HUBBARD-SURGUY NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED SATURDAY EVE.

Simplicity marked the wedding ceremony at the St. John Lutheran church Saturday afternoon at five o'clock when Miss Virginia Anne Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hubbard, of Talma, became the bride of Rollie Allen Surguy, of Talma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Surguy, of Kokomo, Ind.

Rev. W. J. Schroer read the double ring rites before a flower banked altar lighted with white candles in candleabra.

There were eight guests in attendance.

Miss Bonnie Jean Hubbard, of Talma, served her sister as maid of honor.

Frederick Hubbard, of Talma, served the groom as best man.

The bride wore a pastel blue two-piece street-length dress complimented with black accessories. Miss Hubbard, Maid of honor, was attired in a gray dress and she wore black accessories.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Talma high school and the groom is employed as a garage man in Warsaw.

Following a wedding trip in Northern Indiana the couple will be at home at Winona Lake, Ind.

SEEK $300 JUDGMENT

George E. and Ellis E. Melton have filed an action in circuit court against Wayne E. and Doris M. Nellans, of Mentone, asking judgment for $300 and foreclosure of a mechanic's lien against a lot on the east side of Broadway north of Harrison street in Mentone, and sale of the property to satisfy the judgment. It is set out in the complaint that the Nellans became indebted to the plaintiffs for $200 for alteration, wrecking and removal of an old school house and poultry dressing plant. Then an intention to hold a lien was filed with the county recorder April 27 and that no part of the debt has been paid. The amount of judgment sought includes interest and attorney's fees.

INFANT FALLS IN ST. JOE RIVER—AND LEARNS TO SWIM

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kelley, of Mishawaka, narrowly averted drowning recently when he fell or waded into the St. Joe river. The lad, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Walters of Mentone, accompanied his mother to the home of friends, and while he and two other children were playing he wandered down the 40 steps to the river. The ladies, when they noticed he was gone, started looking and went to the river bank. When they arrived they saw him lying on his back about six feet from the shore and trying his best to get his feet down so he could stand up. The water was several feet deep and the neighbor lady swam out and returned him to the shore.

Evidently the little fellow had waded out until he was lifted from his feet, as one side of his head wasn't even wet.

The double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. E. E. DeWitt, was held before an altar of pink and white gladiolus. Selections of "Indian Love Call," "I Love You Truly," and "The Sweetest Story ever Told," were used for a musical background during the ceremony.

The bride wore a powder blue dress of wool Jersey with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations tied with a pale blue ribbon. She was attended by Miss Eileen Kercher, also of Mentone, who wore a dress of gold wool crepe with brown accessories. Her corsage of white carnations was tied with a gold ribbon. Mrs. Dillingham and Mrs. Teel both wore dresses of black with pink carnation corsages. Edward Jones, of Burket, served Mr. Teel as best man.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dillingham, Eileen Kercher, David Bowser, Pauline Borton, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Holloway, Mrs. T. E. Jones, Mrs. Chas. Ringenberg and Rev. and Mrs. E. E. DeWitt, all of Mentone; Edward Jones and Mrs. Neva Teel, of Burket; Pauline Kamp of Wakarusa; Chas. ### HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Home Safety

The safety of the home is sometimes open to question. During August of this year 51 Hoosiers died in accidents occurring at home.

In that month, according to figures released today by the state board of Health, 26 persons died from falls; burns and explosions caused 10 deaths; poisoning, 3; mechanical suffocation, 2; firearms, 1; unclassified accidents, 9, all under the "safety" of the home roof.

The home, kept carelessly without due thought to safety, offers all sorts of possibilities for disaster. Oily or paint saturated rags, for instance, may result in spontaneous combustion. Wiring and electrical fixtures in poor repair and gasoline or kerosene used to start fires can cause death, injury, or economic loss.

Dimly lit stairways cluttered with rubbish or unequipped with handrails are open invitations to bruises, broken bones, or worse. Highly polished floors may be attractive and easy to clean, but they offer poor footing, particularly to middle aged and older persons. Just as hazardous are rickety ladders, rocking chairs used as ladders and slippery bathtubs.

"Medicine" taken in the dark may not be medicine. If poison must be kept, label it plainly and place it well out of reach of children.

Some accidents are unavoidable; many are not. Most of those at home can be prevented by a few simple precautions.

FARMS BEING DESTROYED BY POOR FARMING

The farmer of the future, to acquire land, may have to prove to society that he knows how to till his soil scientifically, and the use of coal as fuel alone may be prohibited as "criminally wasteful," scientists in engineering said Wednesday.

One speaker at a conference on "engineering and human affairs" held in connection with Princeton university's bicentennial program, said that the United States already had "ruined, for further practical cultivation, about one-fifth of our original area of tillable land."

He was H. H. Bennett, chief of the soil conservation service of the U. S. Department of agriculture, who also said that a "third of what remains already has been badly damaged," and that "another third is highly vulnerable."

Another speaker, Dr. C. M. A. Stine, vice president of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Co., Inc., said that the day is past when this nation should consider "coal as coal, wheat as wheat, wood as wood."

Bennett said that throughout the world there is only 4,000,000,000 acres of immediately arable land left, and that the world faces a "shortage of good land."

He said that the United States has "little margin left," and that the country cannot hope to maintain its present standard of living if much more tillable land is lost through erosion and improper farming and lack of conservation.

He asserted that the costs of erosion in this country are now running to about $3,844,000,000 a year and that farmers are now being organized to conserve soil and take care of the tillable lands.

"Farming," he said, "will become an expert profession; the inept and inept will be forced off the land. It is not impossible that the prospective farmer of the future will be required to satisfy society that he is qualified by training and experience to take on the trusteeship of a piece of productive land."

ERN IGO HAS TROUBLE

FINDING HIS LAMBS

Ernest Igo, who recently returned from Montana where he purchased two carloads of lambs and two carloads of calves, received a call the other day that one carload of lambs were at Lagrange. (Ern's plans were that the cars were to come to Lagrange, Illinois so they wouldn't have to come through Chicago. When "Lagrange" called Ern took two trucks and hit out for Illinois where he expected to get his 325 lambs.) But there wasn't a lamb there—or anywhere near. Wednesday evening he called home and said he couldn't find them—and ten minutes later Lagrange called again and wondered why he wasn't there to get the sheep. But it was Lagrange, Indiana. By two o'clock Thursday morning Ern finally found out where the sheep were and now has them out on his farm—but our guess is that things were rather "blue" on the Lagrange side of Illinois last night.

NO OPEN SEASON ON TURTLE DOVES

Mourning or turtle doves who make their home in Indiana will be free to "bill" and "coo" as they choose this year, without fear of being shot at by hunters.

According to Governor Ralph F. Gates, the Indiana Department of Conservation has received word from Washington, D. C., announcing those regulations governing the hunting of migratory game birds, that were approved by President Harry S. Truman, for 1946.

One of these rulings says, "No open season in Indiana on Mourning or Turtle Doves."

Another regulation governing the possession of migratory game birds rules that the post-season possession of these birds has been reduced from 80 to 45 days.

Wild duck, geese, brant and coot may be hunted here from October 26 to December 9, and open seasons on woodcock run from October 16 to the 30th, inclusive. In addition, open season on rails and Gallinules (except coot) will run from now until November 30th, and there is no open season on Canada geese, including Hutchins and cackling geese and white-fronted geese.

Daily bag limits on duck (except American and redbreasted merganser) are (7) in the aggregate of all kinds, including in such limit not more than (1) wood duck.

Fourteen ducks in the aggregate, of all kinds, is the largest number that any one person may possess at any one time, and this is not including American and redbreasted mergansers. However, they are not allowed to possess more than 1 wood duck in this total.

American and redbreasted mergansers may be taken 25 at a time, singly, or in the aggregate, with no possession limit, and 25 coots is the possession limit per person, and a bag limit of 25 is tops for this bird.

Eight woodcocks may be in the possession of one person, and the bag limit is four.

The length of waterfowl shooting time during a day has been shortened by one-half hour on the closing end. It will be from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour before sunset.

Ed Bowser, Mrs. Bessie Blue, Mrs. Monroe Romine, Mrs. Isabella Lantz, Miss Norma Hudson, and Miss Ellanora Lantz spent Sunday at Camp Atterbury with their sons and brothers who left last Tuesday for army service. Mrs. Irene Smith, funeral director of Lakeland, Fla., and R. G. Reed were in Indianapolis Thursday attending the National Funeral Directors' Convention.

Among the alumni seen present were Ivan and Roger Hodges, Rowena Lackey, Max Tinkey, Gerald Romine, Bob Fienar, Victor Lantz, Kenneth Hudson, Dean Witham, and Pat Shinn.

This year the Seniors are the smallest class of the upper four grades, with only nineteen members. The Juniors gained two, Mary Helen Johnson and Dick Manual, making them twenty-six. The new additions are very much appreciated by everyone, especially the Sophomore girls.

In addition to our teachers of last year, Mr. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Sheely, Mr. Law and Mr. Bevington, we have two new members on the staff, Mr. Kesler teaching mathematics and Mr. Lash teaching agriculture.

ANIMAL HEALTH COLUMN...

By R. A. MARRIOTT

The control and prevention of mastitis is one of the most perplexing problems confronting every owner of dairy cattle. There are two forms of mastitis—chronic and acute. Approximately 30% of all dairy cows are infected. The disease germs causing mastitis may be carried on the hands of the milker or in the milking machine teat cups at the time of milking. Flies, contaminated floors and bedding, udder wash cloths and even muddy barn yards are possible sources of infection. The germs gain entrance to the udder through the end of the teat and teat canal, where they cause irritation, inflammation and congestion within the glandular portion of the udder, thereby forming areas of scar tissue or hard lumpy spots. Altho mastitis is seldom the direct cause of death, it results in decreased milk production that adds up to an enormous annual loss in profits.

Chronic mastitis may follow an acute attack or gradually develop without previous history of trouble. The characteristic chain of milk changes includes: pin point flakes, flaky milk, gargety milk, watery milk and straw-colored or pus-like milk. Any one of these conditions may appear, disappear and reappear at varying intervals over a considerable period of time, some cases extending over several lactation periods. In time the chronic infection results in lite quarters and eventually will most likely dry up entirely. The acute form of mastitis usually starts with hard, swollen and inflamed quarters and is associated with marked systemic reactions.

Prevention of infection is the most satisfactory control. Mastitis must be regarded as an entire herd problem before control and preventive measures can be truly effective. Many dairymen make the mistake of treating or isolating cows that are producing abnormal milk and entirely disregard an infected cow that happens to be producing at the time. Infected cows should be detected and separated from the rest of the herd. Rigid barn sanitation and proper sanitary practices at time of milking should be adopted. Infected cows should be milked last. The udders of all animals should be washed and dried with individual towels prior to milking. The towels, hands of the milker, and the milking machine teat cup should be dipped in a hypochlorite solution (250 to 400 parts of chlorine per million). Cleaning and sanitation of the floor and stalls should not be overlooked, and they should be disinfected regularly and frequently. The stalls should be amply bedded and be long enough and wide enough so as to avoid undue injury to the udder since udder injuries of all kinds predispose to infection. Liberal use of superphosphate in the back of the stalls and in the gutter is an additional safeguard against the spread of infection and also increases the fertilizing value of the manure.

Veticillin brand of penicillin Lederle is the best treatment of chronic mastitis in use today. Veticillin is truly one of the modern miracles of medicine seemingly possessing magical qualities in controlling infections that formerly were thought of as practically impossible to cure. Today the dairyman who does not take advantage of the modern scientific medications available to him is losing profits that are rightfully his. Veticillin is not injurious to the udder, there is no known overdose, it is effective in the presence of blood, pus or body serums, in addition it does not discolor or change the taste of milk. Veticillin is easy to use, in most cases it is not necessary to dry up the infected quarter to treat it effectively and it will not upset the cow, so that production will not be interfered with. Veticillin is inexpensive to use. Usually 100,000 units is sufficient to treat one infected quarter. Veticillin is prompt in action, therefore it is not necessary to prolong treatment. Veticillin is readily available. It will pay you to take advantage of this modern scientific control for mastitis.

Sunday Evening;

"My Word Shall Not Pass Away"

'Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus
 Just to take Him at His word,
 Just to rest upon His promise,
 Just to know "Thus saith the Lord."

THE BIBLE TEACHES that "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Gen. 1:27). The apostle Paul emphasizes this doctrine when he says, "he is the image and glory of God" (1 Cor. 11:7). James also sets forth the same idea as he speaks of "men, which are made after the similitude of God" (James 3:9).

Will man trade this highest honor for the unfounded theory that man has evolved from the lower forms of life common to the earth? Shall we forego the "faith of our fathers" for the unproved and unprovable claim of men?

Remember that theories are not the realm of true science. The Bible is in harmony with all established truth, since it was revealed by God, and is therefore in harmony with all nature.

Let us recognize and worship our Creator, according to His word. Study the Word of God to know His will; believe it to be acceptable in His sight; Obey it to be saved from sin and eternal woe for Christ has become "the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." (Heb. 5:9.)

Let us have faith in God and in what the Bible teaches.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST WANTS TO SERVE YOU.

He has no feet but our feet
 To lead men in his way;

He has no tongues but our tongues
 To tell men how He died;
 He has no help but our help

FOUR EASTERN CO-OP EMPLOYEES FORM THEIR OWN CO-OPERATIVE

By J. W. STILES
Neighbors' Equipment Cooperative, Inc.,
Cortland, New York.

There are four of us. We run our own farms as well as work for a large cooperative. During the war we ran into the same difficulties farmers were facing all over the country . . . shortage of help and shortage of farm machinery.

We sat down and talked the situation over. Finally we decided there was no reason why a cooperative couldn't help solve our problems just as well as cooperatives were solving problems of farmers on a larger scale. This would be a cooperative to get machinery for all four of us to use . . . a share the plow plan. Pooling these farm implements would not only enable us to get along with a smaller total amount of machinery, and maybe less manpower, but it would also cut down on our investment in machinery.

We named ourselves the "Neighbors' Equipment Cooperative, Inc." And, to keep everything on a completely businesslike basis and limit our liability, we worked up a set of by-laws. We then took out a charter under the state cooperative law.

The next thing we had to do was decide what machinery we needed. We looked over our four farms and our plans for the year's operations and decided we needed a tractor, plow, harrow, grain drill, cultipacker, cultivator, combine, haying equipment and a manure spreader.

Then we appointed a purchasing agent to make arrangements to buy the necessary equipment. This wasn't such an easy job during the war, but the four farms counted up when it came to getting priorities. We put up half the money ourselves and got a commitment for a loan from the Springfield, Mass. Bank for Cooperatives for the other half.

Of course, even after we got the machinery there were a good many problems to be worked out. We had to sit down together again and figure out a way to mesh our farming plans for the year so we wouldn't all be wanting the same piece of equipment at the same time. We had already worked out some tentative plans before we bought the equipment so we wouldn't have to buy too many different kinds of machinery. We planned to grow grain, hay, potatoes, and canning beans.

One of our members was elected general manager to take charge of directing the operation of the equipment. We realized that if the man we wanted to operate the equipment was to have a satisfactory relationship with our organization he should only be taking orders from one boss.

When any conflicts arose as to the needs of two or more of our members for the same piece of equipment, we all gathered around the table again to work out the situation. We usually found there was some way to make an equitable adjustment fair to all concerned. In the busiest season, the man we hire to operate the equipment needs a helper.

From the beginning we have set up fixed rates for use of each piece of equipment. These rates were set to cover all expenses. After the first year's experience, we found it a good idea to make a few adjustments for the following season's rates. For example, drilling was raised from $1.50 to $2.25 and harrowing from $0.75 to $1.25. Other rates were also on a per acre basis; combining, $5.00; tractor and man, $1.50; plowing, $3.00 for stubble and $3.50 for sod.

One thing that has helped us particularly is the fact that land on some of the farms can be worked earlier in the spring and later in the fall than on the others. This, of course, helps spread out the load. All in all, our cooperative project has worked out very satisfactorily.

JOSEPH BURKET DIES AT HOME OF DAUGHTER

Joseph Burket, 68, a longtime resident of Burket and vicinity, died at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clifford Eherenman, of Burket. Death followed a serious illness of six weeks due to a heart ailment.

The deceased was born in Franklin township Oct. 14, 1877, the son of Samuel and Jane (Paxton) Burket. With the exception of six years spent in Syracuse and three years in Mishawaka, he had lived all of his life in Burket and vicinity where he operated a grocery and restaurant.

March 5, 1896, he was married to May Messersmith who, with a daughter, preceded him in death. He was a member of the United Brethren church at Syracuse.

Surviving relatives include two daughters, Mrs. Eva Eherenman of Burket, and Mrs. Edith Friedman of Mishawaka; four granddaughters, four grandsons, and a sister, Mrs. Hiram Price of Columbia City.

Funeral services will be held at two p. m. Sunday at the United Brethren church at Burket. Rev. Jarbo will officiate and burial will be in the Palestine cemetery. The body will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Eherenman after 3:30 Friday.

THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART ...

Well, anyway, someone said something like that way back in the distant past, but it isn't known whether or not it has any bearing on this story.

One of Mentone's capable, jolly and eligible school teachers is very much interested in practicing the culinary arts and one of her more recent attempts (really I should say accomplishments) required fresh tomatoes. Now tomatoes are very plentiful this year and many gardeners have more than they can use or dispose of and, even under the circumstances, their generosity is to be commended. "Just go out in my garden and help yourself" was all the encouragement necessary for our fair maiden.

Now community gardens, like city apartments, have much in common and it is often difficult to tell them apart. On the second trip to the tomato patch, the lady met the actual owner face to face. You're right! It was a tomato patch all right, but in the wrong garden.

MRS. AFFLIS WILL SPEAK AT MENTONE OCT. 22

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

"My child comes home from school with lice. What can I do?"

This is another annual question that requires an annual report. Often it happens the other way around. Someone treats an infested child, gets rid of the lice and the child returns to school reinfested.

The final eradication of lice often requires not only treatment of the school child, but also treatment of the child's family.

Many procedures are recommended for louse extermination. The best is personal cleanliness. Outwit the louse by using plenty of hot water. Shampoo the hair and bathe the body at frequent intervals. Pillow slips, bed-clothes, caps, underwear and other personal effects must be deloused, or the louse may play a return engagement.

The state board of health has free literature that suggests several methods of louse extermination, including use of DDT powder. It is no reflection on family or school if by chance a

REBEKAHS INSTITUTE LODGE

Monday evening September 30, about 150 Rebekahs met in the gymnasium of the school building at Richland Center, where they instituted a new Rebekah Lodge, under the direction of Sister Sugar, a Past State president and her staff. The initiatory work was given by Foster Rebekah Lodge, of Tippecanoe, Indiana. There were 47 names on the new charter. Ice cream, cake and coffee was served at the close of the meeting. Those attending from Mentone were: Mr. and Mrs.
Dave Ellsworth, Mrs. Susan Dillman,
Mrs. Dora Goodman, Mrs. Cleora
Quier and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dill-man.

USE CROP RESIDUES TO INCREASE YIELDS

Smoke in the air from burning leaves, cornstalks and other crop residues may be a romantic symbol of fall but it is a costly one for the farmer or home gardener.

Even the burning of old stalks from a 50 bushel corn crop has caused a reduction of $3.67 in the farm income as stalk residue is worth $3.67 per acre. This was the value of the crop increases produced at the Purdue Soils and Crops farm near Lafayette under present prices in a corn, oats, sweet intercrop rotation. Most of this loss was due to the destruction of the organic matter, the life of the soil, and the loss of available nitrogen.

The straw from a 20 bushel soybean crop contains even more nitrogen than that in the stalks of a 50 bushel corn crop. Nitrogen alone in the straw of an average soybean crop is worth $2.60 per acre. This is more than the average farmer returns to three acres of his farm in the way of commercial fertilizer.

Many an industry has made itself rich by utilizing the by-products. Crop residue is one of the by-products of farming. The best use of these residues is to reuse them in the production of additional crops.

For the city gardener, leaves always make a good mulch or compost heap to enrich the soil.

HOLD RECIPROCITY MEETING

On last Wednesday afternoon, October 2, the Tippecanoe Home Economics club met at the home of Mrs. Dora Goodman. This was a Reciprocity meeting with the Mentone Reading club as the Guest club.

Mrs. Don Sheeley played two violin solos—"Orientale" and a medley of "Londonderry Air" and "Believe Me if All Those Enduring Young Charms". For a vocal number she used, "Would You".

Mrs. T. J. Clutter had the program for the afternoon and presented a well planned outline of Currier-Ives, their pictures, process and artists.

A committee from the Home Economics served delicious refreshments.

TRY TO BEAT THAT ONE, HOBART

Hobart Creighton, one of the Nation's leading poultryman, among other things, has likely used almost every conceivable method to properly mark and identify the many pedigreed pullets hatched in his hatchery. An apple-raising friend of his, at Bloomfield, this week went a little farther than wing-band, perforate toe-webs, etc. Serenely perched on top of a half bushel of large apples sent to Hobart sat two beautiful specimens initialed "H. C." They hadn't been painted, tinted or bruised but had actually ripened that way.

Now Hobart, when you manage to have your White Leghorns emerge from the shell with a social security or pedigree tattooed on them, we'll tell that apple man to get busy again.

MENTONE READING CLUB

A 6:30 potluck supper, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Reed, opened the year of the Mentone Reading club, Wednesday evening. Assisting hostesses were: Mrs. C. L. Mnawaring, Mrs. Miles Manwaring and Miss Wreatha McFarren.

Mrs. Ora McKinley, the new president, presided during the business meeting.

The program chairmen were: Mrs. Miles Manwaring and Miss Wreatha McFarren, who presented Mrs. Martindale, of Plymouth, in a number of clever readings, well given.

upon his alcohol-saturated breath burst into flame. Shaken by the experience, the man begged his wife to bring him the family Bible, muttering, "I gotta swear off." Placing his hand upon it, the farmer intoned: "Before heaven, I swear that never again will I blow on a lighted candle."

GIVEN COPY OF WESTERN NEWSPAPER

Henry Mills, who is visiting here from White Bear Lake, Minn., handed us a copy of the White Bear Press, published in this town. His son-in-law, Max Dunlap, takes many of the local pictures used in the publication.

W. A. Stickley is the editor, and he carries a small column of his own, "Slivers from Stick" by Stick Himself. A few paragraphs are reprinted below:

A slightly off-center private in an army chapel was seen to bow his head every time the name of Satan was mentioned. Finally, the Chaplain's curiosity got the best of him and he asked the doggie to explain. "Well," was the reply, "politeness costs nothing, and, after all, we never know."

A farmer, after imbibing a prodigious quantity of moonshine whiskey, attempted to blow out a candle, where-

MAN DOES THINGS THE 99 WRONG WAYS FIRST

Some years ago a gentleman from the U. S. Department of Agriculture was heard to say: If there were 100 ways to do a thing, 99 of them wrong, man would try all of the wrong ones first.

That is about the way most of us handle our lawns or gardens. We want our lawn to grow luxuriantly in the summer, but as soon as the leaves fall on it in the fall we hurriedly rake them up and burn them. If this were done in a large forest, it would be but a short time until most all of the trees would die. The dead leaves not only make a deep mat for retaining necessary moisture, but the earth is fertilized by the rotting leaves.

By R. A. MARRIOTT

Newcastle Disease (Avian pneumo-encephalomyelitis) is a respiratory nervous disorder which has been reported in chickens, pigeons, ducks, turkeys, geese, guinea fowl and some wild birds. This disease was reported in England, Asia and the East Indies in 1926. In 1940 a new disease was reported in California that was diagnosed as avian pneumoencephalomyelitis. Since then it has been reported in Utah, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and several other Mid-Western states. It is also possible that Newcastle Disease exists in many other states but has not been recognized as such as there are no means generally available for positive diagnosis. The mortality of this disease in the U. S. varies from 1% to 60% with an average of about 5% to 10%. In other countries the mortality averages 80% to 100%.

In chicks, the disease begins as respiratory trouble such as gasping, coughing and rattling that is difficult to distinguish from those of other respiratory diseases such as bronchitis, and laryngotracheitis. Many chicks may also have a peculiar rapid low chirp. These respiratory symptoms may be followed by the nervous or paralytic symptoms of the disease which may vary greatly in individual birds. Some birds may show partial or complete paralysis of one or both legs, sit on the hock joints with the toes spread wider than usual, tremor of the head or whole body and incoordination of neck muscles. This may cause the bird to twist the head to one side or the other, or to draw it backwards so that it rests between the wings or downward and backward toward the breast. Other birds may walk in circles or backwards. Average mortality is 5 to 10% but it may be higher. Diagnosis can generally be made when a combination of respiratory and nervous symptoms are present in a flock of chicks, but should be checked by serum neutralization tests or by isolation and identification of the virus.

In older chickens there may be a rapid onset of respiratory symptoms throughout the flock, low mortality, sudden drop in egg production and often the symptoms cannot be distinguished from infectious bronchitis. In outbreaks in laying flocks there is almost total loss of egg production for 4 to 6 weeks. When the birds begin to lay, a high percentage of eggs are apt to have soft shells.

It is difficult to identify Newcastle Disease without laboratory facilities. Any laying flock in which there is a bronchitis like cold, accompanied by an immediate drop in egg production, should be suspected of Newcastle disease. If an outbreak of respiratory symptoms followed by nervous or paralytic symptoms, occurs in young chicks, birds should be submitted to a recognized poultry laboratory for diagnosis.

Dr. J. R. Beach of the University of California has experimented with various types of vaccine and has developed a method of two injections that given in weekly to monthly doses produce satisfactory results. The U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry has conducted considerable research in trying to develop a vaccine requiring only one injection. There is no known treatment for Newcastle Disease, however there is evidence that a successful vaccine may be developed against this disease. Control is best accomplished by strict sanitation and disposing of all sick or suspected birds, in some cases it is suggested that it may be advisable to completely suspend poultry raising until premises can be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

THE GOSPEL OF CHRIST...

In the SPIRIT of CHRIST

Sunday Morning;

"GIVE HEED"

Sunday Evening;

"THE BOOK OF BOOKS"

'Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus
Just to take Him at His word,
Just to rest upon His promise,
Just to know "Thus saith the Lord."

THE BIBLE TEACHES that "all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23). It is not that we are guilty because of the sins of another but "all have sinned." "Sin is the transgression of the law" (I John 3:4), and it was by disregarding God's law that sin entered the world. Disregard for God's law is the sin that condemns us today.

The Bible teaches that sin is a reality and that each one is personally responsible to God. Death is God's punishment for sin and in His Word it is "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." (Ezek. 18:20).

Bleak indeed would be the future of man if it were not for Christ the great sin bearer, who sacrificed himself that he might bear the sin of many, and make intercession for the transgressors. (see Isa. 53:12). "He is the propitiation for our sins (I John 2:2) and has become "the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb. 5:9).

Thus man, made in the image and glory of God, has fallen because of sin. He may be restored to that high position from which he fell by being born again, re-created, in Christ. "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature" (II Cor. 5:17). Fallen in sin, which is disobedience to the law of God, he may be regenerated and restored to the favor of God in his obedience to God's will.

Let us have faith in God and in what the Bible teaches.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST WANTS TO SERVE YOU.

Bring your guests, friends and neighbors to all these services where a hearty welcome awaits you.

I Would Have

I would have the EYES of Christ, that I may see the light.

I would have the HEART of Christ with strength to do the right.

I would have the JOY of Christ, thankful, glad and free.

I would have the Feet of Christ, walking, God, with Thee.

I would have the MIND of Christ, thinking only good.

I would have the PEACE of Christ, when misunderstood.

I would have the HANDS of Christ, blessing, helping, giving.

I would have the LOVE of Christ, making life worth living.

THE SCARLET FLAMINGO AS SEEN STALKING ABOUT IN FLORIDA IS THE ONLY ONE OF ITS FAMILY FOUND IN AMERICA. ITS ODD LOOKING BILL IS AS NATURE PROVIDED FOR IT, A CONTRIVANCE FOR STRAINING ITS FOOD, THE LOWER PART BEING FITTED WITH HOLES. FOR A NEST IT USES A TALL MOUND OF MUD WHICH IT SCRAPES UP, WITH A DEPRESSION IN THE TOP IN WHICH TO LAY ONE OR TWO EGGS.

IT IS SAID THAT ALFALFA ROOTS HAVE MORE NITRATE PRODUCING PLANTS THAN THERE ARE MANUFACTURING PLANTS IN A CITY THE SIZE OF CHICAGO. THE FREE NITROGEN IS DRAWN FROM THE AIR AND STORED IN THE PLANT ROOTS, CAUSED BY CERTAIN BACTERIA FORMED IN NODULES ON THE ROOTS. IT IS ESTIMATED THAT IT TAKES 1000 LBS. OF GRAIN TO PRODUCE 100 LBS. OF BEEF WHEN USED WITH HAY OR CORN FODDER BUT THAT IF ALFALFA IS FED WITH THE GRAIN THE AMOUNT OF GRAIN MAY BE REDUCED ABOUT ONE-HALF IN PRODUCING SAME AMOUNT OF BEEF.

A MESSAGE TO FARMERS AS WELL AS FARM OWNERS

I have the pleasure to give you thru the columns of your newspapers this message that I have, which I know you appreciate as well as I do.

I represent and have the best farm loan of any company. There are two things in this message. First, there is not $1.00 of expense to you people in making this loan except to furnish an abstract of title. It is made for 20 years. The second thing is there is no chance to raise the rate of interest of 4%. It will be that for 20 years with your terms. It is a pleasure for me to give you this information, and I know you appreciate it.

All I want you to do is call at my office here in North Manchester and talk this matter over. This message at this time is very important, as there are rumors that interest might go up. It is through the kindness of the company that I represent, as well as myself, that I am able to furnish you this money where it costs you nothing. I would like to have you write me, call me by telephone, or come to my office. I represent the best company to you farmers of anyone in the loan field. Come in and sit down by my fire, and we will talk this over. Please remember I sell and buy farms.

TRUE COOPERATIVES . . .

The following few paragraphs, taken from a recent article by I. W. Dugan, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, speaks well of the cooperative movement. He states:

"True cooperatives stand for private ownership, free enterprise, and competition. They are privately owned by the people who use them. Therefore, they are operated for the benefit of the people who use them.

"Farmer cooperatives are good for both the large farmer and the small farmer because each benefits in direct proportion to the amount of his business that flows through his association. The extra money they get as a result of their cooperative effort is important to both of them.

"They can never be dominated by a clique or a small group because each member has only one vote. They are democratic organizations that can exist only under a democratic government. Because farmer cooperatives strengthen the hand of small farm owners and tenants on the road to farm ownership, they strengthen the very bases on which private ownership and free enterprise stand by giving them some of the benefits of large business enterprises. At the same time they do not disturb the broad base of individual ownership of millions of family-sized farms.

"Thus it is small wonder that government has seen fit to encourage and assist farmers in their efforts to solve their problems cooperatively. Its attitude can well be summarized in the words of the Supreme Court as expressed in the case of the Liberty Warehouse Company vs. Burley Tobacco Growers (276 U. S. 71). 'The opinion generally accepted . . . and upon reasonable grounds, we think . . . is that the cooperative marketing statutes promote the common interest.'"

"TOWN MEETING OF THE AIR"

Pt. Wayne, Oct. 9.—Kosciusko county will be well represented when "America's Town Meeting of the Air" is in Fort Wayne on October 24th. Mayor Frank Rarick will be on the host committee, as well as Mr. James W. Riley of the Warsaw high school. Carl W. Burt, superintendent of the Warsaw city schools will be in charge of the arrangements for the meeting of the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Association at which "America's Town Meeting" will be broadcast from the Quimby Auditorium and over WOWO, Ft. Wayne.

"America's Town Meeting" is now in its eleventh year. During the entire period George V. Denny, Jr., has been its moderator. A chance remark by a neighbor gave Mr. Denny the idea for this famed discussion program. Following one of President Roosevelt's fireside talks, the neighbor confided in Mr. Denny that he saw no reason to listen to Roosevelt since he didn't approve of anything he said. Here, thought Denny, was one of the real dangers confronting democracy—that people with diverse views were seldom willing to listen to the other man's side of the question. There was one answer to this problem—a radio program so compelling that people would have to listen to all sides of political issues in order to hear their own prejudices aired. From this idea grew "America's Town Meeting" which is now carried by most of the 200 stations of the American Broadcasting Company network to millions of Americans everywhere. The program in Fort Wayne will begin as always at 7:30 p. m. with a warm-up period immediately before.

THE GOSPEL OF CHRIST...

In the SPIRIT of CHRIST

Sunday Morning;

"GODLINESS WITH CONTENTMENT"

Sunday Evening;

"A WORD FITLY SPOKEN"

"If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God;" (1 Peter 4:11)

THE BIBLE TEACHES that "Christ died for the ungodly" (Rom. 5:6). The angel which announced his birth said, "he shall save his people from their sins" (Matt. 1:21). Paul says, "he died for all" (II Cor. 5:15), and again, "that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man" (Heb. 2:9).

"Death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned" (Rom. 5:12). To take away this curse of sin it was necessary that Christ come "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10). Sin had separated man from God but "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself" (II Cor. 5:19). Thus Christ died as our "reconciliation" (atonement) and we are made "as one" with God.

But it is not alone in the death of Christ that we glory. The angel said to Mary, at his tomb, "He is not here, but is risen" (Luke 24:6). Thus did he win the victory over death and became "The first fruits of them that slept" (I Cor. 15:20). He, then, is the pledge of our resurrection from the dead. In him we have the forgiveness of the past and the hope of the future.

The Word of God is certain, its doctrines are sure and in its promises we can trust. May we hold to it in every walk of life and trust in its glorious promises.

Let us have faith in God and in what the Bible teaches.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST WANTS TO SERVE YOU.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Today the sleeping pill habit and the unauthorized use of dangerous drugs, although not so widespread here as elsewhere in the nation, are still health problems.

Sleep-inducing drugs should be used only when prescribed by a physician and only for as long a period as he recommends. Grave psychological danger lies in the fact that as an individual continues to use sleep-inducing drugs, he finds it increasingly difficult to sleep without sedatives.

A recent survey of 412 retail establishments in 55 Indiana cities revealed that 7.5 percent of the stores surveyed sold sulfathiazole tablets to a State Board of Health representative without a prescription. Law prohibits sale of certain drugs except as prescribed by a physician, and pharmacists have been and are cooperating wholeheartedly in an effort to eliminate this evil.

Too much bad advertising teaches that probably at the bottom of the problem.

Self-diagnosis and self medication are self-medication is proper and economical. Use of drugs which may result in illness or death is neither wise nor economical.

A new Westinghouse X-ray was installed in Dr. Urschel's office this week. This machine, which has a peak capacity of 200 milliamperes seconds at 100 kilovolts, represents the latest development in diagnostic x-ray equipment. The delivery of this outfit, originally scheduled for July, was delayed because of the now-common production difficulties.

The technical operation of the equipment will be under the direction of Mr. Denton Abbey. Because of the high capacity all types of diagnostic pictures and fluoroscopy can be accomplished.

Mr. Peterson has been remodeling the building this summer and added a large room to the rear. The front room has been nicely refinished inside and makes a very neat appearing store room.

MENTONE YOUTH AWARDED MEDAL FOR GARDENING

Norbert Darr, 13, grandson of Edith M. Darr, has received the National Garden Institute MacArthur award, a bronze medal for outstanding achievement in gardening, for his participation in Purdue university "green thumb" contest, it was announced Tuesday by assistant county agent, Cliff Breeden.

A freshman in the Mentone high school, Norbert carried out his winning gardening project in the Mentone 4-H club, of which Philip Lash is adult leader.

The entries in the contest were judged on several factors, including planting and arrangement, choice of crops and varieties, yield in respect to quality and quantity, and the use made of the crops.

The green thumb contest was started as a wartime emergency food measure.

Roscoe Davis, also of Mentone, won the MacArthur award in this county last year.

ATTEND POULTRY MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Miles L. Manwaring and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Manwaring spent Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week at Turkey Run State Park attending the State Poultry Association of Ind. meeting. The meeting was taken from Purdue this year because of rooming and eating facilities being overcrowded.

Mr. Rafael Colunga of Santa Spiritus, Cuba left with the Manwarings to attend the meeting. Mr. Colunga is in the county to study poultry and has spent a few weeks at the Manwaring Farm. He will take the eight weeks short course at Purdue before returning to Cuba.

Mr. Colunga's father has a 4000 acre sugar plantation in Cuba.

MRS. SARAH VANDERMARK DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Sarah C. Vandermark, aged 86, who had resided on a farm near Palestine for the past 63 years, died at 11:10 p. m. Friday at the Murphy Medical Center, where she had been a patient for several weeks. She had been in failing health for the past five years and had been bedfast for two years.

Mrs. Vandermark was born in Prairie township September 3, 1860, the daughter of Rudolph and Sarah (Stamats) Huffer. January 7, 1883, she was married to Charles W. Vandermark, and since that time had resided near Palestine. She had been a member of the Methodist church there for the past 3 years and as long as she was able was active in the Women's Society.

Surviving relatives include her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Esta P. Vandermark, of near Palestine; a grandson, Paul V. Vandermark, of Frankfort; two sisters, Mrs. R. A. Anglin and Mrs. Jennie Millbern, both of Warsaw; a brother, J. E. Huffer, of near Palestine, and a number of nephews and nieces.

Her husband died July 5, 1938, and her son, Edison Vandermark, died February 26, 1946. Mrs. Vandermark was affectionately known as "Aunt Kate" by her many friends.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Palestine Christian church with burial in the Palestine cemetery. Rev. Robert Spoolstra officiated.

BABY AMPUTATES FINGER IN WASHING MACHINE GEARS

The two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Weiger, of southwest of Mentone, put her little finger in a hole in the gear box of her mother's washing machine Tuesday and had the tip chewed off in the gears. The hole was too tiny for a grownup to get even the tip of a finger in it, but the little lady's first finger on the right hand squeezed in nicely.

The baby seemingly suffered very little until that evening, after the end of the finger had been cared for by a physician. Her father, Monday, hit his back and shoulder on an open door while going up the elevator at the Co-Op. Mill, but he suffered no broken bones—just torn muscles and bruises.

CHURCH OF CHRIST ANNOUNCES GOSPEL MEETINGS

The Church of Christ at Mentone has announced a series of meetings beginning Sunday, October 27, and continuing through Sunday, November 10. The minister, Lloyd A. Boyll, will preach and H. V. Johns will direct the song service. This will be a gospel service of beauty and meaning, for worship and edification. You will find it superior to all entertainment. These meetings will be educational, devotional and inspirational. The songs will be spiritual, the sermons will be serious. Regardless of your religious beliefs, you will be treated with courtesy and respect. Plan to get an early start; the meeting is short and every sermon is important. Your presence will help make it a great meeting for all, and you will find a welcome at every service.

A NEW COLUMN PRESENTED TO CO-OP. NEWS READERS

A column on "Outdoor Life," supplied by a writer from the Southern Sportsman, appears for the first time in this issue. The article is written by and for those who love nature and the out of doors and should be entertaining to many of our readers.

MRS. SNYDER COMPLETES COURSE AS STEWARDESS

Mrs. Robert Snyder, who has completed her training as a stewardess for the Chicago and Southern Air Lines, at Memphis, Tenn., is the guest this week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Warner, of Silver Lake. She has received her gold wings and on the 28th of this month will serve aboard the Dixie Liners which fly from the Gulf coast to the Great Lakes and which will soon fly throughout the Caribbean area. Mrs. Snyder attended North Manchester college and took a course in Spanish through the extension work of Indiana university at Fort Wayne. She also studied conversational Spanish in Memphis. She was formerly a Mentone girl.

ROSES ARE BLOOMING; APPLE TREES BLOSSOMING

Nature, occasionally, gets out of step with the Master plan and puts on the unusual. Last week Del Leavell brought in a branch of buds from a Rambling Rose bush and Walt Safford says some of his apple trees are bursting into bloom.

VANATOR-WALLACE

Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Vanator, who were married in a ceremony performed at six o'clock Friday evening by Rev. Dale C. Beatty in the parsonage of the Methodist Church at Columbia City, will make their home on a farm near North Webster. Mr. Vanator is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Vanator, of near North Webster, and Mrs. Vanator was formerly Miss Eleanor M. Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wallace. Mr. and Mrs. Roxie Shoemaker, of North Webster, attended the couple. For her wedding, the bride chose a street-length dress of pale pink with which she wore black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Vanator is a graduate of the Mentone high school and has been employed in the office of the Northern Indiana Public Service Company at North Webster for the past five years. Mr. Vanator, a graduate of the North Webster high school, has been engaged in farming with his father following his discharge from the marine corps.

SHOWER FOR NEWLY-WEDS

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Burgh, who were recently married and have returned from their honeymoon, the members and friends of Cooks Chapel church gave them a miscellaneous shower Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lackey. The Lackeys are parents of the bride, who before her marriage was Melva Jane Lackey.

The couple received many beautiful and useful gifts.

The evening was spent socially with carry-in refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgh are living temporarily at Etna Green, while their new home is being built at Plymouth.

The group wished them much success and happiness in their new home.

LEGION BOYS APPROVE PLANS FOR NEW CLUB BUILDING

The Mentone American Legion Post held a meeting at the school house on Tuesday evening and approved the plans for the new two-story club room and Legion hall to be erected on the lots south of the Wade Whetstone tailor shop.

Construction, however, will not be commenced until the proper building permit, etc. has been received.

Good Morning, Mother!

No wonder the she bear is jumpy, irritable and afraid of her own shadow when she comes out of hibernation. It is probably nothing more than pure shock. Imagine, if you can, waking up some bright morning and being greeted by a couple of hungry heirs! It must be unnerving to say the least.

Mrs. Bruin goes to sleep in the fall a free woman. But in the dead of winter the bear stork pays her a visit. Cubs have a habit of catching mama napping.

Who would blame mother bruin for acting queerly upon waking from a long, restive sleep and finding two growing youngsters howling for attention!

Keeping Your Catch

There are utterly tons of fish wasted yearly because of spoilage. One of the most common problems of all fishermen is keeping fish after they catch them. Here's an invaluable tip:

Clean fish as soon as possible. Be sure blood is removed from along the backbone. Wash and then dry fish with a cloth. Be sure it is thoroughly dried. And do not allow water to come in contact with fish again. Carry a roll of parchment paper. Roll each fish individually in this waterproof and airproof paper and tie the ends securely with string. Roll all small packages of fish into one large bundle, using blanket or several thicknesses of newspapers. Keep in dry, cool place and do not open bundle until fish are to be used. By using this method, fish can be kept upwards of a week in warm weather and will remain fresh and sweet. It is one of the most valuable tips I ever ran across.

Short Snorts

Raccoons are among the chief enemies of crows. The animals rob nests of the birds, eating both eggs and fledglings.

A bullet dropped from the hand and one fired from a rifle will hit the ground at the same instant, provided the bore of the rifle is held parallel to the ground when it is fired.

In most states the law forbids use of gold fish for bait. The primary reason for this is that gold fish are merely fancy carp. Once liberated they soon reach great size and revert to type. Thoughtless dumping of unused live bait into streams would unloose another depredator.

LET'S MAKE THIS HUNTING SEASON SAFE! ! !

Another hunting season is approaching...the first in a country at peace after four long years of war. "Thousands of people who have never hunted before will hunt this year." It is futile to warn against the "unloaded" gun after a life has been sacrificed. We must urge greater caution on the part of those who carry firearms. We know most accidents that occur in the field are the result of carelessness.

Ten Commandments for Hunters

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with action open, into your automobile, camp, and home.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstruction.
4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

7. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.
8. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

TO ALL WILDLIFE AREA CO-OPERATORS:

A concerted effort will be made by the Department of Conservation through its Conservation Officers to enforce the "no hunting" clause on your wildlife habitat area during the coming and future hunting seasons. Your cooperation is solicited in promptly notifying your local conservation officer if hunting is being done in your habitat area. Your local officer is Walter Yoder.

Two new policies have been adopted by the Department, and each requires the permission of the land owner of the wildlife habitat area. The first concerns an organized fox drive in which a fox takes refuge in one of the habitat areas. With permission of the owner the Department will not object for part of the organized party to continue through the area to run out the fox. Conservation officers are generally on such drives, and this policy does not in any way permit any individual or a small group not organized for a fox drive to enter such areas.

The other policy is that with permission of the owner having a farm pond within one of the habitat areas, we will permit fishermen entrance to the pond for fishing only. The "trespassing prohibited" on habitat signs applies to wildlife.

Thanks for your cooperation.

H. P. Cottingham, Leader
Wildlife Restoration Project

Storm Shelter

Never stand under a tree or near a wire fence during a thunderstorm.

Here's a new rat poison that really kills the rats... Dr. Salsbury's RAT DEATH containing ANTU. It's powerful, so powerful that just a little kills the common brown, or gray (Norway) rat. It's economical. It's safe to use around poultry and livestock when baits are properly distributed. Rats readily accept Dr. Salsbury's RAT DEATH containing ANTU. And it's easy to use! # PEST CAMPAIGN STARTED BY COUNTY SCHOOLS MONDAY

County Extension and Students of Schools Join In Eradication Program.

The starting gun sounded Monday morning in the pest eradication program sponsored by the county agent's office. Schools at Mentone, Beaver Dam, Burket, Atwood, Etna Green, Syracuse and Warsaw joined in the battle and to date many of the pests have already been eliminated.

Judging for individual honors in the contest is done by counting rat tails and sparrow heads. Many teachers throughout the county, we have been told, are already complaining but carrying on valiantly amidst the foul odors and piles of gory trophies.

The program, to be most successful, must have the support of every individual, both in town and country.

TAKE A RAT CENSUS.

Take a rat census, and see if you have these rodents on your farm urges the County Extension Office. Many people fail to realize how many rats they are supporting each year.

Iowa State College plan of estimating the number of rats is as follows:

If rats are never seen but signs are visible, you have from one to one hundred rats.

If rats are seen occasionally at night, you are supporting 100 to 500.

If lots of rats are seen at night and during the day, the total number of rats on the farm is between 1,000 and 5,000.

Killing Rats Not Enough

Killing rats and mice with poison baits and other methods has only temporary value. Further steps should be taken to prevent infestations from developing again. This can be done by closing small holes in basements, especially around doors and windows rat proofing buildings and grain storages. A thorough clean-up of properties now will go a long way towards keeping rats under control.

RATS TAKE HUGE SUPPLY OF FOOD

Killing the rats and mice on farms and town properties within the next few weeks will prevent the destruction of vast quantities of food and other property during the winter months, advised the County Extension Office.

Rodent experts say that it takes 50 pounds of food a year to maintain a rat. This amount of food is enough to raise three chickens to market size or maintain the average laying hen about eight months. Farmers having 50 to 100 rats are paying dearly to support these pests.

PEST CONTROL

English sparrows and starlings were introduced in this country in 1850 to destroy measuring worms. Sparrows are now considered pests by ornithologists and the U. S. Biological department. "Sparrows among birds like rats among animals, are destructive and filthy." They destroy fruit buds, flowers, damage wheat and other grains.

Starlings, too, are destructive to grain crops and to other native birds that are beneficial. Starlings are considered more of a nuisance than the English sparrow.

Means advocated by specialists to eradicate these pests are as follows: Catching birds by means of nets. Shooting. Trapping.

ARE YOUR RATS WELL FED?

A rat's board bill is $2.00 a year. This includes what the rat eats, what it wastes, and the damage it does. A good sized rat will eat as much as several growing chickens—and will also eat the chicks, if precautions are not made. No farm can afford to lose money when rats can be eliminated.

Antu, the newly discovered active ingredient, is now being used in many commercial poisons. One feature of Antu is its effectiveness as a tracking poison. It can be dusted in rat burrows and rats will receive the dose by stepping on the dust and licking their feet.

RAT HABITS

Nests of rats are usually built in underground retreats, or old strawstacks or fodder piles. Rats migrate from farm to farm. They also migrate from barns and other buildings to the outdoors in spring and back again in the fall.

Rats eat shortly after dark and again in the morning. The young rats are first to eat—presumably because they have not learned the cautions of their elders. Flash your light on a feeding place after dusk and you may see a bunch of young rats which do not seem to be startled; turn it on again later and you may see the big ones scramble to get away.

Installed Elevators

In 1889, the first two successful electrically operated passenger elevators were installed—in the Demarest building, New York City.

Fire Loss

As a nation we have the highest per capita fire loss of any nation in the world.

RATS

To people who are not suffering from the scourge of a rat infestation, the idea of a rat campaign may seem of little importance. Those who have reached into a feed bin and have come in contact with one or more rats, or who have seen a pile of dead baby chicks, the result of a raid by rats in the poultry house, will appreciate the need and value of a drive to destroy these filthy and destructive pests.

We know that the world has been combating these animals for centuries and it has been a losing fight thus far. Untold millions of rats are destroyed each year, but as many millions or more spring up to take their places. The control of rats is purely a community problem. Rats are highly migratory.

They move from house to house, farm to farm, community to community, state to state, and country to country. Definite progress in rat control can be made, but only through the efforts of individual citizens and governments who refuse to tolerate conditions under which they thrive.

Over-production

"That must have been the pair that came to my place last year" remarked a man when he heard that a single pair of rats could, in three years, produce a posterity of 359, 709,480 individuals.

Statistics

After reading a statement about the prolificacy of rats and the damage caused by them—that rats breed from six to ten times a year, have an average of 10 young in a litter, breed at four months of age, and that the average damage to food and property by a rat amounts to two dollars per year, a farmer exclaimed, "Gosh, according to that I lost about two million dollars last year!"

SENSATIONAL! NEW! POWERFUL! Dr. Salsbury's RAT DEATH (Contains Antu) kills common brown rats surely, easily. Safe to use around poultry and livestock. Economical, a little bit goes a long way in killing your rats. Ask us about Dr. Salsbury's RAT DEATH. Co-Op. MILL.

Care of Faucets

Don't let faucets drip. Have all leaking faucets reworked promptly to prevent waste of water and fuel, damage to faucet seat, and discoloration of fixtures. Use high-grade faucet washers whenever replacing as they will last longer and save wear on the faucet seat. Clean chromium-plated faucets and fittings with soap and water and dry with soft towel. Should rust spots appear on chromium, scour with non-abrasive cleanser, same as for fixtures, and apply a film of wax over the rust spots. Don't pour hot grease and especially greasy water down the waste. It congeals and clogs the lines; don't pour coffee grounds down the sink drain. Sink pipes can be kept clean for long periods if scalding hot water is poured down them once a day.

Compulsory Pasteurization

The first law for compulsory pasteurization of milk was enacted in 1908 in Chicago.

Moisture Evaporation

An average oak tree loses about 187 gallons of water per day by evaporation.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

A glance at vital statistics convinces that the energy and money spent to improve maternal and child health have paid dividends. More infants live to maturity. More mothers live and retain their health.

Records at the State Board of Health show that infant and mother deaths comprised only 7 percent of the total deaths in the state last year. Health authorities have assumed that infant and mother deaths will normally be about 10 percent of the whole.

The most extensive and intensive public health programs conducted by the handful of local health departments in Indiana have been maternal and child health problems. This has been a vital factor in the progress made although many other factors contributed. It is no cause for over-optimism. More emphasis is needed to wipe out such diseases as diphtheria and smallpox—almost unknown for four or five years in several eastern states—which occur yearly in Indiana.

The Indiana death rate (11.3 in 1945) is considerably higher than that of Michigan (9.8). Efforts to combat other causes of death comparable to those expended for mothers and infants will have favorable results and give to citizens of Indiana a life expectancy at least equal to that enjoyed by the citizens of Michigan.

EDITOR LEAVES TOWN

Artley Cullum, editor of the Co-Op. News, is spending the week in South Dakota, hunting pheasants. Fred Lemer, Ralph Warren, Chet Smith and Devon Hibschan are also in the hunting party.

As the editor is reported to be able to knock down birds without putting "the muzzle amongst the faithers", as the Scotchman said, we wouldn't be surprised to see his "better half" sporting a gaily-feathered chapeau before the winter is over. Meanwhile, we boys are having a time keeping these Linotype keys nutangide, etc., so if you see some of the front page news buried in the middle of the paper, just read it anyhow.

Those who were guests of honor at a reception held at Rochester, Thursday evening, Oct. 24, in honor of the outgoing and incoming officers of Dist. No. 23, from Foster Rebekah Lodge No. 546, were Postle Sill, Sarah Blackford, Pearl Hall, Ida Sarber, Mable McIntyre, Ann Cooper, Bess McCoy, Susie Morical, Dora Goodman, Ervada Cole, Gertrude Bare, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Cornican and Mrs. Hazel Miller. Mrs. McCoy was the retiring Dist. Deputy President, Mrs. Goodman was Treasurer and Mrs. McIntyre was one of the incoming officers. Mrs. Goodman gave a reading on the program which was enjoyed by over 200 members representing the lodges of the District. A drill was given by a team from the Rebekah Lodge of Rochester. Mrs. Ruth Warner of Rochester is the incoming Dist. Deputy President. The entertaining Lodge served cake and coffee.

Later they had the privilege of visiting Schyler Rebekah Lodge and witnessed the initiatory degree given to three candidates in a very pleasing manner.

IT'S RESULTS THE WORLD PAYS FOR, NOT EXCUSES

"Any fool can farm if the weather is right." Perhaps the word farm can be replaced by the name of any competitive business if the "weather" is meant to indicate the thousand and one hills, bumps and hollows which make it unsafe to figure the board feet of timber when a new tree is planted.

That little "if" is the alibi word. We can all explain how we might have reached the top rung of the tallest ladder in sight if—the following had or hadn't happened. It is the "ifs" that keep us on a mediocre level. Man's achievements may be in inverse ratio to the number of "ifs" which stump him.

One of our one-time neighbors knew farming from A to Z. He was a cast iron authority on every subject from fertilizers to the inheritance of color pattern in guinea pigs. Even without a special provocation or request, he would expound at length on the proper technique for accomplishing miracles of production on any specified area.

His own operations, however, were not without reproach in the eyes of others. His rented farm was low in fertility, badly gullied from erosion, his crops were spindling, his stock peaked and confined only by cuss words and imagination of which he had an ample but ineffective store. His income was hardly sufficient to pay interest on debts which he preferred to forget. In fact, we suspected that he was just a shirt tail ahead of the sheriff.

He explained all these discrepancies by a most interesting array of "ifs." If the elevator hadn't sold him poor seed, if his landlord would only buy him some fencing, if the rain hadn't come or failed to come just when it did, if the dealer hadn't sold him shoddy machinery, if it hadn't been too hot to work his horses, if his wife hadn't forgotten to shut the gate, if his boys were any good at all, things would have been different. Some of us suspected he had left out the biggest "if" in the lot, but his recommendations for the management of national and international affairs would unquestionably have been extremely valuable to government officials.

Then there was the boy who used to trudge past our place from his farm home to high school. He, too, came to live on a rented farm. Where he got his business ability, I don't know, but some of his Danish ancestors must have transmitted to him a genius for organization. His farm was not so good when he moved there but every year it got better. He didn't overwork physically, but every move counted. He never wasted time hunting for the hammer or chasing pigs back through a hole in the fence. Every tool had a place, every operation a sequence and every day's work was a contribution to the general plan.

He always seemed to be one day ahead with his corn cultivation, his machinery seldom broke down, he got his hay in just before the rain and stock was more apt to try breaking into his pastures than out of them. He had time to be a good lodge member, a Farm Bureau director and member of the school board. His word carried a lot of weight in the community, but it was seldom heard unless his advice was asked and then only after careful consideration.

This makes him sound like some pattern of virtue, but he was human, liked a good story, had many warm friends and made some mistakes like the rest of us. He earned enough money to buy his farm, raised a fine family, never lacked tobacco for his pipe and had time to enjoy it all. He organized his work and got it done instead of hiding behind the "if" bushes. The man ran the farm, while in the first case history, the farm ran the man—and ran him ragged.

It is a wise man, too, who knows his limitations. A pal finished his agricultural course at the University, served his time in World War I and then his dad set him up on a fine quarter section with all new and modern buildings, good machinery and a full line of livestock. He was a fine boy, straight, honest and a conscientious worker. He married well and his future seemed rosy indeed.

Imagine my surprise a couple of years later when he told me he was selling his farm and going into the farm machinery business. Why? I've made some money and enjoy farming," he said. "But I'm not cut out to make a success of it. I like machinery and can raise crops as well as the next, but I haven't the instinct for handling livestock. I can't see trouble coming before it hits me. Then it's too late." He made a success of his new business.

Watching boys grow into men and observing the results they achieve, leads me to believe that the personal equation is the deciding factor in most enterprises. Some rise in spite of seemingly impossible odds, while others go down hill without much obvious reason. It isn't the "chance" but the man's ability to organize his forces, direct his efforts and get things done that counts.

The Jap general didn't think very highly of American soldiers as jungle fighters. "Then why did they defeat you," he was asked. "They just removed the jungle," was his reply. Likewise, some farmers do a pretty good job among all their troubles with weather, prices, disease and insects. Others get lost in the wilderness, while the top layer seem to remove the jungle. It's results the world pays for, not excuses.

ATWOOD CHURCH HOST

TO BROTHERHOOD

The Brotherhood of the St. Joseph Conference of the United Brethren church met at the United Brethren church in Atwood Tuesday afternoon and evening. Speakers were: I. Lynd Esch, D. D., President of Indiana Central College, at Indianapolis; Rev. O. O. Arnold, D. D. Associate Editor of the Otterbein Press (the U. B. publishing house at Dayton, Ohio); Mr. L. S. Huffman, native of Tyner, and agent of the above mentioned publishing house. Paul Bilby, Warsaw undertaker, was president of the brotherhood and led the sing and conducted the program. Plans were made to serve 325 at the evening banquet, but due to a lot of men showing up for supper without reservations, about 380 were served. Around 20 church groups were represented, some a distance of 103 miles. There was not a woman in the audience at the evening service and the speakers remarked 'hat it was the first time they had ever heard 400 United Brethren men whistle and sing together. Rev. S. M. Hill was the only Mentone resident attending. There was a good spirit among the men and the Atwood ladies did a fine job of feeding the crowd.

Guests at the Artley Cullum home Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cullum, Ray Lederer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kapton, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Hedlund and family, Milo Pearce, all of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carey and sons; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lancaster and family, of So. Whitley.

Railroad Consolidations

Because of consolidations that have taken place, there are now 133 Class I railroads compared with 186 in 1920.

INTERNATIONAL SHOW OPENING NEXT MONTH

After a war-time lapse of five years, the country's largest agricultural show, the International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show, will be held in Chicago November 30 to December 7.

It will take place at the Chicago Stock Yards in the International Amphitheatre, which for the past four years has been occupied by the Army and used for military purposes.

Record Exhibits Expected

Those in charge of the Exposition report that the early entry is the heaviest in the 46 year history of this event. They predict that by the closing of entries for the livestock classes on November 1 more than 12,000 head of cattle, horses, sheep, and swine will have been registered for the "Victory" show.

They will represent 29 breeds, comprising four breeds of beef cattle, 11 of sheep, nine of swine, and five of draft horses. There will also be several hundreds of the best pleasure horses and ponies of the United States and Canada, competing in harness and under Saddle, in the International Horse Shows. Horse shows are scheduled for every evening and on five afternoons during the eight day run of the Exposition.

One of the big features of the Exposition will be the International Junior Live Stock Feeding Contest in which farm boys and girls will exhibit upward of 1500 steers, lambs, and hogs of their own raising. This event, limited to exhibitors between 10 and 21 years old, will be held on the opening day, Saturday, November 30.

Shearing Experts Compete

The country's champion sheep shearers—both juniors and adult—will compete for national titles in a shearing competition. The adult contest is open to all competitors, the junior to farm boys who have qualified for participation by winning statewide contests earlier in the year.

At the last full International Live Stock Exposition, which closed at midnight, December 6, 1941—a few hours before the attack on Pearl Harbor—every State in the Union and five provinces of Canada were represented by exhibits.

Included on the program of the Exposition is the International Grain and Hay Show—world's largest competitive farm crops competition. According to the management, entries for this department will be accepted until November 10.

DUCK SEASON OPENS

It is reported that many local hunters helped to open the duck season last Saturday morning.

There are plenty of ducks including teal, and wood duck, with a few mallard. The limit to a hunter is seven, which may include one wood duck.

Hunting is to cease one half hour before sundown.

Giraffe's Tongue

The tongue of the giraffe is about 18 inches long.

Mrs. J. J. McClelland of Owensboro, Ky., who has been visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity during the past week was joined by her husband on Friday. They returned home via Bloomington where they spent the week end with their daughters, Jo Ann and Patsy, who are attending Indiana University.

Don Ernsberger, commander of the local American Legion Post, attended the fall conference of the Indiana American Legion officials at Indianapolis last week-end.

Mrs. William Weisweaver and daughter, Isabelle will sail for Heidelberg, Germany, sometime in November to join Wm. Weisweaver, who is in the Army of Occupation there. Mr. Weisweaver is a brother to Mrs. Chick

OUTDOOR Notes

By Joe Austell Small

Tough Coon

George Alloway, 80 year old farmer, was attacked recently by a ferocious animal in the darkness of his hayloft, where he had climbed to throw out some hay for his horses.

The farmer scrambled down his ladder with what he thought to be a giant tom-cat swarming all over him, scratching, biting, growling. Gale, his son, investigated the loft, but also immediately craved the safety of other regions.

Finally, the local game warden was called in. He discovered the animal to be a female coon. Apparently bereft of her own young, she had adopted two kittens after driving the old cat away. The warden managed to remove the old coon without injuring her. Thereafter, Alloway was able to feed his horses in peace.

Owl Pretty Hungry

Nelson Crebassa witnessed a most unusual sight recently. He was driving along one moonlight night when a dark shadow swooped down out of the heavens, touched a speeding car ahead, and made off with something in its claws.

Both Crebassa and the driver of the other car stopped their vehicles to see what the bird had stolen. It was a squirrel tail, snatched from an aerial on the lead car!

Nature-Born Sleuth

This story has been told before and it may not even be very funny. But one thing certain—it stinks!

Mama skunk was worried because she could never keep track of her two children. They were named In and Out and whenever In was in, Out was out. If Out was in, In was out. One day she called Out in to her and told him to go out and bring In in. So Out went out and in no time at all he brought In in.

"Wonderful!" said Mama skunk. "How, in all this wide forest, were you able to find In in so short a time?"

"That's easy," said Out. "In stinct."

What's Cookin', Dec?

Squirrel season will be open again next year, so clip this one. Unless

WHAT I LIVE FOR

I live for those who love me,
Whose hearts are kind and true;
For the heaven that smiles above me,
And awaits my spirit, too.
For all human ties that bind me,
For the task that God assigns me,
For the bright hopes left behind me,
And the good that I can do.

I love to learn their story,
Who suffered for my sake;
To emulate their glory,
And follow in their wake—
Bards, patriots and sages,
The noble of all ages
Whose deeds crown history's pages,
And time's great volume make.

I live to hail the Season
By gifted minds foretold—
When men shall live by reason
And not alone by gold.
When men shall live united,
The whole world shall be lighted
As Eden was of old.

I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true;
For the heaven that smiles above me
And awaits my spirit, too;
For the cause that needs assistance,
For the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do.
