Seed may be harvested from this year's red clover without injury to the stand or to next year's crop. Injury comes from late harvesting of seed in late September or early October, causing a removable of valuable mulch material and a reduction of root reserves, according to Purdue University agronomists.

MANY TROPHIES AT DAIRY SHOW

An outstanding array of 44 impressive trophies in addition to a potential purse of $61,000 will be the magnet for the world's best animals in the seven dairy breeds in the first International Dairy Exposition at the Indiana State Fairgrounds, Indianapolis, October 8 through 15, it was announced Friday by Oscar A. Swank, executive general manager of the show.

The premium list is the greatest ever offered in a dairy cattle show. And the value of the 44 trophies to be won is in excess of $2,000.

Advance ticket sale started a few weeks ago and Mr. Swank reported that more than half of the allotted 175,000 are reported taken.

The show's general manager said special ribbons and rosettes also will be awarded in the 29 basic classes, while cash awards will range from a minimum of $5,000 to a maximum of $9,000 for each of the various breed shows—Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Jersey, Guernsey, Holstein, Milking Shorthorn and Red Poll.

It was announced that six trophies will be awarded in each of the seven breeds. Besides these there will be two trophies for the winning judging team in the invitational dairy cattle contest among the 4-H Club and Future Farmer of America groups.

INCREASE IN WHEAT YIELDS

The Southwestern Wheat Growers Association "teamed-up" with wheat specialists at Purdue University this past season to increase wheat yields from five to seven bushels per acre. As a result, practices followed by contestants in the ten-acre contest sponsored by the organization are serving as guides for wheat production this coming season, Howard Lathrope, Purdue wheat specialist said.

Vigo, a soft red winter wheat variety adapted to southwestern Indiana, was grown by each of the eight county winners. Varieties recommended for central areas include Vigo and Fairfield. Northern wheat growers are advised to use Vigo, Fairfield, or Thorne.

Lathrope cites the fertilizer practices used in the southwestern area which produced 57.5 bushels per acre in the ten-acre contest for Harold Pirtle, Sullivan. The best stands of wheat resulted when 20 to 40 pounds of nitrogen and 60 pounds each of phosphorus and potash per acre were applied. Early spring applications of nitrogen also helped, according to reports of wheat growers. Some farmers said that returns amounted to $2 for every $1 spent for fertilizer.

Fly free dates recommended for specific areas of the state also were carefully followed by the contestants.

From an original area of about 20 million acres of forests in Indiana, today only about 3.5 million acres remain. Purdue University extension foresters report that most of this area is in farm woodlots averaging 12 to 15 acres in size. However, this crop is of economic importance as it still occupies 15 to 20 per cent of the land area of the state.

Leak Detector

An electronic instrument which looks like a pistol, and which rather than puncture a "target" detects possible leaks in it, has just been developed. Instead of firing projectiles, the new "gun" when directed at its target sucks in a stream of air. Sensitive to certain types of gas and vapor, such as freon, the instrument is used for locating extremely small leaks in pressure systems. It will detect freon leakage, for example, at as low a rate as one hundredth of an ounce a year.

Getting the laying house ready is more than giving it a cleaning out—it's time for one good scrubbing. Scrub, disinfect and apply anthracine oil to the perches. The oil should be painted on perches several days before the birds are moved in, Purdue University poultrymen advise. Besides the cleaning, new muslin should be put over windows where needed, and any broken panes replaced.

BARRING AN EARTHQUAKE, YOUR WALL PICTURES WON'T HAVE THAT ANNOYING TENDANCY TO HANG CROOKED IF YOU GLUE SMALL PIECES OF SANDPAPER OR EMERY CLOTH ON THE BACK AND AT THE LOWER CORNERS OF THE PICTURE AS SHOWN IN THE CIRCLE. THIS IS A MUCH BETTER REMEDY THAN RUBBER, THE SURFACE OF WHICH HARDENS TOO SOON.

IF YOUR PEN COMES LOOSE FROM ITS CAP, SPOTTING YOUR VEST POCKET WITH INK, TRY FILING THE END OF THE PEN (NOT THE PEN POINT OF COURSE) TO ALLOW THE THREADS TO GET A FIRMER GRIP WHEN YOU SCREW ON THE CAP. SUCH TROUBLE USUALLY IS CAUSED BY WORN THREADS.

MENTONE SCHOOLS OPEN WITH INCREASED ENROLLMENT

Mentone schools have increased in attendance by four students this year despite the fact that our first grade is not so large. We have a total of 414 enrollees this year as compared to 410 last year, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Roland Ferwerda, principal. Our increase in attendance has occurred in the upper six grades where our total is 191 as compared to 181 a year ago. Our total grade school enrollment this year is 223 compared to 229, a loss of six this year. The sixth grade is the largest in school, numbering 41, and will increase the numbers in the upper six grades even more in another year.

The influx of 25 boys in the seventh grade along with 13 girls forced us to add a few seats in the assembly. We can foresee more crowded conditions in the high school assembly and classes another year. Some of our high school class rooms are somewhat crowded and the size of our classes makes us maneuver our program to quite an extent.

Enrollment this year by grades is as follows:

- First—36.
- Second—36.
- Third—38.
- Fourth—37.
- Fifth—35.
- Sixth—41.
- Seventh—38.
- Eighth—36.
- Ninth—32.
- Tenth—30.
- Eleventh—29.
- Twelfth—22.

Our chief concern at present is that we can keep an average attendance of 112½ students in the upper four grades of school. We have 117 students enrolled in those grades and to have no more than four absentees among those 117 on the average day is asking for quite a lot. However, if we can reach that goal for the first 40 school days we avoid the loss of one teacher unit from the state tuition support. If we do not lose this one unit, we stand to save Harrison township nearly $3,000.00. The total enrollment in the lower eight grades is 297, where the best we can hope to do is to make eight teacher units.

MENTONE
MURMURS

by
DAVID and SALLEY GOSSER

"SCHOOL DAYS, School Days, dear old golden rule days—"may or may not be the words our "young-uns" are singing this week; but it is peace and quiet in many homes for the hours our children are in school. The well-ordered lines of the Library-bound children give us confidence in our teaching staff, for discipline is an essential character-building trait which we as parents may be too prone to neglect for the sake of our personal feelings toward our own children. Character emerges in opposition to ease, comfort, and pampering parents, and the Bible is filled with illustrations of individuals and nations which have fallen or arisen according to the discipline applied to them. Returning to the subject of the Library classes, it was the sight of the fourth grade class passing from the Library last fall which impressed Murmurs with the Mentone School and Library system. We have something which many large cities are without.

Monday holidays are frequently confusing, but the spirit with which Mentone ushers in a holiday is typically American. Flags at the lamp posts welcomed citizens and strangers alike. Murmurs has heard that this extra work really impresses passers-by and leaves the feeling of "I'd like to live in that town;" so a word of praise to those who initiated the idea of the flag and to those whose task it is to display them on suitable occasions. Too many of us have adopted the attitude that everything takes too much effort, and unless we can see some tangible result we often neglect customs and programs which would live to make our community and nation better, because it promotes neighborly and friendly attitudes.

Murmurs mutters, "A good and friendly community." Usually the place to look for discord is in the attitude of all social offenders. In the University of Life the grading is based more on the attitude than on the "know-how."

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Regardless of where or when you fish, most always there are "favorite" lures that are recommended as being the best for a particular stream or lake.

It was with this in mind that recently I made a study of a report on the lures that caught the most fish in an experimental lake of the Illinois Natural History Survey, a research organization that devotes some time to wildlife problems. The tabulations on lures covered five years in this experimental water and, possibly, reflects a trend in the productivity of artificials and live baits.

From a bait casting standpoint, the underwater types of plugs and spoons proved the best fish takers, with a battling average of 42 fish per man-hour of fishing. Surface lures, on the same basis, took .36 fish. These tests were made only on bass.

It was interesting to note, also, that the ratio of under size bass taken to legal fish was one legal to .23 under size for the underwater lures and one legal to .69 for the surface variety of artificials used in bait casting.

What live baits proved most effective? The minnow was the most widely used, but it had to play second fiddle in the average catch to the worm and crayfish. Anglers using worms managed to outwit 1.21 fish per man-hour of fishing; crayfish users took .81 fish per hour and minnow dunkers averaged only .25 per hour. Grasshoppers were last in the parade with .10 average per hour.

The tabulations above show that live bait still will outfish artificials in some waters. Whether this is true in all waters is debatable. Certainly when fish are taking artificial lures it frequently is easier to catch a larger number than on live bait. By the same token, live bait often produces the largest fish.

Anyway, if you want the "batting average" in your favor, the underwater types of artificial apparently are the most productive. And for bait fishing, it is the worm hands down in catching fish.

BEST WHEAT PLANTING DATES

Sowing wheat after the fly-free date is the most important preventative measure in the control of the Hessian fly, No. 1 insect enemy of wheat, according to J. J. Davis, head of the Purdue University entomology Department. Good soil fertility, good seed and a good seed bed are other vital control factors.

The Hessian fly is on the increase in Indiana, he warns, and the infestation can easily become serious this fall or next spring if preventive steps are not taken by wheat growers. The infestation of straw has risen from five per cent last year to 10 to 15 per cent this year.

The best date to sow wheat to avoid the fly and produce the highest yields, known as the fly-free date, varies between Sept. 22 for the extreme northern counties and Oct. 8 for the southern counties. Since the universal adoption of the fly-free dates about 1930, the fly has caused relatively little loss.

Other insect pests which attack wheat include the jointworm, armyworm, strawworm and aphid. The jointworm showed a threatening increase and caused considerable damage in 1948, and in some counties an average of 74 per cent of the straws were affected.

In the old days, low cutting was recommended to control the jointworm, but the modern combine does not cut low enough to get many of the hardened galls which the insect produces just above the lower nodes of the wheat stem.

The Purdue specialist recommends cutting the straw low after combining for the straw itself. If it goes through the thrasher, the insects are killed, or even if simply used as bedding, most of the insects are killed by trampling. Planting the new wheat as far away from the old field as possible is another recommended method of control since the adult jointworm is a heavy bodied wasp and does not migrate far.

Sandals Come Back

Sandals—especially gold sandals—are making fashion history. There is no end to the variety now obtainable in a style whose basic lines were established when Helen of Troy was in the ship-launching business. The sandal gold rush goes with mauve, pink or white linen and accompanies gold metal buttons, gold piping, gold leather belts or gilt fastenings on belts. The sandal started life a few thousand years ago as nothing more than a leather sole to cradle the foot with a set of thongs to keep the shoe secure. Most sandals today are basically the same.

SELECT BEST BROILER FEEDS

Hoosier poultrymen are realizing that one of the best jobs of poultry raising is being done by broiler producers. It takes highly efficient rations to finish a broiler for market in approximately 12 weeks - the time considered by good poultrymen to raise profitable broilers.

Prof. Roy E. Roberts, of the department of poultry husbandry at Purdue University, says that a ration must contain the right combination of feed nutrients in correct amounts for a definite feeding purpose. For instance, too much of a mineral may be as harmful as too little. Although faster gains can be made when some ingredients are used such as corn gluten, irradiated animal sterol or fermentation products not generally available to farmers, Prof. Roberts gives rations, which do however, produce satisfactorily rapid gains. These rations are being mixed by a number of elevators and cooperative associations at a reasonable cost.

The poultryman cautions that additions or substitutions in either the kind or amount of ingredients may lead to disappointing results. The rations are all mash, and no grains are fed with them. The first one known as Purdue University broiler ration No. 107 is as follows: ground yellow corn, 635 pounds; soybean oil meal, 200 pounds; meat and bone scrap, 50 lbs.; dried skim or buttermilk, 50 pounds; alfalfa meal, 30 pounds, steamed bone meal, 10 pounds; ground limestone, 10 pounds; salt mixture, five pounds; and cod liver oil, ten pounds. This ration is fed for the first eight weeks.

Ration No. 307 is fed after six or eight weeks. The ration includes: ground yellow corn, 740 pounds; soybean oil meal, 150 pounds; meat and bone scrap, 30 pounds; dried whey, 20 pounds; alfalfa leaf meal, 30 pounds; steamed bone meal, five pounds; ground limestone, 10 pounds; salt mixture, five pounds; and cod liver oil, 10 pounds.

As dairy cattle can use large quantities of high quality roughages, much can be done in feeding the dairy herd to reduce grain and concentrate requirements. The feeding program for each cow can be determined by the method described in the new bulletin, "Plan the Dairy Program Around Quality Roughages." Copies of the bulletin are available free from the county agent offices or from the university.

What Kind of a Family
Pattern Are You Building?

Once the family was the center of attention. It's security was the security of all, but today people are terribly conscious of the tendency toward individualism. If as a parent, you have tired of responsibility perhaps you may try and shift that responsibility to the schools or social agencies. If one of your children feels curbed by the financial or social limitations, he may strike out on his own, to prove his ability, failing to realize that in reality he is still using his family as a stepping stone in many ways.

The reason for this trend may be found, of course, in modern economic life, the focus of which is the city. For in the gay, yet many times drab, busy, exciting, intense life of the city, people are so many other people to know, enjoy and emulate.

About sixty per cent of the people in America live in cities. The larger the city, the more disconcerting life is, but the same general spirit to a degree carries over into the smaller towns and more and more into the rural areas which have long been a stable base for our society.

The reason for this spreading of city influence is not hard to find. The rural sections of the country are sending many individuals into the city to earn their living. Easy transportation and communication mediums bring the city nearer to the country than ever before. Thus, the individualistic trend in family life is gradually modifying the paternalistic family pattern characteristic of recent generations. Perhaps this interaction, recognized by rural sociologists may produce, as they suggest, a newer family pattern which will combine some of the better elements of the individualistic city ways and the older group solidarity. At least this is the usual way society meets seemingly unfortunate developments.

The rural groups have been inclined to feel that the city of itself breeds family maladjustments, and to an extent this has undoubtedly been true. Close human contacts always require more self control and consideration of others, but it is also true, that the numerous studies of city life by social agencies and institutions have publicized the problems of the city while those of the rural districts have been more or less unnoticed.

As social workers look about they see that the cities have already better health records of many kinds than rural areas. More effort is being made by cities to care for special problems. It is easy for them to do so because there are more cases of a kind in a limited area.

Yet rural families have lots of problems, too, and their young people, who are going to the cities and towns in such numbers, probably are creating some of the so-called difficulties. It has even been suggested that the marked change in life that these young people face is really the cause for many maladjustments tallied in the cities.

In any case there can be no question of the importance of the growing interdependence of town and country. We cannot logically maintain any longer a feeling of separation. Our families whether rural or urban are still bound together by the seven bonds outlined by William Fielding Ogburn though patently in changing degrees.

These bonds, economic, educational, recreational, religious, protectional, affectional and social status giving must be maintained in some way if the family units are to do their part in society.

Your chairman has in preparation an outline which she hopes will give you some help in thinking along these lines. Would you be interested in having it?

REPORT LESS
BRUCCELLOSIS

Much more is known about the percentage of infection with brucellosis (Bang's disease) in cattle than about the prevalence of the disease among hogs and goats. This is because of 15 years experience in blood testing cattle under the State-Federal brucellosis eradication project, in which the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, is cooperating.

Purdue University also cooperates with the effort through maintenance of the Bang's Disease testing service laboratory for the state of Indiana. Dr. C. R. Donham, head of the department of veterinary science says. The University has also carried on an active educational program during the past year through the Agricultural Extension Service.

In 1934, when combined efforts were begun to eradicate the disease, it was estimated that about 12 per cent of the cattle of the country were infected. From records based on blood samples taken widely under the State-Federal program in recent years, it is believed that approximately five per cent of adult female cattle are now affected. Probably 60 per cent of our cattle herds do not have it.

Recognized shortcomings of the blood serum test for diagnosing the disease in individual swine hinders attempts to get anything like the same kind of data as that available for cattle. Preliminary surveys in the Midwest indicate that brucellosis infection is much lower than the 12 per cent found originally in cattle. An over-all estimate of 2 to 3 per cent infection in swine is believed to be fairly reasonable.

Uses of Papain

U. S. imports papain in relatively large quantities. Such imports amounted to 334,000 pounds in 1947. The greater part came from British East Africa, but Ceylon also contributed a significant share. Papain is utilized commercially in medicinal preparations for digestive ailments and in "tenderizers" for tough meats.

Skagit River

Skagit river has played an important role in development of Mount Vernon, Wash. Fur traders came up it to establish a post in 1870. Gold seekers came up it looking for pay dirt. Later it brought in the farmers, loggers and other substantial settlers of early days.

PASTURE POISONING

Owners should be particularly watchful at this time of the year for signs of prussic acid poisoning in cattle, the American Veterinary Medical Association advises.

Wilting, drouth, or frost causes the formation, in certain kinds of plants, of large amounts of urssic acid—which contain deadly cyanide—and cattle that feed on these plants become sick and usually die if not treated immediately.

Sudan grass, chokecherry, wild cherry, flax, cane, velvet grass, arrow grass, and Johnson grass are specifically mentioned by the AVMA as common sources of cattle poisoning. Owners are advised to suspect prussic acid poisoning when animals having access to such plants froth at the mouth, breathe hard, and stagger.

Affected animals should be placed under the care of a veterinarian without delay, the association says, and the rest of the herd should be moved off the pasture suspected of causing the trouble.

BOOKLET ON FREE SCHOOL FORESTRY PUBLICATIONS

A new 16-page booklet listing forestry materials available without charge for classroom use is now being distributed to schools in 48 states.

The bibliography, "Forests, Their Use and Conservation," eventually will be sent to more than 100,000 school and college officials by American Forest Products Industries, a non-profit educational organization.

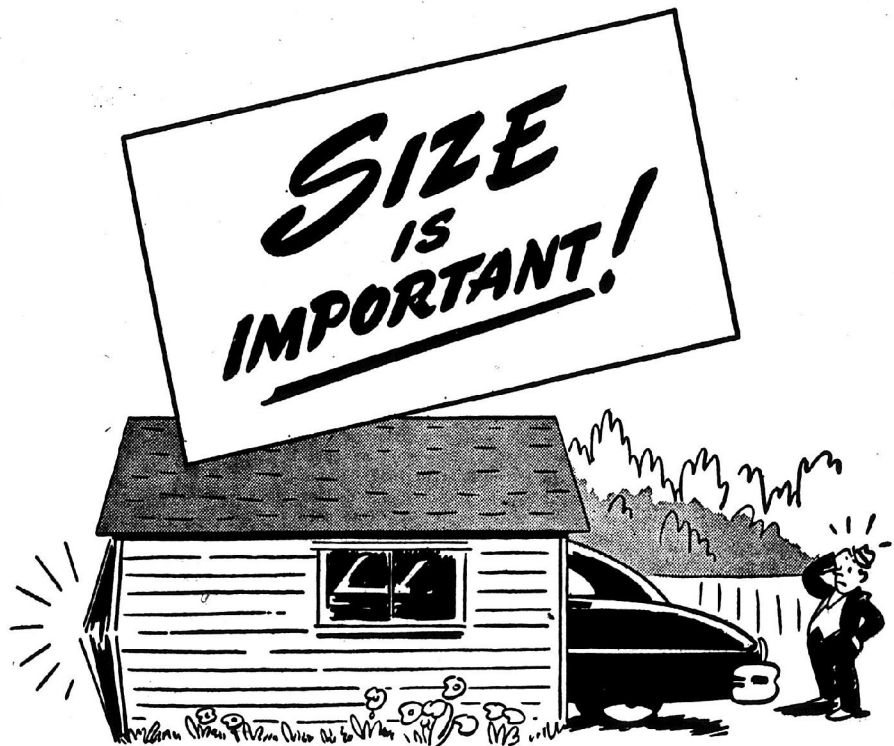

Material listed in the annual publication deals with the importance of trees, the Nation's only natural renewable resource. Booklets, wall displays, and a motion pictures, "Trees for Tomorrow," described in the bibliography, present facts intended to create a better understanding of forestry problems.

This year's release contains a special section announcing, by states, where "Trees for Tomorrow" can be ordered. Also featured is a review on "The Story of Forests," a 24-page picture booklet designed for school children in the fourth through eighth grades.

Copies of the bibliography may be obtained free of charge from the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., 1319 18th St., N. W., Washington 6, D. C.

Women Take to Sewing

Before the war approximately 45 million patterns were sold as compared to 168 million in 1947. Home sewers bought 50 million dollars worth of patterns in 1947. One pattern company reported net sales last year of $9,819,737, and said that its sewing book has been purchased by 250,000 home sewers and printed in three languages. Sale of yard goods in 1947 represented an increase of 300 per cent over 1940 and the sewing women and girls spent eight million dollars in sewing classes and clinics.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

With the fishing season tapering off into the fall and the hunting season about ready to pop around the next corner, I have a suggestion to pass along. Get out the old shotgun, throw a box of No. 6's into your hunting coat and go crow shooting. It's a swell sport.

Henry Bradshaw, nationally-known

POULTRY WANTED

Call

BILL'S POULTRY
129 — Mentone

John Irwin, Manager
3 on 40, Burket

author and sportman, once remarked that crow shooting was the nearest thing to waterfowl gunning he had ever experienced. And who's going to kick about a sport resembling duck shooting.

Several times each summer I put the fishing gear away and go after crows. I've found it to be a sport almost second to none in good gunning. Crows are smart; outwitting them requires patience and a little know-how on the part of the hunter. And after you've had a successful day of shooting, with anywhere from one to a dozen or more black marauders on the ground, you can pat yourself on the back for a job well done.

Some hunters build blinds, use decoys and make a setup that is similar to duck shooting. I've found it easier to drive along a country road, stopping here and there when a crow is spotted for some shooting. But a crow call is almost a must, unless you are just plain lucky in getting them into shooting range.

Then if you happen to find a place where the crows are roosting, you are in for some fast and fancy shooting. You can keep your old scattergun hot for a few minutes before the crows decide it would be healthier to find another resting place for the night.

And don't overlook the important conservation angle in shooting crows. The bird annually is blamed for the loss of millions of game birds and animals through attacks on nests.

So there you have it—fine sport and a definite aid to conservation. This dual purpose is hard to beat.

FRIENDSHIP GARDENS

FORWARDED VARIOUS OTHER

Among the services offered at the International Friendship gardens Michigan City, is, of all things, a wheel chair.
Maybe that doesn't sound important, but it is.
A good many families have shut-ins, or friends or relatives who are shut-ins.

Anyone in good health can hike through the gardens whenever they like, but a shut-in often sees his only scenery through a house window. To be out among flowers in the warm sunshine is a rare treat.

The service of the wheel chair started after patrons, all too frequently, drove up to the gardens gate with an invalid in the car.

"The family told me," explains Virgil Stauffer, gardens director, "that they had grandma out for a ride, and thought they'd visit the garden."

"I thought how nice it would be if grandma could get out of the car and see the gardens. It happened a few times, and then I got a wheel chair."

Now when visitors pull up with an incapacitated person, Stauffer says, "Maybe your friend in the car would like to see the flowers too."

"Oh, but she can't get around very well."

"Just a minute. I'll phone to the house for the wheel chair to be brought down."

So grandma is the most thrilled of all when she is pushed along the aisles, seeing, hearing and smelling the wonders

SOFT SHELLS EXPENSIVE

Weak or thin shells in eggs are a definite concern to poultrymen. Thin shelled eggs not only break in the nests getting other eggs dirty, but often start the hens in the habit of egg eating. In addition, many thin shelled eggs never reach the consumer's table because of breaking in the marketing channels and these eggs represent a dead loss to the industry according to Alexander Gordeuk, extension poultryman at Purdue University.

Gordeuk points out that the lack of calcium in the diet is one of the best known causes of thin shells. The feeding of crushed oyster shells or limestone grit to layers has become a common practice. The use of calcium by the hen is associated with the use of small amounts of other minerals and vitamin D. It is therefore easily seen why proper feeding is important in order to have strong shells.

Diseases such as bronchitis or Newcastle tend to cause hens to lay eggs with very poor shells. Most of the flock usually returns to production of normal shelled eggs but frequently a number of the birds continue laying mis-shapen eggs with very thin shells.

Hot weather causes hens to lay eggs with thinner shells than normal. Shells also tend to become thin with the progress of the laying year. Most often these two periods occur at the same time. Farmers tend to notice thin shells as the summer progresses even in their normal flocks, the Purdue poultryman says.

The affect of breeding is too frequently overlooked by poultrymen in their search for reasons why their flock may be laying poor shelled eggs. It is definitely known that poor shell quality is inherited to some extent. This means that it is passed on by the parents to the chicks. The only way to correct the problem of poor shells due to breeding is to select breeders with good shell quality. Most breeders now pay as much attention to the inheritance of good shell qualities as they do to other economic factors such as egg production.

MORE MILK ON 3X MILKING

"Can I afford to feed and milk my herd three times each day?" Dairywomen frequently ask this question of G. A. Williams, Purdue University extension dairyman.

The Bureau of Dairy Industry reports that an increase of 10 to 20 per cent in production can be expected by milking and feeding a cow three times a day instead of twice. Cows milked more than twice daily are more persistent in production as the end of the lactation approaches. For each extra pound of milk produced, it is necessary to feed from 0.4 to 0.6 pound of grain more in order to maintain the higher level of production.

Other practices of herd management and the influences they exert on production are also reported. Keeping a cow in a box stall rather than confining her in a stanchion raises production about five per cent. Length of lactation exerts a greater influence, the amount varying between 12 and 15 per cent when a cow is milked 12 rather than ten months. However, since most dairymen wish to have many of their best calves in the fall, this means of increasing production is not desirable on many farms.

Better feeds and more liberal rations may be expected to raise production during the year 15 per cent or more. It is evident that better management in many herds makes it possible to reduce the size of the herd as much as 25 to 50 per cent without any decrease in yearly production. This will save labor and increase the herd income.

The development of ownership of farm land in 13 midwestern states is traced in the new regional bulletin "Farm Ownership in the Midwest." The bulletin discusses who owns the farms, how they were acquired and the form in which they are now held. A limited number of copies are available free from the Purdue University or from the county agricultural agent.

Four-H members who have command of the German language have been asked to correspond with farm boys and girls of Germany. Maxudo Kaspask, secretary of the "County Youth," has written to the state 4-H office at Purdue University that the German youth are interested in our 4-H clubs and would like to exchange opinions. The address of Mr. Kaspask is available from the state club office.

(In talking with a man recently who lives in Duluth, he mentioned that the bears are found right in the city these days. I'd surely hate to attempt to outrun one of the brutes up some of those streets that go almost straight up the mountains.)

START THE DAY RIGHT

Surveys over the nation show that too many people are missing from one-fourth to one-third of their day's food quota by omitting breakfast. Studies in three typical Indiana counties reveal that 87 per cent of all of these children went to school without breakfast and only 13 per cent had a good breakfast.

"Just what is a good breakfast?", homemakers are asking Miss Lols Oberhelman, extension food and nutrition specialist, Purdue University. To answer their question, she gives the five-point breakfast pattern prepared by the National Nutrition Council which is composed of doctors, nurses and dietitians. Their pattern for a good breakfast is: fruit or fruit juice, cereal (preferably a whole grain), egg, meat or other protein, bread and beverage.

Miss Oberhelman reports that health authorities say that boys and girls who have a good breakfast miss fewer days of school because of colds, flu, and other infections. They have more pep and energy and are less tired. They are less finicky about foods served at other meals.

Health studies show that children who go to school with a good breakfast make better grades than when they ate little or no breakfast. After a good breakfast, boys and girls appear more alert and interested in their school work. Memory work is easier for them. They do better work in arithmetic, and are speedier and more accurate in athletics.

Surveys during the war showed that the efficiency of factory workers was lower in mid-morning when they had little or no breakfast. Those who ate a good breakfast did not experience the mid-morning "let-down" and their efficiency remained high until just before lunch time.

A person who eats a good breakfast does not experience that mid-morning let-down feeling because the foods contain protein or fat. Such foods as eggs or bacon "sticks to the ribs." A breakfast which consists of starchy foods, as sweet rolls or toast, digests quickly and leaves the stomach empty, giving a feeling of weakness, headache or hunger.

DAIRY LEADER AT FIELD DAY

The Kosciusko County Dairy Association's customers and friends will have the opportunity of hearing Stanley J. Bromwell, outstanding Professor of Animal Husbandry at Cornell University and leader of extension work in that field, at the Annual Field Day of the Indiana Artificial Breeding Association to be held on Monday, September 19th at the stud on Route 2 in Carmel.

Professor Bromwell is internationally known for his leadership in breeding extension work. Among his most important works has been the development of the artificial breeding program, the possibilities of which he demonstrated to dairy farmers from all parts of the world. He presented to dairy farmers the principles of scientific cattle breeding and establishing a guide to superior inheritance, and the development of training schools for managers and technicians in artificial breeding. In 1946 he represented the United States in the occupied zone in Germany, as Chief of Livestock and Meats for the Office of the Military Government.

The Indiana Artificial Breeding Association welcomes all the customers and friends of the Kosciusko County Dairy Association to hear Bromwell's talk on September 19th, on "Making Best Use Of These Great Proved Sires." They promise an interesting and enjoyable program for all the members and friends of the 61 associations and private breeding services using semen produced by the Association.

The day's events will start at 10:00 A. M.

CONFERENCE ON GI BILL

Representatives from forty states will gather in Indianapolis next week for a three-day conference to discuss various problems concerning veterans training under Public Law 346 or the "GI BILL" as it is commonly known.

The occasion will be the second annual National Convention of the National Association of State Approval Agencies which will be held from September 19 to 21 at the Claypool Hotel.

The Indiana Department of Veterans' Affairs, the official approval agency for all veterans' education and training, including "on-the-job" and apprentice training in this state, will be host to the nation-wide conference. Clinton Green is Director of the Indiana Department and Russell F. Robinson is Educational Director.

Governor Henry F. Schricker will address the conclave on the opening day and representatives from the training Section of the Veterans' Administration will take part in the three-day program.

Topic of discussion will be the various rules and regulations under which 2,000,000 veterans in the nation are currently taking various forms of training or education under the GI BILL. Over 50,000 of this number are enrolled in various training courses in Indiana.

Topping the discussion list will be changes brought about by the passage of Public Law 266 last month. Parts of the law have required new interpretations and procedures for the approval agencies and some major changes in training rules will have to be made.

The State Approval Agencies work with colleges and universities in perfecting and maintaining their veteran training program and directly inspect and supervise the thousands of trade school and on-job-training establishments in the nation.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

The largest incidence of poliomyelitis in Indiana this year is occurring in the one-to-five age group, according to Dr. George M. Brother, director, Bureau of Preventive Medicine, Indiana State Board of Health.

A total of 207 cases and eight deaths have occurred among children from one to five years of age; and in persons from 21 to 30 years of age, seventeen deaths existed among the 98 cases.

An usually high incidence has occurred in persons 31 years and over with thirty-nine cases and seven deaths in this age group. Of the children under one year of age having poliomyelitis, one death has occurred. Twelve deaths were recorded among the 159 cases of children from six to ten years of age.

A high death rate of eleven is recorded among the 85 cases reported among children eleven to fifteen years of age with 14 deaths occurring among the 56 cases in the 16-20 age group.

Six more deaths have been recorded among males than females with thirty-eight deaths reported among the males. More than 346 males have been affected and 323 females.

BLUE COMB IN CHICKENS

When chickens become droopy and develop a bluish tinge in the comb and wattles, the trouble is likely to be pullet disease, also called "blue comb." Other symptoms to look for are diarrhea, shriveled skin on the legs, and greatly reduced feed and water consumption. The death rate is not high, but losses in egg production are usually heavy.

Outbreaks are common in pullets just taken off the range and housed although the disease also may strike flocks on range, and a few cockerals sometimes get sick along with the pullets. Young birds are not immune, but those approaching maturity are the preferred victims.

Because it can easily be confused with other acute and more deadly infections, such as fowl cholera and fowl typhoid, suspected outbreaks should be confirmed by laboratory diagnosis.

The cause of this disease is not known and medical treatment is not uniformly dependable, according to veterinarians. Mineral salts given in

RESEED POOR PASTURES NOW

Old permanent pastures that have become thin or weedy can use a "face lifting" in September. Bringing a pasture back to a lush, vigorous condition will necessitate plowing, disking, or field cultivating of sods. There will need to be some liming, fertilizing and reseeded to have more productive legumes and grasses. Renovating the pasture will double the carrying capacity and improve the quality of the herbage.

Purdue University extension agronomists advise as the first step testing of the soil for acidity and application of limestone as need is indicated. To make a seedbed on an old sod, the disc harrow or field cultivator is satisfactory. Working the soil in one direction and then working it crosswise of the first operation eases the job. A harrow or cultipacker may be necessary for the seed bed preparation.

New grasses to be introduced may be seeded any time in September. Timothy and smooth brome grass, southern type, are excellent grasses to supplement blue grass. How much these grasses increase pasture productivity depends upon the legumes to be used in the mixture and the rate and analysis of fertilizer applied. The grasses may be sown through the grass seed attachment of the grain drill or broadcast and cultipacked after the seed bed is prepared. Seeding should be shallow—not more than one inch deep. A good grass mixture is one pound timothy and three pounds brome. Brome will have to be seeded with a special seeder or mixed with the fertilizer and sown by the drill.

It is now too late to seed the legumes safely but they can be broadcast on the surface in late winter on frozen ground as is practiced in sowing on wheat. A good legume seed mixture to use per acre is two pounds red clover, three pounds broadleaf birds-foot trefoil (Italian seed acceptable) and one-fourth pound Ladino clover. To this mixture five pounds Korean lespedeza may be added in southern counties. It is especially important to inoculate birdsfoot trefoil.

A good application of commercial fertilizer is most important in pasture renovation. An application of 100 pounds of 3-20-10 or 3-20-0 fertilizer per acre is recommended at the time of seeding. The fertilizer helps to insure the success of the seeding as well as good production in the future.

All working of the seed bed on sloping land subject to erosion should be as close to the contour of the land as possible.

More complete information on pasture renovation is available from the county agent or from the agronomy department of Purdue University.

W. S. C. S.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist Church on Thursday evening, September 8th for their regular meeting.

Pearl Lackey, the President, conducted a short business session. Beside the regular business being properly disposed of, the Circles gave progress reports and Rev. Gosser discussed his achievements along the lines of both spiritual and handicraft education.

The program began with devotional thoughts by Broda Clark, who always gives encouragement and inspiration to the society. The entire group joined in singing, "Something for Jesus" and prayed during a period of silent prayer and The Lord's Prayer. Mary Goodwin read the Scripture Lesson, after which Wreatha McFarren gave a brief discussion on the topic, "Our Faith."

Sally Gosser introduced the speaker for the evening, Katherine Croxall.

Miss Croxall, having recently visited in El Paso, Texas where 70-80% of the population is of Mexican descent, gave an interesting account of the work being done in Houchen Settlement. There is much being accomplished in "Friendship Square" as workers there put Christianity to practical use. Much progress has been made since 1912 and programs are under way to better house some of the inhabitants. Already they have established a maternity hospital, nursery schools, a church and various other recreational centers for their children.

She implied that in professing Christian Faith we need to strengthen our beliefs by "living our faith" since many of our convictions come out of our prejudices we should ask ourselves, "What is my real concept of people just a little different"? Maybe there is no difference in color of skin but they are of different faith. She feels it is good for our own faith to expose ourselves to, and try to understand and appreciate the faith of others.

Being a librarian, Miss Croxall recommended several books that would give us a better and broader understanding of others. Among them were Florence Mary Fitch's, "One God" and "Their Search for God."

In her closing remarks she commented, "Christ Dared, He Was Not Afraid. As His followers we must assume a responsibility in spreading Christianity and ever be alerted to it's demands. If Christianity FAILS it is Our Fault."

An informal organ recital by Mr. White was greatly enjoyed. He played a group of numbers, both old and new, of his own selection as well as any number requested.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses: Emma Clutter, Maggie Dille and Mildred Greulich.

Milk for Aged

Middle-age and old people need a pint of milk daily for health and to strength their bones against breakage, recent studies at the Iowa experiment station show. Women in their 50's, 60's and 70's are drinking only a cup of milk a day when they need at least a pint to furnish enough calcium, protein and phosphorus for the proper upkeep of their bodies. The studies also show that older women do not lose their ability to store calcium and other minerals if their diets provide these minerals.

Romance in Rope

Though generally unobserved, rope is indispensable. From the wrapping of the smallest parcel to the loading, packing and safe transport of all our merchandise, the use of some cordage product is essential. During the war, cordage factories found themselves overwhelmed by the urgent demands for rope needed for tents, draglines, trucks, tanks and a host of other uses. Nylon glider rope helped make possible the employment of glider planes as aerial attack craft. Thousands of troops disembarked over the sides of ships on rope nets. Artillerymen blasted Jap troops with rope-lashed howitzers.

EDITOR TO SPEAK AT THE BOURBON YOUTH FOR CHRIST

Ken Anderson, of Muskegon, Michigan, editor of the Youth for Christ magazine and one of the Youth for Christ leaders who in 1948 visited in China, will speak at the Bourbon fairgrounds on Sunday, September 18, at 2:30 p. m.

The young author-editor who has written some 20 books, has spoken in all parts of the United States in the surge of Youth for Christ into every state and 55 foreign countries, has a keen sense of humor and a sincere method of speaking that has endeared him to youth rallies and church groups.

Anderson visited in China with Rev. Robert Pierce of Los Angeles, California. A book on the trip has been written and published.

Anderson has been editor of the Youth for Christ magazine since 1945 and has been a strong influence in extending its efforts through the printed page. His best known book is "Shadows Under the Midnight Sun," telling of the occupation of Norway by German forces.

Mr. Anderson's subject for Sunday afternoon will be "Evangelizing the World in This Generation."

A good musical program is being planned. Old and young are invited. No admission charge. This program will be under the auspices of the Greater Marshall County Youth for Christ.

FATHER and SON

EVEREADY TRAILER TRUCK
Cost: Dad, $3.00 for motor—Son, 75 cents for materials
Materials may be obtained at local hobby shop.

Dear Dad:

This trailer truck is powered with a midget electric motor and employs direct front wheel drive. It is activated by one or more No. 950 Eveready flashlight cells (drawings show two cells hooked up in series) and is easy to build. It is composed of two complete units: the cab or engine unit and the truck section which is pivoted loosely to the cab platform directly above the cab rear wheels. The truck unit may have twin wheels as shown or single wheels can be used at a saving of about ten cents in costs. Wheels used are the cheapest model airplane wheels obtainable and are advertised by most model firms.

Start operations by making up full-size plans of the wooden parts. This is done following the scaled drawings, Figures 1 and 2, which are squared to simplify dimensions. Exact adherence to the given dimensions is not important and in fact the overall size of the truck unit can be reduced if preferred. Top and base or bottom of the truck should be the same size and shape but the base must be cut out to clear the wheels and also to allow small radius turns. These pieces are later joined with a single length of light cardboard which is cemented in place. The backpiece should be simply pinned in place to permit quick removal for servicing the batteries. Before assembling the pieces, put in the switch as shown and then cut out, bend to shape and mount the battery clips. The truck unit can then be completed and laid aside.

The cab unit requires no explanation as far as the chassis goes. The body itself can be carved from solid balsa or built up to suit—the lighter the better. The motor is screwed directly onto the chassis as shown. It will be seen that the front axle, which is a continuation of the motor shaft, requires some sort of extension axle. This can be formed of two short lengths of steel wire or pieces of nail and two short lengths of tubing. These can be soldered together or, in a pinch, joined with cement. Wheel track on the model described is 2 3/4" but may be reduced to 2 1/2" to suit. If you find after hooking up the wiring that your truck runs backwards, don't worry. All you need to do is reverse the batteries in their clip.

Sincerely yours,

Doug Rolfe

STATE MEETING HELD AT MCCLURE LAKE CAMP

(The following news release, from the State Conservation Department, tells of the state-wide meeting held at McClure Lake Saturday and Sunday. The holding of this important meeting at McClure Lake is quite an honor, and was due primarily to the Kosciusko County Council of Conservation Clubs, with C. O. Mollenhour, of Mentone, as president. The famous Akron Jonah Club put on one of their notable fish fries for the visitors.—Ed.)

Members of the Indiana State Conservation Advisory Committee, county conservation organization representatives and active conservationists from the four corners of the state of Indiana were in attendance Saturday and Sunday at the annual meeting of conservationists at McClure lake.

The meeting was held in the Kosciusko Conservation camp club house. The large group assembled ate camp style in the spacious dining room in the basement of the clubhouse. They were given sleeping quarters in the various cabins which make up the camp, which is used widely during the summer season by 4-H groups.

The pretentious clubhouse, together with its colony of battleship gray cottages looking out over Lake McClure was made possible through the efforts of the entire Conservation set-up in Kosciusko county. The structure is owned jointly by the clubs and is the scene of much activity at all times.

Much was accomplished in ironing out certain problems confronting those who are responsible for conserving the natural resources of the state. All present concurred in the widespread conservation program.

The program committee was composed of Otto Grossman, Argos, chairman, representative from the Second district, and also vice-president of the Indiana State Conservation Advisory Committee; Bert Myers, Bloomington, representative from the Eighth district, secretary-treasurer of the Indiana State Conservation Advisory Committee; Chauncey Mollenhour, of the Kosciusko County Conservation Camp, and Hall Farr, director of the bureau of Education, Indiana Department of Conservation.

TRAP SHOOT ADDS $315.25 TO THE POLIO FUND

A. F. Mollenhour reports that the trap shoot held at the Beaver Dam and Loon Lake Conservation Club on Sunday netted $315.25 for the Judy Sullivan polio fund.

Rain prevented shooting in the forenoon, but the gun club netted $218.25. The ladies donated $20 and the bingo netted $77.00.

This is certainly a commendable contribution to the polio fund, and everyone involved should surely have the thanks of every citizen.

The accident happened in a collision between bicycles at the noon hour. These accidents occur often, but generally without serious results, and no one is being held responsible.

Dr. Herendeen set the bone. David was in the Woodlawn hospital Tuesday night and will wear a large cast.

BENEFIT SOFTBALL GAME HERE FRIDAY EVENING

A softball game between the Mentone Merchants and Bryan Chicks, will be played at Veterans' Park on Friday evening, Sept. 23, and the proceeds will go to the polio fund.

An effort is being made to secure an iron lung for display purposes on that evening, but the committee has received no definite assurance yet that this can be accomplished.

However, for the benefit of the polio fund, and the last softball game of the season, everyone is invited to be on hand and make a sizeable contribution.

CHARLES FELDMAN

WRECKS TRUCK

The Charles (Chuck) Feldman truck was badly wrecked early Monday morning just at the west edge of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Feldman had taken a load of stock to Chicago, and on the return trip both went to sleep at the same time, according to Chuck's statement. They awakened to find the truck clipping off a telephone pole, mowing down three mail boxes and then the truck bed sideswiped a tree. When they stopped another tree was just a few inches directly ahead of the truck. Fortunately, neither of the Feldmans were injured.

GIRL DIVES FROM MOVING AUTO

Bert Holloway reports that the three-year-old daughter of a Mrs. Howell, of Claypool, fell out of an auto being driven by a Miss Bridegroom, who taking care of the little girl while her parents made a trip to Churubusco. According to Mr. Holloway, the little lady went out the car door and landed in the gravel side berm where she slid and rolled over forty feet. She was badly bruised and was taken to the office of Dr. Urschel for medical aid.

EGG SHOW PROGRAM PROGRESSING NICELY

Max Neilans, chairman of the program committee for the Mentone Egg Show Oct. 27 and 28, reports that his committee has the program pretty well arranged.

The first evening they have secured the WLS radio artists, Captain Stubby and the Buccaneers. There will be a short educational program, under the guidance of the Purdue Extension department, and Homer Huntington, general manager of the Poultry and Egg National Board, will appear on the program. The egg show queen is to be selected on that evening.

The Friday afternoon program is being arranged for the benefit of the poultrymen. It will be an open forum period when the everyday problems of the poultryman will be discussed—something new and up-to-date that will be of considerable value to the chicken man, whether he has a hundred or a thousand birds. Producers will be invited to bring their own particular problems to this meeting where local poultry officials will be assisted by Dr. H. E. Moses, poultry pathologist, Prof. C. W. Gamble, nationally known instructor, and Max Gordeuk, extension poultryman, all of Purdue University. Everyone interested in the poultry industry should be sure to attend this session.

LEGION TO HONOR CRAIG

The official homecoming for George N. Craig, 40, first national commander of The American Legion whose military service stems exclusively from World War II, has been set for Thursday, November 3 at Brazil, Indiana.

This date has been selected because it comes midway between the annual national conference of American Legion state commanders and adjutants and the fall session of the National Executive Committee in Indianapolis.

The event will bring to Brazil the top leaders of The American Legion from every state in the union and many thousands of rank and file Legionnaires and other distinguished visitors.

Clay County Post 2, with the assistance of the Department of Indiana, will be the host in the hometown and American Legion honors to be paid Brazil's most distinguished citizen. Legionaire John H. Weaver, 40, member of the local post's executive committee and president of the Brazil Chamber of Commerce, has been named general chairman for the homecoming.

Brazil's Biggest Day

Chairman Weaver said the homecoming will be the biggest event in the history of Brazil, Ind.

"We are laying plans to entertain at least 10,000 visitors," he said. "We have already organized 18 committees to handle the various arrangements for the event. Mayor Archie Hamm will proclaim a half holiday. Schools and stores will be closed during the afternoon. The city will be gaily decorated."

Highlights of the day will include a parade starting at 6 p. m. with many American Legion bands, drum and bugle corps and color guards from Indiana and Illinois taking part. This will be followed by a mass meeting at the Brazil high school gymnasium at which Commander Craig will be the principal speaker. The entertainment will include Morton Downey, noted soloist, and the comedian team of Olson and Johnson.

Among distinguished guests to be invited will be the governors of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky, members of Congress and other notables.

Brazil, the seat of Clay County, has a population of 9,000. It is the largest clay products manufacturing center in the world, with eleven plants operating here. Coal mining is the other main industry. It is 16 miles east of Terre Haute, Ind., on U. S. Highway 40.

Penta, an inexpensive but effective treatment for preserving fence posts, sash and door material should be useful particularly in the heavily farmed sections of Indiana where fence posts are scarce. Combined with land clearing operations and removal of soft species such as elms and maples, production of fence posts is possible even in those areas short on fence posts, Purdue University foresters points out in the new leaflet, No. 300, "Preserve Your Posts With Penta."

Copies are available free from the county agent office or the university.

"Individuals, communities, and states must learn again to stand on their own feet. If this country is to be saved from going socialist," Perry Brown, Commander, The American Legion.

HANDLE APPLES WITH CARE

Apple growers can reduce losses caused from bruising of apples during picking and hauling by close supervision of picking operations, Dr. C. E. Baker, orchard specialists at Purdue University, points out, citing a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture investigation of apple bruising at Wenatchee, Wash.

Since Indiana fruit is noted for its faulty handling, Mr. Baker says, Indiana apple growers could profit by using the results of this investigation which can be applied in their own orchards.

In the survey, work of picking crews was evaluated in typical orchards of Delicious, Richared, and Starking varieties. Extreme differences in the number of picking bruises were observed. Where excessive bruising was found, picking supervision was inadequate. Where pickers were given close supervision, injury from bruising was low. Picking bruises were notably low when a packing house checker inspected samples of every load reported promptly on injuries.

The survey indicated that bruises occur all along the packing line but the three danger points were:

1. Dumping, either mechanically or by hand. A tall worker who flipped the fruit on the dumping table belt caused 12 severe bruises per 100 apples as against 2 for a more careful worker. Apples dumped into a water bath showed fewer bruises than those carefully dumped on a canvas belt as it passed over a solid surface.
2. Drops when the apples were moved from one level to another for different operations or when the fruit was carried on endless conveyors. The newer machines with dumping table and washer progressor on the same level caused fewer bruises than old-type machines.
3. Hits on the edges of the distributing roll and metal frames of sizing cups as the result of faulty adjustment and operation. The plant scientists pointed out that it was extremely important to have weight-type graders accurately timed.

Careless operation of mechanical pickers will mean another heavy toll of fatalities and mangled limbs, F. R. Willsey, farm safety specialist at Purdue University, warns. He says that the National Safety Council records show that most corn picker accidents occur when operators attempt to unclog the snapping rolls while they are revolving. Guards and shields for the the power take-off should be kept in place.

Good dairymen and dairy breed associations recognize that large bodied cows make the best use of roughage. The more high quality roughage consumed, the less expensive grain needed by the cow. With each additional three pounds of excellent hay consumed, two pounds less grain are required in the cow's ration, Purdue University dairymen advise.

Citizen "Gripes" Pay Off; Defense Expenditures Slashed

On August 24, 1949, Louis Johnson, Secretary of Defense, gave the first tangible evidence of the saving attainable from the recommendations of the Hoover Commission. At a dramatic meeting of Senators and Representatives in the Pentagon, Mr. Johnson announced a personnel slash of 147,000. This will reduce the military budget by 200 millions in 1950 (which is already two months on the way) and by $500 millions in each subsequent fiscal year.

The Secretary was even more frank than the Eberstadt Task Force in stating that many people in the Defense Establishment "aren't doing a nickel's worth of work" though he was careful not to lay the blame on the people themselves. But he put the issue squarely up to the legislators and the public when he declared that he will not tolerate a "Defense W. P. A."

Mr. Johnson's drastic action came only two weeks after Congress had passed the Military Unification Act. This Act stood high in the priorities set by the Citizens Committee. It gave the Secretary of Defense the urgently-needed authorities recommended by the Hoover Commission. Only the insistent demand of the citizens of the Nation forced its enactment into law.

This slash in the Defense Establishment is the most important reduction of Federal personnel in recent years. By this single action, the cost of the Hoover Commission was returned to the taxpayers well over one-hundred-fold.

IN NINETY YEARS

Before long, "Oil Progress Week" will be observed throughout the country. October 16 to 22. A special effort will be made to acquaint the public with the dramatic story of oil's achievements. And it is a story well worth listening to.

Oil is a young industry—the first well was drilled only 90 years ago. As history goes, that is a very brief passage of time. But during those 90 years we have made incredible material progress. And oil in all its manifold forms and uses was responsible for an amazingly large part of it.

Oil's experience in late years has been especially interesting. Enormous demands were made on it during the war, when it was in the vital weapons that won the final victory. When the war ended, and military demands dropped sharply, it was naturally believed that there would be a breathing spell. It was not to be. A gigantic increase in civilian demand, which no one had anticipated, raised consumption to new highs. There were forecasts of serious shortages. But the oil industry licked this problem, as it has licked so many others, and the demand was met with a minimum of dislocations.

Last year nearly 40,000 new oil wells were completed—the greatest number ever drilled in a single year in the industry's history. At the same time, our known underground oil reserves were expanded through exploration and development. Technological progress is steadily increasing the volume of useable products that can be produced from a barrel of crude.

When we speak of oil progress, we are dealing with an industrial revolution which has touched all our lives.

The Hawk Family

That most hawks are beneficial, feeding mostly on rodents and insects, has been substantiated by examination of thousands of hawk stomachs. There are three main groups of hawks: the Buteos, Falcons and Accipiters. Hawks in the Buteo group (broad wings and fan-like tails) are commonly called chicken hawks or hen hawks, and have suffered most at the hands of gunners who think they destroy poultry and game birds.

Calves Not Anemic

Among all farm animals, the calf is least susceptible to nutritional anemia. It is born with a four-month supply of copper and iron in its liver, and before it exhausts this supply it is supplementing its milk diet with feeds that contain these minerals. The pig, in contrast, is born with only enough iron to last a week or 10 days, and if it does not have access to soil or receive a mineral supplement by the end of that period, nutritional anemia is almost certain to develop.

BULLETIN AIDS SHEEP INDUSTRY

The sheep industry in Indiana will continue to be based on the production of good lamb meat—meat obtained from only those carcasses which grade "good to choice." This statement is made by Henry Mayo and W. T. Anderson, of the division of animal husbandry, Purdue University, in the recent Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin, No. 353, "Sheep Management."

The sheep men, in the discussion of fall flock management, point out that a well-grown, rugged heavily-muscled ram is essential in produced market topping lambs. Furthermore the ram should be purebred stock, be vigorous and bold in temperament.

Feed for the ewes during the fall and early winter should come from Balbo rye, winter wheat, common rye, bluegrass or other pastures. The sheep enterprise thrives and endures on farms where full use is made of legume roughages and good quality pastures. Flocks are soon disposed of when legumes are not provided. Blue grass which has not been pastured during the summer provides good feeding, the animal husbandry advise.

Before fall, slow growing, late or unthrifty ewe lambs should have been culled from the flock. Also by this time the ewes should be tagged, the wool clipped from under the udders, the heads sheared, and feet trimmed.

Included in the bulletin are discussions on flock care of the flock at lambing time, some common lamb troubles, feeding rations for lambs, and recommendations for pastures. Directions for shearing are given in detail. The bulletin is liberally illustrated to aid in the explanation of various practices.

Copies are available, free, from the county agent office or the University.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

You hear a lot of talk these days about game birds and animals, habitat restoration, hatchery programs and other campaigns designed to keep America's outdoors productive in good sport. That's well and good. Certainly keeping the nation on its conservation toes is important.

There is one item in good conservation, however, that all too often is overlooked by many outdoorsmen. It is the relationship between the farmer and sportsmen. Many of us are inclined to take the farmer for granted; his land is just another place to hunt and it is his job to supply the game.

A recent survey I made among the farmers disclosed that unless more sportsmen prove more cooperative, the available hunting territory will be cut drastically. And what good is it to raise or grow a lot of birds or animals if the land to hunt on is all posted.

It is unfortunate that a few black sheep in the hunting fraternity can do so much damage that affects all who enjoy hunting. Here's a story to prove the point. A group of city hunters (probably inexperienced and certainly of the devil-may-care school) drove out from town one day last fall, selected an nice looking farm and immediately started hunting without asking permission of the owner.

The farmer saw them in the field, walked over and asked them to leave his property. One of the hunters leveled his shotgun at the farmer and threatened to shoot him. Then one of the group got a bright idea and he and his companions took a rope and tied the farmer to a tree. Then they went their merry way hunting.

This farmer had been particularly friendly with sportsmen; he even planted feed patches and cover for birds and all who asked his permission were allowed to hunt. But after the episode above, his farm was taken from the available list of land open to gunners. And, certainly, you can't blame the farmer.

Two of Five Matches Free

About 50 years ago Americans paid cash for every match they used. Then a big match company introduced the book match, promoted it as a giveaway with tobacco purchases. As a result the present generation receives two out of each five matches free and the per capita match bill is lower than it was a half century ago, contradicting the general economic trends.

HOW TO FIX-IT

SOME DAY SOME HEALTHY YOUNG MAN WILL BE REJECTED IN THE DRAFT BECAUSE HE HAS FLAT HANDS FROM BEATING ON THE BOTTOM OF CATSUP BOTTLES, AND THEN A CONCERTED ACTION MAY BE MADE TO REMEDY THE CATSUP BOTTLE SITUATION. TOO LATE FOR CLOVER SEED

Many Indiana farmers who have excellent growths of red clover in small grain stubble fields have asked Purdue University agronomists if the crop can be safely harvested for hay or seed.

Ordinarily red clover does not reach the hay stage the year of seeding. However, this year, in a large part of the state, red clover did reach the seed stage, the Purdue men say. Contrary to popular belief red clover has not been injured by producing seed in the seeding year and yields of almost two bushels of seed per acre have been produced from oats stubble clover, and the following year a yield of four tons of hay were harvested per acre from two cuttings.

The Purdue agronomists point out that if the harvesting of seed was done before Sept. 15, no injury will follow, but harvesting seed in late September or early October is not advised. The observed injury from seed production the first year is not due to seed production but to late cutting. This injury from late cutting of red clover is associated with the removal of mulch material as well as with reduction of root reserves.

The scarcity and high price of hay and pasture crop seeds such as alfalfa and the clovers make it important for farmers to save every bit of red clover seed that has been profitable to harvest.

Wind Pressure

A 40-mile wind exerts a pressure of approximately seven pounds per square foot on the side of an automobile. An automobile might have an area on the side of about 30 square feet, so the total pressure of such a wind would be about 210 pounds.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Confidential reports of persons affected by blindness or having visual impairment which interferes with their ability to earn a livelihood are to be made to the Indiana State Board of Health within ten days after diagnosis, according to a law passed by the 1949 General Assembly.

This confidential information telling the name, address, age, sex, color and diagnosis, is sent by the Board of Health the first of each month to the Indiana School for the Blind and the board of industrial and vocational rehabilitation for the blind.

"The purpose of the law is to enable the Indiana School for the Blind and the Board of Industrial and Vocational Rehabilitation for the blind to inform visually handicapped individuals of available rehabilitation services," according to a notice sent by Dr. L. E. Burney, state health commissioner, to secretaries of county medical societies. The letter included sample forms on which the physician or oculist are to report this confidential information to the State Board of Health.

The Indiana School for the Blind will be advised of persons under 17 years of age with this handicap, and confidential information on persons over that age will be forwarded to the board of industrial and vocational rehabilitation for the blind.

This legislation was sponsored by a number of visually handicapped individuals and others who realize the value and are interested in the rehabilitation of the blind.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fenstermaker and Mr. and Mrs. Hodie Fenstermaker and daughter Marilyn returned on Sept. 8 from a month's trip which took them through the Black Hills, Glacier and Yellowstone Parks. The group spent 10 days at Poulson on Flathead Lake, with John's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Beardsley. We understand that some real fishing was done there, too. The return trip was made by way of Salt Lake City and Denver. One fine feature of the trip was that Mrs. John Fenstermaker had no hay fever or asthma in that part of the country.

ALL OF US LOSE
WHEN THE FORESTS BURN

One match, one smouldering cigarette butt, one spark from a camp fire, can be the cause of the destruction of thousands of acres of timber that it took Nature centuries to create. And when the forests burn, the cruelest of deaths comes to the wildlife that live in their shelter.

This year, the country has witnessed a number of very serious forest fires. The hazard does not end with the summer months. There has been unusually dry weather in various sections of the country. Trees and woodlands will be ripe for destruction by fire for some time to come.

There seems to be a rather widespread idea that most forest fires are started by natural causes beyond the ability of man to prevent or control.

That is not true. As the New York Times has said, "Some fires, of course are set by lightning, but authorities are agreed that nine out of ten are due entirely to human carelessness with matches, cigarettes or camp fires. Annually they cause direct losses running into many millions of dollars and equally serious indirect losses in the destruction of our dwindling forest reserves."

The human factor, in fact, is responsible for almost all fires, whether they take place in a forest, in a home, or in a factory. Carelessness, ignorance, indifference to rudimentary precautions—these are fire's friends. When we replace them with care and watchfulness, fire will be beaten.

When you trade at home, your Dollars are still working for you.

"PROGRESS IN A CENTURY"

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind.,—(Special) Of all the buildings in the Chicago World Fair of 1934, none could have met a more beautiful fate than the Alaskan log cabin.

Many of the buildings went various ways. Some were torn down. Some were moved to promotional localities as novelties. Some were shipped to isolated regions where they fell into decay.

But the Alaskan log cabin was given to the International Friendship gardens, where it became the home of the two brothers, Joseph and Virgil Stauffer, who were starting the gardens.

As the gardens increased in beauty, year after year, so did the log cabin.

Modern heating and plumbing were installed. The interior had its face lifted as the living quarters were decorated tastefully.

On the outside, vines and flowers grew in profusion.

Today it is literally surrounded by flowers, evergreens, shrubs and vines. The cabin dominates the center of the gardens, rising on a slight knoll.

In past years the cabin has sturdily withstood floods, when the entire gardens were inundated. In the early spring, historic Trail creek has frequently gone on a rampage, overflowing its banks.

The old cabin never knew, when thousands passed it at the World Fair, that some day it would be garlanded and bedecked with flowers.

The cabin is so beautiful now that many visitors, not aware that it is the Stauffer's home, peep in windows and open doors, thinking it is a museum.

BARLEY CAN REPLACE WHEAT

Acreage allotments on wheat this fall are involving farmers in the problems of sowing other grains in order to maintain rotations and seeding for hay, pasture and soil improvements.

Farmers are most frequently asking Purdue University agronomists about sowing barley under these conditions. This crop, however, is best adapted to the southern half of the state for it is usually not sufficiently winter hardy in northern Indiana. Occasionally it has been used successfully on sweet sandy loams in northern counties. Soil should be limed to red clover level, well drained, and the crops should be fertilized with 300 to 400 pounds of 3-12-12. It should be sown at two bushels per acre, a week or two earlier than the fly free date for wheat with seed treated with Cereasan to control some of the smuts that attack the crop. Kentucky No. 1 variety is most commonly used, and is well adapted to Indiana.

Winter oats are less winter hardy than barley and so are restricted to the southern third of the state. Seed-methods are similar to those for barley. Oats tolerate a wide variety of soil conditions.

Rye can be used throughout the state and can be sown whenever the seed bed is ready. If the seeding can be pastured this fall or next spring, Balbo should be used because of its superior pasture merit. One-half bushel of rye per acre should be drilled.

Under many conditions oats will be a logical crop to supplement wheat. Sowing barley is adapted to northern Indiana counties, the Purdue men advise.

Thomas Edison, during his lifetime, produced over a thousand patentable inventions.

TICKETS FOR DAIRY SHOW

The official International Show of most of the major dairy cattle breeds will be held at the International Dairy Exposition at the state fairgrounds October 8 to 15. Among notable dairy animals to be exhibited at the show will be Lady's Gypsy Girl, the highest living producer of the Brown Swiss breed; and King Bessie Senator, outstanding sire of the Holstein breed along with top animals from the Ayrshire, Guernsey, Jersey, Milking Shorthorn, and Red Poll breeds. More than $50,000 in premiums will be offered to adult exhibitors at the show, and more than $10,000 in premiums will be paid to exhibitors in the 4-H and FFA sections.

The festival of Dairy and Related Foods to be held at the Exposition is outstanding as an educational exhibit. Here nationally famous home economists will demonstrate to housewives and other consumers how dairy products can best be utilized in the preparation of family meals. Here, too, nationally-known companies will show their wares and products. And here, too, national dairy trade associations and other organizations will bring educational exhibits to illustrate the magnitude of the dairy industry—what it means to the national economy and its effect on the individual consumer.

In order that Kosciusko county people might have the advantage of getting tickets to the exposition at a saving rate, the county dairy association provided funds to have a number of advance tickets brought into the county. These tickets for admission to the Exposition may be purchased now at forty cents each but will cost sixty cents if purchased at the Exposition gates. These advance tickets may be secured until September 28 from the Co-Op Store in Warsaw, the Mentone Bank, the Northern Indiana Co-Op in Mentone, the Stiefel Grain Company or the Bank in Syracuse, the Silver Lake Bank, the Pierceton Bank or the Pierceton Elevator, the Claypool Bank or the Claypool Elevator, from Litchfield milk haulers, or the county extension office.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS ON ASTRONOMY

At the age of 77, John Quincy Adams journeyed from his home in Massachusetts to Cincinnati to lay the cornerstone of the Astronomical Observatory. It was a long and fatiguing trip by stagecoach, by canal boat, by steamboat and part of the way by the newly invented railroad train. Much of Adams' dedicatory address concerned the neglect of astronomy in the United States.

TO CHECK SCHOOL BUSES

State Police troopers today began an annual inspection to weed out school buses which do not comply with Indiana safety regulations, according to Arthur M. Thurston, department superintendent.

"We cannot afford to trifle with the safety and welfare of thousands of school children," he asserted, emphasizing the inspection would be rigid and thorough.

Buses found unsafe or obsolete will be condemned and the township trustee ordered to remove the vehicle from service until it meets state school bus safety committee specifications. Vehicles will be rechecked by troopers after repairs are made.

In addition, drivers of the 5,500 buses, which transport 250,000 students each school day, will be required to display a physical fitness certification and a public passenger's license.

Troopers will examine the bus body for all-steel construction, safety glass, forward-facing seats, safety escape door and new red flasher warning signals, required by law. The bus heater, fire extinguisher, axe and other interior equipment will be inspected, together with tires, brakes, horn, windshield wiper, lights and the stop signal arm.

Inspection schedules have been arranged with county school superintendents in the 10 State Police districts.

"During the war years and in the post-war period, we were forced to be lenient because new buses were not available," Supt. Thurston explained, "but now modern transportation equipment is available, and we intend to see that every school unit conforms with the state law to protect the school child from tragedy."

OWNERS RUN A POOR THIRD

Three groups share in the financial earnings of American industry. One is the employees, who get their part in wages and salaries. Another is the stock and bond owners, who profit through interest and dividends. The third is government, which dips in when it collects the taxes.

Just how do these three groups fare proportionately?

The answer to that must naturally vary somewhat from industry to industry. But a typical example or two may come as a surprise to those who still think that the owners, financially speaking, are the favored few.

Last year a well known manufacturing concern, which has been making work clothing for half a century, had total sales of nearly $38,000,000. Its profits, after taxes and all other casts were paid, came to $17,732. For every dollar the owners were paid, employees received $278.

As another example, take a very different kind of business—an eastern power and light company. This is one of the most highly taxed of any kind of enterprise. The utility in question, in 1948, paid $323 to employees and $2.05 in taxes to government for every dollar earned for the owners.

The point is that the workers almost always get a great deal more than the owners in any industry. And in many industries, the owners run a poor third—behind the tax collectors as well as the employees.

LOCAL P. T. A. URGES SAFETY

Mrs. Dan L. Urschel, president of the Mentone Parent-Teacher Association, announces that September being the back-to-school month, the national headquarters is engaged in a safety program throughout the nation. Among other important factors involving safety, they suggests ways of possibly avoiding the most frequently encountered hazards.

Rules for Parents.

1. See that your children are taught habits of safety that will make them self-reliant and likely to do the safe thing at all times.
2. See that they play in safe places, never in driveways or alleys.
3. Cooperate fully with police and school authorities in enforcing safety rules for your children.
4. Make sure that the vehicles your children ride or drive—tricycles, bicycles, or the family car—are in safe operating condition at all times.
5. Enforce official and home rules for traffic safety by appropriate penalties for violations — impounding a bicycle if necessary, or withholding permission to use the family car when advisable.
6. Set an example of safe behavior in traffic.

Rules for Safe Bicycling

PURPOSE—All riders should know the Bicycle Institute of America's 12 rules for safe bicycling and should pledge themselves to ride accordingly.

1. Observe all traffic regulations—red and green lights, one-way streets, stop signs.
2. Keep to the right and ride in a straight line. Always ride in single file.
3. Have white light on front and danger signal on rear for night riding.
4. Have satisfactory signaling device to warn of approach.
5. Give pedestrians the right of way. Avoid sidewalks, otherwise use extra care.
6. Look out for cars pulling out into traffic. Keep sharp look-out for sudden opening of auto doors.
7. Never hitch on other vehicles, "stunt" or race in traffic.
8. Never carry other riders—carry no packages that obstruct vision or prevent proper control of cycle.
9. Be sure your brakes are operating efficiently and keep your bicycle in perfect running condition.
10. Slow down at all street intersections and look to right and left before crossing.
11. Always use proper hand signals for turning and stopping.
12. Don't weave in or out of traffic or swerve from side to side.

SELECT COAT FOR QUALITY

Now that the weather in Indiana is getting cooler, homemakers may be planning to purchase cloth coats for winter for themselves or members of their families. Miss Frieda C. Stoll, extension clothing specialist, Purdue University, suggests that there are some factors to consider before going shopping. She lists them as: the type of coat needed, for general or better wear, the amount of money she can afford to spend; the number of years the coat will be worn; and the color, which will harmonize with the rest of the wardrobe.

The weaves which will give the best wear are firm and close with the same number of yarns in warp and filling. Yarns of uniform size will give better wear. The cloths should feel soft and springy, but not stretch very much in either direction. Loosely woven weaves will not be apt to give as good service because these are apt to catch and snag readily. Cloth which stretches easily will lose its shape and uneven yarns will wear more quickly than other.

When shopping, the homemaker should look for coats which are cut accurately on the grain of the material. Those which are cut off grain will fit poorly and hang unevenly. There should be good seam allowance, stayed with preshrunk tape. The stitches should be small and made with good quality thread in matching colors. To hold the front edges in shape, they should be stayed inside with fabric or tape. Pockets which are well made and reinforced at corners will not have the tendency to stretch. The buttons holes may be bound, worked or loops. When buttons are sewed on with shanks of thread long enough, there is less strain on the fabric.

For a smooth fit, the coat and lining should be finished separately at the lower edge and bar tacked at the seams. The hem should be finished with ribbon tape and blind-stitched.

Miss Stoll points out that an informative label gives information which the homemaker cannot see when buying a cloth coat, yet it will help her to make a better purchase. Such a label should state the kind of fabric, color fastness or wool and lining, fabric content of lining as rayon or cotton, resistant to perspiration, length of wear expected; fiber content of interlining; and cleaning directions of the cloth coat, lining and interlining.

DONALD COLEMAN WRITES

Sept. 14, 1949

Dear Art:

Well, I finally got around to writing you to thank you for sending me the paper every week. It sure is interesting to get it and know what all is going on.

We had some excitement here last night. Two men decided to go over the hill. They got past the main gate but they were soon brought back.

When we were at the range, that hurricane hit. One morning I got up and looked out a window and not 200 yards away was the Atlantic ocean. That is a wonderful feeling. Especially when another hour's rain would have flooded the whole area.

If there is anyone in Mentone that craves some nice hard drilling and a very small amount of sleep, just let them join this outfit. I've seen men drop from too much marching. When they drop we just keep on going. Oh, it's a great life alright.

It doesn't seem like school should have started yet. I wouldn't mind being there to have started though. I guess I sort of miss it. We go to school here but it's all on something besides arithmetic and spelling. They sure try to teach you a lot in 10 weeks.

Our platoon is just .05 of a point from being honor platoon. I'm sure we will make it though.

Well, thanks again for sending me the paper. Taps are sounding so I must close.

As ever,
DON (Coleman).

STATE MEETING—

afternoon program was devoted to short talks by directors of the various divisions of the Indiana Department of Conservation, who explained the workings of individual divisions and the accomplishments of the same.

R. G. Rowland, Valparaiso, president of the Advisory Committee was introduced and spoke briefly. Invocation was delivered by W. J. Byrum, a member of the Educational Bureau.

Kenneth M. Kunkel, director of the Department of Conservation, addressing the group during the evening, spoke of the close co-operation existing in the department and of the splendid assistance which was being accorded the conservation department through the efforts of the committee and the many conservation clubs in the state.

Mr. Kunkel in turn introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Kenneth Walton, Purdue University, head of the State Conservation Service in Indiana. Mr. Walton discussed, among other subjects, the formation of various soil conservation districts. He dwelt considerably on the huge program of the soil conservation service and lauded the co-operation he and his office is receiving from the Indiana State Conservation Advisory Committee.

Brief business sessions held Sunday morning gave way to a recreational program during the early afternoon during which softball, horseshoe pitching and a two-man boat relay race were the main events.

The Indiana State Conservation Advisory committee is composed of district chairmen of the sixteen Indiana districts and a representative from each county in the state. Forty-nine counties were represented at the meeting, with some of the southern-most counties of the state being represented.

MANCEL H. DUNNUCK DIES

Mancel H. Dunnuck, aged 78, died Tuesday at 5:10 a. m. at his home, 3 miles northwest of Warsaw. Death was caused by complications and heart failure after a period of failing health during which he had been bedfast for a month.

Mr. Dunnuck, a retired farmer, who had lived his entire life in the Warsaw vicinity, was born three miles west of Warsaw, Feb. 1871, the son of Isaac and Katherine (Hankinson) Dunnuck. He was married to Amy Black, March 2, 1893; she died in 1931.

Surviving relatives include two sons, Lawrence and Walter, both of Warsaw; one daughter, Mrs. Mildred Fawley, of Mentone; one brother, Edward Dunnuck, of Etna Green; five grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Paul M. Bilby funeral home Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. John Jones, evangelist and former pastor of the Syracuse Evangelical United Brethren church, will conduct the service, and interment will be at Oakwood. Friends may call at the home after 2 p. m. Wednesday until noon Thursday, when the body will be removed to the funeral home, where they may call until the time for the service.

TO RELEASE PET SQUIRRELS

Clark Ernberger announces that Sunday he and Ray Smith received one of the black squirrels they have been trying to get the past two years. They are being trapped by the Conservation department and it is to be hoped that everyone will protect the animals so they might remain here and multiply. Tree nests have been erected for them.

It certainly would add much to the town if these black squirrels would choose to reside here permanently. There isn't any animal much cuter than a squirrel and there should be no reason why anyone would want to harm or molest one.

IMPROVING

Miss Mildred Whetstone, who has been confined to her home because of rheumatic fever the past several weeks, is now sufficiently improved that she is permitted to be up six or seven hours each day.

SUNDAY EVENING PROGRAM AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The Mentone Methodist Church cordially invites one and all to the 1st in a series of Sunday night programs, entitled the "Univarsity of Life."

This will be held Sunday evening October 2, at 7:30 P. M.

These programs are constructed to be educational as well as devotional. To those of you who are interested in the mechanics of human thought will find this series very interesting.

Our guest speaker, Jerry Eastburg, is a man well qualified for this task. At the present he operates the Ewing Nursing home and during the war spent a number of years in the Navy medical corp, as assistant in several of their psychiatric hospitals. And it is from these experiences he takes his case histories.

We also hope to have several other features for this evenings entertainment.

MRS. MANWARING RETURNS TO HOSPITAL

Chester Manwaring reported the fore part of the week that Mrs. Manwaring had returned to the hospital.

RALLY DAY

The Mentone Methodist Church is observing Sunday, October 2, as Rally Day. The regular services have been revised to conform with the Program which has been prepared to include Bible Dramatization, special music, recitations by the children and youth of the Church School, Choral Reading, and music drills. Mrs. Rosa Kinsey will teach the Adult Bible Class. An invitation is extended to everyone to the Program which begins at ten o'clock.

Mentone's Days of '49 stage carried several shipments of Mentone "gold" Saturday night, but Henry Lockridge was the only one present to receive the treasure chest. The driver of the covered wagon called the names of Fred Klingenhagen, Donna Coplen, Mary Dorrell and Joe Shoemaker, none of whom were among the welcoming group.

ANTIQUE POULTRY EQUIPMENT

Do you have a genuine 50-year-old kerosene incubator hidden away somewhere on your farm? Or a trapnest, a half hoghead, one of those old-time killing benches, an egg "testing slot" or any other piece of poultry or egg production or processing equipment that dates back to 1900 or before?

If you have, and you are interested in lending it for an historical exhibit of how the industry did things half a century ago, you are asked to write at once to the Institute of American Poultry Industries, 110 North Franklin Street, Chicago.

"We're making this collection a special feature of our Mid-Century Fact-Finding Conference at Kansas City next Feb. 11 to 14, to help commemorate 50 years of progress in the industry and mark the start of the Institute's silver anniversary year," Cliff Carpenter, president of the Institute of American Poultry Industries, explains. "It's going to be interesting to see how these 'remember when' antiques compare with the modern equipment and supplies on display in the main exhibit at that time."

Dr. J. Holmes, head of the poultry department at Purdue University, has been named chairman of this special committee to dig back into the poultry archives and get together the material for this exhibit. Other members of this "1900 committee" are E. B. Heaton, Barker Poultry Equipment Co., Wheaton, Ill.; Paul Mandeville, Mandeville Associates, Chicago; Howard C. Pierce, A & P Tea Company, New York, N. Y., and Eric Nisson, Pioneer Hatchery, Petaluma, Calif. A subcommittee of 17 members also has been named to help round up this unique collection of poultry museum pieces.

Each piece of this old-time equipment accepted for the exhibit will be carefully labeled with the owner's name and the Institute will pay all shipping and insurance charges. The Institute has announced that guards will be on duty at all times during the exhibit so that owners need have no worry about getting their prize unique equipment back safely.

HEALTH FACTS FROM YOUR STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

"When your child has a sore throat be careful about sending the child to school to mingle with other children," Dr. J. W. Jackson, director, Division of Communicable Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health, warned parents today.

"The child with a septic sore throat may have scarlet fever but is immune to the poison causing the rash that usually accompanies scarlet fever," Dr. Jackson pointed out. "Both scarlet fever and septic sore throat may be caused by direct contact with infected individuals, so keeping the child at home in bed not only helps the child in regaining health with the disease."

The number of reported cases of septic sore throat and scarlet fever reported to the State Board of Health this year is about the same as for the same period last year. A new ten-year low or reported cases of scarlet fever was reached in Indiana in 1948 with the recording of 2,014 cases.

The reported cases of scarlet fever for the summer of 1949 dipped to a new ten-year low for these months, climaxed when only 20 cases were reported in August.

Potatoes, one of America's principal crops, are grown in every state of the Union.

SAVING TIME IN THE HOME

"How can I save time and energy with my ironing?" is a question homemakers are asking Miss Gertrude Monhaut, extension home management specialist, Purdue University. Since skilled homemakers recognize that the weekly ironing is using too much precious time, they are asking for information on ways to save time and energy.

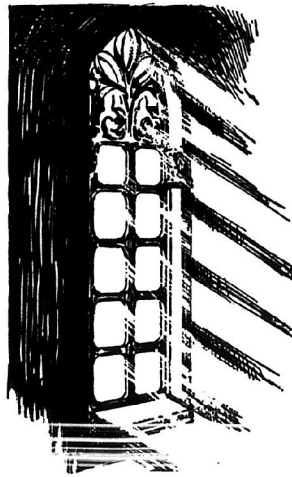

Miss Monhaut suggests that simplifying ironing and shortening ironing time starts at the store when clothes are purchased. Knitted shirts and underwear or fabrics, like nylons and seersuckers that need little or no ironing, are the homemaker's number one friends. Nevertheless, some garments will need to be ironed and this process can be simplified from the washing machine wringer on through until the clothes are ready to be put into the closet. Garments correctly hung on the clothes line will eliminate stretched ends and edges, and will allow some wrinkles to blow out. When rolling the clothes after sprinkling, some wrinkles may be eliminated. Clothes should be dampened slightly and folded lightly together. Kneading and rolling clothes tightly does not help the fabrics to absorb moisture more evenly but forces wrinkles into the fabric which must be ironed out.

Good equipment also can help save time and energy in ironing. A light iron weighing two and three-fourths to three pounds requires much less energy to use than those of four to seven pounds. Miss Monhaut points out that it is a combination of moisture and heat which removes the wrinkles from the fabrics and not the weight of the iron, as sometimes is believed. A good iron will have a smooth sole plate and a comfortable, well insulated handle. A thermostat to control the iron temperature is important.

New ironing boards are now available which are adjustable in height to fit any member of the family. Some boards may be adjusted so the homemaker may sit while she irons.

A narrow ironing board makes it necessary to move each garment two, three or more times in the process. A wider board which is ideal for flat work can easily cut the ironing time ten minutes each hour.

TALMA CHRISTIAN CHURCH BEING REDECORATED

The lights are burning bright and long across the famous Tippecanoe River in the Talma Christian Church, many cars are parked around the lighted building every night in the week, men, women and children are seen running in and out, and everybody is in work clothes.

What's going on?

Why, didn't you know?

The Pastor is very happy to announce that the good people of the Talma Christian Church are hard at work removing all 5 layers of old faded wallpaper, patching up where the plaster was.

The ceiling will be finished in white, and dropped down nine inches; the walls will be covered in a pastel green.

Mr. La Verne Ladson, chairman of the committee, is doing a fine job; the congregation almost as a whole, including the children, have been giving a lot of their time and energy toward beautifying the inside of the Lord's house.

It is not only the desire of the people to make this a work that is pleasing to the eyes of man, but to make it an honoring and glorifying place of worship to our wonderful God, who has been so gracious to us.

The public is cordially invited to come see what has been done, Sunday morning or evening, or any evening in the following week.

The Pastor wishes to take this time to wholeheartedly thank each and every one who has labored so hard at this worthy cause—May God richly bless you all.

Cows that freshen during the fall and early winter produce from 700 to 1,000 pounds more milk per year than if they do not calve until spring or summer. Since heavy production depends partly upon giving the animal a dry period of six to eight weeks, fall freshening cows should not be deprived of a rest period, Purdue University dairymen say.

Equine Encephalomyelitis

Severe outbreaks of equine encephalomyelitis often occur during hot, rainy weather, probably because mosquitoes, which spread the disease, multiply rapidly during such weather.

Prices received by farmers reached their peak in January, 1948. Since that time they have declined about one per cent a month on the average. After the peak of prices in 1920, the decline was 52 per cent in 14 months, an average of about four per cent a month. Thus the decline has been considerably more moderate today, Purdue agricultural economists point out.

MENTONE MURMURS

DAVID and SALLEY GOSSER

Murmurs is not the "Kitten on the Keys," but the feel of type-keys is good after being absent from our desk for two weeks. Like many gardeners about Mentone we have been gleaning the "truck patch" before Jack Frost (and we are not referring to a clergy man in Warsaw) puts in his nibs," for several business trips over the northern-most part of Indiana have assured us that he is not far afield. Have you noticed the tinge of color on the tips of the Maples, the flaming Sumac, and the chattering dry talk of the dry corn stalks? It will not be long until East Main Street and other residential Avenues will look like a "torch-light parade" of the good old days." Already the sedate and statly trees are blushing from their autumnal caresses, and from the heights of the Klingenhagen residence there is a candle-flame of color above many areas of our community.

It is remarkable what can be done with old residences. W. C. Nellans and the Klingenhagens are achieving remarkable results through the renovating of old brick dwellings. There is something substantial about these structures which almost defy man and time to make them over. They may have melowed through the years in appearance, but their firm foundations and stalwart walls hold them in defaces of the elements. Murmurs is tempted to philosophize on this subject but the point is so obvious that restraint would prove it better.

Klingenhagens have added picture windows to the East and North rooms, and true to their names, they are picture windows in the fullest sense of the word. The East window overlooks Route 19 and the farmland South and East of White City. The gentle rolling hills (comparatively speaking), the upward pointing Evergreens of the Boggs' residence, and white cottages and farmsteads make the picture.

The North window gives a view of on canvas, I would title "THE PRIDE OF AMERICA," for here is the typical American Community: a small town with broad tree-lined streets and shaded lawns, a compact business district, a farmers' grain elevator, lumber and coal yard, train depot, an attractively land-scaped brick school, and three churches.

The last named are the foundation stones of a truly great nation. America (Mentone to us) has inherited the tradition, character, and faith of greatness. Murmurs believe that we should leave for the heritage of our children and for the Americans yet to be born the fundamental principles of character through discipline, friendliness, faith in our fellowman, and a deep religious conviction.

The scenes of Mentone are not always the panoramic vistas described above, for a close-up, there must be the "man-of-the-street" eye view which on cool evenings show the green and white jackets which are synonymous with MENTONE. Where you see youth you see green and white there are no better colors to represent youth and Mentone; white for the goodness and cleanliness of sports, community spirit, and personal living, and green for growth, activity, spirit of youth, and a progressive community.

The Contribution of the Church to Better Family Life

Under the direction of Dean Mary L. Matthews, a Parent and Family Life Education Conference was conducted in Purdue Memorial Union Building for two days last fall. The first speaker was Dr. A. A. Smith of the Purdue staff who gave an inspiring address on "The Contribution of the Church to Better Family Life." A condensed form of this address follows:

1. Moral Responsibility of Parents can be strengthened through fellowship in the church so children have the best precept and example. God is man's first need—his final goal. The home built upon firm Christian principles is a fortress against evil. A Godless home is built upon sand.
2. Religion furnishes a way of adjustment. It gives life an explanation and a setting in a baffling universe which to unbelievers in religion, is a set of blind forces.
3. Religion provides a set of ideals, of goals, and of purposes that carry the individual beyond a struggle in his own immediate sphere. Man must change the general direction of his mind so that it turns primarily outward rather than inward. The church emphasizes service. It is true that self-sacrifice and service are the basis of personality. We see ourselves best by looking away from ourselves—we find ourselves by losing ourselves.
4. The church maintains an ideal of love between men, women and children which raises it to the level of the sacrament and takes it above the level of the contract.
5. The church provides hope and courage for struggling families, and assisting in the interpretation of human relationship problems. Religion in its most constructive social expressions has provided the world with a brotherhood of man and a fatherhood of God pattern.
6. The church assists parents in developing Christian ways of living within the home, instructing the children and providing a wholesome center for socializing experience. Out of such services should come commitment to the Christian way of living and a clearer understanding of ways to develop a Christian community.

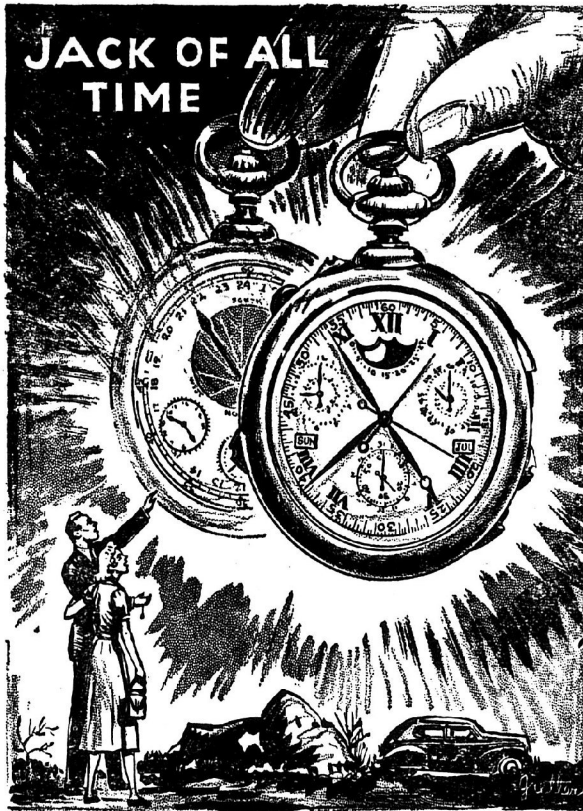

NEW LICENCE PLATES

HAVE LOW NUMBERS

Kosciusko county's new 1950 licence plates have arrived at the Warsaw office, according to Mrs. Marie Stokes, branch manager. They have a black background with Purdue's old-gold letters.

Unique feature of this year's is the new county lettering system. Numbers will be smaller than usual. The county is designated by the letters RR and county numbers start with RR 1. They run up to RR 9999 in passenger plates.

WORLD REALIZES THE VALUE OF CONSERVATION

Men of foresight throughout the world fully realize the value of conservation for the preservation of our natural resources and our very existence, as was proven August 22 when 350 scientists from Sweden, India, Israel, Canada, Africa, South America and the United States gathered at Lake Success, Long Island. This scientific conference on conservation and the utilization of resources was held for the purpose of exchanging ideas and bringing together experts in the fields of water, land, mineral, forests, fish, wildlife, feeds and energy.

Yes, there are many farms within a few minutes drive of your home that won't produce enough food to maintain an average family 25 years from now unless farm practices on those farms aren't changed. Will your children some day be saying: "Dad ruined our farm — he starved it to death and let all the top soil wash and blow away."

CAR OR TRUCK HEATERS

THE IMPROVED HEATER

A heater of utmost capacity, with vastly improved heat circulation, 2-fan defrosting, Redi-Fit mounting plate for easy installation and a special foot warming unit. Unsurpassed for comfort and safe driving in any weather. An unbeatable value for new cars—or modernizing heating systems of old cars. Modern, stream-lined design.

COMPLETE WINTER AIR-CONDITIONING

The simple addition of a low-cost Fresh-Flo Kit makes the Arvin 79 Heater instantly interchangeable from recirculating heat to total or partial outside air heat. This means the widest range of heat control ever offered. Outside air heat keeps all windows clear, eliminates drafts, smoke, stale air. In heavy traffic, fumes from other cars can be avoided by switching to recirculating heat.

Be sure and come in and see this new type heater . . . even though you may feel you have a good heater.

MORE NEW OIL WELLS

Eight new pools of liquid gold were discovered in seven Indiana counties during the month of August, it was revealed today by Elmer L. Hoehn, director of the Oil and Gas Division of the Indiana Department of Conservation.

Mr. Hoehn pointed out that August was the most active month on record in Indiana's oil history. Two pools were discovered in Sullivan county and they have been named Paxton pool and York Ferry pool.

Other counties represented in the oil boom last month were Gibson, Knox, Marshall, Spencer, Vigo and Posey.

In addition to the discovery wells on each of the new pool locations, 145 drilling permits were issued to operators who wished to drill in 85 pool locations and 60 wildcat areas.

The average cost of a 2,000 foot well in Indiana is $10,000, according to Mr. Hoehn. Thus, with the authorization of drilling permission to operators completing 63 dry holes and 56 producing wells, Hoehn estimates that the Oil and Gas Division has been responsible for authorization of better than three quarters of million dollars worth of business in Indiana oil fields. Besides the initial cost of drilling a well, an additional $10,000 to $15,000 is spent by operators in putting the well on production.

Initial production of wells in August was approximately 3,800 barrels daily, Mr. Hoehn said.

BUY TAGGED FERTILIZER

Since fertilizer is being trucked to farms in bulk in increasing amounts, inquiries are reaching the State Chemist's office as to how such deliveries are to be tagged and how farmers are to be protected in these purchases, according to Dr. F. W. Quackenbush, state chemist of Indiana and head of the Agricultural Chemistry Department of Purdue University.

The Indiana Fertilizer law covers all sales of fertilizer whether in bulk or bags and state chemist labels showing the analysis of the materials are required to be delivered with all bulk sales in proportion to the weight of the fertilizer. A state chemist label must be delivered with each 200 pounds of fertilizer or fraction thereof. In cases of bulk deliveries by truck, tags must be carried on the truck and delivered with the fertilizer.

Inspectors for the state chemist are sampling fertilizer offered for sale or sold in all parts of the state. Anyone who knows of fertilizer being distributed without state chemist labels or who has any reason to suspect the analysis of a shipment of fertilizer should communicate at once with the state chemist. Samples should not be sent but write a letter setting out the facts. An investigation will be made promptly and the actual analysis determined, if such is possible. Simply address the State Chemist, Lafayette, Indiana.

Reverse Image Mirror

An inventor in Hamburg, Germany, claims he has developed a mirror with a reverse image, permitting the viewer to see himself as others see him. Franz Mueller, the inventor, is a bit nervous about showing the device or allowing it to be photographed, however, he said, it will be placed on exhibition when patented. In this mirror left is really left and right is right as against the "backward" reflection of the conventional mirror.

ORDER TREE SEEDLINGS NOW

January will be too late! Folks who wait until January to order trees from the state nursery for reforestation or for windbreaks are quite apt to be disappointed.

J. L. Van Camp, extension forester at Purdue University, says that trees should be ordered by early October for planting in the spring of 1950 as the supply of trees is always sold out by the first of the year. Order blanks for trees are available in the offices of the county agricultural agent and should be used to reserve the proper sizes and kinds of trees.

Two publications giving details on tree planting recommended by the forester are "Trees for Reforestation," circular 306 published by the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station and the Hoosier Tree Planters Manual. The latter is available from either the county agent office of forestry and conservation at Purdue or the State Division of Forestry, Indianapolis. This bulletin describes tree planting methods, care of trees, spacing and other practical aspects. Varieties of pine trees best adapted to Indiana conditions are discussed in the bulletin on reforestation, which may be obtained from the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Farmers in the north half of the state will be interested in planting windbreaks which improve the value of property and make living conditions on these farms attractive during all seasons. Fast growing pines in windbreaks will provide protection when planted on the north and west sides of farmsteads. The agricultural extension leaflet 294, "Ten Pointers on Windbreaks" is a quick means of obtaining information on methods of establishing pine windbreaks for farmstead protection and may be obtained free from the University.

Stalactite and Stalagmite
Wondering how to remember the difference between a stalactite and a stalagmite? Stalactites hang from the cave ceiling, are spelled with the letter "c" for ceiling, and have to be "tite" to keep from falling. Stalagmites grow upward from the cave floor, are spelled with a "g" for ground, and "mite" someday reach the ceiling.

BIBLE CONFERENCE AT TALMA CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Sunday, October 2, H. C. Claybaugh will begin a series of Bible messages at the Talma Christian Church.

The services will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock, and will strive to close at 9:00 o'clock.

TRENCH SILOS
HELP STORAGE

Some Indiana dairy producers and cattle feeders have consistently made use of the trench silo. More farmers who have herds of about 20 head of cattle and other operators might profitably use these silos this year for corn storage. I. D. Mayer, extension agricultural engineer at Purdue University, says.

Satisfactory use of a trench silo may often depend upon determining a suitable location. If the silo is not to be concrete lined it must be located in firm soil that is free from sand and rocks, and it would be best constructed on high ground to prevent surface and subsurface drainage water from entering the silo. An ideal place is in a sidehill or knoll near the feedlot.

After the location has been determined and staked out, the width of the excavation will usually be about 12 feet at the top. The length will be governed by the capacity desired. Rough excavation is generally done with a plow and a scraper, fresno or bulldozer. The trench is dug about eight feet deep and will have sloping sides with the top of the trench about 12 feet across and the bottom approximately eight feet across.

When the rough excavation is completed the sides, ends and floor of the trench are shaved smooth and even with a spade. If subsurface or seepage water causes trouble when the trench is located on nearly level ground, a drain can be installed at the lower end and be connected to a line of drain tile. (One end of the trench should be slightly lower than the other to aid in drainage.)

The size of the silo might be narrower and shallower if the herd to be fed is only about ten head. A herd of 20 animals will need about 6 tons of silage which can be provided by a trench 12 feet wide, 47 feet long and eight feet deep. This size permits feeding 35 pounds of silage per animal per day for 180 days, the silage averaging 35 pounds per cubic foot.

The silage is usually compacted with a tractor or horses while filling and then covered with water proofed paper held down with soil at the joints or four to six inches of wet straw. The same thickness of earth banked to afford drainage is added as a final step.

"Bossie" will get in trim for the fall season with a short clip. Purdue University dairymen say that the well-groomed cow's flanks are clipped and well brushed, once the hot weather is over. A second tip for producing milk with a low bacteria count is to wash the udders and teats with a disinfectant solution before milking.

Molly Pitcher was the first woman sergeant in the American Army.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

Mentone Unit No. 425, American Legion Auxiliary, held a business meeting, Tuesday evening, September 27, at the Legion Home.

Mrs. Vadas Ward, vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Juanita Paulus. Final details of plans for the Square dance were worked out under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Shinn, chairman of the committee. An invitation was extended to the members of Unit 425 by the Mothers of World War II for a dinner at the Mentone school Wednesday evening, October 12. All auxiliary members who will be able to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Ervin Wagner by October 10.

Mrs. Louise Kinsey, rehabilitation chairman, read a letter from the Veterans Administration which told of need for an unlimited number of articles to be used in veteran rehabilitation work both for use directly by patients in hospitals and for the Gift Shop projects. Mentone Unit is particularly interested in participating in this latter service which enables the hospitalized veteran to select free Christmas gifts wrapped, packaged for mailing, given proper postage and sent on their way at no expense to him. These gifts are not to exceed one dollar in value will be donated and sent in by members of the American Legion Auxiliary through their Unit Rehabilitation chairman. Hospital authorities agree that this service to veteran patients is one of the best morale builders ever to come into the hospitals.

CARD OF THANKS

I want in this way to sincerely thank all those who have been so kind to me while I have been sick; for the cards, flowers, calls, gifts, visits, and every other kindness — all these have meant much to me.
