TWINS--LIFE AND CAUTION

Motorists planning trips to mountainous areas to enjoy fall scenery should give special heed to rules of safety and common sense in their driving, according to the Chicago Motor Club.

A driver approaching a blind curve on a mountain road has the right to expect that an automobile coming the other way is on the right side of the road. And motor club safety experts recommend that sight seers utilize the wide, cleared parking areas provided at intervals along most mountain highways when they want to stop and admire the scenery.

Correct use of the brakes is a vital safety factor in mountain driving. Motorists are cautioned about riding the brakes in long or steep down grades. Shifting to a lower gear will slow the car, thus saving wear on the brakes. Keeping the car in low gear also helps to maintain a constant speed and provides plenty of power should it be needed. When braking is necessary, a light repeated pressure on the pedal is enough to keep down the speed and, at the same time, protect the engine and tires from overheating.

The practice of coasting downhill with the gear shift lever in neutral or the clutch depressed is most hazardous. The amount of gasoline saved is negligible and the danger of accident is tremendous. Many mountain down grades are far steeper than they look, and, should the driver allow the car to coast, it will gather momentum quickly and he may lose control.

WHERE NOTHING IS WASTED

When a meat animal goes to market, what happens?

The obvious answer is that it becomes steaks and chops, roasts and hamburger, bacon and ham, and other succulent cuts of meat that eventually wind up on our dining tables. The primary reason for the existence of the meat packing industry is to perform the vital service of converting meat on the hoof into meat ready for the consumer, and to move it to the centers of demand.

But that isn't all of the answer. There is an old saying that the packers make use of everything but the squeal, and that is almost literally true. It would require pages to list the by-products of packing.

As an example, it takes the hides from about 10,000 meat animals to produce shoe leather for a town the size of Kokomo, Indiana, with its population of 33,795. It takes pancreas glands from 1500 cattle or 7500 hogs to produce one single ounce of insulin. That is the only source of insulin—and insulin is the only known treatment for diabetes.

A particularly dramatic example is a new hormone for which great hopes are held in the treatment of arthritis and kindred ills. This is produced from the pituitary glands of hogs—and it takes the glands of 25,000 of the animals to make one ounce!

The by-products of packing are an integral part of a great business. When those meat animals go to market, nothing is wasted. Everything is put to good use.

Famous Leatherneck

U.S. Marine Dan Daly had the rare distinction of twice winning the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award. He received the first award for service in China in 1900 and 15 years later won the medal again for action against Haitian bandits. The famed Leatherneck died in 1937.

Sweet Corn

Sweet corn was not known to white men till the discovery of America, after which time it became popular; increasingly so since 1900, largely due to the development of hybrid corn,

Summer Sauce

It's a tasty sauce for fresh green beans. Just prepare cooked diced bacon, drain, add minced onion, and one-half cup tomato juice. Simmer for a few minutes. Pour the sauce over cooked beans.

THE IMPROVED HEATER

A heater of utmost capacity, with vastly improved heat circulation, 2-fan defrosting, Redit-Fit mounting plate for easy installation and a special foot warming unit. Unsurpassed for comfort and safe driving in any weather. An unbeatable value for new cars—or modernizing heating systems of old cars. Modern, stream-lined design.

COMPLETE WINTER AIR-CONDITIONING

In heavy traffic, fumes from other cars can be avoided by switching to recirculating heat.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

As author of an outdoor column it is interesting to note the varied number of inquiries tossed your way by sportsmen. For instance, hunting and game questions are twice as numerous as fishing inquiries.

At first this somewhat amazed me, but it probably can be explained by the fact that many gun enthusiasts hunt for years without fully understanding the technical side of firearms and ammunition. On the other hand, a fisherman in short order learns all there is to know about tackle.

I admit that I'm not an authority on guns and, like most others, I've hunted for more than a quarter of a century with rifles and shotguns. But in that span of years I have learned a lot about rods and reels and lures.

The other day an arms question was noted involving bullet penetration. A hunter wanted to know why his rifle, when fired point blank at a tree, would not send a slug entirely through it but out at 75 or 100 yards the slug easily went through the same tree.

Remington Arms Company's ballistic expert, Dr. C. S. Cummings, offers this explanation: When a bullet leaves the muzzle of a gun it tends to wobble or, as it is known technically, yaw. This is due to the sudden release of unbalanced forces which tend to get the bullet started in a slightly erratic path. Consequently, if the bullet strikes a target close to the muzzle, there is a good chance that it will not strike the target strictly normal or "dead on." This yawing or wobbling motion, however, is lost in flight. At long ranges the bullet will strike a target "head on" and, consequently, offer greater penetration.

That's the type of question—and answer—only the experts can handle accurately and to the satisfaction of the sportsman.

I don't think it necessary to learn the technical side of arms and ammunition for hunting. But it is essential that all hunters know the limitations of the arms they are using to prevent crippling game. For instance, a shotgun with No. 8 shot has an effective killing range up to 40 yards. To use this load at 50 yards means few kills and much crippling. It is much the same with rifles and loads. A load designed to give killing penetration at a certain range will be entirely unsuited for shooting at other distances.

By learning just what your rifle or shotgun can do—and by sticking within the limitations in shooting—we all will have more fun afield and cut unnecessary losses by crippling to a minimum.

When you trade at home, your Dollars are still working for you.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

More than 146 samples of canned corn and 300 samples of canned tomatoes have been examined during the canning season by the Food and Drug Laboratory of the Indiana State Board of Health.

"The corn program was intensified this year due to the increased prevalence in Indiana of the corn borer and corn ear worms but we found few of these insects in the samples submitted," according to Glen C. Weber, chemist, in charge of the laboratory. "The number of samples of canned tomatoes submitted in September was three times as large as last year's collection and our work on these samples will continue for several months."

The canned corn is examined for corn borer and corn ear worm larvae and the search in the tomatoes is for mold and fly eggs. These samples are collected by the sanitarians of the Division of Food and Drugs operating out of the five branch offices of the Indiana State Board of Health.

The purpose of examining these canned products is to obtain information leading to the prevention of marketing food products made from spoiled or contaminated materials, and to aid in the correction of unsanitary conditions in canneries.

TELLS HOW TO "BEAT THE SQUEEZE"

CHICAGO—"American business can reach new heights through objective thinking, right direction and inspiration," Robert W. Jackson, keynote speaker, told members of the Direct Mail Advertising Association at their annual meeting here. Jackson pointed out that many firms move forward despite all changes in the economical structure because of progressive leadership, sound executive organization, business fundamentals, service and specific mail suggestions.

"Belief in forecasts of an end of war-prosperity was so strong that it forced part of the predictions to come true early this year," he said. Opportunities for beating the "squeeze" through increased sales, reduction of costs and stepping up of customer service are far greater than at any time in the history of the U.S., Jackson pointed out.

"America's resources, both physical and mental, are largely untapped," Jackson said, and noted that thousands of executives were developed by the various services during the war. "These, with the unrecognized within an organization can quickly return the pre-war age level to top management. Business must return to the fundamentals known by all . . . fundamentals that have been dormant during prosperous years."

MENTONE MURMURS

by
DAVID and SALLEY GOSSER

Murmurs and two car loads of Mentonites who went to hear James Metcalfe at South Bend this past Tuesday can verify that poetry can be not only a very interesting hobby—but a very profitable vocation as well. Dark and handsome, James Metcalfe in a fifty minute address, spoke so brilliantly that it seemed but ten of fifteen minute interlude. He is a lawyer, journalist and former FBI man—the "G-man" who helped to capture the desperado, John Dillinger, which exploit he described. His poetry, which brings warmth to millions every day through syndicate newspapers, is the human friendly column, "Portraits." His book of "Portraits," one hundred and seven selected poems touches on subjects such as love, home, life, occupations, business, friendship, prayer, and sports. Many are character portraits. He humorously spoke of the fun mail, he receives and said he is not a "Dorothy Dix" altho the public seems to think so.

As always, Murmurs was inspired by poetry, and couldn't resist, but probably will be inviting trouble by submitting the following poem,

COME, WARM YOUR HANDS
Come, warm your hands before my fire;
The flames are licking at the green-wood log,
The shadows dance a fantasy upon the wall,

And the room has a ruddy glow.
Come, warm your hands before my fire.
Come, warm your heart before my fire;
We can recall "old times,"
Discuss the prospects for the "new,"
Or sit in silence 'til the fire burns low.
Come, warm your heart before my fire.
Come, and break bread before my fire.
Though soul is more than body to be fed,

It feasts in fellowship with friend or foe
Who takes the cup and warms before my fire.
Come, and break bread with me,
And warm your hands and heart before my fire.

Mrs. Forest Kesler brought in the top of a large sunflower that grew at her place this summer. The top measured over 13 inches across and was fully six inches high.

ADDITIONAL CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE—New single row corn picker A-1 shape; pure bred Holstein Bull calf from Newman's Herd. 1 mile east Mentone, 2½ m. north. Lester Blackburn.

Those who went to South Bend Tuesday evening to hear J. Metcalfe, writer of the popular syndicate "Portraits" were: Mrs. Conde Walburn, Mrs. Ora McKinley, Mrs. F. B. Davison, Mrs. Walter Fenstermaker, Mrs. David Gosser, Mrs. Arty Cullum, Mrs. Wreatha McFarren, Phyllis Bowser and Jody Cullum.

New Insecticide Reported Safe

New and effective insecticide that combines high insecticidal efficiency, low toxicity to warm-blooded animals and safety to plants has recently been developed. Toxicological tests show that bistrichloroethane, the active ingredient, is one of the safest to animals of all the new insecticides. It has a fast knock-down or paralytic action against flies and mosquitoes, according to national patent council.

"Virginia Tobacco"

North Carolinians can't do anything about it, but most so-called "Virginia" tobacco is raised in their state, and they also raise more "Virginia" peanuts than Virginia does.

Gas Leakage

Any leakage of gas, no matter how small, may be dangerous. Although the quantity of gas escaping may appear to be insufficient to cause asphyxiation or explosion, it is never possible to be sure of this without a chemical analysis of the mixture. Hence, a person should never regard an air-gas mixture as safe, and, when even a slight escape of gas is noted, shut off any equipment using the gas and immediately provide as much ventilation as possible.

Emergency Measure

A ripped hem will stay put indefinitely with an application of cellophane tape. It's also effective over holes in pants pockets until a real mending job can be done.

"TOWERS OF FLOWERS" CELEBRATION FRIDAY

Greenfield, Indiana's 100th birthday celebration for the famous Hoosier poet, James Whitcomb Riley, will be held October 7th.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. J. D. Long and Mrs. Zoe Essick were dinner guests at the Truman Long home Monday evening. As it turned out, the dinner was in honor of Mrs. Essick's birthday, complete with birthday cake, candles, and nut cups—which was a complete surprise, as the guests had been invited out to eat Sunday "leftovers."

Mrs. Essick has cared for Mrs. J. D. Long for over a year. Mrs. Long is able to walk about quite well now.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smally and family, and Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Johns of Mentone attended a piano recital given by Miss Kay Herd at Logansport last Sunday. Kay is the four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Herd of near Logansport, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swick of Mentone. She has taken only twenty-seven lessons but was able to play from memory all fourteen numbers of her recital.

ENJOYING THE EAST

A letter from Mrs. Mae Borton, who is visiting her daughter a North East Pennsylvania says:

Dear Neighbors:

We laughed about the item.

Had that been my purse you never my grandson, Jimmie, is going to live: The railroad and the beautiful hills back of him and a big highway and miles of lakes in front of him and you would have found it.

I am sending you a couple items for your paper this week.

I wish you could see the place where I can see the lighthouse on the Canadian shore. And just across the road a mum farm that is electrically lighted at night. Were I sixteen years younger, I sure would live right by him. The hills are beautiful. Wish I were staying another month. Will be home Saturday.

Mae

The items she enclosed are as follows:

Miss Mary Jane Borton of McKeesport, Pa. spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. R. Hatfield a family of North East Pa. and her mother Mrs. Mae Borton.

Larry Borton son of Mr. and Mrs. George Borton of Huntington, and grandson of Mrs. Mae Borton, is enrolled in Kings College, New Castle, Delaware.

Commercial Fertilizer

During the 10 years from 1937 to 1947, U.S. farmers just doubled their use of commercial fertilizer, increasing from 8,400,000 tons to 16,800,000 says the U.S. department of agriculture.

Catalytic Cracking

One of the longest strides ever taken to conserve vital petroleum was catalytic cracking. It splits out three gallons for every one refined before, hence wastes less of each barrel drilled. A triumph of chemical engineering, requiring labyrinthic equipment such as this, the technique yields higher octane gasoline in the bargain.

Glass-Making

Evidence that glass-making was the first industry established by the English colonists in America has been brought to light in excavations on Jamestown Island, Va., the Department of Interior announced recently. The first permanent English settlement, Jamestown got its first industry 17 months after its establishment in 1607 when the Virginia Co. of London sent workmen to make glass, records show. Uncovered in the digging were four furnaces, crucible pots and pieces of glass.

MENTONE,

INDIANA

This is "kick-off" week for the nation's waterfowl hunters. Or, at least, sportsmen living in some of the northern border states and others who can afford a trek northward will start to bang away at the mallards, pintails and other popular species of ducks.

And before the waterfowl reach the comparative safety of the Gulf coast for a winter of relaxation, there will be a near constant barrage of shotguns for three months as the birds move ahead of the wintery blasts. With October 7 the earliest opening date under the 1949-50 migratory regulations, gunning is legal as late as January 7 in some southern areas.

There is every indication of a fine season. Last winter's inventory showed a 12 per cent overall waterfowl increase. Reports from the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, Ducks Unlimited, and other agencies throughout the summer, showed favorable nesting in many spots.

And it is smart to compare any duck hunting season with only the previous year; for when you start thinking back to yesteryear's shooting, the picture today is a far cry from the past.

Waterfowl gunning, however, even today with reduced bags and short shooting season, is a sport that ranks second to none. To sit in a blind and watch the birds circling a set of decoys or winging high overhead is a thrill that's hard to duplicate in any other sport.

It's my hope that the thousands of hunters who take to the lakes and the marshes get as big a thrill as I do every season—and this thrill doesn't always come with killing ducks, for just watching them is almost as rewarding.

VACATIONS NOT ENDED

Autumn landscapes are attracting motorists into automobile trips ranging from day-long picnic excursions to long trips, according to a bulletin issued by the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor Club.

State parks and colorful local regions are expected to continue to draw streams of motorists throughout October and into November, the motor club forecasts.

The foliage in northern Illinois starts turning about the first week in October and by the second and third weeks it is at its best. A trip through Starved Rock State Park, Deer Park, then to Moline and north along the Mississippi to Savanna and White Pines State Park will be a rewarding weekend journey.

Central Illinois offers colorful panoramas in the area of Lake Bloomington, Lake Decatur, the Sangamon River Valley, and New Salem State Park.

Southern Illinois presents many varied scenes at this season around Marion, Carbondale, Horseshoe and Crab Orchard Lakes, and the Golconda area with the cliffs and valleys of Giant City and Fern Clyffe State Parks. The autumnal river scenes of the Mississippi, Ohio, and Kaskaskia are memorable sights.

The beauties of the Indiana countryside in the fall will attract visitors to Turkey Run State Park and the nearby Shades of Indiana, a new state park offering many varieties of trees and plant life and possessing a dense, shadowy forest, the "Shades of Death."

Brown County State Park, located east of Bloomington, is especially popular in the fall with its picturesque forests, lakes and streams.

Michigan and Wisconsin, with their extensive woodlands, are a colorful lure in the autumn.

For motorists setting their sights beyond the Middle West, the New England states, with the White Mountains, Green Mountains and Berkshires, will prove to be the greatest attraction.

P. T. A. NEWS

The first meeting of the Mentone P. T. A. held September 28, was very well attended. There were 85 members present.

The president, Mrs. Dan Urschel, announced that the senior class and the sixth grade were the winners in the P. T. A. membership drive contest. The prizes will be presented at a later date.

Mrs. Urschel called the meeting to order and the minutes of the organization meeting held April 18 were read by Mrs. Charles Creighton, secretary. An amendment to the local by-laws to elect an assistant secretary was read by Miss Wreatha McFarren.

Dale Kelley, acting as treasurer in the absence of Mrs. Conda Walburn, reported a membership roll of 180 paid members.

The necessity for good attendance of children at school was stressed by Mr. Roland Ferverda. Unnecessary absences tend to lower the tuition support from the state. Two new features have been added to the teaching program. Mr. Kelley is giving Art instruction in the upper six grades, and Ralph Hoffman is Physical Ed. instructor in the lower six grades.

Mr. Ferverda urges that parents see that their children are advancing properly in their studies. He stated that home work would aid very much in their advancement.

Following the singing of "America, the Beautiful," led by Mr. Ferverda, devotions were given by Rev. Milton Dowden, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Mentone.

The boys' quartet, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Blickenstaff, were very entertaining with their singing and humorous pantomime.

"The welfare of the boys and girls of this community is the thing that makes this organization stick. We are all for the welfare of boys and girls," stated our guest speaker, Mr. Chester Manwaring.

Mrs. Urschel appointed the following committees:

HOSPITALITY—Mrs. Roland Ferverda, Mrs. Howard Horn, Miss June Aughinbaugh.

PUBLICITY—Mrs. Harold Markley, Glen Law, Art Cullum.

HISTORIAN—Mrs. Everett Rathfon, Mrs. Wayne Tombaugh and Mrs. Noble Oyler, helpers.

Mrs. Urschel announced that the P. T. A. executives will meet at the school house Oct. 17th, and the next regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be October 26th, 7:30 p. m. at the school house.

The meeting adjourned, followed by a social gathering in the school cafeteria where coffee and home-made cookies were served by the P. T. A. officers.

The Girl Scouts played a very important part in our first meeting by serving as baby-sitters. Thank you, girls.

Safety First

Never swim alone. Always have help at hand, preferably a life-guard with the knowledge and equipment for rescue. Don't swim after dark for the same reason. It is too hard for even an expert to assist you in the dark.

COUNTY SINGSPIRATION

Another good time is being planned by Greater Marshall County Youth for Christ organization when they meet on Sunday evening, Oct. 9, at the Talma Christian church for a singspiration meeting, from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m.

Let's see what church will have the largest delegation present. Each group is asked to bring a special musical number, either voice or instrumental. Pastors, load up your cars, urge your membership to come and enjoy an hour with us.

Don't forget—Sunday evening, Oct. 9 at the Talma Christian Church. Will see you there.

Sulfur Saves Lambs

Sulfur in lamb rations has been proved effective in protecting lambs against enterotoxemia, an affliction also known as "overeating disease." Various amounts of sulfur were fed to three lots of lambs. Death losses from enterotoxemia ranged from less than 1 per cent in the group receiving the heaviest dose, to approximately 8.5 per cent in the lot receiving the lightest dose.

DAIRY SHOW STARTS SAT.

With the Royal Canadian Mountain Police musical riders serving as the vanguard in the entertainment field, the International Dairy Exposition today awaited the arrival of the finest cattle for opening Saturday of the "World's Fair of the Dairy Industry" at the state fairgrounds here. The show will continue daily, 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. through October 15.

Arriving in Indianapolis early this week, the colorful and spectacular musical ride of the Canadian "Mounties" will be presented for the first time in this section of the United States at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night as a highlight of 18 international hippodrome acts to be presented nightly at 8:30 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock the same night, a special train of 26 cars will leave the Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, bearing one-fourth of the cattle which will be exhibited here. They will arrive in time for exhibiting and judging Monday. An estimated total of more than 500 of the approximate entry list of 2,300 dairy cattle will make the trip.

Oscar Swank, general manager of the International Show, spoke in appreciation of the Waterloo management when he said, "We are very grateful to the management of the Cattle Congress. This is our first year for the International Dairy Exposition, and they have been highly cooperative in assisting us in our exposition and the staging of the events, which will present some 23 hundred head of cattle in competition for some $61,000 in prizes. The working out of the special train to bring cattle to our show from the Waterloo Cattle Congress is indicative of the splendid cooperation existing between the two managements.

Prior to their first appearance before the exposition audience in the fair-ground coliseum here Saturday night, the Canadian "mounties," a band of 32 riders on handsome black horses, will have appeared at the famous 500-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway site, etc. Eighteen top-notch acts of the circus will augment their entertainment nightly in the Coliseum.

Gate admission (60 cents) will be sold from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. daily at the fairgrounds, the public being admitted free thereafter. Admission to the entertainment is extra.

World's Biggest Bell

The Soviet Union which likes to "do things in a big way" will probably never call attention to the fact that it owns the biggest bell in the world. This bell, the "Tsar Kolokol," located in Moscow, was a flop because an 11-ton piece broke off before it was ever rung.

Capt. E. B. Ward

In his early career, Captain Ward built and operated vessels on the Great Lakes. He transferred his interests and his boats to the iron trade, and pioneered the iron industries of both the Detroit and Chicago areas during the 1850's. Obtaining control of the Kelly patents, he produced the first commercial Bessemer steel in America in 1864 at Wyandotte, Mich.

"NOT BY BREAD ALONE"

Each year, during the third week in October, National Bible Week is observed. The 1949 observance will run from the 17th to the 23rd.

The week is designed to again focus attention on those basic principles of Christianity which much of the civilized world is supposed to live by—and which are so widely and tragically violated. Here in the United States, to say nothing of other nations, we have little to pride ourselves upon as Christians. We have the highest rate of crime and delinquency in our history—three times as many people are incarcerated in penal institutions as are attending universities and colleges. Eleven out of 12 young people are not active churchgoers. Over 8,000,000 people are under treatment for mental disorders. Religions and morals are often openly ridiculed, and totalitarian principles, which are directly opposed to Christianity and all the other great religions as well, are advocated and taught. There has never been a time when so much cheap and tawdry entertainment—in books and magazines, and on the radio, stage and screen—was offered for sale, and it has a huge audience. Racial and class hatreds are rampant.

Looking at the international scene, it is clear that the failure to live up to the basic ideals of Christianity has led to misery and despair for millions, to the enslavement of once-free peoples, to a cold war which is absorbing more and more of our energies, our thoughts, our resources. The world is moving swiftly toward a cynical materialism which may destroy it unless the trend is checked.

At a time like this, National Bible Week has a vast significance. In the great old phrase, "Man cannot live by bread alone."—Industrial News Review.

DWIGHT BROOKE

"Sneezewood"

Ptaeroxylum, called "sneezewood" in South America, is a creamy white wood, very close grained, heavy, and could easily be taken for sugar maple. The dust tops all other woods in causing sneezing.

Beef Cattle

Studies with beef cattle show that rate of growth is largely determined by the parent stock. This means that bulls should be selected not only for pedigree and appearance, but for their own rate of growth under normal feeding conditions.

OBJECT TO AIR RIFLES IN TOWN

It has come to the attention of the Town Board that there have been numerous complaints that there has been considerable damage done within the town by shooting air rifles and miscellaneous firearms.

Ordinance No. 66 prohibits the discharge of any air gun, sling shot, or spring guns within the corporate limits of mentone. This ordinance will be enforced immediately and carries a fine up to $25.00.

TIPPECANOE RIVER BEING STOCKED WITH BASS

Realizing the vital need for restocking Tippecanoe river, for years a favorite fishing spot for thousands of anglers, the division of fish and game, Indiana department of conservation, recently began the task of unloading thousands of small mouth and rock bass at selected spots in four northern Indiana counties. These counties are Kosciusko, Fulton, Marshall and Pulaski.

Henry P. Cottingham, director of the division of fish and game, said the program was the opening gun of a large program for restocking a number of fish-depleted streams in the state, and that it has long been the desire and ambition of the division to give these streams both barrels.

In addition to 15,000 small mouth bass and an almost similar number of rock bass, the federal fish hatchery at Rochester has already placed nearly 5,000 small mouth bass in the river.

MENTONE MURMURS

by

DAVID and SALLY GOSSER

The timely visit of Mrs. Lillian Burkett Harrison to her home, a mile west of Mentone, with reports of storms ravaging the country has given Murmurs an occasion to inquire into the preparation of Florida storms and hurricanes. Although Mrs. Harrison is a resident of Atlanta, Georgia, she has had close friends residing in the hurricane belt of the peninsula-state, and following the death of her husband, visited a friend in the wake of the last hurricane.

The news we read and hear and the wind we had on Monday make us conscious of the damage to be expected when a really great "blow" appears. Unlike the storms we have hereabouts which seem to come without any warning, the hurricanes are announced and feted with all the dignity of such personages as our own President, (thanks to the weather-eye of our Coast Guard and the Air-arms of our military forces) for planes are sent out to spot storm centers and record their rate of movement.

When the path is determined with the approximate time it will put in its appearance on land, the local residents and businessmen begin to shutter their windows and board their doors. Murmurs thought that this was done on all sides of the buildings, but the informer says that this is done only on the storm sides, because the suction created by the plus-hundred mile winds would cause an ordinary structure to explode or "blow-out," that at least one side must be left open so that the pressure can be equalized.

Residents living in lowlands are evacuated to safer places; and the strongest buildings are designated as storm shelters.

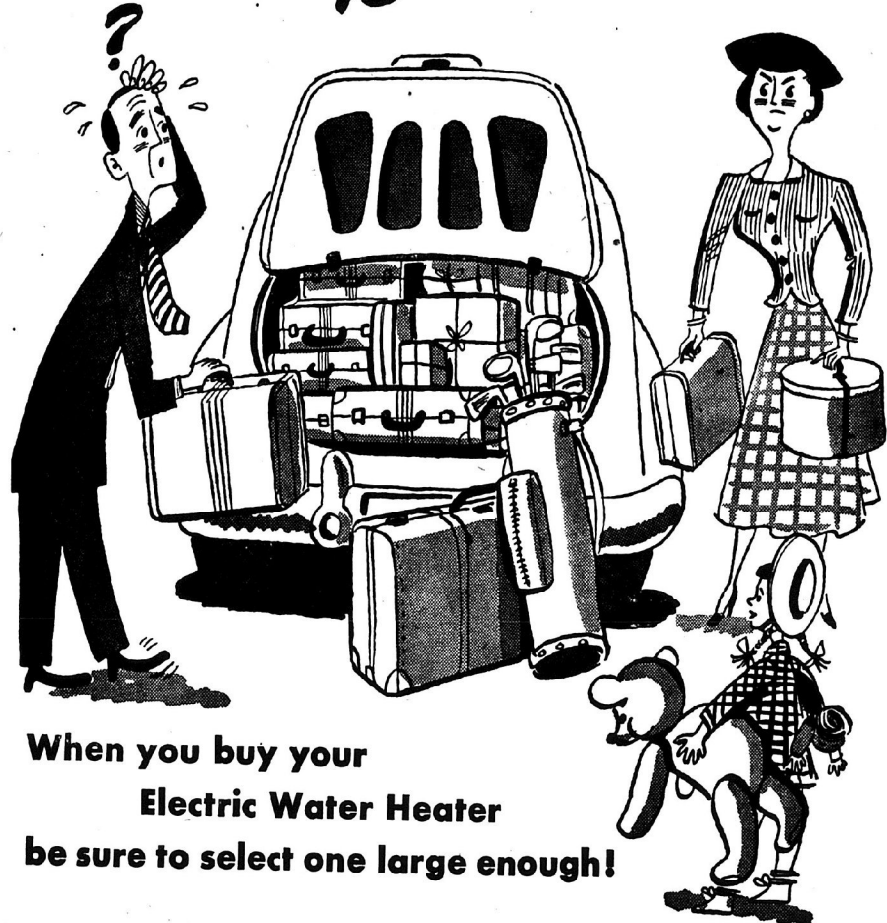

The MOTTO for the Boy Scouts is be "prepared." We may not have such grave emergencies arise here as in Florida, but with such storms as do occasionally hit our state, are we mentally and emotionally prepared to meet situations which may destroy too large a portion of our community?

I do not prophecy doom, but I wonder if it would not be wise to have emergency committees on hand to direct work of various kinds in such events.

Do you remember the civilian committees organized for war-time? Large cities have retained disaster squads for peace-time emergencies, but the freak storms usually hit our rural communities the hardest. What would we do first if a storm demolished "our town?"

MURMURS is interested in your hobbies. Do you write poetry?

It's not often that I single out a certain event and write a column about it for, mostly, you readers are interested in local outdoor news. But this time I'd like to make an exception and report on the International Duck Calling Contest scheduled at Crowley, La., October 26-27.

We all are accustomed to seeing or reading about 80,000 or 100,000 people attending a football game. The annual automobile races at Indianapolis frequently draw in excess of 100,000 spectators, and some of the top horse races often draw huge throngs. But seldom do outdoor events reach such proportions in attracting a gallery.

That's what makes Crowley's duck calling contest come under the heading of "news" in the sports field, for last year upwards of 100,000 witnessed the calling contest and there's every indication that this year's show will pull even more people.

It certainly is a healthy sign to see any outdoor event pull a large spectator crowd. I'll grant that most outdoor sports like fishing, hunting and camping are far better participant events than for spectators. Probably, too, the callers in the annual duck contest will get a bigger kick out of the whole thing than the crowd out front. But, anyway, to have any outdoor competition pull so heavily is good; I hope there's more of the same in other parts of the country.

If you think you're pretty good with a duck call and have had success in luring the birds into gun range with your "chatter," you'd better hang the old call around your neck, pack a bag and head for Crowley. There's a $1000 riding on the winner. Of course, the best duck callers from North America will be there, too, but in such competition you never know who'll come out on top.

Fall pigs should be vaccinated against hog cholera at about six to seven weeks of age. Cholera kills more hogs in Indiana than any other disease. A good ration to feed at this time is 70 pounds of cracked corn, 20 pounds of ground oats or cracked wheat, and 10 pounds of protein supplement. This ration is fed up to weaning time, when the protein supplement should be increased to 15 pounds to take the place of the sow's milk, Purdue University veterinarians say.

CORN BORERS
TOO NUMEROUS

Indiana corn growers have one of the heaviest carry-overs of corn borers for many years, perhaps the heaviest in the history of the corn borer in Indiana.

If next spring is favorable to early planting, the state may be hit by one of the worst infestations of the European borer it has ever experienced, Purdue University entomologists warn.

Prof. J. J. Davis, head of the department of entomology at Purdue, says that some of the damage can be prevented if planting is delayed until after May 20 in 1950. This past season a large percentage of the growers took advantage of the early spring and disregarded suggested precautions against planting corn early.

Fortunately, the overwintering borer population was very low, but even so, Prof. Davis reports, the early corn showed a marked increase in infestation this summer, not enough to seriously affect field corn, but sufficient to produce a heavy second brood and a very heavy winter carry-over. Although the survey now underway is not complete, the entomologist says that borers are reported to be in corn stalks in rather large numbers and corn growers may anticipate a heavy emergence of the borer moths next spring.

Recommendations to Indiana growers are to delay planting corn until after May 20 and use adapted hybrids. In the case of sweet corn for market or canning, or corn for hybrid seed, such crops of high value, which oftentimes need to be planted early, should have insecticide applications to avoid losses.

In order to avoid losses in storage and especially damage to germination, soybeans should be under 14 per cent moisture, Purdue University agronomists caution.

MENTONE P. T. A. NEWS

The Program Committee of the Parent-Teachers Association met on Monday afternoon to outline the program for the remainder of the school year 1949-50. Although definite dates cannot be given for several of the proposed features, the program is as follows:

October 26, a Film on Parent-Child Relationship.

November 23, either a Musical Program directed by Mrs. Blickenstaff or the reviewing of the book "Stop Annoying Your Children" by four of the P.T.A. members. If the Musical program is featured, the book review will be given at another meeting.

The December meeting may be omitted because it comes during the Holiday vacation, but the Committee has suggested the showing of a Christmas film on the morning of December 23 for all students and any of the members and parents wishing to attend. A definite hour will be announced later for this feature.

The features for the rest of the monthss depend upon the availability of the speakers, including Dr. Rice of the State Board of Health, a member of the State Police Department, a representative of the state Library, and a program provided by the Ways and Means Committee of the Local Association. The Committee responsible for the program feels that these features are too important to be missed by any of the P.T.A. members.

W. S. C. S. MEETING

The W.S.C.S. will hold their October meeting on Thursday night, October 13, at 730.

The special feature will be the Bronze and Gold party and there will be several special guests.

Special decorations will be arranged by Mrs. Ottie Walburn and Mrs. Lois Fenstermaker.

The hostesses are Mrs. Arvilla Van Gilder, Mrs. Lois Davison, Mrs. Faye Bunner, and Mrs. Bessie Kohr.

INDIANA LEGION SETS UP COMMUNITY ACTION GROUP

The Department of Indiana is one of the first to organize for carrying out The American Legion's new program of community development dedicated to the revival of the principle of self-help in America.

Department Commander Homer McDaniel has announced the appointment of a standing committee of 15 members to be known as the community development committee. He has named John Cartwright, of Greencastle, Ind., as the department chairman. The committee will meet in Indianapolis on October 15 to start the community development program rolling in Indiana.

Self - Reliance Still Works (New York Sun Editorial)

In his first appearance in New York as national commander of The American Legion, George N. Craig made a fine, effective speech, full of quotable remarks. But because what he had to say about the Legion experiment in Burnet, Texas, was so specific an example of a policy in action it deserves priority. For the coming year, the Legion has a program calling for a nationwide community development. What the program means was demonstrated in a trial run in Burnet, a community of 2,500 population. There, under the leadership of the local Legion post, community groups got together over a period of 20 months, and as a result 59 new businesses were established and 325 new jobs were created. This was done without federal aid or federal advice. It was individual and community enterprise that turned the trick. The remarkable success of this experiment may not be matched exactly everywhere, but the experiment was so fruitful that the Legion should find in it the encouragement to carry forward its nationwide campaign for a return to such a basic American principle as self-reliance.—National Public Relations Div., The American Legion.

Dry Cellar

Placing around the cellar trunk containing calcium chloride is often suggested as a means of keeping the cellar dry, as this material absorbs moisture from the air. However, the method is not too practical because the amount of water to be absorbed is so large. Generally it is better to paint the cellar walls with a cement-base water-proofing paint. A number of such paints are available commercially.

DIM YOUR HEADLIGHTS

The number one driving hazard at night is glare and negligence in dimming headlights, according to the Chicago Motor Club.

A motor club estimate places the number of cars creating a glare hazard as high as one out of three. Approximately ten percent of these are guilty of headlights which are out of focus, while almost half are due to improper adjustment.

Dimming of headlights is much more of a problem on rural highways. The motor club estimates that approximately one-third of the motorists on the road at night either forget or neglect to switch on the low beam for approaching cars. Included in this figure are those drivers who thoughtlessly neglect to drop their lights when they are in a line of traffic behind other cars, thus causing a most disturbing glare on the rear view mirrors of vehicles in front.

Another major offender according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, is the "one-eyed" car. "This is obviously a threat to safety when encountered on a rural road where illumination is provided almost wholly by the automobiles themselves," he said.

That motorists may be able to check their own night driving practices, the Chicago Motor Club lists the following precautions:

- (1) Switch on the low beam well in advance of an approaching car. Don't wait for the other driver to act first.
- (2) Glare can be dangerous to the man in front, as you follow; give him the low beam, too.
- (3) Guide yourself by the center line or the side of the road, avoiding direct glances into blazing headlights.
- (4) Be sure by frequent checking that your lights, front and rear, are working properly and that the headlights are correctly focused.
- (5) Never drive knowingly with one light. Have it fixed immediately.
- (6) If in doubt, do as you would be done by.

PAGING M'NUTT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 13. — Hey, fellers, ice fishin' ain't what she used to be. No siree.

Used to be that ice fishermen had to be pretty rugged individuals to withstand the ravages of the elements while trying for a few nibbles. The law provided that, and we quote, "it is unlawful to fish within any house, shanty or structure which will obstruct a full view of such fishing."

But the 1949 legislature got busy and now the boys can have a four-sided house, shanty or what have you, a gasoline stove, coal oil stove, hot bricks, a sandwich bar, the biggest ice cubes you ever saw, or anything their little hearts desire.

In 1949, by Chapter 6, approved on February 25, the Indiana General Assembly amended Section 104 of the Fish and Game Code of 1937 as amended by Chapter 323 of the Acts of 1945 to read as follows:

Sec. 104. It shall be unlawful for any person to fish or attempt to fish in any of the lakes, rivers or streams of this state through more than two holes in the ice on such lake, river or stream at one time, or through a hole more than two and one-half feet in diameter, or with more than one line to each hole, or with more than one hook attached to such line.

Any house, shanty or fully enclosed structure used in such fishing must have the name and address of the owner clearly painted or otherwise indicated on the outside of the door of such structure. Such structure shall be of a temporary nature only and shall not at any time be anchored to the bottom of any lake, river or stream of this state and shall be removed from the ice before such ice leaves the lake, river or stream. The door of any such structure shall be equipped with a latch of such nature that same can be opened from without as well as within.

There you have it, folks. Watch out for the swingin' doors.

As the boys down in the Fish and Game Division look at the new law, or rather the amendment to the old one, an ice fisherman can have the floor of his ice house looking a whole lot like a hunk of Schweitzer cheese but he can fish through two of them at one time.

And don't forget that name and address fellers. Have it painted plainly on the shack door right near the half moon.

KEEPING THE PUBLIC BUYING

The National Retail Dry Goods Association reports that for the first six months of this year, retail net profits were badly off. Department stores of various sizes showed a net profit after taxes of from less than one per cent to a top of 2.1 per cent. The earnings of specialty shops were also down heavily, as compared with last year.

In the words of the association's bulletin, "These results indicate that the stores recognize how important it is to keep the public buying, even at the sacrifice of considerable profit. After the easy-come sales volume of war years, and the early post-war years, it is remarkable to see how quickly the stores have adjusted themselves to the changing conditions. From a period when sales promotion effort was scarcely needed, the stores have jumped into the strongest kind of promotional effort."

Keeping the public buying is, of course, the most important factor in maintaining our living standards and our prosperity. Mass production and mass distribution are the foundations of the American economy. They give us employment, opportunity, good wages. And retailing is superbly geared to handle and distribute the vast quantities of goods that flow to it from industry and agriculture.

From the consumers' standpoint, the report on store net profits should be revealing. It is clear that retail prices are being held, in the great majority of instances, to as low a point as possible. The profit on each sale is tiny, and stores depend on mass selling to earn them a reasonable total profit for the year. That is good business for retailing—and it guarantees a good deal for the consumer.

BAPTIST BUSINESS MEETING

Last Thursday night the First Baptist Church voted, without a dissenting vote, to:

1. Continue the broadcast over WKAM of their Sunday morning service for one year.

2. Modernize the nursery by putting in sound-proof windows and a P. A. system so mothers with infants can see and hear the service from the nursery.

3. Give their kitchen dishes and cooking utensils to the Baptist Bible Union at Purdue University. This is a Baptist Student Center located across the street from the Union Building.

4. Sponsor a weeks Missionary Conference the second week in March. Starting Sunday evening March 5, there will be a different missionary speaker each night and the Conference will close on Sunday evening March 12th.

Because of increased Sunday School attendance, new classes are being formed and new class room space being made available in preparation for the National Sunday School Contest from October 30 to December 4.

MORE FROM ROUNDTREE

A note from Roundtree Kubley says, "After a 3 months siesta Pegasus, is riding again. Recently the Limberlost was explored by me."

Out of his pleasant trip came this poem.

A Reminiscence of—

THE LIMBERLOST

Fond memories come back from the far distant past,
And we see once more the weird Limberlost vast;
We breathe it, and feel it, as we act in the play,
For Nature is ours in a round-a-bout way.

In the shades of the wildwood, the wraiths may bewitch,
And put one snugly in a mystery niche;
The forest so dense, winding thru a lonesome aisle,
Where autumn tints are all ablaze in a smile.

In a rustic Cabin here, a lady did unfold,
Her pleasing tales, so friendly penned, and lovely told—
This hallowed spot, as yet, untouched by woodman's ax,
Or, civilized destruction, has yet, left no tracks.

Here's bric-a-brac, and souvenirs, and cozy nooks,
With rare mementos, pictures, keepsakes, pleasing books—
This log-built haven, is a wonder treat, right here—
Let's go in, and say, "Morning!"
Mistress Porter, dear.

LOCAL TURKEY SALES URGED

During the recent years of expanded and commercialized turkey production in Indiana, Hoosier turkeymen have been looking to markets beyond the state borders. As turkey growers in other areas are likewise competing for these same markets, it would be well for Indiana growers to make a greater effort to build local markets. Alexander Gordeuk, extension poultryman at Purdue University, advises. The national average consumption of turkey will be about four pounds per person this year. If the Indiana folks eat their share of this national average, they will need at least three-fourths of the Indiana turkey crop. The Hoosier Turkey crop this year will run about 1,241,000 birds, mostly Broad-Breasted Bronze, an increase of 35 per cent over 1948. The turkeys raised in Indiana in 1948 brought the farmers $7,314,000.

Mr. Gordeuk points out that local consumption can be stepped up by making turkey available to the public. Growers can do this by contacting local housewives, local stores, industrial establishments giving seasonal gifts, local hotels and restaurants, schools, colleges and state institutions. This year's prices should make turkey meat very attractive to consumers. It's up to turkeymen to take advantage of the markets which are in their "back yard," Mr. Gordeuk says.

START CHECKING 5 ACRE YIELDS

Official checking of corn yields of more than 3,000 corn growers enrolled in the Five Acre Corn Club in 81 counties of the state began the week of October 3. The contestant who produces the largest corn yield on a field of five acres or more will be awarded the state championship trophies at the annual banquet of the Indiana Corn Growers Association to be held at Purdue University during the Winter Agricultural Conference the last of December.

The prospects for a record corn yield are very good this year, according to M. O. Pence, extension agronomist at Purdue University and chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

Last year's champion, Charles L. Swallow of Wayne county, who produced a yield of 180.9 bushels per acre, is among the 1949 entrants. Previous state champions are also among the contenders for the title of Corn King.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Fires in Indiana homes have caused 73 deaths this year according to statistics released by the Indiana State Board of Health in connection with the observance of Fire Prevention Week October 9-15.

Eleven more fatalities occurred in 1948 than in 1947 when 143 persons lost their lives because of fire.

Statistics reveal that several of the fatalities took place during June, July and August. Last August seven persons lost their lives because of a home fire; five in July and four in June. June of 1948 had a high record for the deaths with 12 fatalities. The preceding June, fifteen deaths occurred.

With 14 recorded deaths, the highest number of deaths during any month this year, April has the record. May had 13, and January, February and May all had ten deaths. The total number of these fatalities for the first eight months of this year is below the number for the same period during the past two years.

The highest number of fire fatalities in homes recorded during one month for the past three years was 27 in February of 1947; December (1948) had 25; January (1948) 23; December (1947) 22, and February (1948) 21.

The amount of roughage available for winter can now be accurately estimated. Each cow needs two tons of hay or one ton of hay and three tons of silage if the complete needs of the animal are to be met, Purdue dairymen recommend.

COACH BURT MUST BE GOOD AT PHOTOGRAPHY

Lorin Buren, coach at Mentone high school, has been doing a nice job in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel photo contest. He has had a number of his pictures chosen as weekly prize winners and printed in the rotogravure Sunday section. Some time ago your editor complimented Mr. Burt upon having such a valuable goat out at his farm (as the first couple of winning snaps were of this tin-eating bird with the long whiskers) and then the very next thing he wins with a picture of his father-in-law milking a cow. His grand prize winner was of a dog.

Mr. Burt's picture will now be entered in a national award contest.

FROM GANGLAND TO CHRIST

Come and hear his answer to these: "Why he was a delinquent child," "Why he spent time in a reform school and in prison," "Why he became a gangster," "How God performed a 20th century miracle," "How he gave up marijuana smoking."

Also appearing on the program is a local duet by 9 and 11 year old Jeannie and Kay Personette; Wayne Newberg of Plymouth with his trumpet, and some inspiring teen age testimonies.

No age limit, everyone invited. Bring a carload.

FAIR ASSOCIATION TO SELL STOCK

The Kosciusko County Fair Association, after the hectic experiences of having exhibit tents blow down two nights of their recent fair, realize that more permanent structures must be erected if livestock men are to exhibit their prized animals. They have a large investment already in grounds, buildings and equipment, and the annual net profits aren't sufficient to provide additional facilities as quickly as they'd like. Their only alternative is a loan—or even gift—from the citizens of the county, and they are now in the midst of a stock selling campaign in which they hope to secure some $50,000 in additional capital.

Everyone in the county will be approached by representatives that have been appointed. Artley Cullum was named captain at Mentone, and his assistants will be: Mrs. Earl Anderson and Mrs. Leroy Cox, representing the Home Economics Clubs; M. O. Mentzer for the merchants, and C. O. Mollenhour for the Conservation associations.

CHANGES BEING MADE AT THE CO-OP. MILL

In compliance with a rather well defined plan to improve the efficiency and service at the Co-Op. Mill, some of the equipment is being replaced and re-arranged. A number of elevators, chutes and bins are being changed so that custom shelling, grinding and mixing can be speeded up considerably, thereby alleviating some of the customer waiting that has been necessary in the past. The present improvements will require the expenditure of some forty-one hundred dollars. Other changes are anticipated in the near future.

It has always been the policy of the managers and board of directors to give the best service possible at a minimum of expense to the patrons.

Mrs. Harrell was born Dec. 18, 1887, near Talma and married Arthur Phebus, who died in 1921. In 1924 she married George A. Harrell. He survives, together with a daughter, Mrs. Edith Tite; a sister, Mrs. Cora Adams; and two brothers.

MERCHANTS HOLD BUSY SESSION MONDAY EVENING

The Mentone Merchants Association met at the Mentone Lumber Company Monday evening, at which time they inaugurated plans for the Christmas season.

The first matter decided was that the "Days of '49" event that has been held each Saturday evening this summer, will be discontinued after Oct. 29th.

It was decided to again offer cash prizes to the business establishments for Christmas store front decorations, and to this was added an equal amount ($20 first, $10 second and $5 third) for home decorations. Entries will close Dec. 10 for the business establishments and Dec. 17th for the homes. Judging will take place between Dec. 19 and 21. Fred Lemler is chairman of this decorations committee and he will be ably assisted by Raymond Cooper.

Ora McKinley, K. Riner, Earl Anderson, L. Valentine, M. O. Mentzer were named to a committee to secure, erect and decorate a large community tree. Each merchant is urged to have his own sidewalk tree as a part of the decorating of the street in harmony with the Christmas season.

The street lighting committee is composed of Glen Denton, Robert Reed, Byron Peterson, Leroy Cox, Ray Smith, Jack Shinn, Estel Smith and Joe Baker.

COPLEN

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coplen are the parents of a son born last Thursday at the McDonald hospital in Warsaw. The baby weighed six pounds, one ounce and has been named Michael Allen.

SADDLE HORSE SHOW AT MENTONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Robert Reed announces that the last 1949 show of the Kosciusko County Saddle Horse association will be held at his farm, at the south edge of Mentone on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, starting at one o'clock.

The event is free to everyone and spectators are invited. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners in each event.

RURAL GRAVURE LATE

The Rural Gravure colored section in this issue should have been in last week, but it failed to arrive in time to be included then.

EVERFAITHFUL CLUB

The Everfaithful Club meeting for October was a surprise luncheon. Each member of the club was picked up by one of the committee: Frances Marshall, Helen Black, Mary Mollenhour, or Flo Tucker, and taken to the unknown place which turned out to be Beaver Dam Sportsman's Club. The table was decorated lovely and at each place was a corsage for each lady. Isabel Johns gave several readings during the afternoon. Gus Molénhour had taken recordings of each of the ladies and played it back to them at the luncheon. Of course, we didn't know we were to entertain ourselves when recordings were taken, so it was much more entertaining. Each member enjoyed the luncheon very much and adjourned to meet at the home of Thel Hoffman for the regular November Reporter meeting.

When you trade at home, your Dollars are still working for you.

TINDER SEASON STARTS;WATCH THAT MATCH

Do you realize that a slight bit of carelessness on the part of any one of you folks reading this yarn can bring about the complete destruction of almost all of Indiana's state forests?

That a bit of carelessness on your part could destroy any one or even all of Indiana's beautiful and heavily forested state parks together with the state's beautiful hotels?

That the efforts and accomplishments of the Division of Forestry in replanting forests which have been depleted through the years could go up in a puff of smoke in a few days time?

If you do then you'll be careful about where you toss that cigarette. If you do then you will be sure that the last glowing ember of the campfire is extinguished after you've had a swell day's outing. You will be careful about those brush fires.

In the event you know all these things but just do not give a whoop then there isn't much that can be done about it.

Fire wardens of the Indiana Department of Conservation are viewing with apprehension the approach of what they call the TINDER season.

Numerous fires have been reported in the southern part of the state, but due to prompt action by state forest fire wardens and scores of persons trained by the state in fighting forest fires the damage, in a sense, has been negligible.

Early this season, heavy rainfall produced tall grass. Now as the fall season joins up with us, dry leaves flutter down. Just the dish for starting a blaze that might easily get out of control.

Working like beavers and not making much hooray about it, the Indiana Department of Conservation has been steadily training men in the field of fire fighting.

Figures released by Ralph Wilcox, Director of the Division of Forestry, and Joe DeYoung, State Co-Ordinator of Forest Fire Fighter Service, show that since 1942 more than 22,000 high school boys have become trained fire fighters. District fire wardens have been in charge of the courses.

So when one of the lookouts in the state's twenty fire towers spots a blaze, he immediately notifies the closest fire warden, who in turn spreads the alarm by radio, phone or by going to the nearest high school where the youthful fire fighters rush to the fire. Each has a badge and credentials to show that he is a "veteran" fire fighter.

Furthermore, co-operating with the division of forestry in its unceasing efforts to prevent forest fires in the state, Kenneth M. Coughill, Director of the Division of Parks, Lands and Waters, has insisted that all state park employes take a fire fighting course.

The superintendents of all state parks have been notified and the personnel at these famous recreational spots are being trained for an emergency.

Said Mr. Coughill, "Forest fires can be extremely serious in a scenic state park, particularly in the fall and spring. In the interest of early detection, suppression and prevention, each park employe must be fully aware of the danger and be acquainted with the fire control plan for the park. This necessitates his knowledge of location and use of fire equipment as well as the source for outside assistance. Indiana's beautiful parks must not be endangered, but in the event a fire starts we must stand ready to fight the blaze efficiently."

I read somewhere a few weeks back this statement: "The key to good hunting can be found in the farmer's pocket."

And no truer words have been written, for certainly, without the farmer and his cooperation there would be little if any hunting for the great masses of gunners who annually parade through the fields and coverts after upland game and waterfowl.

Many of us for more years than I like to recall have been taking the farmer's place in hunting for granted. He's just a guy who owns the land and raises the game he's supposed to let one and all hunt.

It never was sound reasoning. Of course, years ago there were few hunters and plenty of game and territory to hunt. It wasn't necessary to ask for permission and it wasn't hard killing a big bag of game. But that's all only memories now and we're faced with a serious farmer-sportsman problem.

And, actually, it is a problem the sportsman must solve if we're to continue to enjoy hunting.

Most farmers are good Joes; they welcome friendship from sportsmen. And, what's more, if the sportsmen offer a little cooperation there will be thousands of acres of good hunting land thrown open to gunning that now is hidden behind "No Hunting" signs.

It's easy for me to sit at a typewriter and "preach"—but I have the same problem of finding decent hunting territory the same as you. I've partially solved it, however, for this reason; I've been working with several farmers throughout the summer, making new friends and offering my cooperation with routine farm problems.

You can do the same. And when the gunning season rolls around it won't be a difficult task having plenty of spots to unlimber your scattergun or rifle.

MENTONE MURMURS

by DAVID and SALLY GOSSER

At a recent visit Murmurs made to the school building some evidence was found concerning the growing interest in the exhilarating and vigorous sport of PING-PONG (more correctly termed Table Tennis). It is surmised by your writer that a tournament is under way by this time featuring both "boubles" and "singles." This is a splendid sport, and since basket ball needs so few participants, it seems to Murmurs that this could be made an all-season community sport. We are not referring to the school-age people exclusively, for we are urging the participation of more people (adults especially) in the field of sports.

"Spectatoritis" is too common an illness in America. It is even more widely spread than smoking, but unlike smoking it is overcome only by the participating in sports and interesting activities. Dr. Kranz, athletic physician for North Western University for several years, detested both of the above American "short-comings," but he never endorsed ping-pong as a cure-all for he never considered it as an active sport. Dr. Kranz didn't observe Murmurs at the game. There are others in this community who take ping-pong seriously—who believe that there is value in playing as hard as you work (we are not saying, "as much as you work").

To the un-informed we may describe the game in the words of a gentleman from the hills of West Virginia, "It's that thar game where you all hits the turtle egg across the kitchen table with butter paddles." To many people it may seem just, but since butter paddles have no longer need to be applied in the home-art of butter making and the youth of our community are just as much in need of exercise and activity, Murmurs believes in the "ounce of prevention" which for all of us is as necessary as unto the least.

Community participation in sports is as essential as the community backing of sports, but Murmurs does not have a "bone to pick" with the already existing activities in the Mentone Community but is advocating activities which would interest people actively throughout the community.

There are several ping-pong tables in the community used quite frequently, one in the basement at Dr. Urschel's residence and another in the basement of Rev. Dowden's residence.

Two tables are getting the "finishing touches" in the Methodist Church basement. We hope the fever will spread and some seldom-used rooms and basements will be filled with cheering contenders for community championship. Murmurs has it first hand that Rev. Dowden has need of greater competition.

Ladies young and older enjoy the game and find this one way towards the streamlined version of beauty, providing they go at the game with vigor and enthusiasm.

Volley ball may be suggested as another community-wide activity. Yours truly once belonged to a businessmen's organization which met every two weeks and, following the business meeting and program, played volley ball. Church groups and business interests may find this possible to continue the sport's program until soft ball season rolls around again.

Yours until we meet across the table (ping-pong table).

FARM LEASES NEED CHANGE

Too many tenants and farm owners tend to follow the old worn out pattern and write the new lease "just about like last year." Lags in adjustment of customary rental arrangements to changes in farming are all too common.

Two farm tenure specialists at Purdue University, O. G. Lloyd and L. S. Robertson, ask that attention be given to changes occurring over a period of time in relative contributions by land owner and tenant and in the variation from farm to farm in the kind of "plant" that the land owner furnishes.

In the September issue of Economics and Marketing Information, published by the University's Department of Agricultural Economics, these men point out changes in farming technologies which have affected the physical quantities furnished by land owners and tenants and changes in the relative price of products furnished by the two parties also have caused some inequities. Among these important changes are increased size of farms, the substitution of tractor power for horses, and the increased investment in farm machinery. The two important price changes affecting the equity of leases are in farm labor and real estate costs. Since the start of World War II prices of items furnished by the tenant have increased slightly faster than prices of items furnished by the landlord. But this has been more than offset, in many cases, by the landlord's furnishing a larger share of the physical goods and services than previously.

There is no simple formula for equitable leases. A landowner with a good tenant or a tenant occupying a good farm probably can afford to ignore changes which seem to have made his lease slightly more favorable to the other party than it once was. On farms where leases are being reappraised or written for the first time, some items which deserve consideration for readjustments from old customary arrangements are tractor fuel, harvesting cost, liming and miscellaneous hired services. Details of possible arrangements are suggested in the afore-mentioned article.

Copies of "How Should New Farming Changes Affect Farm Lease Arrangements in Indiana" are available free from the department of agricultural economics, Purdue.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS MEET

The October meeting of the Royal Neighbors was held at the home of Neighbor Mary Goodwin with Bessie Bybee co-hostess. The meeting was opened with the pledge to the flag. Oracle Clara Parker conducted the business meeting and the mystery package was won by Mrs. Rynearson. During the social hour crazy bingo was played, prizes going to Snowden Halderman, Emma Cook and Mrs. Fleck. Cards were signed by all Neighbors and sent to Mrs. John Teel, and Mrs. Mae Borten who was visiting in Pennsylvania.

At the close of the meeting the hostesses served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at 7:30 with Thelma Hirschman.

LEMLER'S MARKET

P. T. A. NEWS

The theme of the regional conference, Region 4, held in the First Methodist church at Marion Oct. 12, was, "Home, School and the Child March Forward."

Regional vice president, Mrs. William Glorve, presided at the meeting. Following the registration of the delegates the program was opened by the singing of "America the Beautiful." Rev. C. W. Perry, pastor of the Nazarene church, gave the invocation. Supt. Orville Hooker of the Marion schools, introduced by Mrs. Glorve, welcomed the delegates and also invited them to visit the new school. National Representative, Mrs. Robert Shank gave us an idea of how large the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is by informing us that there are over six million members. Mrs. Shank is also vice president of region 4 which comprises one-fifth of the membership of the N. C. P. T.

In her theme, "Freedom to Grow," Mrs. Joseph W. Walker, president of the Indiana Congress, outlined the highlights we stand and work for as parents and teachers. These were: Child welfare, physical and emotional habits, protection of health, nutrition and dental care, best possible teachers and instruction, and crowded schools and buses.

Mrs. Walker stressed that every child is entitled to spiritual growth and should be taught respect for God.

The very interesting and enlightening address given by Rev. J. M. Riley, pastor of the Main Street Christian Church of Kokomo, was "A Guide to Confident Living." The family should learn to live closer together and to do things together. The home has reverted to a hotel—just a place to eat and sleep, Mr. Riley stated.

He outlined the ten-point guidepost for the home and family life, as follows:

1. Time for discussion at home.
2. Education begins at home.
3. Teach self discipline.
4. Give children the privilege of growing up.
5. Help develop personality of the children.
6. Love our children.
7. Help children find happiness by serving others.
8. Help children find religious faith.
9. Build one-world within our children.
10. Have a happy home life.

We, as parents, are the probation officers of life.

A luncheon was served in the church by the local unit of Parents and Teachers of Marion.

Special music was presented by the girls' chorus of the Marion High School, directed by Miss Virginia Spencer.

Elias Smith was a visitor in town Wednesday.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

This past Tuesday evening the first session of Adult Handcraft classes was held. Then and continuing, emphasis is given to the making of inexpensive gifts and useful home articles. The class on October 25 will continue with the making of felt hats (pin and needle cushions) and waffle-weave placemats and hot pads. Proposed classes include braided belts and bracelets, shell and ceramic earrings and pins, lapel pins and broaches, etched and frosted glassware, Mexican pottery, personalized Christmas cards and decorations, cloth and felt dolls, wood burning, textile painting, raffia and reed weaving of baskets and boxes, the making of waste baskets, letter holders, and metal work and plaster gifts. These classes will be held each Tuesday evening, and the public is invited to attend. There is no fee or charge beyond the cost of materials used.

The following Methodist youths were at Epworth Forest last Sunday attending the M. Y. F. workshop: Virginia Rush, Dorris Snider, Jackie Blue, Boyd Blue, David Cooper, Chas. Urschel, and David Gosser. They were accompanied by the minister, Rev. David Gosser.

The workshop was preparatory material for intensified work with the Methodist youth throughout the North Indiana Conference of the Methodist Church. In the Warsaw district, fellowship teams will soon be available to aid in the organizing of Youth Fellowships in Methodist churches which have none and to increase the interest in those already established.

The tentative date now set for the postponed organ concert to be given by Mr. Frank Marie of Greensburg, Pa., will be Nov. 6. Because of several conflicting concerts nearer home he is unable to come sooner. A definite announcement will be made prior to the date mentioned.

Methodist laymen of this sub-district will meet in the Methodist church for a supper meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 26. Arrangements for attendance may be made through the pastor and Mr. Denton Abbey. Laymen from 14 nearby Methodist churches will be attending.

4-H BROADCAST

Wm. Johnson, assistant county agent in charge of 4-H club work, will appear on the Jay Gould program at six a. m. Oct. 31 over radio station WOWO at Fort Wayne. He will speak on 4-H work.

'COME AGAIN, ROUNDTREE

Editor Co-Op News,

I did not intend to intrude so soon again, but Octobers wonder days loomed before my specs, and I just couldn't resist. I'll promise not to tap your doorbell again for a month of Sundays.

AN OCTOBER DREAM

October's kiss has turned the foliage ablaze,
In fancy colors, like a rhythmic Rembrandt maze,
Bright variegated tints are shown on the leaves,
That soon will drop, and blow away,
as Nature grieves.
The harvester has planned, and stored the summer crops,
And now he rests and lights his pipe,
as labor stops,
Then comes the Indian hazy summer to remind,

That wintry days will follow very close behind.
October brings the seasons to the parting gate,
And wills the living leaflets to another fate,
Its fulsome fruits are garnered for the winter's treat,
That we may live in health, and appetite, to eat.
The autumn sun will coax the ripened nuts to drop,
To feed the frisky squirrels, that so nimbly hop,
From treet to tree, in reckless climbing, cracking fun,
While warmly our pie-pumpkins yellow in the sun.

—Roundtree.

WLS ENTERTAINERS AMEGG SHOW

One at a time, or in a group, on the air, or in person—those five rollicking fellows known as Captain Stubby and the Buccaneers are giving WLS Listeners some real entertainment. If you've missed hearing this new group at 890 on your radio dial, plan to listen and enjoy yourself.

In 1941 the Buccaneers joined the U. S. Navy as a group and within a short time started on "Meet the Navy," the well-known program which originated from WLS to the ABC network. Afterward they toured the principal naval bases in the United States and in Alaska, Guam, and Okinawa. Wherever they went, the five Buccaneers made friends and fans and a name for themselves. The boys are looking forward to meeting and entertaining the folks at the Mentone Egg-show on Thursday, October 27.

Who are these Buccaneers? Well, there's "Captain" Stubby Fouts, leader of the group, whose musical talents are numerous, but whose technique with his voice and (of all things!) a washboard are the things you remember first! Stubby's amazing voice slips into either a falsetto or "foghorn" range. His washboard outfit, or "gismo," as he calls it, is a most complicated contraption with a horn and gadgets that defy description. With these, the very ingenious Buccaneers dream up musical comedy for cheer fun and hilarity is unbeatable.

Dwight "Tiny" Stokes, who comes from Frankfort, Indiana, is the tallest of the group (he weighs 240, hence his name!). Tiny has an excellent tenor voice and solos frequently. He plays string bass.

Jerry Richards is a Freeport, Illinois, boy whose clarinet playing is outstanding. Jerry was "Talked out of" following the "longhair" type of music by Stubby! now, without that nimble clarinet the group's wide repertoire would be incomplete.

Sonny Fleming, of Paducah, Kentucky, is featured on the guitar, but he sings, as well, and has quite a vocal range, which further enhances the group's capacity for harmony singing and comedy teamwork.

Tony Walberg, of Cincinnati, plays the accordion. But that's not all. Tony frequently turns to piano or organ, as well, and performs there so skillfully it's disturbing: So much talent wrapped up in one group!

In more ways than one Captain Stubby and the Buccaneers are like the newer vitamin capsules—everything in one complete package. They play at least fifteen different instruments. They sing . . . and how they sing! Their harmony is smooth and sweet, and they know countless songs of every type imaginable. When they play, their instruments seem to blend into music without any effort. When they clown, the fun seems inspired.

The Human Hormone Factory

THE ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

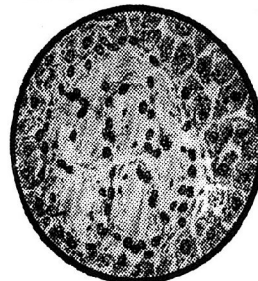

The glands of internal secretion presently recognized are those shown in this "soft x-ray" drawing by Paul Peck, well-known medical artist. Only recently has the pancreas been included in this company—it having been established that insulin, the substance formed by the islets of Langerhans in the pancreas, is a true hormone. The products of all these glands are vital to full development and complete health (though the thymus begins a slow process of atrophy after babyhood). Each gland or pair of glands secretes into the blood stream one or more hormones, each having a specific function and—it is assumed—each affecting directly or indirectly functioning of other endocrine glands.

HEALTHY PANCREAS

The light central area is an islet of Langerhans, which secretes insulin whose function is to promote the metabolism of sugar in the blood stream after digestion.

DIABETIC PANCREAS

The islet of Langerhans here has deteriorated into a glassy, pellucid mass, incapable of secreting insulin.

CHIEF "DETECTIVE" OUTLINES THE PROBLEM

According to Dr. Howard F. Root of Boston, 1949 president of the American Diabetes Association and chairman of the Diabetes Detection Drive, actual and potential diabetics are estimated to total some three per cent of the population. "Of every 140 persons met on the street," he explains, "one has diabetes, and is under treatment, another has the disease and doesn't know it, and two others will contract it before they die. Incidence of the disease is higher among women than among men and, beyond age 40, is almost 2 to 1."

Some of the early, easily recognized symptoms are excessive thirst and excessive urination. Dr. Root explains that insulin, the hormone secreted by the islands of Langerhans in the pancreas (see drawings), is "the specific remedy for diabetes. Its lack causes the disease."

Not every case of diabetes is caused by an improperly functioning pancreas, however. Research, Dr. Root says, indicates that insulin—much as is the case with other known hormones—is affected by secretions of the other endocrine glands. A person with an obviously healthy pancreas may nonetheless suffer from diabetes when the insulin he himself manufactures is either insufficient or is rendered ineffective in the bloodstream.

Without insulin, sugar cannot be burned in normal amounts in the cells of the body. Unused sugar builds up in the blood and "spills" into the urine where it is most readily detected.

Cases discovered before they become serious may be treated, after insulin establishes a normal blood-sugar balance, with diet alone. Untreated or improperly treated diabetes, Dr. Root points out, "results in calcification of the vascular system—the arteries, the veins and capillaries—causing complications involving the feet, eyes, kidneys, heart, etc."

There are, however, records of properly treated cases which show no signs of hardened arteries, veins or capillaries 2 years after discovery of the disease. These are all cases dating from childhood. Insulin, discovered in 1922, has kept alive far beyond what would have been their expected span scores of thousands of persons who would otherwise have died long since.

In 1910, a 10-year-old diabetic child seldom lived more than a few months. In 1925, such a child's life expectancy had risen to 14.3 years; by 1945 it had risen to 45 years, according to the Statistical Bureau of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Dr. Root emphasizes that it is the aim of the Diabetes Detection Drive to so reduce the number of untreated diabetics that these life-expectancy figures will spurt even faster upward.

WINTER IS ON ITS WAY

Early conditions of automobiles for the rigors of cold weather will keep car failures at a minimum during this winter, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, advises.

Driving safety, convenience and economy are important benefits afforded by proper winterizing of cars before the first spell of freezing weather.

Better servicing will be assured by the stations, Mr. Hayes said, if motorists will relieve the last minute rush for winterizing by scheduling their service demands early.

A seven-point program of pre-winter precautions which motorists should have executed on their cars by competent mechanics or service station operators is recommended by the motor club executive.

1. Change to lightweight engine oil and gear grease.
2. Drain and flush the cooling system, check all hose connections and tighten clamps; check fan belt and thermostat before adding standard brand anti-freeze solution.
3. Test battery for full charge; clean, repair or replace terminals or deteriorated cables.
4. Check and adjust the fuel and ignition systems thoroughly including distributor points, timing, spark plugs, carburetor and fuel pump. Removal of engine pan is advisable to permit a cleaning along with fuel pump screws and air cleaners.
5. Brakes, steering wheel, wheel alignment and tires should be checked.
6. Blown out gaskets, loose manifold and exhaust connections, and holes in mufflers and exhaust pipes. Defective exhaust systems can be fatal sources of deadly carbon monoxide gas fumes.

7. Be sure that windshield wipers operate efficiently to carry heavy loads of snow and sleet.

Mechanical conditioning of cars for winter practices: (1) add eight ounces of pure grain alcohol to each full tank of gasoline to prevent frozen fuel lines; and (2) carry a shovel and a bag of salt, sand, cinders or ashes in your car as a starting aid on icy streets, ruts or curbs.

RUINOUS "WELFARE" SCHEMES

The suicidal drive for more and more so-called "social security," regardless of the cost or what it does to the economy, came to a head in California last November. At that time the voters, whose attention was largely fixed on Presidential election and other matters, approved an amendment to the state constitution which, among other things, increased old-age assistance, canceled out any responsibility of relatives to support their own aged, reduced residence and age requirements for applicants, and set up an autonomous Department of Welfare answerable neither to the executive or legislative branches of the state government.

Now, on November 8th next, the voters of California, at a special election, will be given the chance to repeal the year-old measure, and put assistance to the aged, the blind, and the needy on the basis that will adequately serve the deserving, and save the state from financial ruin.

Social Security Administration figures for June of this year show how critical the situation is. California had 258,516 people on pensions, while Pennsylvania, with about the same population, had 83,202, and New York, with nearly half again as much population, had 166,743. California's total payments to pensioners, for June alone, came to $17,306,073, while Pennsylvania's and New York's were $3,544,002 and $6,151,820 respectively. California's pension costs are still rising rapidly, and, already, the state sales tax has been increased about 20 per cent, the income tax by a similar amount, and the corporation tax by 18 per cent.

It is a significant fact that the campaign to repeal the amendment is being led by the California Council For the Blind which says, "In many important respects the blind and the aged are worse off now than they were prior to its adoption." Repeal is supported by a long list of other organizations, including the state Chamber of Commerce, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Association For Social Welfare, the California Farm Bureau Federation, etc. Every one of these groups wants to properly help the needy—but every one also knows that the present law would prove ruinous to all in the long run.

California's vote will be of national importance, at a time when misguided "welfare" schemes threaten to undermine the financial stability of the whole country.

MOTHERS OF WORLD WAR II

In the recently held business meeting of World War II Mothers, plans were made to hold a food sale and bazaar on Sat., Nov. 12, at the Ray Smith Smith Store.

The organization sent $50.00 to the State Project for the building of a Chapel room in the Cold Springs hospital.

The unit now has 5 wheel chairs which are being used and are available for community service.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 9 at the school building.

PENPED PIGS GROW FASTER

Which way pays the most to the farmer—giving his hogs free exercise at all times or penning them up for fattening at various stages of growth?

Some of the answers to this Indiana farmers' question were found by Purdue University animal husbandrymen in a four-year study of the relationships between exercise, feed consumption and rate of gain under dry-lot conditions at the swine experimental farm near Lafayette.

As a result of the tests, the Purdue specialists believe that hogs fed for market under dry-lot conditions should be confined to produce faster and probably cheaper gains than with exercise. Confinement should begin with young pigs rather than with hogs weighing 150 pounds.

Four experiments were completed, using fall pigs which were fed in dry lot from a starting weight of 50 to 60 pounds to a market weight of 225 pounds. Fifteen pigs were fed in each lot, receiving shelled corn, Purdue supplement No. 5, mineral mixture, and loose salt, free choice.

Three treatments were compared in each of the first three experiments. Results indicated that hogs totally confined from 56 pounds to market weight ate more feed and gained faster than those exercised twice daily by being driven from one-half to three-quarters of a mile each time. The third lot, exercised twice daily until they weighed 150 pounds and then confined, also ate more feed but had only slightly better gains than those exercised daily throughout the experiment.

In the fourth experiment, three lots of pigs starting at 62 pounds were compared as to the relationships between those confined until market weight (225 pounds) those exercised, and those allowed to run in a harvested corn field but given access to the same feed ration. Here again, the totally confined hogs ate more and gained faster while the daily gain of the "cornfield pigs" was slightly below that of the pigs receiving exercise twice daily.

Thus, in all experiments during the four-year period, totally confined hogs made the best gains, explains Prof. C. M. Vestal, who is in charge of the experimental farm. Hogs of the exercised and cornfield lots, however, had the most desirable carcasses with more firmness and thinner back fat than the confined lots.

Where harvested cornfields are being gleaned, results of the tests show that it is better to pen up the fall pigs when they are still young and let the brood sows, which need the exercise and are better scavengers, do the gleaning.

A good growing mash will produce a satisfactory finish on turkeys without additional special fattening rations. This is true whether the ration consists of growing mash only or whether the growing ration consists of growing mash and grain. Purdue University extension poultrymen say that if a yellow finish is desired, the grain can consist of yellow corn and if a white finish is desired, it can be secured by feeding a grain mixture of very little or no yellow corn.

DON'T BURN YOUR STRAW

Apply a disc but not a match to those soybean straw windrows.

Soybean growers who burn their soybean straw after the grain is combined are destroying valuable organic matter and some fertility elements. Continuation of this practice increases the need for additional fertilizer and other crop residues or manure to replace such losses, or yields will soon suffer, Purdue University agronomist cautions farmers.

The total loss of nitrogen through burning of straw on a 30 bushel per acre crop of beans amounts to more than $3.00 per acre at present fertilizer prices. Since the bean straw is usually windrowed before being burned, the loss of potash and phosphate on all but the windrowed areas amounts to about $1.30 per acre of a total loss, at present day prices, of more than $4.30 per acre for plant food alone. In addition, there is the loss from destroyed organic matter valuable to the soil as a mulch and as an aid in improving the soil tilth and water holding capacity.

The value of soybean straw in increased crop production has been determined in soil fertility studies at Purdue. These crop residues as returned in crop rotation of corn, soybeans, wheat and clover have been worth on the average about $8.00 per ton at present prices. On a 30 bushel bean crop this would amount to $10.00 per acre for the residues.

Under the prevailing practice of growing soybeans in rows the amount of soybean straw is less than when beans are planted solid. With the use of the tandem disc on the soybean stubble after combining most farmers find little trouble from the straw in drilling wheat.

The rat has lived in close proximity to humans as long as time has been recorded. As civilization has progressed, the rat learned the ways of man and adapted himself to changing conditions. G. C. Oederkirk of the Fish and Wildlife Service says that adequate rodent control is only possible when organized, continuous effort is maintained.

BOURBON YOUTH

KILLED BY AUTO

Ray Long, Jr., 19, of Bourbon, was killed Saturday night when the bicycle he was riding was struck by an automobile on U. S. highway 30, one mile west of Bourbon.

The young man, who was married to the former Nina McMillen, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Long of Tippecanoe.

The driver of the car, John J. Miller, 69, of Bourbon, told State Trooper Walter Edel, who investigated the accident, that he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car and did not see Long in time to avoid crashing into the bicycle. Both were eastbound at the time of the accident.

This has no reference to this accident, or any of a similar nature, but a word of warning can almost always be applied to some present event. It does seem unfortunate that bicycles must follow the same line of traffic as an auto, but the words of a State Trooper a long while ago stated that a bicycle is a wheeled vehicle and must abide by the laws governing such vehicles. However, it is easy for us motorists to override, mentally at least, the right-of-way a bicycle possesses on a highway. It is the SAME as an automobile and the courteous and thoughtful auto driver will give a bicycle the same riding area, right-of-way, etc as he would another auto or truck.

LADIES URGE GOOD ATTENDANCE AT DEMONSTRATIONS

The ladies in charge of the program for the Mentone Egg Show are urging every housewife—and the men also—to attend the P. E. N. B. demonstrations on Thursday afternoon and Friday forenoon, Oct. 27 and 28. The exhibits, too, will likely be more interesting than ever. Strangers attending the past egg shows have marveled at the ingenuity of the ladies in designing the novelty egg dishes.

OBSERVE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Del Meredith, of Warsaw, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday at the home of their son and family in Kenmore, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith have lived in Warsaw for 30 years, and divide their time, spending part of the winter in Florida and the summers at Yellow Creek lake.

Mr. Meredith was an automobile salesman 23 years before retiring 15 years ago. Mrs. Meredith was Miss Mabelle Doddridge before their marriage, which took place Oct. 18, 1899 at Mentone. Rev. J. M. Stewart, pastor of the Methodist church, was the officiating minister. They have one son, Frank D. Meredith, and one granddaughter.

ADVERTISING GETS RESULTS

The Teel Orchard management, which advertised for people to come to their orchards Tuesday morning to pick up apples that were blown from the trees in the recent windstorm, announce that about 130 carloads of people picked up apples that day. The total picked up isn't definite but they were confident that customers picked up over 500 bushels and paid 50c per bushel for the privilege.

Most of the apples are undamaged, but rather than pick one of them from the ground and possibly be accused of selling windfall apples, the Teels are taking this financial loss to maintain a reputation for quality and fair dealing.

Advertising is one of the most valuable aids in our modern civilization. It has made mass production and low prices possible. And before closing, I can't resist taking this opportunity of commenting that advertising, to be profitable, must be supported by a business reputation for honesty and fair dealing.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BIG 1949 MENTONE EGG SHOW

Home Economics Contests First Scheduled Events.

PRODUCERS' FORUM FRIDAY

Mentone is scheduled for a busy week end with its annual Egg Show program and Hallowe'en celebration.

Thursday morning at 9:30 the egg show program gets under way with the County Home Economics ladies sponsoring a group of contests featuring some use of eggs—cakes, favors, salads, novelty and chicken dishes. This contest is open to all Home Economics Club ladies and the public. There will be a P. E. N. B. (Poultry and Egg National Board) demonstration at ten o'clock and another at 2:15 in the afternoon. At one o'clock there will be a demonstration on the "Preparing of Chicken for the Locker."

All egg exhibits are to be entered between 2:00 and 8:00 p. m. Thursday, with a number of cash prizes, and trophies going to the owners of the best exhibits. A token gift will be presented to each exhibitor.

Thursday evening at 7:30, Captain Stubby and His Buccaneers, WLS radio entertainers, will share entertainment honors with Joe Sicer of Purdue University, and the selection of the egg show queen.

Friday morning the ladies' exhibits and contests will continue, with 4-H club girls, high school home economics classes, and other young ladies who desire, competing.

Producers' Forum at One O'clock

One of the most important sessions of the two-day show will be held at one o'clock Friday afternoon. Everyone producing or interested in poultry should be present to find the answers to their individual poultry problems, whether they be disease, nutrition, or management. Three well known Purdue University poultry specialists will be in charge.

Banquet Friday Evening.

Always the crowning event—in more ways than one—the annual banquet program will start at 7:00 p. m.

Homer Huntington, representative of a national poultry organization, will serve as toastmaster for the program that will follow the chicken din-

Egg Show Banquet Speaker

The Mentone Egg Show committee, and the entire community as well, is indeed fortunate to be able to claim as friend and neighbor, as successful and enlightened an individual as Hobart Creighton. He is widely known as one of the nation's largest poultrymen, and only a few days ago returned from a five weeks tour of Europe. Undoubtedly his talk at the Egg Show Friday evening will be highly entertaining and will give us a first hand word picture of conditions in the old world.

GRANDDAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bidelman announce the birth of a five and one-half pound granddaughter last Thursday, to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bidelman at Advance, Ind.

ner. Hobart Creighton, who has just returned from a five weeks tour of Europe, will be the banquet speaker.

Dr. J. Holmes Martin, of Purdue University, will present the queen with her crown of glory.

Every session is free and the public is cordially invited to attend. To those who prefer not to eat at the banquet table, there will be plenty of room in the bleacher section to witness the program that will follow the dinner.

BASKETBALL SEASON TO START HERE NEXT WEEK

The Mentone High School basketball team will open their 1949-1950 season at Mentone next Tuesday evening, Nov. 1, with a preliminary game at 7:15. This game will be with Burket and it is Burket's home game but played on the Mentone floor.

LAWRENCE BELL IN BUFFALO HOSPITAL

Lawrence D. Bell, president of Bell Aircraft Corporation, who has been hospitalized since an automobile accident Sept. 7, expected to leave Buffalo General Hospital Monday.

Wires which have held together his jaw, which was broken in two places, were removed today, but Mr. Bell will remain in the hospital tonight and possibly tomorrow night, he said.

Mr. Bell said his broken right ankle and the lacerations on his face had healed and he felt well. An eyelid was cut badly and it was necessary to take 19 stitches around one eye. Some glass fragments were removed from his face two weeks ago, and a week ago some metal fragments were removed. He said his face was not scarred.

Jocularly he told a News reporter by telephone that it had been a long time to live through a straw and he hoped he wouldn't find his jaw "rusty" when he resumed chewing. For a while, he figured, a poached egg or noodles would be his limit in solids.

MANUFACTURING TRACTOR REAR VIEW MIRROR HERE

The Frank Manufacturing Co., Inc., Mentone, is now ready to place on the market a rear-view mirror for use on farm tractors. The Mentone firm, which has a number of farm tractor items on the market or in the process of development, really has a sturdy piece of equipment in the new mirror. It is adjustable in every direction—up, down, in or out—and most likely they will find a ready market for it. Since so many tractors are operated on public highways, a rear mirror will likely be welcomed by most tractor owners.

HALLOWE'EN EVENT HERE SATURDAY EVE.

Masked Parade Opens Night Lions Club Program Oct. 29th

The spooks, goblins, witches, etc. will be parading here and there in Mentone next Saturday night, Oct. 29, for the annual Hallowe'en celebration sponsored by the Mentone Lions Club. Last year over one hundred and fifty masked individuals paraded across the judging platform and likely this year there will be even more.

In addition to the cash awards offered in the various classes, two special awards are offered to the groups or individuals giving the best stunt, novelty or musical presentation.

The parade starts at 7:30 p. m. at the Reed funeral home corner.

In addition to the masked parade, the club members have arranged other forms of amusement where you can either stand around and witness the fun—free of charge—or donate your whole week's pay check. Come out and see the fun Saturday night.

FIVE INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Five persons were injured, one very seriously, in a two-car collision southwest of Mentone, Saturday afternoon. The mishap occurred at the Sycamore church crossing. The injured were all from near Rochester and Frankfort.

Most seriously hurt was eight-year old Jacqueline Sriver, who suffered a skull fracture, cuts and a broken arm. She was removed to an Indianapolis hospital Sunday following emergency treatment at the Woodlawn hospital in Rochester. Her mother, Mrs. Harry (Nadine) Sriver, 38, of near Rochester, was driving one of the cars.

Another Sriver child, Monte aged nine, suffered a concussion. The Sriver's live on route 5, Rochester.

The second car was operated by Kenneth W. Dolan, 42, of Frankfort. He suffered chest injuries. His wife, Juliana, 40, received back injuries and lacerations, and their daughter, Beverly, aged 11 suffered severe cuts and bruises. With the exception of Jacqueline Sriver, all are patients at Woodlawn hospital.

State Officer John Hatch, of Rochester, reported that both automobiles were practically demolished.

DUCK SEASON OPEN NOV. 4

Indianapolis, Ind., October 25.—(Special Indiana Department of Conservation Release)—In order that sportsmen may become better acquainted with regulations pertaining to the hunting of migratory waterfowl, the open season for which has been set from 12 o'clock noon November 4 until one hour before sunset December 13, the department set forth instructions which should prove of value.

Improved conditions of waterfowl made it possible for the United States Fish and Wildlife Service to allow an increase of ten days in the length of the season for hunting such game. This measure was announced some time ago.

Regulations governing migratory waterfowl were amended following a series of public meetings held on the subject throughout the country. Through them it was shown that the popular consensus of opinion among the public and conservation officials was that the season be lengthened rather than increase the bag limit.

Indiana daily bag and possession limits have been listed as follows:

Ducks: 4 a day and 8 in possession, 1 of which may be a woodduck. In the Mississippi fly-away states which include Indiana, the daily bag and possession limit for geese will be four (same as 1948) of which 2 may be Canada geese, or 2 white fronted geese, or one each of these species.

Coots: The bag limit for coots has been reduced from 15 to 10 birds a day in the Mississippi fly-away states because of a reduction in the supply of birds normally frequenting these fly-aways. Possession limits are the same as the daily bag limits.

Rails: In all fly-aways not more than 15 in the aggregate of rails, other than sora and gallinules.

Sora: The bag limit for sora has been increased from 20 to 25 birds a day. This was the legal limit for a long period of years and its restoration is not likely to result in any large over all kill.

Woodcock: In the Mississippi fly-away states the daily bag limit is 4 with a possession limit of 8.

Mourning Doves: Season closed.

The regulation which prohibits the use of automatic loading or repeating shotguns capable of holding more than three shells still continue in effect. An amendment which went into effect last year (1948) provides that the plug in such a shotgun must be incapable of being removed without dis-assembling the gun. The regulations do not authorize the taking of waterfowl lured or enticed by means of grain or other feed or with the aid of live duck or goose decoys.

A Federal Duck Stamp which can be procured at all United States Post Offices and Post Office sub-stations is a must for all waterfowl hunters from and including sixteen (16) years up.

Farm woods can be a huge tinder-box in the fall. Much of the blame for farm woods fires must be assumed by the general public, hunters, campers and picknickers, Purdue University extension foresters say. Carelessness has caused the destruction of as high as 20,000 acres of Indiana woodland annually by fire. This year vegetation is particularly heavy and a fire will not lack fuel. Tossed cigarette stubs and burning matches can spark such serious damage in fall woods.

AG. COURSES AT PURDUE

Four eight-weeks' winter courses in agriculture, designed to provide concise summaries of the newer applications of agricultural science and methods to the farms, dairy plants and allied industries of the corn belt, will be given at Purdue University from January 2 to February 24, 1950. The courses will include general agriculture, animal husbandry, dairy production, and dairy manufactures.

In announcing the winter courses, Associate Dean V. C. Freeman of the School of Agriculture, points out that current problems in agriculture emphasize the necessity for efficient production, careful management, and sound financing, if farming is to maintain and improve individual living standards and community facilities in rural areas.

The successful farm operator must be alert to the modern changes taking place in production and management practices, and he must be in a position to evaluate the trends in agricultural marketing, he added. These courses are designed to furnish such information for those who do not plan to take a regular college course, for ex-service men under the G. I. assistance program, for those who desire to qualify for more responsible positions in the field of agriculture, and for persons who have acquired farm interests.

Young farmers who have completed high school will find the courses particularly helpful, Dean Freeman declared. Each course will offer eight weeks of intensive instruction, including approximately 35 hours of lecture and laboratory work a week. The broad program of training is designed to develop individual efficiency and leadership.

Several scholarships are available to worthy prospective students. Complete information about the courses and scholarships may be obtained from county agricultural agents or by writing to Dean Freeman.

A booklet describing the courses was published recently and is available upon request.

MANY YOUTH EVENTS AT INTERNATIONAL SHOW

Farm boys and girls from the world over will figure prominently in affairs of the Golden Jubilee edition of the International Live Stock Exposition.

The big 50th anniversary show is scheduled for November 26 through December 3 in the Amphitheater of the Chicago Stock Yards.

The Junior Live Stock Feeding Contest at which boys and girls show baby beeves, lambs and barrows of their own raising, and the Junior Livestock Judging Contest which determines the national winner among state champion teams of amateur livestock judges are among the curtain-raisers on opening day.

Youngsters Win Top Honors

Last year farm youngsters exhibited nearly a thousand head of livestock in the Junior contest. Many of these went on to win top places in the open show for adult livestock feeders. In the 1947 International, two of the three individual show grand champion animals were shown by youngsters.

The auction of livestock shown by boys and girls last year totalled nearly half a million dollars.

The 28th National 4-H Club Congress will be held in downtown Chicago to augment the affairs of International week. It will bring the cream of farm youth as delegates to the congress. They will have a huge exhibit in the Amphitheatre during the eight-day show.

On Wednesday more than a thousand club members will be guests at a matinee horse show and supper at the Exposition and in the evening will parade under banners in the arena, providing what many believe is the most colorful and moving spectacle of the entire week.

Several College Events

College-age young men and women will have their special events at the Exposition. They will have their Collegiate Livestock Judging Contest opening day at which agricultural college teams will compete.

The judging contest for agricultural students was begun 50 years ago at the first International. Through the years many top winners in the contest have become agricultural leaders of the nation.

The International Grain and Hay Show, held as a part of the Exposition, will have its Collegiate Crops Judging Contest for agronomy students, and the Meat Show, sponsored by the National Live Stock and Meat Board, will have its Inter-Collegiate Meat Judging contest.

Barber Shop, next to Telephone Office, now open for business, 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Daily except Wednesday, till 12:00 noon.

Logging Operations

Our forest lands today often seem more productive than in the past because of the closer logging utilization made possible by re-logging, yields from thinning, salvage of fire-killed trees, and pre-logging.

ENJOY MASQUERADE PARTY

The Country Neighbors Home Economics Club held family night, Oct. 21, at McClure Lake. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Mrs. Allen Herendeen. Robert Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Law, Mrs. Martin Notz, Mrs. Frank Meredith, and Mrs. Richard Notz. Ghosts and skeletons in keeping with Hallowe'en floated about the room. Contests and game, including a visit through the "witches chambers," provided entertainment during the evening. Refreshments were served, on tables that were decorated in orange and black, near the fireplace.

Members of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the evening were: Mrs. Wilvin Long, Mrs. Carl Zolman, Mrs. William Rathbun and Mrs. Wayne Shunk.

Franklin's Business Philosophy

In illustrating Franklin's tactics in business, it is interesting to note his reaction to a rival's unfair practice. Bradford, printer of a competitive newspaper and postmaster of Philadelphia, would not allow Franklin's "Pennsylvania Gazette" to go through the mails. When Franklin succeeded Bradford as postmaster, however, he did not seek revenge. He said, "I thought so meanly of him for it, that, when I afterward came into his situation, I took care never to imitate it."

Calling

By JIM MITCHELL

Last week I was talking about im-proved farmer-sportsman relations and how the farmer held the key to bet-ter hunting. Now Henry Davis of the Remington Arms Co. comes along with a list of suggestions on how the re-lationship can be cemented strongly. I'd like to pass along his suggestions, so here goes:

- 1—Always drive into a farmer's yard and ask permission to hunt.
- 2—Hunt only in the areas he desig-nates and never cross onto another farm.
- 3—Respect his fences, always climb-ing a fence at a post or crossing at a gate.
- 4—Never shoot near the house, or barn or near livestock.

5—Leave his fruit and other crops alone.

6—Go around fields where people are working and never walk on newly seeded ground.

7—Share your game with the farmer. He enjoys it as you do but seldom has time to hunt himself.

8—On your next trip, take along a little gift for the farmer's wife or children. It doesn't have to be much, but it will show genuine interest.

9—Then, after getting well acquaint-ed, suggest a planting program that will better game habitat, offering to finance the program or, at least, share in its expense.

The rules are simple; they're easily followed and don't in anyway hinder your hunting. In fact, they'll greatly improve your gunning.

I won't be so bold as to say that unless all of us follow the above rules that all gunning will vanish. But I will say that we all must adopt some sort of similar code or hunting soon will be a thing of the past. Farmers won't continue to supply the territory and game without some token of ap-preciation on our part.

GOBLINS START MAN ON HUNT FOR TENT

I can't think, off hand, of any man more willing to help a friend than "Mac" McKinley, and this week he is trying to locate a small tent, large cardboard carton, or something for his good friend and neighbor over in the elevator. Mac never was a fussy fellow, anyway, but it is quite a walk from the back of the lumber yard to the modern plumbing in the office, so he erected one of those "McNutt" bomb-shelters out on the "back forty" just for convenience's sake. It was a handy wrinkle to have around near the elevator, too—in fact, so handy it represented Dick's only modern accommodations, and now after six old-fashioned American Hallowe'ens, the old hut just isn't capable of maintaining an upright position.

Any suggestions you may have, kindly give them to Mac or Dick—at once—as some things can't be put off forever.

BLACK SQUIRREL IS ROAMING

Clark Ernsberger states that the black squirrel he recently released at his home in Mentone, is getting pretty well acquainted with the city. He is, apparently, taking a census of the walnut trees in town and spends much of his time just roaming around. Mr. Ernsberger has no objection to his scouting forays, but he does hope that the little fellow will evade the dogs, cats, air guns and other deadly animals or objects.

Other citizens, too, are interested in the black squirrels and others will be released as soon as they can be trapped by conservation officials.

STORE BEING REMODELED

Coopers' Store has been undergoing a face-lifting the past few days. Workmen have covered the old red brick with a nice new coat of stucco plaster and Mr. Cooper is making several other changes in both the interior and exterior of the building.

Workmen, too, have completed the stone cap on the Farmers State Bank walls and have given the old concrete pilasters and trim a "rough" scrubbing.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

Mentone Unit No. 425 American Legion Auxiliary has received a Superior rating for the year 1948-49 in the Merit System program conducted by the State Department of the Auxiliary and will be awarded a Certificate of Merit. As a service organization the Auxiliary has a well defined program for all Units to follow and if Units participate in this program and meet requirements they receive credit points toward a Certificate of Merit. Mentone Unit, a comparatively newly organized unit, is proud to announce that they have received a Superior rating for the second successive year as a result of cooperative effort on the part of the members of the unit.

The above announcement was given in a report at the regular meeting of the Mentone Unit, Tuesday evening, October 25 at the Post home by Mrs. Georgia Cochran and Mrs. Bernice Jones who attended the District Meeting of the Auxiliary which was held at Star City, Oct. 12. Reports also were given by Mrs. Jones of her visit to Knightstown Home on Legion Day and by Mrs. Geraldine Smith on the Presidents' and Secretaries' Conference which was held recently in Indianapolis.

The Unit voted a donation of five dollars to the Clermont Girls School for their "Canteen Fund." Mrs. Juanita Paulus, president, discussed the Merit System and explained a few changes in credits for the coming program.

The meeting was concluded with group singing.

Motor Fuels

Present trends in the direction of increased sulfur content of motor fuels have two important effects on the use of leaded gasolines in engines. Increased sulfur in leaded fuels reduces the antiknock efficiency of tetraethyl lead and causes lead-sulfur compounds to be major products of combustion.

FIRE ON THE FARM

According to an article in Country Gentleman, written by Katharine Best and Katharine Hillyer, 80 per cent of American farms are not adequately or properly protected against fire, wind or hail. The farmer, the authors go on, frequently commits the following insurance sins: "He fails to insure all his buildings; he fails to insure them for enough; he fails to make sure an inherited or bought policy is made out in his name; he carries duplicating policies; he fails to consider the 'insurance credits' on his farm; he carries needless 'extended coverage endorsement' protection." Sin number one—the failure to insure the property—is the most common of all these potentially ruinous omissions. The article tells of one farmer who paid premiums on a livestock policy four years after his last cow had been sold! This same farmer carried $27,000 worth of insurance on $19,000 worth of buildings. Yet two new buildings constructed since the war were not insured at all. One of them burned and he recovered nothing.

It is estimated that, on the average, most farmers carry about half as much fire insurance as they actually need. What makes this fact of great and ominous importance is that farm buildings which catch fire are 97 per cent destroyed. As a rule, they are far from organized fire fighting facilities. Often they are old, dry and highly inflammable. So, when fire strikes, there is often nothing to do but watch the property burn to the ground. Every farmer should periodically review his fire, wind and other policies to make certain they are adequate. As new buildings are constructed, they should be immediately covered—failure to do this has cost farmers huge sums of money. And, finally, every farmer should practice fire prevention every day of the year.

Peanut Oil

Peanut oil can be heated to much higher temperatures than other animal and vegetable oils before it begins to smoke or scorch; thus it is preferred for deep-fat cooking of potato chips and similar food products.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Heart disease took the lives of more people in Indiana last year than any other disease, according to figures released by the Indiana State Board of Health.

A total of 12,366 people died in 1948 because of heart disease. This was the highest number in ten years with the exception of 1947 when 12,542 deaths resulted from this disease.

The second leading cause of death was cancer resulting in 5,270 deaths; cerebral hemorrhage was third with 4,175 deaths. Other leading causes are as follows: nephritis, 2,817; pneumonia 1,203; diabetes mellitus, 1,017; tuberculosis, 914; cirrhosis of the liver 365, syphilis, 304, and influenza, 178.

Among the childhood diseases, measles killed 37 persons; cerebrospinal meningitis was second with 33 deaths; poliomyelitis, third, with 30 deaths. Acute rheumatic fever took 24 lives; whooping cough killed 21; diphtheria, 16, and scarlet fever caused two deaths.

As compared to the preceding year, the number of deaths among children under one year of age dropped 155, but 3,627 fewer children were born in 1948. Deaths under one month of age dropped 177. The number of deaths from prematurity was cut from 1,063 in 1947 to 881 in 1948. Maternal deaths totaled 89 in 1948 and 109 in 1947.

NEW RAIL STOCK RATES BIG SAVING FOR FARMER

New rates in feeding-in-transit charges, recently announced by railroads serving the West, will enable the farmer to haul his feeder calves out of the West, fatten them on the farm, and move them on to the Chicago market at greatly reduced cost.

Although varying by regions, the over-all savings on stop-over hauls completed through from the western states into the Chicago Stock Yards will save from around $18.00 to over $56.00 per car, depending on the origin.

The reductions are the strongest bid made by the railroads in years for recapture of the livestock hauling business lost to trucks and should save millions for cornbelt cattle feeders. Coming months should see a shift in the movement of cattle to market.

Railroad agents are getting explanatory data illustrating the possible savings for cattlemen in their territories. The new rates are now in effect on some of the major roads, and the others are expected to start them within days.

Cattle bought in Montana with through-billing to the Chicago Stock Yards would have a freight rate of $269.00 at the new rates compared to from $292.00 to $319.00 under the old.

A farmer unloading cattle from Billings, Mont., at Grand Island, Nebraska, for a period of feeding up to 18 months before shipment to Chicago would save substantially under the new provision.

Under the old system, he would have paid the feeder rate of $156.00 per car to Grand Island, Nebr., and the fat rate of $170.40 to Chicago. The total cost would have been $326.00 rather than $270.20 as under the new feeding-in-transit arrangements — a saving of $56.20 per car.

Officials here believe that it will take a little time to clarify the entire setup to the satisfaction of shippers, but representatives of the various roads will be able to answer questions advanced by farmers who want to take advantage of the lower feeding-in-transit costs.

Schools Observing National Posture Week

NBC Television stars Roberta Quinlan and "Howdy-Doody" review 1949 poster at Rockefeller Center, New York, which the schools of the nation will unveil to millions of children during the 11th annual National Posture Week, October 17 to 22. The event is sponsored by The Samuel Higby Camp Institute for Better Posture, New York, founded by the late S. H. Camp of Jackson, Michigan. Colleges, the "Y's", large industrial plants, government bodies, nursing organizations and physicians cooperate with programs during the week, using posters especially designed for adult groups. The children's jingle reads: "It isn't smart to slump or sag; Because our health and marks will lag. We learn from teacher, play and books; Good Posture helps our work and life."

Grasshopper Eaters

Turkeys, quail, frogs, snakes, skunks, and shrews, are voracious grasshopper eaters. Because Mrs. G. deposits her eggs in the ground in autumn, late fall plowing helps to reduce the spring hatch. Development of grasshopper parasites has become an effective method of control.

A CRAFTY CAPITALIST TRICK

In an article in The Saturday Evening Post, the story is told of three Russian engineers, guided by an American interpreter, who went into a New York clothing store looking for overcoats. The abundance of goods on hand, the qualities, and the prices, seemed to them all but unbelievable. They were, at first, elated to the point of hysteria. Finally, however, they left without buying. They had become convinced that the whole thing was a fake—a crafty capitalist trick to make them believe that such wonderful goods could be freely bought by anyone. The Russians weren't taken in though—they'd been forewarned at home, so they knew better than to fall for so patent a ruse!

This true anecdote has a real point. American retail stores—whether they be large or small, chain or individually owned, in a village or a metropolis—are one of the best examples of the difference between a free, competitive economy, such as ours, and a controlled, regimented economy, such as Russia's.

In Russia, as in the rest of the socialist - communist world, the state rations practically everything and sets the price. There's no competition, so the state doesn't have to worry about quality or price or anything else. The citizen takes what the dictators want him to have or he goes without—period.

Under our capitalist system, on the other hand, every store, like every producer, is trying to offer better products, lower prices, or some other inducement that will attract finicky consumers. If the buyer doesn't find something to suit him in one store, he moves on and gets it somewhere else.

The result: We have the highest living standards on earth. The socialist-communist nations have the lowest.
