N. I. C. A. Announces New Improvements

From a modest beginning in April 1931, the Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association has grown to a point where it is virtually impossible to manufacture enough Banner Mash in twenty-four hours to serve their customer in the same period. For months they have been operating a night shift but have found that this has not solved the problem.

After due consideration, the Board of Directors has decided to build a new elevator between the present elevator building and the hardware building. The structure will be 36' x 6' and will contain the latest milling equipment available. Banner Mash will be made here exclusively, and all new work will be done at the old elevator.

The present equipment has been in use for nearly nine years. While it has given excellent service, the officials of the N. I. C. A. realize that should a break occur, the effect of feed shortage, until the machinery could be repaired, might prove disastrous to their many customers. With this fact in view, they feel obligated to protect their customers from loss due to such an emergency.

Remodeling has begun in the N. I. C. A. storage building. The east side of the building is being converted into a room for the hardware and lumber department. This department which now has its own building south of the elevator will be moved to its new location in the near future.

New cob grinding equipment is also being installed north of the present elevator. The cobs will now be ground and used for litter instead of burned as has been the custom for years.

General Manager, Oliver Teel, states that the changes and improvements would be completed before the first of next year.

Miss Ruth Lash is teaching school at Oswego this term. Miss Eleanor Lash will teach at Cable School, Jefferson township, near Nappanee. The girls are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lash.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

ADVERTISING'S NO MYSTERY

SOME of us remember well when John Slattery started in business. He couldn't have been over 25 and he had only a few hundred dollars in capital. But he did have a wife and two fine boys. He wanted to make them comfortable. He quit his job, went in on his own.

At first he would come to us and in his frank, likable way ask if we would buy from him. We liked John. It flattered us to have him invite us to become his customers. We began trading with him.

He treated us so considerately and so honestly; he gave us such good service; he was so grateful for our patronage, that we enjoyed being his customers. It made us feel good. Others felt the same way. His business grew.

Then he began asking more people to trade with him than he could reach in person. He had to run small advertisements in the newspaper, which he wrote himself after store hours.

As he grew larger he ran larger advertisements, and where in the beginning he had a handful of customers, now he had several hundred.

Charles Roth

He continued to advertise in the newspaper. His business continued to grow. He couldn't know all his customers by name now, of course, but they felt that they could buy from him with confidence because he had been recommended to them by another friend whom they had always trusted.

This other friend who recommended John Slattery was the newspaper which carried his advertising.

Whatever you read in the newspaper you naturally feel you can believe, because you know that a reputable newspaper will not accept advertising from any but honest and reliable concerns.

Because this young man starting in business made use of that aid he built his business. As his business grew he was able to give his customers better service and more for their money.

Although few of the persons reading his advertisements and becoming his customers realized it, they were all indebted to the newspaper for its service in bringing to their attention an opportunity of getting more for their money by publishing advertisements of this enterprising young man.

Advertising is serving us in this same way every day, by bringing information of where we can buy most advantageously, by helping us to find what we want the lowest possible prices.

Wizard of Oz

The musical comedy, "The Wizard of Oz," was produced at the Majestic theater, New York city, on January 20, 1903, by Fred R. Hamlin. The book and lyrics were by L. The show ran for a year and then had a long road tour.

Everybody Burned

It seems like everybody was "burned up" when a fire alarm was turned in from a box in New York. When firemen arrived they found Chester Julian burning with rage. "There's no fire," he said, "but I want my 20 cents back." He had put two dimes in a cigarette vending machine and nothing had come out. The firemen were also "burned up." Minus the 20 cents and cigarettes, Julian was arrested, held in $500 bail.

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

You can judge a man pretty accurately by the manner in which he keeps up the premises of the place in which he lives. A neat, efficient, painstaking workman won't live in unkept surroundings. He will mow the yard and plant shrubs and make the place attractive. If he is an indifferent, slovenly sort of person, he usually lives in that kind of place.

Tire trouble is the most prevalent summertime headache to motorists everywhere. In addition to warm months being the heaviest travel period, most car owners attempt to squeeze "just a few more miles" out of old tires, and the heat and heavy driving breaks down the worn casings and tubes sooner than they expect.

It has been demonstrated that it is possible to grow tomatoes without soil. It is accomplished by placing the roots of the plants in water that contains chemicals in certain proportions. On a recent test it was demonstrated that 100 tons of tomatoes could be produced in an acre space at a cost for chemicals of $1.50 to $2 a ton.

The largest rubber tire ever built for actual use on a motor vehicle was turned out recently by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. The tire was ten feet high and weighed 700 lbs. It was one of six to be used in Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic exploration on a giant snow cruiser. The cruiser will contain seven rooms and have a cruising distance of 5000 miles.

A lot of folks who say they like the man who always tells the truth mean that they like him as long as he doesn't tell the truth about them.

We overheard a couple of women talking about the new short skirts. "I think they are all right," said one, "if you have the legs for them."

In Benton City, Wash., the rural electric association dismissed their meter reader and sent a postal card to each customer asking that they read their own meter and send a money order for the amount of their bill. It is said collections increased 50 per cent the first month.

Read the ads in this paper. The merchants who wrote these advertisements and paid for them have done so because they believe they have a line of new merchandise that customers in this trade territory will want when they know it is available here.

These merchants are not afraid to tell the people of this community what they have and help them with their shopping problems by making shopping easier through the printed advertisement. They are not asking you to come down and spend a lot of valuable time hunting through their stock for the things you need. Patronize the advertiser. He is offering you a helpful service in his ads.

An apple a day will keep the doctor away and a good word for your home town each day will keep the knocker away.

We Won't Tell Either

"Daisies won't tell", and neither will we. Plucking petals proves nothing and neither does talk.

With flowery words we could tell you all about the top-cylinder oil in Tydol—about Tydol's mileage and performance. We could give you a point for every petal on a daisy. We could tell you—but we won't! We'd rather let you try Tydol and let Tydol talk for itself.

So, stop at your dealer's today—test a tankful of Tydol—let performance and not words tell you the facts.

Again our people are menaced by a war. Prices on food stuffs have risen very sharply in the past few days. We believe that it will pay our customers not to get excited, to buy your usual supply from week to week. Unusual purchases create an artificial scarcity and cause unwarranted price advances.

Again we advise, buy only your immediate needs. Our prices will be fair.

Two Minute Sermon

By
Thomas Hastwell

HE IS PUNISHED WHO FORGETS GOD: When Uzziah became king of Judah he was but 16 years old. It so happened that he was surrounded by good advisors. Because of this the kingdom prospered and he grew in wealth and reputation. With the coming of wealth and power and recognition Uzziah lost his sense of values. He forgot that God had had a large part in his success. He forgot that it was through his care and oversight that a mere boy assumed the responsibility of the leadership of a great nation and ruled it wisely. He became obsessed with the idea that all of these things had come to him because of his own wisdom and genius. One day he went into the temple and attempted to burn incense—a privilege allowed only to priests. For his presumption God punished him by smiting him with leprosy.

How like many today. As long as they are struggling for success they are mindful of God's oversight, but when prosperity comes they forget God and take the credit for all the achievement to themselves. They cease to be humble and thankful and become proud, and selfish, and arrogant. God does not mark the faces of men and women with leprosy when they forget him today as he did in the days of Uzziah, but the marks that such forgetfulness leaves on the soul are no less ugly, unseen though they may be.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

KEEP YOUR SALT CELLARS CLEAN

THE other day I read of an eccentric old woman, rich and socially prominent, who went from house to house judging the occupants by the condition of the salt cellars on their tables.

If these were clean and well kept she put her stamp of approval on the household, but if they were not, regardless of the graciousness and charm of her hostess, she put them down as dowdy folks.

Not all of us, fortunately, are quite so critical, but in one sense we are. And it is good that we are. We are critical of the merchandise we buy and of the merchants from whom we buy it. It is our criticism which keeps the standards of goods and stores high.

One of the many advantages of advertising is that it invites us to be critical of the goods being advertised.

The advertiser assures us that his goods are good. He invites us to compare them with others. We do. If he relaxes for a minute and lets his standards drop, we discern it. We tell others. We cease buying his product.

He knows that even the finest of commercial reputations will suffer if a mere handful of people get wind of the fact that the goods are sub-standard. They will tell their friends. Soon a whispering campaign is under way. He suffers.

It is only by being careful at every minute of the day that his goods and service are up to high standard that the man who advertises can succeed.

You expect more of him than you do of the man who does not advertise. The non-advertising manufacturer or merchant can fall down in delivering quality and service. You may expect him to. But the man who advertises has to live up to his high obligation.

So you see that advertising is a great vigilance committee, established and maintained in your interest, to see that the men who aspire to sell you will always be worthy of your trade.

The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town.

As a matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value—and by lower prices.

Be critical of advertised goods and stores which advertise. They want you to be critical. Advertising invites you to compare before you buy. It stands or falls on value alone.

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

Every community has a man whose only achievement about which he can brag is his tough whiskers and the growth of hair on his chest.

We never saw a man who felt that the world owed him a living who had ever done anything worth while for himself or anyone else.

We note that the family of six or eight children seems to get along about as well as the family that has no children. There is this compensation also. In the family of children, effort is being put forth for some one else, but in the family where there are no children the effort is for self. There is never so much pleasure in doing things for one's self as there is for others. We have always thought the Lord sort of leaned in the direction of a big family of children.

Give me the liberty to know, to think, to believe, and to utter freely, according to conscience, above all other liberties.—John Milton.

A lot of children are born into the present generation who are being given movie picture actress names.

The reason for a good many of our practices has been dug up but we have never heard an explanation as to why the delicacy dispensed at roadside food emporiums is called hot dogs.

An attractive town is nothing more or less than a group of attractive homes with well kept premises. Check up on yours. Cross the street and look at your premises from the other side of the street. How does it compare from the standpoint of being well kept with the homes in your neighborhood?

The reason advertising pays is because it works along certain well known lines. It attracts attention, interests, creates desire and sells. Advertising does this by suggesting to the individual how an article may be useful to him, how it is to his advantage to own it. Once this is done the customer will begin to plan for ways and means to make the article or the merchandise advertised his own.

There is not a town in the United States that couldn't be better than it is if everyone living in the trade area of the town traded at home.

A good town helps the country round about it. The way to keep a town on the way up is to trade at home. The way to start a town on the way out is to send business away from home.

Consistent advertising each week, backed up by modern merchandising methods and intelligent buying are the simple formula upon which nine-tenths of the mercantile successes of this country have been built.

Shop through the advertising columns of this paper. The merchants whose advertisements appear in this paper are spending money to tell you what they have in their stores, for your approval.

The lowly hen has become an international institution. At the recent poultry congress held in Cleveland, Ohio, every state in the union and forty foreign nations participated.

ROBOT BLOODHOUND OPENS NEW ERA IN CRIME DETECTION

Convicts Man by Placing Him At Scene of Killing By Footprints.

NEW YORK.—A revolution in the technique of crime detection loomed as a newly perfected "robot bloodhound" unerringly tracked down a murderer and turned him over to the electric chair.

Sure he had an unbreakable alibi, Anton Myslivec, 54-year-old prison graduate, laughed at authorities when they first arrested him for the murder of William Dobitz, 55, a Long Island contractor, to whose wife Myslivec had been attentive.

But his confidence collapsed when, in a surprise move, District Attorney Fred Munder placed before a Suffolk county trial jury the "testimony" of the crime-detection machine.

Myslivec had contended he was in Jamaica, L. I., miles away, on the night of November 21, last, when Dobitz, stepping out the door of his Farmingville, L. I., home to investigate the barking of a watch-dog, was fatally wounded by a blast of slugs from a hidden shotgun.

New Type of Spectroscope.

The "robot bloodhound"—actually a new and improved type of spectrograph—testified otherwise. According to the mechanical witness, Myslivec was standing that night in the exact spot from which, by police calculations, the fatal blast had been fired.

And the jury, believing the machine in preference to Myslivec, convicted him of first degree murder, which in New York, carries a mandatory death sentence to the electric chair.

In Myslivec's case, the device tracked him through "invisible footprints"—tiny bits of earth that clung to his shoes as he waited in ambush to kill the husband of the woman with whom he was infatuated.

But the "robot bloodhound," unlike his four-legged rival, doesn't have to have footprints. It can track its man down through dust that sifts into clothing, or that lodges in the cuff of a trouser leg!

And the evidence it gives is strong enough—or was in the Myslivec case, at least—to convince a jury.

Sentenced to Chair.

Convicted of murder in the first degree, Myslivec was sentenced by Judge L. Marron Hill to die in Sing Sing's electric chair.

In crisp, every day language the city chemist told how he had made spectrographic comparisons of the soil beside the woodshed and of the dirt clinging to Myslivec's shoes.

Showing the spectrographic plates, he explained how each set of lines meant a different element in the soil. Painsstakingly he identified each of 44 separate elements to the jury—among them nickel, copper, and even a trace of gold.

The expert told the jury:

"Any bit of soil might contain as many elements—or more. But—there is no bit of soil anywhere that would contain precisely the same elements, in precisely the same proportion."

Just as proof the jury was shown the spectrograph of soil from the front of the Dobitz home. It no more resembled the spectrograph of the dirt from the slayer's shoes than a Rembrandt resembles a "stop and go" sign. On the other hand, the spectrograph of the backyard soil and the shoe scrapings matched exactly.

Barrister Shows Flask;

He Is Arrested in Court

LONDON, ONT.—When Remington White, Toronto barrister, defended a client in a London court, he was jailed himself.

James Elliott, the defendant, had been charged with possessing liquor illegally, and had summoned White to defend him. White appeared in court before Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw and loudly berated the liquor control board as a means of defending his client. He was warned frequently by the magistrate about his forceful criticizing of the board.

Suddenly, during the course of proceedings, White drew a flask from his pocket and placed it before the magistrate.

"If this is contempt," he said, "arrest me. I carry this by doctor's orders."

When, upon inspection, the flask proved to contain whisky, White was placed under arrest.

Amateur Burglar Finds

No Loot; He Complains

CINCINNATI.—A self-styled amateur burglar failed to find any loot when he broke into the home of William Keane, but he obligingly left a written criticism of the inadequate protection of the house against burglary.

The note:

"Dear Madam:

"I am quite an amateur at picking locks and getting into homes. I will say your home provided no profit. But it was easy and provided no experience. Your dog is of no value. He only barked and that kept people from hearing me.

"This is only my second job. But I am smart and no coppers will get me.

"Respectfully,

"JACK CONNERS."

White House Dinner Service

The White House dinner service, which was purchased in 1934, consists of 1,000 pieces of ivory-colored Lenox china, bordered in dark blue and gold and bearing the President's crest. The blue border of each piece is studded with 48 gold stars and the gold band is encrusted with motifs from the Roosevelt coat of arms. The china service includes 10 dozen each of large place plates, luncheon plates, bread and butter plates, coffee cups, tea cups, after-dinner coffee cups, soup cups and bouillon cups and plates. The White House uses silver service platters and others to match the gold service. In consequence, no service platters were ordered for this set.

Christening of Ships

The custom of christening a new ship is a survival of an ancient custom of dedicating each ship to one of the protecting gods. Usually vessels bore images of the deities to which they were consecrated. Wine was always used in such ceremonies and nowadays champagne is usually chosen. The chronicles of the monks of St. Denys refer to a trip that the bishop of Bangor made to Southampton in 1418 to bless one of the king's ships that was about to be launched. In our country the custom is still followed and airships, too, are christened by breaking the traditional bottle of champagne on the propeller.

Sailor's Adventure

Tired of waiting for a New York subway train, a sailor from the U. S. S. Seattle—after an exciting night in Brooklyn—walked down the tracks, picked out a depression between the rails, went to sleep. His slumber was not disturbed, although several trains roared over him, until a station agent, riding to work, saw the figure between the rails. The seaman, awakened by the train jolting to a stop, opened a sleepy eye, said wearily: "Good morning. How are you?"

Heirs Ousted

Rockville, Md., dedicated its new $77,000 post office—but only after police had routed two elderly and bellicose sisters who used a hatchet to hammer "no trespassing" signs into the smooth green lawn and ordered all and sundry, "Take to your heels! This is our property." The sisters asserted they were among eight heirs of the former owner of the site and had received nothing from the government under condemnation proceedings.

No Restrictions Imposed On U. S.- Canadian Traffic

No restrictions of any kind have been imposed, or are likely to be imposed, on tourists from the United States into Canada, Bert Vanderwarf, head of the Chicago Motor club touring bureau, announced today in response to a flood of calls from prospective Canada-bound motorists.

This information came to the motor club from the offices of the immigration branch of the department of mines and resources. "In other words, tourist traffic may flow freely across the border between the United States despite the conditions which have been brought about as a result of war in Europe," Mr. Vanderwarf said.

He cited an official statement issued by F. C. Blair, director of immigration, on the situation affecting tourist travel between the United States and Canada, which reads:

"Inquiries reaching the immigration branch of the department of mines and resources, indicate that some alarm is felt among American tourists now visiting Canada or intending to visit Canada, that they may be subject to restrictions in entering or leaving. There are absolutely no grounds for these fears. Tourists continue to be welcome and no restrictions of any kind have been imposed or are likely to be imposed on such visitors. American tourists are not required to secure any Canadian document either for entering or leaving this country. In the event of war, citizens of enemy countries would be subject to restrictions but these will not affect in the slightest the movement of tourists from friendly or neutral countries, who will continue to be welcomed as they have been in the past."

England's 'Sin-Eaters'

A sin-eater was a person who for a trifling payment was believed to take upon himself, by means of food and drink, the sins of a deceased person. The custom was once common in many parts of England and in the highlands of Scotland. Each village had its official sin-eater who on notice of a death would go to the house and sit in front of the door. Food and drink were handed him and when he had finished the repast, he rose and pronounced the ease and rest of the dead person for whom he thus pawned his own soul. In Upper Bavaria, where the custom long survived, a corpse cake was placed on the breast of the dead and eaten by the nearest relative.

Rice Wastes as Fuel

Rice wastes are utilized as fuel in Italy in an effort to save coal, according to "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry." With four pounds of rice by-products corresponding in heat value to one pound of good coal, it has been estimated that Italy could save 50,000 tons of coal. At present some thousand kilowatt-hours of electric energy, obtained through steam engines burning rice by-products in special furnaces with mobile grates, are being produced, it is reported. Since these plants are costly, they are restricted. The gasification of rice by-products and the use of the resulting gas for driving motors have permitted the installation of 15 plants producing 1,000 horsepower.

Unfinished Works

Music has its "Unfinished Symphony" of Schubert, literature has "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," unfinished novel of Dickens, and recently returned American tourists report an "unfinished" Greek temple which has stood for 25 centuries at Segesta, in Sicily, roofless and floorless, but majestic in its architecture.

'Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight'

The late Rose Hartwick Thorpe wrote the poem "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight" on a slate during an arithmetic lesson when she was 17 years old. It was based on a story she had read in Petersen's magazine in 1865. She copied the verses and placed them in a dresser drawer. Subsequently the poem was published in the Detroit Commercial Advertiser. It was not copyrighted and was immediately reprinted in papers throughout the country and in England.

When a sophomore, dressed only in a bathing suit, appeared in Harvard university's memorial hall to take his final history examination, proctors prepared to oust him. He was permitted to stay when he showed a physician's permit explaining that he had contracted a severe case of sunburn while studying on the roof, and was unable to put a shirt over the raw skin.

1940 LISENCE PLATES

Indiana's selection of colors for 1940 license plates, aluminum on black, are as yet unduplicated in the array of combinations which the 48 states and United States possessions have chosen, according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. Three states have not yet reported their colors.

"Nearly every shade in the spectrum will be employed this coming year," he said, "though white on black, white on blue, yellow on black and black on yellow are the most popular, having been chosen by 19 states.

The largest (Bourdon) bell weighs slightly more than 12 tons and has the pitch of E flat below middle C. The smallest bell weighs 12 pounds and sounds the note of G sharp, four and one-half octaves above the Bourdon. The bells are hung on a steel frame over 30 feet in height, 120 feet from the ground. A sound-proof cabin has been erected to house the clavier from which the bells are manually played.

PHEASANT SEASON OPEN SIX DAYS THIS YEAR

Friday morning, November 10, marks the opening of the six day open season on cock pheasants. This date was set following a state-wide investigation into the number of pheasants and results of the 1938 hunting season.

A daily bag limit of two cock birds and possession of four has been established. Contrary to previous reports, there will be no open season on hen pheasants.

Recent surveys show that no apparent damage was done to the stock of pheasants during the hunting season last year. The natural increase in the number of pheasants, supplemented by the liberation of thousands of these fine game birds during the past few months, warranted the addition of an extra day to the hunting season.

During the last fiscal year, the Division of Fish and Game with the cooperation of local conservation clubs, propagated and liberated more than 42,000 pheasants in Indiana.

That man is out of tune with things to whom there is no music in the wind in the trees and the rain upon the roof at night, who is not stirred and thrilled by the majesty and the terrible magnificence of a thunderstorm, who is not awed by the hush of twilight and inexpressibly exalted by the glory of the new born day and the magnificence of a starlit night. There is so much of beauty in the simple everyday things of the world if one is but in tune to hear them.

Speaking of super salesmen, there is the fellow who sold the farmer with one cow two milking machines and took in the cow as the down payment.

Lead capping for chimneys is becoming more widely used as a solution to the problem arising from moisture penetrating masonry and opening up seams when freezing weather sets in. This causes the chimney head to crack and loosen.

TEAM FETED AFTER WINNING CITY SERIES

Mentone's softball team became the municipal league champions Monday night of last week by defeating Nipsco in the final contest of the city series by a score of 4 to 1. The game was played at Warsaw.

In honor of the victory and in appreciation for the splendid cooperation of the team throughout the summer, their manager, Raymond Bare, entertained the members of the team at a six o'clock dinner at his home Thursday evening.

Of the final game of the city series Mush Warner says: For three innings the tilt was a beautiful pitcher's battle between Robert Eiler, Mentone flinger, and Walter "Doc" Evans, Nipsco twirler. Eiler set six of the first ten men to face him down by the strike-out route while Evans shifted five Mentone batters. Orval Secore, Mentone short fielder got the first hit of the game in the fourth, a double to left and came home on Teel's drive to right for the first run of the game. A tight defensive battle by Mentone kept Nipsco from becoming dangerous while the Bulldogs went out and increased their margin to 3 to 0 in the fifth on a walk to Red Paulus followed by Nellans' circuit to right over Charles Copeland's head. Mentone's final run came in the sixth after Teel singled to left and raced to second when Tommy Hay threw wild past first trying to catch the speedy runner.

Nipsco was held without a hit until the fifth when William Braddock singled through the box. Copeland fouled to Nelson, Lyle Stokes walked and Braddock was forced at third on Detterman's tap to shirey. Shirey doubling Detterman at first, Walt Sutherland collected Nipsco's only other hit in the final inning and scored the utility ten's only run on Ray Smith's infield out.

Mentone collected 8 hits off Evans and committed two errors. Eiler struck out six, all in the first three innings. Nipsco garnered two hits, committed two errors, with Evans striking out 12 Mentone batters.

Manager, Raymond Bare, and his boys, Harold Nelson, Robert Eiler, Red Paulus, Pete McGowen, Guido Shirey, Frank Nellans, Irvay Secore, Devon Hilschman, John Allen Teel, Ray Paulus, John Bayne, James Besson, and Robert Flummer are invited to a banquet given by the city series league Monday night at Oweeda's Tea Room in Warsaw. The beautiful engraved trophy will be presented to them at that time.

Heart Attack Fatal To Vernon Black

Vernon Black, aged 46, died suddenly Tuesday evening at 7:15 o'clock at his home in Palestine. He had not been well for some time, but his condition was not considered critical. Death was attributed to angina pectoris.

The deceased was born in Palestine January 23, 1893, the son of James and Lulu Black, was a graduate of Warsaw high school, and was formerly a member of the National Guard. He served as a private in Co. I, 162d Infantry of Indiana, U. S. army from 1914 to 1916.

Twenty-three years ago he was united in marriage to Irene Pitts at Plymouth. Except for a few months residence in South Bend and Logansport, the deceased had lived in the vicinity of Palestine his entire life. He was a trimmer by occupation.

Surviving relatives include the widow; three sons, Ralph, Dale and Don; two daughters, Juanita and Joan all at home; the deceased's father, James Black of Palestine; one brother, Ray Black and one uncle, Del Black.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the Palestine Methodist church. Rev. Fred Vincent, pastor of the church, officiated and interment was made in the Palestine cemetery.

Night Blooming Cereus Blooms Again

The annual blooming of the night blooming cereus, drew quite a crowd to the George Nellans home shortly before midnight Wednesday night. Mrs. Nellans has the plant on her front porch. The large, fragrant, white blossoms are breathtaking in their exquisite loveliness. The bud began to open about ten o'clock and reached it's peak of loveliness several hours later. It's fragrance could be detected quite a distance away.

With the first rays of the morning sun, however, the blossom dropped its head and died. This rare plant is a member of the cactus family and to our knowledge, is the only mature specimen in Mentone.

Two Minute Sermon

THE TEMPLE MADE CLEAN:
Ahaz, one of the kings of Judah, was a weak and careless ruler. Under his rule idolatry flourished and the worship of the true God was forgotten and the temple closed for worship and allowed to become filled with debris and rubbish. When Ahaz died his son Hezekiah came to the throne. Hezekiah was not like his father. He was opposed to idol worship. His first act was to clean out the temple and destroy all the idols. It was a courageous thing to do. Idolatry had become deeply rooted during the sixteen years of the reign of Ahaz but Hezekiah sought no compromise. He made a right about face in the nation and set up at once the worship of the true God.

So it is with the individual today who desires to clean up his life. There should be no temporizing or compromise. The old idols, the old sins, the wrong practices must be thrown out and the new way of living set up. We can't have wrong thoughts and wrong ideals in the heart and live good lives. We've got to clean out the temple of our hearts.

Illumination Prolongs Life Of Foliage

Did you know that trees illuminated by street lights keep their leaves longer than trees where no artificial illumination is present?

And trees that are fed hold their leaves longer in the fall, too. Artificial light may be too expensive as a steady diet for your trees, but anyone can afford enough complete, balanced plant food to feed a tree properly. Feed your trees this fall after they are dormant.

Rendezvous in Sweden

Den Gyldene Freden, or the Golden Peace, is the name of a small cellar restaurant of Stockholm, where Bellman, the Swedish Bobby Burns, sang his songs with his cronies two centuries ago. Its food is excellent, but too many visitors have robbed it of the charm it had for artists and bohemians in the old days.

Hamlet and Holger Danske

The true renown of Elsinore, Denmark, is not its Hamlet legend, which Shakespeare foisted on the place, but Holger Danske, the huge giant, tutelary genius of the nation, who sits in stone in the dungeon of Kronborg castle awaiting the hour when the Danes will call him to save the country.

Hair-Raising Drink

A new kind of cocktail, both anti-septic and hair-raising, was revealed with the arraignment of two men before a United States commissioner at Boston on charges of possessing tax-unpaid liquor. Reportedly sold at 15 cents a bottle, the cocktail was composed of hair tonic, bay rum and water.

Tough Time

Somewhat puzzled were subscribers of the weekly Wyand (Ill.) Record when they found that one page of a four-page section was blank. That is, they were puzzled until they saw in small type the explanation: "Don't laugh. We had a helluva time filling the other three pages."

Honest Stranger

John B. Webb of Tonawanda, N. Y., received a letter posted in that town. When he opened it, a quarter fell out. Inside was a note which read: "Inclosed, please find 25 cents which I have owed you a long time." Webb hasn't any idea who sent the money.

FIRST CHOICE OF SPACE AT 1940 AUTO SHOW

Chevrolet's new 1940 models will make their public bow on October 14, W. E. Hollar, general sales manager, has announced. The cars, he said, will be shown simultaneously at the National Automobile Show in Grand Central Palace—where, as volume leader in the industry, Chevrolet again had first choice of space—at the General Motors special showing in the Waldorf-Astoria, at several important local auto shows, and in dealers' salesrooms throughout the country.

In line with the company's experience in recent years, Mr. Holler said, an important part of Chevrolet's announcement advertising has been scheduled in newspapers. Some 6,800 daily and weekly papers from coast to coast are on the schedule, other media being used to supplement and round out this effort. Preannouncement advertising has already begun to appear, and space will be increased as the new car introduction date approaches.

Formal presentation of its new product, and the selling program for 1940, will be made to Chevrolet's wholesale field organization and the Central Office sales department staff at the annual national sales convention scheduled to open Sept. 28. The sessions will last two days, and will be attended by about 350 key members of the organization.

MENTONE— TEN YEARS AGO

Taken from Community Farm News published by C. W. Krathwohl

Miss Wilma Weirick, daughter of Mrs. Cora Weirick, and Clifford Sult, son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Sult were united in marriage. They made their home at White City where the bridegroom was employed.

George Nellans purchased the Edginger property on North Broadway that week and prepared to retire from the farm.

K. A. Riner purchased the Elmer Leichter property on West Main St. and much speculation was being made concerning the whys and wherefores of the transaction.

John Laird grew a 1 lb. 14 oz. potato on his farm that fall.

Two Public Auctions of household furnishings were held in Mentone that week. One at the Edginger residence and the other at the Elmer Leichter home.

15 YEARS AGO

Taken from Mentone Gazette published by Claude Taylor.

C. I. Bashore purchased Mentone's

Crystal Theatre and changed its name to Paramount. Mr. Bashore also owned the theatre at Silver Lake. Mr. C. W. Thacker managed both of them for him, and shows were held here three nights a week.

Orlando Meredith was buying sheep in Montana that week.

Ella Jane became a member of the W. A. Warner family.

Leota Maxine was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horn.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Babe Romine, a son Kenneth Eugene.

Beaver Dam school had bought a set of batteries and would soon have their new lighting system installed. They were also making plans for a new gymnasium.

25 YEARS AGO

Taken from Tri-County Gazette published by C. M. Smith.

Dr. H. E. Bennett, beloved physician and friend of the residents of this community, passed away quietly at his home on North Broadway. He was survived by the widow, Ella Bennett, and two sons, Roy and Herbert.

Isaac Doran of Peru, met a tragic suicidal death that week. He was the brother of the late Strauder and Wash Doran.

The prisoners in Fulton county jail stole all the brass works from the radiators.

And it seems quite a furor was aroused by the disappearance of that long green succulent fruit from patches in this vicinity. However, Mentone's favorite sons maintained wide-eyed innocence when approached on the subject by irate farmers.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

WHAT ABOUT PRICE?

"A WOMAN," once remarked the famed Hoosier humorist Abe Martin, "will buy anything she thinks the store is losing money on."

That was merely a funnyman's way of saying that in all our buying price is a most important consideration—the one thing with which we are concerned every time we spend a cent.

Now what really constitutes price and how are prices established? Without getting too deep into economic principles, we know that prices are established by what is called the law of supply and demand.

This law teaches us that when the demand for anything exceeds the supply, prices go up. Conversely, when supply is plentiful but demand is light, prices go down. But how can we as customers know that this law won't be tampered with and men, shrewd, scheming and selfish, step in and raise prices and gouge us by making us pay them? They could, you know, and we would not be any the wiser.

Our safeguard against this is the advertising we see in the newspapers. That protects us. Under our competitive system of buying and selling, one merchant vies with another merchant for our trade. Each comes out publicly in the newspapers with his price. We consult these prices before we buy.

Seen in this light, advertising becomes the informant that prevents dishonest sellers from taking advantage of us and our ignorance of prices we might have to pay.

A recent mystery drama has the villain contriving to plunge the city into complete darkness for one night, so that he and his henchmen can dash in and make away with their loot. "We who have something dastardly to put over," he observed, "must needs fear the light."

High prices, skimpy quality, gyp products also must needs fear the light. That is why they are cloaked in such phrases as: "We don't advertise. We pass the savings along to you." "Why pay the high cost of advertising? We put it into our goods," etc., etc.

But the merchant who advertises uses the light of advertising, and asks you to compare his goods and his prices and to find out before you buy. You can always pay his price, because it is the right price. That you know because the protective power of advertising has told you that it is.

And this protective power of advertising is working for you every time you unfold your newspaper and read an advertisement. That black print on white represents a buying guide which is worth several hundred dollars a year to you and your family.

SKIPPER TREASURES HERO PAPERS FROM BRITISH ROYALTY

River and Lake Captain Has Rescued 26 Persons From Wrecks.

MEMPHIS.—The hungry, muddy waters of Old Man River licked at the new coat of paint on the Isabella II and her skipper, Capt. Arthur Edgar Eagan, stood there by the rail and, between puffs at his pipe, talked about cheating the river and death of their victims.

He's a hero in his own right for he has rescued 26 persons from drowning, and he talked about the rescues as if they were part of his job.

He blew a cloud of smoke into the star-spangled night and he must have been thinking about the time when he pulled 12 persons out of the icy waters of Lake Michigan.

"Wait a minute," Captain Eagan said. "I'll show you some of my papers."

He disappeared below deck and you could hear him as he slammed a cabin door. Soon he was back with two age-browned documents.

"A collector once offered me $1,000 for this one," he said, handing across one of the papers. "Of course I turned it down."

It was a citation of the Royal Humane society, awarding him a medal "for having saved life from drowning." The date on it was November 15, 1910. It was signed by "George P., President," the prince of Wales, the man who later became king of England and gave up his throne for the woman he loved.

Honored by Chicago.

The other citation, dated December 1, 1901, conferred the Chicago Life Saving medal for "having saved 26 persons from drowning."

"The British consul at Chicago is the one that got me the Royal Humane Society medal," said Captain Eagan. "That was because I rescued 12 people out in Lake Michigan, and three of them were British subjects, one of them a 76-year-old woman."

The rescue took place 11 miles north of Chicago and 26 miles off shore. It was late one stormy afternoon. Captain Eagan and several companions were coming across the lake in a small sailing boat when the storm hit. They sighted a schooner-yacht in distress and headed for it.

"We sailed around her," he explained, "but we couldn't get close because a 30-mile wind was blowing and the seas were high. I swam over to the boat and took a line. They didn't have a life preserver on the boat. They were all wild except the 76-year-old woman. She was the gamest one in the bunch. One at a time I got 'em to our boat."

Received $500 Reward.

Later the woman gave the captain a check for $500 and the boat from which they were rescued.

Last November Captain Eagan started out from Lake Michigan for the Texas gulf coast. His crew was a bunch of young landlubbers. But before they got away from the northern winter they ran into some rough weather. The boat froze over and the hatches were sealed with ice. Two of the young would-be sailors became prisoners. Finally chopped out, they quit.

When the skipper and remaining members of the crew had moved on down the Mississippi, the rest of the crew decided they had had enough too. So Captain Eagan called off the gulf venture and tied in here.

Lifer Used Yarn in Jail Break, Official Reveals

DENVER, COLO.—Federal prisoners are not allowed to wear woolen socks because they might escape from the penitentiary.

The startling statement was made here by A. V. Anderson, district supervisor of the United States alcohol tax unit in Denver and former warden of the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan.

Speaking on crime and criminals, Anderson told a group of business men that a strand of wool from a woolen sock was used to saw through a one-inch iron bar, and since that time woolen socks have been banned in federal prisons.

"Ralph Evans, a life-terminer, used the woolen fiber in sawing through the bar in the amazing time of seven hours," Anderson said.

"I didn't believe it when Evans told me, so he did it again while I looked on and satisfied myself it could actually be done."

Postcard Reaches There, But It's 26 Years Late

SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.—Though he waited a long time, Fred Hatcher of the Ohio Odd Fellows home finally has received a postcard mailed to him from Cleveland more than 26 years ago.

The postcard, with its penciled script still legible and hardly a crack on its face, was written by a Mr. Peck, June 1, 1913, from Wiloughby, Ohio, and bore a Cleveland postmark of the same date at 11 p. m.

The card was addressed to Hatcher at his former home in Rushsylvania, Ohio, but did not arrive there until March 29, 1939. Hatcher received the postcard from Mrs. Mable Sloan, along with a note commenting:

"It has taken it some time to get here, has it not?"

THE NORTHERN INDIANA CO-OP. NEWS

Published Every Wednesday by Northern Indiana Co-Operative Association.

JESSIE RUSH, Editor and Mgr.

American industry's position on peace and war was defined Tuesday in the following statement of the National Association of Manufacturers issued by its President, Howard Cooley:

American industry hates war.

War destroys lives. War wrecks homes. Economic chaos and years of crushing depression are its inevitable aftermath. It imperils representative democracy. Free institutions are among its early victims. Ultimately no one can escape the ruin of war.

American industry wants peace. Peace is the life blood of progress. Peace must be the national objective.

Industry's position on this matter has been stated repeatedly and there must be no misunderstanding about it.

The United States can stay out of war.

Emotionalism can betray us into war.

A public will to peace, coupled with wise public policies and affirmative action to this end by our government will keep us out of war. A fatalistic attitude that war is inevitable for us is absurd. It presupposes that America cannot conduct itself intelligently to preserve peace and its own interests.

Europe's problems do not affect us, but our domestic problems still must come first.

If yesterday industry was the only source of prosperity and reemployment, today it is as well the keystone of preparedness and peace. Under any conditions, America must depend on a smoothly functioning, efficient industrial system.

Manufacturers will not relax their efforts to achieve and maintain sound improvement in our domestic economy.

Industry opposes profiteering—the utilization of war psychology to boost prices for the purpose of making excessive profits.

As manufacturers we recognize it to be our responsibility and moral obligation to conduct our businesses so that the prices of the products we produce and sell are related equitably to production costs.

We pledge our energetic support to this policy.

The N. A. M. calls upon all its members to exercise vigilance against any price or profit policies not justified by actual cost and anticipated cost of replacement.

Months ago this Association said: "No sensible person believes that profit can come out of the wreckage of human life and economic dislocation."

The use of this crisis as an excuse either to extort unjustifiable profits or to pursue partisan political objectives is not only indefensible and dangerous, but reprehensible morally. Nor should pleas of "emergency" be utilized as an excuse for reaching objectives which the American people would not otherwise sanction.

The present situation calls for agreement on common objectives, but the democratic process of consultation and criticism must never be abandoned. Otherwise, we shall be following in the footsteps of those who believe in government by coercion.

In a world distraught by force the best way to preserve representative democracy is to practice it.

We Won't Tell Either

"Daisies won't tell", and neither will we. Plucking petals proves nothing and neither does talk.

With flowery words we could tell you all about the top-cylinder oil in Tydol—about Tydol's mileage and performance. We could give you a point for every petal on a daisy. We could tell you—but we won't! We'd rather let you try Tydol and let Tydol talk for itself.

So, stop at your dealer's today—test a tankful of Tydol—let performance and not words tell you the facts.
