life was spent near Wauseon, Ohio, where she devoted a number of years to the rearing of a younger brother, Eli, and cared for her aged father until his death.

She was united in marriage July 21, 1897, at Mentone, Indiana, to James Meltin, who preceded her in death August 19, 1909.

Since 1924 most of her remaining years were spent at Guide Rock, Nebraska, at the home of her brother Eli W. Fowler, whose death occurred in 1932. A brother Robert, and a sister, Alice, also preceded her in death.

She is survived by an aged brother, W. E. Fowler of Delta, Ohio; by two nieces, Alice Fowler and Winnie Fowler Tracey, of Guide Rock, and by her friends, all of whom will miss her.

In early life she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, later transferring to the Mentone Methodist church, November 10, 1903, under the pastorate of J. W. Walters. She continued her membership there through a long and faithful life, her absence from her church deepening her devotion to it. During the past summer she received great comfort from a visit to her former home and church at Mentone.

Her Christian character and quiet, considerate nature made her life beautiful to those who knew her, and she bore her last illness with great patience. Her long life has been well lived.

Your Children Can Help You; Let Them Try

needed in delegating household tasks. Even older children may be too immature to do difficult or too continuous work. Wise mother will keep close watch over youngsters.

By EMMA GARY WALLACE

WHERE there is a family of children and the means are limited, it often becomes necessary for the older children to give as much help as they possibly can, not only with the housework but with the care of the little ones, and the tasks are usually accepted cheerfully.

But good judgment is needed in such situations. The mother must remember that the older children are still immature, and that they should not be called upon for work that is too difficult or too continuous. What may seem light—not at all overtaxing—to older persons may be quite tiring to a boy or girl, and a child is entitled to a happy youth as far as can be managed. Then the little ones—even a single little one—may become quite demanding and tyrannical. The wise mother will keep a close watch of the general situation and see to it that each child is dealt with fairly.

In order that the mother herself shall not be overtaxed and made irritable by too many demands upon her strength and time, it may be necessary for her to simplify the household program as far as possible.

Part of the ironing, for instance, may properly be left undone. Many garments and sheets do not actually require ironing. If they are sweet and fresh and clean, pulled into shape just before they are quite dry and smoothly folded, that is all that is necessary. The beds will look better, of course, if pillow cases are ironed.

Even such ironing as may really need to be done, can be accomplished with less fatigue if there is a high stool to sit on—preferably with a back—and one of these costs little. There is no reason why dishes cannot be washed, or part of them at least, while using the same stool. If they are thoroughly rinsed and a drainer is used most of them will not need to be wiped.

Meals can be attractively served and yet be simple and nourishing. A baked custard takes less time and work than a pie. Baked apples, simple rice puddings, unfrosted cakes and "one-dish meals" each cuts down a little on the work, and every little helps. A "one-dish meal" is one where vegetables and meat are cooked in one container and served in that container.

Don't Let Work Become Humdrum.

Some sort of a play can be devised so that the work the older children do loses its humdrum character. For example: the living room is to be put in exceptionally nice order, because the Queen of Hearts is coming for supper, and as the children do the work, they could chant to some well-known tune.

*"The Queen of Hearts
She made some tarts
All on a summer day.
The King of Hearts
He found those tarts
And stole them all away."*

One of the children could pretend to be the Queen of Hearts who will come in with a bright red scarf around her shoulders or a gilt paper crown and inspect the dusting. The King might wear that crown at suppers, but of course he would not be given a chance to defraud the others.

Taking care of the baby should be carefully supervised. Slender older children can wheel the baby or draw him about on a little cart or sled, but they should not be expected to carry him. The little one, who is being cared for by the older children, should not be allowed to impose upon them by demanding toys of which older brothers and sisters are choice, and perhaps are justified in not liking to lend if the baby is likely to break or spoil them.

It is not to be wondered at that older children sometimes look upon the little newcomers as very much of a trial. But under the right management, with sympathetic understanding, they may easily be led to love and willingly help care for the new babies. It should be made plain that they continue to hold, even more securely than before, their own special places in the affection and confidence of parents and relatives.

Lightweight Diving Equipment

Charles Edwards, 23 years old, who has dived for pearls in lightweight equipment invented by himself, is diving for gold in the deep pools of New Zealand's swift mountain rivers. He went from Sydney, Australia, to New Zealand with a mining engineer, who invited him to make the venture. Prospectors are recovering large quantities of gold from margins of New Zealand rivers, but deep pools have never been explored because the streams are too swift to permit dredging and the country too rugged for transporting heavy diving apparatus. Edwards' complete equipment weighs only 100 pounds.

COMMERCIALIZING ON FOUR-LEAVED CLOVER

We now have a "99% pure" four-leaved clover strain. C. T. Daniels of Balboa, Canal Zone, is the originator. He has been working on the production of a four-leaved strain of clover for ten years, and now has built up a lucrative business, shipping the leaves all over the world. According to our information, he has not introduced the strain to commerce.

But Mr. Daniels doesn't seem to have a corner on the market after all, for we also have tidings of still another four-leaf clover grower—H. R. Mosnat, Bette Plaine, Ia., who is said to be growing four-leaved clovers as a commercial venture.

LOCAL FARMERS ENTER CONTEST

Kosciusko County's outstanding farmers including Samuel N. Norris of Mentone and Delmer Morts of Claypool are busy checking up on their corn yields in the presence of neighbor witnesses and reporting them for county, state and national competition in the 1939 Corn Championship Contest.

High yields and not tall stalks are what will count when all of the thousands of entries have been reported from every part of the corn-belt. Local cornrowers are confident they will turn in a creditable showing in this mammoth agricultural event.

Five prizes are to be awarded in the county with a grand championship prize for the county's number one corn grower. By winning the county grand championship, he will automatically be placed in competition with the grand champions of every other county in the state for the title of Indiana Corn King. Finally, the state champions from the leading corn producing states will be judged in national competition, and the winner awarded the national grand championship prize.

The top yield reported in the contest at this writing is 145.29 bushels per acre. It was made by P. J. Roth of Wayland, Iowa.

MODERN COUNTERPART OF JOHNNY APPLESEED

We in this generation have a modern counterpart of Johnny Appleseed, the nickname of an eccentric midwestern pioneer, John Chapman, who in the early 1800's wandered through the Middle West setting out nurseries of apple trees so that when settlers arrived they would find young trees for their orchards.

Our modern crusader is a planter of roadside trees. He is Harold Howell of Athens, Ohio, and it is said that during the past 18 years he had planted 42,000 trees in that vicinity. He raises his own trees, according to our report.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

$2 EGGS

WHEN my mother went over-land in a covered wagon to a new home in the West, the country was just settling up. Transportation was slow, was expensive. Prices of everything were high.

She preserved a newspaper of her girlhood on the frontier, and it interests me occasionally to read the current prices of things you buy every day now for a few cents.

Eggs were $2 a dozen in those days. Sugar brought 40 cents a pound. Kerosene was $3 a gallon. Candles cost 25 cents apiece.

Compare these prices with the prices you see advertised in your newspaper today and you will see that, although much talk is bandied back and forth concerning the increased cost of living, the fact is that the cost has gone downward consistently since frontier times.

One of the reasons for high prices then was undoubtedly the difficulty with which the supply was obtained—the hazards and expense of transporting goods.

But the chief reason was that the cost of these necessities could not be spread out over enough customers to bring them at lower cost to all. The merchant had to pay the cost of his business out of sales to a comparatively few customers. Costs had to be high.

Prices on everything you buy today, regardless of whether you live in a village or a large city, would be higher now if it were not for the service of advertising in lowering them to your advantage.

As soon as a manufacturer or a merchant begins to advertise he begins to sell more. As he sells more it costs him less to sell to each customer. He cuts the price. More customers come. Again he is able to cut the price.

Pretty soon you have the situation of improved quality and lower prices, brought about through the creative service of advertising to the consumer.

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is unadvertised, which has no established market, that costs more than you can afford to pay.

Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, it doesn't make any difference what, you are getting more for your money—more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something which was not advertised.

The man who builds a business on advertising can give you more for your money because advertising enables him to give more for less. See how advertising pays you every day.

Nagging Injurious To Husband's Heart

WILMINGTON, DEL.—If nagging wives don't change their tactics, they're apt to give their husbands heart trouble, warns Dr. Robert Tomlinson. FIERY COEDS MEET IN DUEL TO FINISH

Campus Insult Is Avenged in Traditional Setting.

SHREVEPORT, LA.—Two coeds met on the field of honor in a duel to the finish over an insult. The affair was overshadowed by all the traditions of the old South, where a man's pistol was ever ready to avenge slights and speak his dislike. The girls stood back to back, in regular dueling custom. Each was armed with a previously agreed weapon. Each burned with a hope that her aim would be as true as her convictions.

Seconds and judges held their breath as the girls moved apart the prescribed five paces. There was no doctor on the scene. Suddenly the girls turned and let fly with the weapons they carried. One missed, but the other, who claimed she had been insulted, didn't. She hurled a dripping chocolate squarely into the face of her opponent.

The winner was Miss Anna Holstead of Shreveport. Her opponent, who got plastered, was Miss Vanelle Plastow of Bay Shore, N. Y. Both are coeds at Louisiana Tech at Ruston, La., east of here in north-eastern Louisiana, where the duel took place.

Miss Holstead had objected to Miss Plastow's blunt description of her literary style. Her comment was: "Confidentially, it smells." That was enough, the duel was on.

Accompanied by a few students and seconds bearing towels, the duelists met behind the school stadium.

Prof. H. F. Hewins, one of the witnesses, said the girls got most of the drippy pies over themselves in taking them out of the tins and getting ready for the duel.

As Miss Holstead's pie flew straight to its mark, she cried, "touche," and a judge, another coed, declared her the winner. The affair marked Miss Holstead's farewell to the Tech campus for she was graduated the night before. Miss Plastow is a sophomore. They left the field of honor friends.

Two Big Deer Are Found Dead With Horns Locked

DENVER.—A story of death in the high, cold country of Parlin, Colo., of two big mule deer who were victims of their natural make-up was revealed here recently by the state fish and game commission.

The bodies of two bucks, in a well-preserved condition as a result of the frigid atmosphere, were found by John McClain, a rancher, with their horns locked together.

McClain reported the deer battled over a half-acre of ground until one buck died, his antlers intertwined with those of his adversary. The first warrior to die slipped into an arroyo. McClain theorized, with his hind legs barely touching the ground.

The victor held his victim suspended until he, too, succumbed from exhaustion, after being unable to free himself.

McClain said he would have the heads of the two four-point bucks mounted, with the antlers still locked.

Idle Man Picks Up $121; $10 Reward Buys Shoes

ST. JOHN, N. B.—John Griffen, unemployed, was walking along a street here looking for work when he stumbled over a small mud-caked bundle of bills.

He put the bills in his pocket, took them home, cleaned them off and dried them by the stove. Altogether there was $121.

Then he put the bills back in his pocket, trudged to a police station and turned them over to the owner, who had reported his loss.

With a $10 bill in his pocket as a reward, Griffen was given a lift by the police wagon to an uptown store, where he bought a new pair of shoes and went out again in search of work.

Expert Says All Locks With Key Can Be Picked

CANTON, OHIO.—To be a successful lock-picker one must have a knowledge of locks, an extraordinary dexterity of the fingers, infinite patience and luck, believes Maxwell C. Maxwell, lock company executive.

Maxwell said locks today are based on the principles of the wooden lock used by the Egyptians more than 4,000 years ago.

You hear a lot of old-timers say the seasons are changing. It's the cause of quite a bit of conjecture, and a good many people think it's true. But it's definite that one kind of season is shifting. That's the travel season.

There's a definite trend toward later vacations. Every year now for the past four or five seasons, more and more motorists are seeing the advantages of vacationing in September and October.

It used to be that Labor Day marked the official close of all vacations. But now those who have to take their vacations later are thanking their bosses instead of stewing and fretting about it, and here are three reasons why.

1. Weather is more pleasant for driving and sight-seeing in early Fall.

2. Many popular resorts are open, and their prices are more reasonable after Labor Day.

3. Highways are uncrowded now fighting the clamor of traffic-jammed roads in the heat.

And the idea some people have about some of the better places sort of folding up before or after the height of their season is a lot of hokey. The Gaspe Peninsula, for instance, is never more lovely than in early Fall. There's wonderful cool, crisp weather that sets your blood tingling, the trees in their pre-cold weather colors in their studdings of rock and water are one of North America's wonders.

Florida, too, is never better than in Fall. It's cooler and more pleasant than your home town, and proprietors all over the state fall all over themselves to serve you at a price which will stagger you in its contrast to usual prices when the "season" is on.

And closer home, Brown County and Turkey Run in our own state, the Dells and Green Bay Peninsula in Wisconsin, Great Smoky Mountains in Tennessee, and the Ozarks in Missouri offer tempting havens for routine weary motorists.

We predict that if you ever taste the charm of early Fall touring you'll find yourself in the caravan which trails its way through the smoky haze of Indian Summer every year.

For many years in this country baseball pitchers were required to pitch the ball underhand without bending the elbow.

The Grand Coulee dam in Washington equals twenty of the largest dams in America. The cement in it would build a four lane highway from Seattle to New York and then back to San Francisco. The dam will be about a mile long and 500 feet thick at the base. It will create the largest artificial lake in the world, pushing water back 151 miles.

From recent observations, it seems to us that too many people who ought to be doing their own thinking are letting others do it for them, and too many people who ought to let others do their thinking are trying to do it for themselves.

In the final analysis, few things are worth more to an individual than a good night's sleep.

GIVE US ROOM

As this is National Fire Prevention week we feel that it is a good time to point out to the people of the community, the possible results of failure on the part of the public to co-operate fully with the fire department in the event of fire. While not complaining in regard to any specific case, we have on several different occasions been handicapped due to cars parked on the highway and in farm driveways.

As an illustration, a few weeks ago near Indianapolis, a large farm building caught fire in the middle of the day and large numbers of spectators were attracted by the smoke. A township pumper was summoned and made quick response. The building, however, was completely destroyed due to the fact that the truck was unable to reach the blaze through a driveway parked full of spectator's cars.

A state law requires that fire apparatus shall have the right-of-way and that no car shall follow within 500 feet of the fire truck. Even so, it would be small satisfaction for a property owner to know that the person or persons who prevented the firemen from saving his property have been arrested.

Give the firemen the first five minutes. Five minutes time means little to the spectator in reaching a fire. If the fire is such a small one that it can be extinguished in five minutes, it really isn't worth a spectators time to go. If it's a big fire it will still be in progress when he gets there anyway so please co-operate with us in this way. The first five minutes are so important to the firemen and to the owner of a burning building.

Roads or streets or even fire hydrants should not be blocked even after the fire truck arrives. If it is a big fire it may be necessary to shift the apparatus about.

Consideration of these points will enable the firemen to do a more efficient job and will lessen the chances of our community suffering a disastrous fire.

During this Fire Prevention Week we hope that every citizen of the town of Mentone and every farmer in this vicinity will ask themselves the question, "Have I any fire hazards on my premises?" Let's make this a general clean up week.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

THE REWARD OF THE WELL DONE TASK: In the first chapter of Genesis is found the story of the creation of the world. There is one line in this graphic description that has always struck me forcibly. When God created the land, and the water, and the heavens, and the grass, and the birds, and the beasts, he viewed each task, and the scripture says: "He saw that it was good." No detail was lacking that might add to the completeness of the whole.

What a model for every worker. How much it might mean to every individual if he would perform every task, every duty of life in such a way that at its completion he would be able to say "it is good." Many go through life doing the tasks of each day indifferently. They receive no thrill of accomplishment because they have failed to put into their work sincerity. They have not discovered that there is no pleasure to be found in a task indifferently done. They have not discovered that to the one who performs each task the best he knows how, there comes a satisfaction and a joy of achievement that glorifies the humblest task, and makes of it a satisfying experience. Work so that when the task is finished, be it big or little, you can say: "It is good."

It brings to all of life a new meaning, a new design for living, when a man realizes that he is part of God's plan in this universe and has a place on the scheme of things that calls for the very best that in him lies.

A local businessman, who went in for raising a flock of chickens last year figured that by the time he got them in the frying pan they cost him three dollars and twenty cents a pound. A man raising chickens just for a lark shouldn't try to figure the cost that way. He should figure them as the vacationing fisherman figures his fish—that is, charge off a liberal amount for the fun he has had. Most any vacationists, if he figured his fish on the basis of what it cost him to get to where they were and back home, would find they cost close to ten dollars a pound, even with the most optimistic estimate of the catch.

A finance company advertisement in one of the city papers importunes us to "borrow money on our car and take a vacation." While the ad caption is poor advice it more or less reflects the temper of the times.

Whenever a man begins to brag upon his humility he begins to lose it. No good time is worth sacrificing a good name for.

Someone has compared swing music to a collision he once witnessed between a truck load of empty milk cans and another containing three crates of ducks.

Hitler left more dead men on the fields of Poland than there are in the entire United States army. Every one was defending his native land.

It is estimated that at least 25,000,000 Americans wear glasses.

Anyone have any ideas about how to stop the man who always has an opinion ready on every matter of local, state, national and international nature that comes up—and insists on airing it?

We withhold his name for fear he will be charged with being a prejudiced radical, but there's a business man in town who says if they ever turn hell upside down they will find stamped on the bottom of it, "Made in Germany."

The danger of putting off taking a little leisure and enjoying oneself, until one has made his fortune, is that when one reaches a point where he feels justified in taking some time off he has lost interest in everything except a rocking chair and a fly swatter.

So live that a lot of folks will be truly sorry when the news comes that you have passed on.

One household hint that appears practicable is the advice to young women that to protect their bathing suits from the moth during the winter the bathing suit should be put in a jelly glass and the lid sealed on tightly.

CHOP SUEY SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. M. Roy Rush entertained the following at a chop suey supper at their home Sunday night: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Haldeman and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Haldeman of Rochester.

IN MEMORY

In memory of our daughter, Mary Lou, who passed away just one year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Whetstone.

I'd like to peek into heaven to-day,
To the spot where the little children play,
I'd search for a figure dressed in blue—

With cheeks so red, and eyes so bright,
Near the river of life; on the pavement gold;
Close, where the great pearly gates unfold.

'Tis a year now since she waved her hand
And wandered into that unknown land.

And often when I sit at home,
'Tis then, my thoughts are want to roam.

As in a dream—the pitter patter
Of little feet, and baby chatter
Ring through the house, and in the door.

I see her dear sweet form once more.
I reach my hand to touch her hair,
But, low, my darling is not there.
Yet, I know she'll play and patiently wait

For me, to come through that great white gate.

1940 Chevrolet Makes Bow To Public

Three completely re-styled series of Chevrolet passenger cars, combining greater length and width with much more massive appearance, and embodying many mechanical refinements, made their formal public bow Saturday at the National Automobile Show and in Chevrolet dealers' salesrooms from coast to coast. Over-all length has been increased 4 1/2 inches, a change which makes the new line outstanding for its sleekness and grace.

Improvements, aside from styling, in which sweeping changes are made, include provision of Chevrolet's exclusive vacuum power shift as regular equipment on all models of all three series, and numerous revisions affecting safety, comfort, convenience, performance, and long life. Knee action and shockless steering are featured on the Special DeLuxe and Master De Luxe series.

Except for the difference in front suspension and the use of a slightly higher gear ratio on the Master 85, the chassis of the three series are practically identical and all are of the same wheelbase.

In appearance, the 1940 Chevrolet is new from bumper to bumper. Bumpers, fenders, hood, and frame are completely re-designed, to embody low-slung grace. These changes result also in increased stability, since they lower the center of gravity of the car as a whole. Changes, except for trim and extra equipment, are the same on all three series.

The radiator grille, one of the most obvious outward changes, is much lower and wider. The alligator-jaw type hood has a deep, gracefully-rounded nose, and is designed in such a way that the line along which it opens is unnoticeable when the hood is closed. The hood is equipped with a theft-proof lock so that access to the engine compartment can be gained only after releasing a control knob under the dash.

Front fenders are longer, wider, and deeper, and sweep inward from the crown to the sides of the hood in an almost horizontal plane, without valleys. Streamlined headlamps, nearly 20 inches long, are nestled in the fenders at locations almost 10 inches farther apart. Parking lamps are mounted between headlamps and outer edge of fender.

Bodies are larger, inside and out, and are also more rigid. Seats are wider, and leg-room and head-room are increased. Wide doors make for easier ingress and egress. Numerous interior refinements, which vary among the three series, result in luxury, comfort and convenience unmatched in previous years' models.

Springing has been improved for better balance between front and rear suspensions, and steering geometry on the Master 85 is revised for better steering. Gasoline tank capacity in all models except Business Coupe and Sedan Delivery is increased from 14 to 16 gallons.

Trunk capacity is enlarged by the lowering of the car floor, the engine being inclined somewhat more toward the rear, to minimize the rear compartment floor tunnel. Trunks are larger, and are now illuminated through apertures in the rear of the recessed tail and stop lamp shells.

See and drive the New 1940 Chevrolet at your local Chevrolet dealers.

Kosciusko Gets Short Courses December 14-15

Kosciusko people are to find soon that there is something new under the sun. The Agriculture Extension Service of Purdue university will this coming winter put on eight Short Courses in agriculture and home economics at various points in Indiana. Here they are—Mishawaka December 12 and 13, Warsaw December 14 and 15, Noblesville January 25 and 26, Kentland January 30 and 31, Corydon February 6 and 7, North Vernon February 8 and 9, Decatur February 13 and 14 and Hartford City February 15 and 16.

Short Courses constitute one of the largest and most important of the various Agricultural Extension enterprises operated in Indiana. Last season the average attendance of different persons per Short Course held was 2318, with attendance ranging from 975 to 4600. Commonly upwards of 700 attend the sixteen instruction sessions on agriculture and home economics for men and women, 1200 to 4500 attend the home talent concert which is another feature of every program, and 300 the goodwill get-together banquet of the last night.

Kosciusko County, by request of representative men and women of town and country, will on December 14 and 15 hold one of these Short Courses at Warsaw. For this, preparations are now being made. This will be the first for this county. There is no cost whatever for those attending, except for the banquet. Anyone may attend from Kosciusko County or neighboring counties. The affair is in all respects a joint and cooperative town-country enterprise, and in point of attendance should make a good showing in comparison with other Short Courses held in neighboring counties.

Committee heads for the Kosciusko County Short Course are: Advertising, Eugene White, Robert Hall and Carl Beyer, all Warsaw; Finance, Elmer Fank, Warsaw, Calvin Koontz, So. Whitley and A. D. Wilson, Milford; Home Economics, Mrs. Frank Sanders, Warsaw and Mrs. Perry Hoover, Milford; Entertainment, Paul Eilly, Warsaw and Walter Powers, Menone; Goodwill Banquet, Alvin Brallier, Milo Maloy and Wilbur Maish, Warsaw and Lloyd Felkner, Milford; Places of meeting James M. Quick War Relief Given by Red Cross

Shipwrecked American Citizens, Wounded Poles, Refugees, Repatriates Aided

Washington.—The American Red Cross moved quickly at the onset of hostilities in Europe to organize relief for war sufferers and give aid to American citizens stranded in danger zones or rescued from sea-warfare catastrophes.

Red Cross officials pointed out that following contact of German-Polish forces on September 1, the organization made available medical relief for civilians and armies of Poland; provided aid for Americans repatriating from Europe as they landed in the United States ports; granted medical and maintenance assistance to American survivors of the "Athenia," first sea casualty of the war; gave financial aid to the American Hospital in Paris, France; and developed a comprehensive communications system to allay the fears of distraught relatives.

Norman H. Davis, chairman, cabled the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva on September 1 asking what relief would be needed from the American Red Cross. In a first step in consolidating Red Cross relief forces throughout the nation, 3,700 Red Cross chapters were authorized to begin producing refugee garments and to accept contributions for war relief.

A quick response from the Polish Red Cross to Chairman Davis' cable to the International Committee resulted in an American Red Cross appropriation of $50,000 for the purchase of 45 items of medicines, and for army blankets and a quantity of large hospital tents capable of housing 50 stretcher cases each.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

THE SECOND MILE: In the book of Matthew appears the command by Christ: "And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain." Many persons I think, read his important verse little thinking of what it means, or of the deep, underlying principles of human psychology it contains. When one merely goes the first mile he performs only his duty. He does only what he has to do. There is little soul culture to be gained in merely doing what one has to do. The things that one does in going the second mile are the things that enrich the soul, and make life full, and cause it to reach out in wider, and wider circles of influence and blessing. The finest rewards of doing, all come in the second mile. Making this simple truth the practice of life is the secret of happier, richer and larger living.

Things To Watch For

A machine which automatically cracks eggs at a high rate of speed.

And a device that mechanically removes the scales from fish.

Appearance of toilet water, hosiery, and other merchandise for women tradenamed Scarlett O'Hara simultaneously with forthcoming film version of "Gone With The Wind."

New method for cooling drinks when ice is not available—a cocktail shaker with a special chamber for mixing powders which, through a chemical reaction, produce a temperature 20 degrees lower than ice in three minutes.

Use of red neon light tubes covered with durable transparent plastic sunk in the middle of heavily traveled highways to mark center of road for night drivers during fog or rain—U. S. Bureau of Public Roads plans to test device on highway in Arkansas.

MAN MUST MOVE FORWARD

The vegetable kingdom parallels the animal kingdom in many respects. Weeds and crab grass grow easily and will take a lawn or a farm if not curbed and rooted out. The same thing is true of the human race. Unless the better element which stands for nothing and contribute nothing toward human progress and the upbuilding of the race. Whether we like the thought or not unless the race is kept on the upward trend toward higher and better living it is going to die out. The difference between the desire to get some place, accomplish something worth while and live on a higher, better plane, and merely drifting and following the line of least resistance always, is the difference between progress and better living and stagnation, retrogression and disintegration.

Newton's Star Gazing

Sir Isaac Newton was the first man to estimate the distance of the stars with reasonable accuracy.

AUTO SHOW

It's customary for motor makers at the opening of the National Automobile Show to wax optimistic. As this year's show got underway Sunday, however, their enthusiasm was rooted in a big backlog of orders already received from the motoring public for 1940 models. Dealers report that the new models are "selling like hotcakes." Most plausible reasons for this rush of business appeared to be:

1. Renewed confidence in the future as result of business upturn since May.
2. Increased purchasing power in rural areas following September rise in crop values.
3. Substantially improved design and appearance of the new cars, plus price reductions on some models.
4. Unreasonable, but nevertheless real fears of some persons that inflationary forces may boost auto prices soon.

5. Enormous "postponed" demand due to subnormal auto sales and production between 1930 and 1935, and last year.

Belgium's Official Pawnshop

Belgium's official pawnshop at present resembles several types of stores combined in one. Hundreds of bicycles, statues of Napoleon and 42,813 pairs of sheets may be found pledged in the Brussels shop, which is under government supervision and has no competition. One client pawned 900 articles in three years, an average of nearly one a day. Another, who pawned a wedding dress, renewed the $10 loan by paying interest for 45 years.

Bullet's Penetrating Power

The penetrating power of a bullet sometimes depends more on its type and target than on its velocity, says Collier's. During tests in which pointed bullets were fired into moist sand, the penetration was 10 inches at 50 feet, 14 inches at 300 feet and 16 inches at 1,500 feet.

Man wants many things on this earth, but actually needs but little. The laborer eats more food than does the millionaire but no more fuel or clothing are required to keep him warm. Its in the stage setting and the surroundings and the "atmosphere" that the extra cost comes in.

The closing clincher of every argument regarding conduct or action between the parents and the young people of today is: "Well all the rest of the kids do."

A local man says that if it were true when some people die that they come back to earth in another form, he, if he could have his choice, would like to come back in the form of his wife's cat. "I never did get the attention that cat gets," he said.

A good time is the rock upon which the ship of many a young man's career has been wrecked.

If your preacher preaches on an average of but one good sermon a month it will pay you to attend church the other three Sundays and sit through a dull sermon. One good sermon that strikes down a man's alley may change his whole outlook on life, and no inconvenience is too great if it will give one a new outlook upon living.

In placer mining the miner takes a large quantity of gravel and washes it carefully to find one fine grain of gold. He is happy if he finds a grain in each washing. Life is like that. We hear much and read much and see much to get one fine grain of gold that will contribute to the richness and the beauty of living.

The newsboys were not long in seeing through Bitler. When he made his plea for peace recently the news boys announced the fact in calling the papers by saying, "Hi let's wait a piece here and a piece there."

A survey recently conducted by the Association of National Advertisers regarding the day on which Thanksgiving will be observed, reveals that 23 states will observe November 30, and 21 states will observe November 23. Texas, a large turkey producing state will observe both days. Three states have not yet decided which day they will observe.

Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it.—Abraham Lincoln.

We have noticed that while grown people insist on children taking castor oil as a specific for a certain common human ailment, they look up some other means of self medication when the need is their own.

Aluminum as Insulation

Reflecting sheets like aluminum foil show remarkable heat insulating properties, says a report to the American Chemical society.
