BARE — WALTZ

In a ceremony performed at two p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29, at the Mentone Methodist church, Miss Mary Louise Bare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bare, was united in marriage to S./Sgt. Charles Waltz, of Talma, son of Mr. Truman Waltz, of South Bend.

Rev. David Gosser performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra.

White satin bows marked the pews. "The Lord's Prayer" was played by Rev. Gosser as an organ prelude.

Miss Jolaine Smythe, of Mentone, pianist, and Mrs. William Friend, vocalist, of Mansfield, Ohio, and a cousin of the bride, presented a prelude of piano selections and vocal music. Piano numbers were "Always," "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Beyond the Sunset." Vocal numbers were, "Thine Alone," "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me" and "Because." During the ceremony Mrs. Gosser, at the organ, played "With This Ring" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace and tulle over taffeta. The lace-fitted bodice featured a round neck finished with tiny flowerlets held in place with seed pearls. The long sleeves tapered to points at the wrist. The gown was floor length. The fullness of the bauffant skirt was caught up at intervals with the tiny flowerlets and seed pearls along the hemline.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a small cap of lace and flowerlets and seed pearls. The gown and veil was designed and fashioned by the bride's mother. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Patricia Sue Starr attended as maid of honor. Her ballerina length dress was pink lace over taffeta, with a fitted lace jacket over a strapless bodice. She wore a tiny matching velvet headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet.

The bridesmaids, Miss Marline Bare and Mrs. Bart Gross, of Goshen, both cousins of the bride, wore blue and green gowns, styled like that of the honor attendant. Their headpieces were of faille leaves in matching shades. They carried colonial bouquets.

Pat Waltz, of West Lafayette, attended his brother as best man. Wayne Baker and Arnold Snipes served as ushers. The groom wore his airforce dress uniform.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bare chose a dress of aqua faille with white accessories. Mrs. Waltz wore a black dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

At the reception held in the church parlors, Miss Ann Sierk and Miss Wreatha McFarren, first and second grade teachers of the bride, served at the refreshment table. The Misses Carmen and Terry Silveus, of Etna Green, had charge of the gifts. Mrs. Wayne Baker had charge of the guest book.

Following a short honeymoon trip the newlyweds left on Wednesday for Bryan, Texas where the groom is stationed with the Air Force.

The bride is a graduate of Mentone High School with the class of 1952 and has been employed as receptionist at Litchfields. The groom graduated from Talma High School in 1949 and has spent the past three years on a tour of duty in Germany.

FIRE DESTROYS SENFF HOME

Fire badly damaged the Delbert Senff farm home about eight o'clock Sunday evening, and did much damage to the contents. Neighbors and friends managed to get out a good part of the major furniture items and appliances, but loss to bedding and clothing was almost total.

Mr. and Mrs. Senff and family had been to the Buck Lake Ranch and on their return they noticed a cloud of smoke surrounding the house. Mrs. Senff went to a neighbor's home to call the fire department while Delbert attempted to put out the flame. In a matter of seconds the entire house was ablaze, which indicates that the fire had been smoldering for some time and had created a high temperature within the structure. Fire departments from Mentone, Etna Green and Tippecanoe responded.

Some insurance was carried on the house and contents, but Tuesday Mr. Senff still did not know how near the insurance would come to covering the loss.

The family moved into a house down the road, owned by Lewis Flory.

Friday, August 20th in the Old Time Religion Tabernacle. W. D. Mangun, assisted by Elder S. C. Honk of Mishawaka, read the ceremony before an altar decorated with palms and gladioli.

Mrs. George Miller furnished piano and organ music and accompanied Miss Margaret Wise and Miss Mary Lou Miller as they sang "Consecration" and "Together".

The bride wore a peacock blue crepe dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Noble Berger attended the couple. Mrs. Berger wore a dark blue dress with black accessories and a white rose corsage.

Ushers were: Delbert Johnston, of So. Bend; Leon Rohrer, of Claypool; Andy Anderson, Jackson, Michigan; and Theodore Miller, Niles, Michigan.

Mrs. Blackburn wore a white suit and Mrs. Scott a print dress. Each had a pink carnation corsage.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church basement. A four tier wedding cake, ice cream, and punch were served.

The couple will reside in Argos.

BREAKFAST IS MUST

FOR SCHOOL CHILD

Once school starts, it will be more difficult for mother to make sure her children are taking time to eat a nourishing breakfast. It won't be easy to restrain some of their school excitement, but she'll find attractive ways to get them to eat their most important meal of the day.

Every school child needs a well-balanced breakfast, much the same as lunch or dinner, if he's to be a good student. That's the advice of Miss Lois Oberhelman, Purdue University extension nutritionist. She says getting up 30 minutes earlier in the morning is worth more to the child than the 30 minutes extra sleep.

Breakfast can contribute from one-fourth to one-third of the day's nutritional needs for children, that is if it includes vitamins, minerals, and proteins as well as starches. Too many children eat only rolls, doughnuts or other sweet foods which furnish only sugars and starches, remarks the specialist.

Miss Oberhelman says a hearty breakfast for active and growing boys and girls should include the following:

Fruit or fruit juices, cooked whole grain cereal and milk, an egg, toast or bread, and butter. Studies show that the average teen-ager's breakfast is low in calcium and vitamin C. These two nutrients can be supplied in the diet by milk and citrus fruits or tomato juice.

Milk helps to prevent mid-morning fatigue which often is accompanied by headache or muscular tremor. The child who has had little or no breakfast becomes tired and restless in mid-morning. This makes it impossible for him to give his undivided attention to his school work. Poor grades are the result.

It's a dangerous practice for the teen-age girl to skip breakfast. Miss Oberhelman says the girl who misses her breakfast is more likely to overeat at the next two meals and include too many sweets, cakes, doughnuts, potato chips, and other snacks in her diet. These foods do not contribute needed health values.

FARM BUREAU PLANS WINTER TRIP TO FLORIDA

A trip for Indiana farmers to Florida next February at the height of the winter season is being sponsored by the Indiana Farm Bureau and will be conducted by Hoosier Travel Service, a farmer-owned organization, according to an announcement by G. W. Sample, general manager.

Highlight of the excursion will be a visit to the Florida State Fair at Tampa—an event with which Carl Tyner, former Indiana State Fair manager, is associated. The tour plans call for a special train to start from Crown Point on the Pennsylvania Railroad and make eight stops through the state and at Louisville.

Passengers will be transferred to buses at Jacksonville, Florida, to make a complete circuit of the peninsula with stops at industrial plants, farming operations of various kinds, and the usual points of interest in that state. They will also spend some time at Miami Beach and Miami, and will witness the world famous Ybor City illuminated Gasparilla parade, an extravaganza of floats.

Florida sunshine during February is expected to have a special appeal to Indiana farmers and their families, who at that time of the year can most conveniently leave their farm chores behind. The tour will leave February 12 and return nine days later.

Get Them All In The Picture

Things are happening to those in the grandparent years—there is more possibility of their moving into the great grandparent bracket and science is showing them how to enjoy those vintage years with comparative good health.

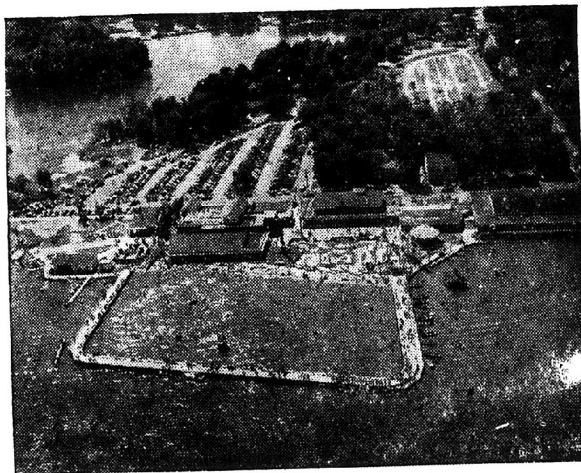

Our population is getting older—it is not just that grandfather's friends look that way to him. Since 1900, the number of folks over 60 has increased about twice as fast as the total population. Many of these persons are in good health and apparently free from diseases usually associated with aging. In these cases, their food habits have been and continue to be, sound. This fact is pointed out by scientists as the best evidence that food practices have an important bearing on the origin and development of diseases commonly considered to "go along with growing old."

In contrast, there are many in this age bracket who invite health hazards: irregularity of mealtimes, extreme lack of variety and disinterest in food. It is among these persons, that many of the ills related to aging are found. Monotonous diets, because they are made up of such a limited number of foods are apt to be deficient in one or more of the essential nutrients. Studies reveal that when any one is missing, changes occur, changes leading to premature aging.

An authority, Dr. Charles Glenn King, scientific director of the Nutrition Foundation, Inc., points out that, "Fundamentally there can be no substitute for adequate nutrition. To supply the body with billions and billions of body cells, food with dozens of balanced nutrients is necessary to maintain them in a state of repair called 'health.'"

To get all the foods in the health picture from the crib crowd on, select foods with an eye to variety and balance. For older people, slower digestion and dentures must be considered. Briefly, protein foods, yellow and green vegetables, citrus fruits and juices, enriched cereal foods—as enriched bread—and just enough fats and sugars for energy all should be in focus.

WILL BE HIGH AND DRY SOON

Monticello, Ind.—The Hoosier State's largest summer resort, Indiana Beach, Shafer Lake, now in the midst of a busy summer season, will be left high and dry shortly after Labor Day when the gates of the Norway Dam are opened and the waters of Shafer Lake are gradually released. Thousands of visitors are anticipated at the Lake Shafer, Freeman, Monticello area when the lowering of the two lakes begins Monday, September 20. Refilling of the lakes will begin about November 1st, after repairs are made on both Norway and Oakdale dams.

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, Jr.

Perhaps the outstanding accomplishment of the 83rd Congress, which has gone home, was the re-establishment of cordial relations between Capitol Hill and the White House.

President Eisenhower deserves much of the credit, as his attitude towards the legislative branch of the government was friendly and considerate. The Congress in turn showed a willingness to cooperate with the administration. Even the opposition Democrats in Congress generally were restrained in what was said personally about the Chief Executive.

All of this was in marked contrast to what has happened in the last 24 years. The late President Roosevelt seldom missed an opportunity to try to impress the nation that the executive establishment was the truly big branch of government. He looked upon his congressional leaders merely as lieutenants charged with the responsibility of carrying out policy rather than co-partners in forming policy. Mr. Truman seemed to enjoy lambasting the Congress, even though he had been a member of it until elected Vice President. In fact, Mr. Truman was unmerciful in what he said about the Republican-controlled 80th Congress, dubbing it a "do-nothing" Congress and the "second worst" Congress in history.

The public is the real loser when hostility exists between the Executive and Legislative branches, because legislation cannot be considered on its merits when feelings are ruffled.

But in the 83rd Congress this was different. The President worked with Congress and Congress worked with the President, with the result that Mr. Eisenhower's legislative program was largely enacted . . . and his record was far better than that of Mr. Truman even though Mr. Eisenhower had a more closely divided Congress and at one time actually lacked one vote of having a majority in the Senate.

Throughout the entire session of the 83rd Congress Mr. Eisenhower showed great political courage. He refused to be stampeded into a New Deal program designed to ward off what the New Dealers claimed was an impending depression. The President took a different view . . . pointed out that unemployment was spotty . . . that business was improving and that it would continue to improve. Time has shown the President to be correct.

Both the President and Congress showed political courage and leadership in the successful—although difficult—transition from a war-time economy to a more normal peace-time-preparedness economy. The amazing part of this was that there was not more business recession with more unemployment resulting than actually occurred.

Another significant example of cooperation is found in moves to curtail the bureaucracy that has grown up in Washington. The trend was shifted from a larger federal government to a return of power to the states. The Congress appointed the Hoover Commission and the Intergovernmental Relations Commission and in many instances took direct legislative action such as . . . giving the states more control over unemployment compensation . . . and bluntly challenging the move to expand government control over the generation of electric and atomic power.

The White House and Capitol Hill reversed the philosophy of tax and tax and spend and spend. Appropriations have been drastically cut below those of the former administration.

The Administration's supporters put through the largest tax reduction in history, designed, as Mr. Eisenhower said, to benefit all people and to remove a number of road blocks and shackles which were stifling business expansion.

In foreign affairs the President reversed things. For instance, Mr. Truman ordered American troops into Korea, and Congress learned about it from the newspapers. At the height of the Indo-China tension, Mr. Eisenhower consulted frequently with congressional leaders and publicly announced that Americans would not be sent to fight in the rice paddies in Southeast Asia without congressional approval.

You can drive yourself to sleep, warns the Chicago Motor Club. Traveling at high speeds along a monotonous stretch of highway can hypnotize you into even following a truck right off the road and crashing into it. Avoid highway hypnosis by stopping and resting from time to time.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

WHOSE FARM IS THIS?

Can you identify the farm pictured above? This is another of the farm pictures to be printed in the Co-Op. News, and as no one knows whose farm it is, can you help identify it? There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

The farm pictured in our issue of August 11th was that of Glen Mellott. The 240-acre farm is owned by Glen's father, Roy, and was formerly the Oral Welch farm. It lies north of Mentone on Road 19. Glen and his wife, Frances have lived on the farm the past six years. They do general farming and raise cattle and chickens.

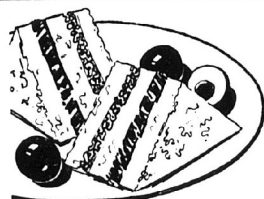

Two children, Steven, aged 8, and Linda, 10, attend the Mentone school.

The farm pictured in our last issue was that of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Grubbs, and was correctly identified by Bobby Griffiths and Wm. Grass.

Mr. and Mrs. Grubbs are now at Rochester, Minn. where Mrs. Grubbs underwent a kidney operation at the Mayo Clinic Friday. She is reportedly recovering nicely and they expect to return home within a few days.

- Today good will may starve to death. Keep it alive with customer courtesy and careful advertising.

Mentone to play six baseball games
The coaches of Kosciusko County have drawn up a schedule of baseball games for September. Mentone will play six games with four at home and two away. The first game of the schedule will be with Silver Lake at Mentone Thursday, September 2, at 4:00. On Monday and Thursday evenings.

Driver Training a popular subject

This year at Mentone, Driver Training was one of the subjects most in demand. Forty-two students signed up, but since the instructor could accommodate only twenty-eight, it was necessary to ask 14 students to wait another year. Mr. Gall Metzger of Sidney is the teacher again this year. He comes to Mentone each Tuesday, and visits eight other schools on the other four days of the school week. A 1954 Buick furnished by Bledsoe Buick of Warsaw will be the driver training car. It is equipped with dual controls. All students learning to drive are covered by insurance. There is a charge to each student of $2.00 to help pay the cost of insurance, gasoline, oil, and repair. The township trustee pays the teacher's salary. Some advantages of learning to drive under the direction of a trained instructor are: (1) Proper methods of operating the automobile are emphasized, (2) attitudes conducive to safe driving are stressed, (3) insurance rates are lower for boys and girls under 25 who have successfully completed the course.

Billie Joe Kindig, third grade, was hit in the left eye by a ball while on the playground Monday. Although the injury did not prove serious, he is sporting a 'shiner'.

Dr. Wilson examined the athletes on Friday. A thorough examination is a requirement of the Indiana High School Athletic Association. The Mentone School requires that each athlete carry insurance. The school pays part of the cost of the accident insurance.

4-H CLUB CHATTER

By Ruth Snellenberger

Dear 4-H members and friends,
The beginning of a new 4-H year is what I wish to chat about today. The 4-H club extends from one annual county 4-H exhibit to another. That means the 1954-55 club year is already started!

Yes, 4-H work is a year around procedure — not just a summertime activity. Why? Does a homemaker's task ever stop? Are children expected to quit helping at home? If you answer 'No' to these last two questions, I believe you have an answer to why 4-H club work is continuous the year around. I'll agree that many clubs do not meet as regularly — more and more clubs though each year are meeting year around — but even so, things which the 4-H members do at home now can count on new projects, provided, of course, the jobs fall into the category of requirements for a particular division.

Food preservation members who will be taking the higher divisions by all means should be doing canning or freezing. The reason is obvious. A variety of vegetables and fruits are available now and, in all probability, many of these won't be before fair time next year.

Food preparation members have said they like to begin project work right after the fair because many flowers are available to do centerpieces. Then, too, with Halloween, Thanksgiving, and Christmas not too far away, these are occasions for which centerpieces can especially be arranged. In addition to these reasons, girls say they do some of the cooking, set table, and wash dishes all the year around.

Home Improvement members need to plan this fall what they expect to do for project requirements. In division two especially, planning done often includes consideration and help from other members of the family. A plan is needed often to make certain there will be money available to re-paint a room or have new wallpaper put on.

What about enrollment cards and project record books and bulletins? These will be made available at the earliest possible date after the next adult leaders meeting which is scheduled for September 17. Members can start work without having signed an enrollment card or without having a record book. Keep a written record — a good place is on a calendar which one is careful not to throw away — and then later copy the data in a record book. To know just what the particular requirements are a member can check into project record books just completed. New members can consult a junior leader in their respective communities.

Speaking of a new club year, what should be the enrollment goal for girls? How about someone sending in a slogan? Since we've a few more than 500 enrolled this year someone has said we should strive for '555 in '55'. Or maybe '55 more in '55'. According to the 1950 census there are 2387 girls of 4-H club age (10-20) in Kosciusko County.

Bye now.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

The District youth and counselors attending the rally this past Sunday afternoon and evening at Epworth Forest number over 650, an increase of 250 over that of last year. Dr. Thurman Morris appropriately addressed the assembly of young people and youth-workers, and his remarks were attentively received. An announcement concerning the World Friendship banquet was made. This next district youth gathering will be at Eskimo Inn at Winona Lake on October 12th. The speaker will be a young person who has spent several of the past years in India and is now attending Purdue University.

Several women of the local church attended the Missionary Education Seminar held at the Albion Methodist church this past Wednesday.

Rev. Gosser attended the ministers' meeting of the South Group held at Leesburg on Wednesday morning concerning the Spiritual Life Mission which will be participated in by the Methodist churches of the Indiana area. Ministers from the Crawfordsville district will be the speakers here in the Warsaw district during the week of October 17. In the week of November 7 the ministers of this district will be speaking in the churches of the Greencastle district. As the program develops additional announcements will be made through news items and from the pastor's study.

Next week Rev. Gosser will be attending the School of the Prophets to be held at DePauw University in Greencastle. This is not an optional meeting for ministers, but one forcefully recommended by Bishop Raines and the district superintendents. Seminars and lectures are highly inspirational and beneficial. On Friday the laymen of the area meet for the Third Laymen's Institute which, last year was attended by several of the local laymen and very highly recommended. It is not too late to enter a registration for this year. Laymen desiring to do so should contact Mr. Raymond Cooper as soon as possible.

The rumor is out that Rev. Gosser will be appearing on television each day of the week he is in Greencastle. A quartet of ministers will accompany outstanding speakers who appear on an Indianapolis TV station each day next week. Mr. Gosser, Rev. Raymond Echols, Rev. Willard Doyle, and a Rev. Tucker will sing two numbers for each daily program.

The choir will meet this Thursday evening at 7:15 to begin rehearsals for an intensive fall program which may include a Christmas cantata to be presented on December 19. At eight o'clock the official board will meet to resume the business sessions for the programming of the remainder of this conference year.

The worst time of all to drive is the very time you're probably going home from work, reports the Chicago Motor Club. It's getting dark. You're tired. There's more traffic than at any other time. Take it easy—find the least-traveled route and avoid the worst traffic.

Look back. Make sure your driveway is clear before you drive your car out.

LADIES MAKE TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Shown to the right are Mrs. Gertrude Hill, Mrs. Floyd Swoverland, Mrs. Grace Rans and Mrs. Richard Whittenberger, who left a week ago Wednesday on a ten-day tour to California with an Indiana delegation of Home Economics Club ladies. Mrs. Swoverland is from Etna Green and Mrs. Whittenberger of near Akron, while the other two are well known Mentone citizens.

The group went by bus to Lafayette where they assembled at the Purdue Music Hall before departing on three special railroad trains, in company with the Purdue Glee club and its director, Al Stewart. They enjoyed a five hour stop at Salt Lake City, and a 2½-hour tour on the trip west, arriving at Los Angeles Saturday morning. Sunday evening the chorus sang in the Hollywood Bowl in a charity performance for a children's hospital in L. A. in which $20,000 was raised.

While in the western city the group enjoyed many interesting sightseeing tours of TV studios, Knott's Berry Farm, Forest Lawn Memorial cemetery, and Farmers Market, and a special showing of "Cinerama."

On the return on the 5,000-mile trip they spent 12 hours at Grand Canyon. The ladies arrived back in Mentone on last Friday evening.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Following an accident Thursday of last week involving a car driven by Masa Nelson of Mentone and a pick-up truck driven by Clayton Blessing of R. 1, Nappanee, at the junction of State Road 25 and the Sevastopol road, one mile east of Mentone, a charge of failing to yield the right of way was filed by Deputy Sheriff Richard Sand against Clayton Blessing, who, on a plea of guilty, was assessed a fine of $1 and costs amounting to $15.75, in the court of Justice of the Peace C. O. Eller.

On Friday evening Billy Horn, 17, was charged by Night Officer Asa Dirck with failing to observe a stop sign at the intersection of Broadway and Harrison streets in Mentone. On a plea of guilty by the defendant, Justice Eller imposed a fine of $1 and costs amounting to $15.75, which was suspended by the court, pending a ninety day probation period in lieu of payment, subject to invoking of the fine and costs in the event of any infraction during that period. Defendant was ordered to report to the justice each Monday night during this period.

On Saturday evening, Donald Neher, 25, of Bremen, was arrested and taken before Justice Eller on a charge of failing to observe the stop sign at Broadway and Harrison streets, and, pleading guilty, was fined $1 and costs amounting to $15.75.

Two charges were filed by Alden Jones, Claypool, Saturday evening, against R. L. Collins of Decatur, Indiana, in the court of Justice Eller, following an accident at the bridge, one-half mile west of Mentone on State Road 25. The specific charges were reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. A warrant for the arrest of Collins was issued by the court and arraignment pending necessary action by the sheriff in apprehending the defendant.

SELECT MIRROR THAT'S FUNCTIONAL AND ORNAMENTAL

If your living room has a great deal of pattern, you might like to hang a mirror there instead of a picture.

However, such a mirror should be functional as well as ornamental, suggests Miss Martha Jo Bentley, extension home furnishings specialist at Purdue University. The size, shape and frame of the mirror should harmonize with the other furnishings in the room.

To serve its purpose, a mirror should reflect a face, a view or a portion of the room without distortion. Ground and polish plate-glass mirrors will not cause distortions of figures reflected from an angle. Mirrors made from window glass have not been ground and polished.

A mirror in the right place can make a dull room appear lighter, more spacious and cheerful. This is particularly true in a small room because the mirror reflects the room and gives an impression of additional space.

A large bevel-edged mirror over the fireplace will give the appearance of increased ceiling height. If the walls and draperies are light in color, the reflection of these also will make the room appear large and spacious.

Over the sofa or the piano are other places where you might like to hang a mirror. If you have a large window area, a good location for the mirror is on the opposite wall so that the beauty of the outdoors will be reflected into the room. Miss Bentley cautions not to hang a mirror where the direct sun will shine on it.

13TH DISTRICT CLUB WOMEN TO CONVENE WEDNESDAY

A call for the annual convention of the 13th District Indiana Federation of Clubs has been issued by the president, Mrs. B. H. Summey, of Pierceton. The all-day meeting, opening at 9:30, will be held Wednesday, September 15 at the Westminster hotel at Winona Lake. Reservations for the noon luncheon should be made by Sept. 13 with Mrs. Ford Hardman, 354 N. Buffalo St., Warsaw.

In keeping with the theme of the convention "The Club Woman Accepts Responsibilities," the state president, Mrs. H. P. Humphrey of Osgood, will address the convention on the subject "Pick Up Your Pallet." Mrs. D. W. Barr of Winamac, first vice president, will also speak.

Departmental chairmen will present plans of their work during the morning session and county presidents will tell of the projects for the coming club year.

Other features of the program are a one-act play by the Warsaw Dramatic club and music by Ruth Rodeheaver Thomas.

An exhibit of pictures by district artists is being arranged by Mrs. George Baum, state and district art chairman, assisted by Mrs. Allee Gerard of Warsaw.

Now's a good time to reseed places in the old lawn or seed a new one. Purdue University horticulturists remind lawn owners that Kentucky or Merion bluegrass seed makes the best lawns. Their advice is, "Don't allow the young grass seedlings to get thirsty."

SAVE TIME — FALL FERTILIZE; SUBSOIL IF IT'S NEEDED

Put time in the bank this fall and save it for a rainy day next spring.

It's possible, claim Purdue University agronomists. They say farmers will be ahead to apply broadcast applications of phosphate and potash fertilizers this fall instead of next spring. They reason that equipment, manpower and extra time are freer in the autumn season than during spring rush.

But, there's more to it than that. Dr. J. B. Peterson, head of Purdue's agronomy department, says spring work may be considerably speeded up if corn fertilizer is applied in the fall. Farmers can go ahead and top dress their pastures in the fall. They'll find the ground is firmer so that spreader trucks do less damage to seedbeds or to growing crops.

Another thing in favor of fall fertilization is the supply on hand. It's larger in the fall and delivery is usually faster than during spring rush.

Don't be afraid phosphate and potash fertilizer will leach out between application and planting time, advises Dr. Peterson. Except for very sandy soil, phosphate and potash leach little or not at all. Soil tests, of course, will determine what applications to make.

Nitrogen materials may also be applied on heavy, poorly drained soils late in the fall and still retain their effectiveness. The ammonia form is preferable here, since it's held by the clay against leaching, says this soils authority. The nitrate form will readily leach, if water is moving down through the soil. Soils which require fall plowing to obtain a suitable seedbed are usually soils on which nitrogen can be applied with little loss in efficiency.

Dr. Peterson says farmers who have soils heavy at the plow sole depth or just below the plow layer (caused by high clay content) may want to make a deep application of nitrogen, phosphate and potash this fall. Recommended is the subsoiling method which puts the fertilizer down in a well-distributed pattern to a depth of about 20 inches. The operation should be done when the subsoil is dry to aid shattering the ground and to prevent the damaging process of soil smearing.

Best time to subsoil is late summer and fall. Dr. Peterson adds that, in some years, deep fertilization can be done as late as December.

Subsoiling is rather expensive. That's why he advises applying a large amount of fertilizer in one operation, if the subsoil really needs it. In all cases, soil tests of the subsoil should precede this work.

As a standard rate of fertilization, Dr. Peterson recommends farmers apply 100 pounds each of nitrogen (N), phosphate (P2O5) and potash (K2O) per acre. If the subsoil's below PH 6, then it's advisable to also apply about 1000 pounds of agricultural ground limestone per acre in the subsoil.

Many companies build subsoilers, but few have attempted to add a fertilizer spout behind. It's not difficult to attach a hopper above the subsoil chisel and connect it so it will apply fertilizer behind the chisel. The fertilizer should come out at three or four openings below the plow sole, so it's distributed in a continuous band to the bottom of the groove and attracts crop roots into the subsoil. Suggestions for equipping a subsoiler to handle fertilizer are given in Agronomy Mimeograph AY57a, recently published by the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Service. It will soon be available from the county agent.

So far, there's no experimental evidence on how often to subsoil. However, it's believed if ample fertilizer is used, the operation need not be repeated more than once a rotation, or every three or four years.

Purdue experiments have shown it pays most to subsoil fertilized corn. And it will probably be best to subsoil this fall preceding spring planting of corn.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY REGULATIONS IN EFFECT

The sweeping new amendments to the Social Security Act, signed into law 9-1-54 by President Eisenhower, will affect virtually every family in this area, according to Gerald O. Kelter, district manager of the Social Security Administration.

"The protection of old-age and survivors insurance is now extended to 9 out of 10 families in the community," Kelter said, "and the benefit payments, not only to future beneficiaries but also to those now on the rolls, have been substantially increased."

The amended Social Security Act.

1. Extends coverage, commencing January 1, 1955, to about 10 million more gainfully-employed people, including self-employed farm operators and most farm workers.

2. Increases benefits to all present and future retired workers and to their dependents and survivors.

3. Determines benefits on a more advantageous basis by permitting a worker to drop out as many as five years of low or no earnings in computing his average wage, and by increasing to $4,200 the amount of annual earnings that can be counted toward benefits.

4. Preserves the rights of totally disabled workers to any rights they may have earned and provides for their referral to State agencies, for rehabilitation services.

THE STORY OF PHILLIPS 66

Flite-Fuel

FROM THE SKYWAYS TO THE HIGHWAYS

FOR MILITARY USE Phillips originated new super-power aviation fuel components—Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull) and MF Alkylate. These made possible more powerful, higher anti-knock fuels for combat aircraft.

RESTRICTED for use in high performance aviation gasoline, these powerful components have for years been on U.S. Government priority. But now restrictions have been released and Phillips is able to use them in automotive gasoline.

TODAY, Di-isopropyl is available to motorists exclusively in a new gasoline called Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel. It gives increased power, greater fuel economy, higher anti-knock quality, freedom from stalling...and it's clean-burning!

GET PHILLIPS 66 FLITE-FUEL at any station where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield. Let your car's performance tell the story. You'll discover a new driving experience.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

WHOSE FARM IS THIS?

Can you identify the farm pictured above? This is another of the farm pictures to be printed in the Co-Op. News, and as no one knows whose farm it is, can you help identify it? There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

The only reply we had last week to our farm picture was that of Earl Zent. He said the farm pictured was that belonging to Lloyd Zent.

4-H CLUB CHATTER

By Ruth Snellenberger

Dear 4-H Members and Friends,
Since I'm spending these two weeks at the Indiana State Fair School of Home Economics, I thought you all might like to know a little about it.

How are girls selected to attend? Each county may send three girls, who are at least 16 years of age on January 1 of this year, who are unmarried, and who have not attended college for credit. This year letters were sent to all 4-H girls who qualified by age and who had not attended the school. An explanation was made that the school offered training in homemaking activities and crafts and offered opportunities for leadership. Expenses of two girls in our county are paid by the Kosciusko County Home Demonstration Association while that of the third girl is paid by the Kosciusko County Fair Bureau.

For consideration by the 4-H awards committee, each girl interested was to write a letter to the committee telling of her 4-H achievement, school, church and community activities, and telling why she thought she'd like to attend the school. These letters then were used in making the selections.

The school begins on Tuesday before the State Fair officially opens and closes on Friday, the last day of the Fair.

Classes in dining room offer opportunity to arrange service of three types: Cafeteria for breakfast, family style for lunch, and English service for dinner. Organization in preparation of tables, managing traffic lanes for supply routes, and efficient serving of foods are some of the aspects emphasized.

JOHN WILSON HONORED BY UNITED AIR LINES

He joined United's ground services department at Cheyenne in 1944 and became a telephone sales agent at Denver in 1945. Wilson was named senior telephone sales agent there in 1952 and assumed his current post last year. John is the son of Orville Wilson, Mentone.

You may prevent a bad accident and perhaps save a life by cutting weeds at highway intersections. Topping corn may serve the same purpose. At least check the situation, say Purdue University agricultural safety specialists. Don't just assume it's safe.

METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

The proximity of a program area may, at times, have the same effect upon us that our children have. We may either over-emphasize their importance or take them so much for granted that we neglect them. Epworth Forest, the Summer Program Area for the Methodist Church of the North Indiana Conference is almost at our front door, but we may not be aware that at least 2,000 different adults participated in the Assembly, the WSCS School of Missions and Training Institute, the Laboratory School, the Laymen's Rally, Wesleyan Service Guild Week-end, and the Young Adult and Older Adult Conferences.

Dr. George Fenstermacher, Executive Secretary of the Board of Education for the North Indiana Conference, has compiled the following statistics which include many of the youth of the local church and some adults: 138 youth were registered in the Young People's Missionary Camp, 2903 full time registrations and 627 part time registrations of youth in the Senior High Institutes, 770 registrations of intermediates in Camp Adventure with 139 adults serving as counsellors on a voluntary basis, and an indefinite number of adults serving as teachers, cooks, and counsellors for the high school institutes. In all, about 6,500 different persons participated in this season's program at Epworth Forest.

The program necessitated the appearance of many leaders of the Warsaw District and of the Conference at several different programs during the summer. The churches which support these leaders make a far greater contribution to the total program of the church than they have been credited in doing. The local church serves as an illustration, for its pastor is Conference Director of Intermediate Work with emphasis on Camp Adventure; he serves on the Epworth Forest Foundation, is a member of the Epworth Forest Youth Commission, the Conference Board of Education, the Governor's Economic Council and State Conference on Recreation, all because he has been Director of a District Camp Adventure.

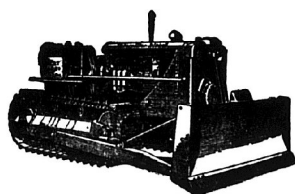

This coming week-end the Methodist Lay Men of the state of Indiana will meet at DePauw University in Greencastle for the Fourth Annual Institute For Methodist Men. Outstanding leaders and speakers of the program are Bishop Raines, George Stoll — retired oil company president, Ex-Governor Henry F. Schrickler, Assistant Secretary of Labor, J. Ernest Wilkins, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy of the University of Illinois, the Rev. Joshua Russell Chandran of India, Bishop Hazen G. Werner, Dr. Edwin R. Garrison, Dr. Rockwell Smith — noted professor of Rural Sociology and Church Administration, Eugene L. Smith of the Division of World Missions, and Perdu's own Al Stewart. There are other outstanding leaders who will participate in the program, also, but from Friday at 3 p.m. until Sunday noon, the hours will be packed with inspiration and fellowship such as church-men have seldom experienced.

Mr. Ralph Mollenhour and Mr. Lyman Mollenhour of the local church will be attending this program. For additional information contact Mr. Raymond Cooper, Lay Leader and previous attender of this Institute.

CALVIN WAGNER ENDS LIFE

LaVierie Calvin Wagner, aged 27, of Mentone, veteran of the Korean war, committed suicide shortly after noon Thursday at the home of his estranged wife, Iva, at Akron, by shooting himself with a .38 calibre revolver.

Mrs. Wagner, the former Iva VanDoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold VanDoran, of Akron, route 2, had recently filed a divorce proceeding against her husband.

Wagner apparently entered his wife's home at Akron some time Thursday morning after she had gone to work as a bookkeeper in the same neighborhood.

Mrs. Wagner returned home shortly before noon for lunch, at which time she discussed with Max Leckrone, a bottle gas salesman, an order to change the bottle gas containers at her home.

Leckrone departed from the home, and Mrs. Wagner returned to the inside of the house to prepare her lunch. She heard a noise and thought it was Leckrone returning to the home. When she turned around, Mrs. Wagner saw her husband in the house. She turned and ran to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Fred Roe, when she heard a shot. From the Roe home Mrs. Wagner placed a telephone call to her attorney in Rochester, who in turn notified Sheriff Lawrence Norris, of Fulton county.

Shortly after his arrival at the scene, Sheriff Norris entered the Wagner home and found the body of Wagner lying on the floor in the living room.

Dr. Dean Stinson, Fulton county coroner, returned a verdict of suicide by a self-inflicted bullet.

Calvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin E. Wagner of Mentone, was a native of Bourbon, having been born there May 22, 1927. His family later moved to Mentone where he grew to manhood and was a graduate of Mentone high school.

During the Korean war he served 11 months with the Second Infantry Division, participated in the campaign of Heartbreak Ridge and was promoted to sergeant first class.

Calvin entered the service Sept. 8, 1950, soon after the outbreak of hostilities. He was trained at Camp Carson, Colo., and sent overseas the following March. He was returned home in February, 1952, and completed his army service at Fort Leonard Wood, Born near Mentone, Nov. 22, 1894, the daughter of John and Kathryn (Hinkle) Romine, Mrs. Gross had lived in this community all of her life. Rev. David Gosser went to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania Monday afternoon to visit his father in the hospital there. The father recently suffered a heart attack. The trip was made by plane with Allen Herendeen as the pilot.

Mo. He was married in the Warsaw Baptist church to Iva VanDoran June 8, 1952, just before his army discharge.

Born in this county, Dec. 5, 1872, the son of William and Marietta (Heeter) Robbins, Mr. Robbins had lived in this community all of his life.

The deceased is survived by his wife, the former Luella Dorland, whom he married 52 years ago; one son, Ralph of Fort Wayne; one daughter, Mrs. Mildred Flenar, Mentone; 12 grandchildren; 14 great-grandchildren, and one brother, Ira Robbins, of Plymouth.

Funeral services were held at the Reed funeral home with Rev. Delbert Ruberg, of Talma, officiating. Burial was in the Mentone cemetery.

PTA MEETS

At 6:30 on Wednesday, Sept. 8th, a good sized group of PTA members met in the school cafeteria. After Grace by Mr. Ralph Hoffman, a wonderful pot-luck supper was served. The hospitality committee had made the tables attractive with gay bouquets of fall flowers.

Everyone was given an opportunity to pay his dues, and the membership committee gave everyone a name tag to wear.

During the business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Robert Hoover, some business from last year was finished. The group had voted to help buy a bell system for the new addition, but the amount to be spent was not specified. After a short discussion, a motion to spend $125 was approved.

Mr. Kenneth Riner, program chairman, announced a panel discussion on teen-age driving, with five prominent men as panelists for the next meeting. This promises to be very interesting.

The program was adjourned after the showing of two educational films, "The American Teacher" and "Guidance Problems for Parents and Teachers."

HOME FROM EUROPE

Mrs. Hobart Creighton and daughter, Martha, of near Warsaw, and Miss Jackie Blue of Mentone, returned Saturday evening following an extended European tour by plane. Mr. Creighton who went on to Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey, will return the last of the month. The entire group attended the World Poultry Congress at Edinburgh, Scotland, and also toured Oslo, Norway; Copenhagen, Denmark; Switzerland, Germany; Paris, France; London, England, and many other places of interest.

We understand that Martha and Jackie visited in some of the homes in the various countries, which should give them some very interesting accounts to relate.

STILL TIME FOR THAT VACATION

The Chicago Motor Club pointed out that early fall months are ideal for vacations.

Lower costs and less crowded conditions make late season vacationing increasingly popular with many motorists. Many of the popular resorts, which are anxious to stay open in the fall months, reduce their rates without reducing their service or hospitality. Many of the resort communities schedule special events in the fall months especially for the enjoyment of the late vacationers.

Highway conditions are another big point with many vacationers. Motorists who wish to avoid summer traffic should travel in the fall when roads and highways are less crowded.

Weather in the fall months is only slightly cooler than in the middle of the summer. In certain sections of the country there is no difference. In many areas foliage is still at its peak of greenness while in other parts of the country the fall visitor is the first to see autumn changes in color. Color tours are one of the biggest attractions for fall vacationists.

September is usually ideal for working on the roofs of farm buildings. Most of the other work is caught up and the weather's dry enough so the work can be done. Purdue University agricultural engineers say to remember that metallic zinc paint is the best protection for rusty metal.

The Hession fly is still around. That means it's still necessary to prevent this fly from becoming abundant and destructive by delaying wheat sowing until after the fly-free date. After September 22 is considered safe for the extreme northern end of the state and October 8 is the fly free date in the extreme south end. Consult the county agent for the date in your locality, advise Purdue University entomologists.

Here's a tip for homeowners who have automatic clothes dryers. Avoid overdrying and save fuel and fabric by careful timing. That's the advice of Miss Gertrude Monhaut, extension home management specialist, Purdue University. She says if clothes are left in the dryer after all moisture is removed, the cost of operation goes up and fabrics get wrinkled. She advises homemakers to read the instruction booklet and the timing guide that comes with the dryer.

BIG FARM SHOW TO BE HELD OCTOBER 7

The latest farm research in action will be the theme of the big Farm Progress Show to be held October 7 on the Miles Martin farm in Carroll county, Indiana.

The show is being sponsored by Prairie Farmer—WLS with the cooperation of Purdue University, the University of Illinois, the state soil conservation service, and local organizations.

It will be a full day jam-packed with exciting events. There will be demonstrations of all kinds of farm equipment, crop experiments conducted and explained by Purdue University, a stage show by your favorite National Barn Dance stars, a woman's program, junior land judging contest, tractor driving contest, irrigation demonstrations, interesting results of corn planted and fertilized by many different methods; in fact, practically everything you would expect at a farm show.

Three separate stage shows are being planned so that you can take in one and still have plenty of time to see the demonstrations and exhibits.

There is no charge for admission and no charge for parking. There will be plenty of parking space and drinking water on the grounds. Twelve church organizations will be in charge of the food concessions.

Teams are entered from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin in the land judging contest. Five midwest states will compete in the interstate tractor operator's driving contest. They are Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Kansas.

The demonstration plots will be the center of interest. In the corn plots four different methods of planting have been used—mulch planting; plow and plant, or Michigan system; use of a Graham Hoe-hme followed by planting; and double disking without plowing and then planting the corn.

Plots have different levels of fertility. They vary from application of no fertilizer up to over 1,000 pounds per acre. All the plots will be marked and the results posted for Farm Progress Day.

There will be many other demonstrations including pasture renovation and the results of seeding birdsfoot trefoil at double the recommended amount. Women are especially invited quality of education which your child receives.

4-H CLUB CHATTER

By Ruth Snellenberger

Dear 4-H Members and Friends,

Today I'd like to discuss the organization of the County 4-H Council. My source of information is the constitution of this organization set up several years ago.

The purpose of the organization is "To serve as a directory group for the guidance of affairs of the Kosciusko County 4-H program."

Membership is made up of advisory committees of the local 4-H clubs throughout the county. This local 4-H club committee "shall consist of at least three and not more than four members." Since there are 26 4-H home economics clubs and 15 4-H agriculture clubs in the county, mathematically speaking there should be from 123 to 164 members in the County 4-H Council.

This group "shall meet annually in September to elect new directors, evaluate the year's program, and plan for the following year." September 29, 1954 was the date set for this annual meeting, on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. This group also "shall meet on call of the chairman when directors deem it wise to have the decision of the entire council."

The official body of the 4-H Council consists of "A board of directors with one director representing each of the following areas: Turkey Creek Township, Van Buren Township, Jefferson Township, Scott and Etna Townships, Atwood, Plain Township, Tippecanoe Township, Washington Township, Wayne Township, Mentone, Seward Township, Franklin Township, Lake Township, Clay Township, Jackson Township and Monroe Township." Sixteen community areas, most of them by townships, are designated. Those Council members present from each area at the aforementioned September meeting "shall select a representative of their area who will serve as a director." If an area is not represented, the incumbent director holds office for another year.

The chairman and vice-chairman of the county adult leader's organization are ex-officio members of the board of directors.

The board of directors "shall meet and elect a president, vice-president, and secretary, and shall approve the appointment of a treasurer" after the annual meeting. This board meets on call of the president.

Persons who are members of a local 4-H club advisory committee have been, I believe in many cases, named by the 4-H adult leader. Actually the constitution states, "Members of local 4-H Committees shall be selected in local meetings attended by parents and club members at intervals not to exceed two years. The leaders and director shall be jointly responsible for this meeting." Maybe this part of the constitution needs to be modified, since it apparently hasn't worked.

Next week I'd like to continue this chat and discuss duties and functioning of the County 4-H council.

'Bye now.

Ruth R. Snellenberger

NO RECESSION IN FARM SUPPLIES SAYS INDIANA CO-OP

There still is on "recession" in the business of distributing supplies to Indiana farmers. Every month this year has seen an increase in volume of Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association and August saw the co-op moving 18 percent more of such supplies out to the farms than it did in August, 1953, according to Herbert C. Fledderjohn, director of distribution. The increase for the year to September 1 is 15.1 percent. And 1953 was a near-record year for the co-op.

The volume of gasoline and oils distributed by the co-op during the eight-month period was up 11.28 percent over the corresponding period of 1953. This is indicative of increased use of power machinery on farms, pointed out Albert Russell, assistant manager, petroleum department. More gasoline and oil being consumed signalizes more all-around production activity by farmers.

Heavier feeding of livestock also is indicated by the 23.41 percent increase in distribution of co-op feeds. The co-op makes concentrated feeds at its mill in Hammond for supplementing the farmer's home-grown grains.

Arthur Mullin's fertilizer department reports one-fifth more fertilizer distributed this year to date than in the same period of last year, resulting from farmers' efforts to boost per acre yields. When yields are totaled, Mullin predicted, liberal use of fertilizer will have been found to help overcome the effects of 1954 drouth.

The telephone operators had a party Tuesday evening.

SHOTGUN BLAST RUINS PICTURE ON TV SET

Polaroid One-Minute Photo by Co-op. News

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENS when a shotgun blast makes a dead-center hit on the picture screen of a modern television set. The above photo was taken of a set brought into the Baker Jewelry and Appliance Store for repairs. The name of the owner of the set was not divulged, but suffice to say the 8-year-old boy that made the shot, was badly shaken up as well as scared when the gun with which he was playing, went "bang." The boy was alone in the room with three other children when the accident happened. Some parents are most likely perfectly happy in that the television set was the only casualty.

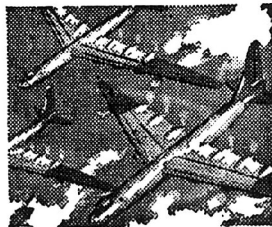

THE STORY OF PHILLIPS 66

Flite-Fuel

FROM THE SKYWAYS TO THE HIGHWAYS

FOR MILITARY USE Phillips originated new super-power aviation fuel components—Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull) and MF Alkylate. These made possible more powerful, higher anti-knock fuels for combat aircraft.

RESTRICTED for use in high performance aviation gasoline, these powerful components have for years been on U. S. Government priority. But now restrictions have been released and Phillips is able to use them in automotive gasoline.

TODAY, Di-isopropyl is available to motorists exclusively in a new gasoline called Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel. It gives increased power, greater fuel economy, higher anti-knock quality, freedom from stalling... and it's clean-burning!

GET PHILLIPS 66 FLITE-FUEL at any station where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield. Let your car's performance tell the story. You'll discover a new driving experience.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

WHOSE FARM IS THIS?

Can you identify the farm pictured above? This is another of the farm pictures to be printed in the Co-Op. News, and as no one knows whose farm it is, can you help identify it? There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

The farm pictured in our last issue was the 80-acre farm of Ruth and Harold Maxwell, who live about four and one-half miles southeast of Mentone. They purchased the farm six years ago from J. R. Bevelheimer.

The Maxwells have one daughter, Patricia, aged 9 years. She attends the Beaver Dam school.

Margaret Blackburn was the only person to call and properly identify the farm.

GENERAL TELEPHONE ASKING FOR INCREASE IN RATES

Officials of General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., today filed a petition with the Public Service Commission of Indiana seeking authority to increase its rates and charges. According to the petition, additional revenues are required to offset the increased costs of materials and taxes.

The petition did not disclose a specific amount requested, but asked that the Commission establish a schedule of rates which would be just and reasonable and sufficient to pay all necessary and proper operating expenses, service its bonded indebtedness, pay dividends upon its preferred and common stock, and to maintain a sound financial structure which would permit the Company to secure additional financing necessary to assure the future expansion and improvement of the Company's facilities.

The Company is operating and furnishing telephone service under rates approved by the Commission in 1952. Since that time, the Company has continued to expand its plant and facilities in order to meet the demand for telephone service and has pursued an aggressive program of rehabilitation in its exchanges. During the period July 1, 1952 to July 31, 1954, petitioner's investment in net telephone plant has increased by approximately $4,000,000, and its total capitalization has increased by about the same amount. During the same period, the Company has had a net increase in telephones in service of more than 12,000 and has converted many of its small magneto exchanges to automatic dial operation.

General Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc., is the largest independent telephone company in Indiana, operating 67 exchanges in northern and central Indiana. It serves 222 communities in Indiana with 127,000 telephones, an increase of 56,000 since 1946.

NEW TECHNIQUE USED TO IMPROVE FARM MACHINERY

When a farmer goes into town to buy a new piece of farm machinery nowadays, he can feel fairly certain that what he eventually takes home will give long, dependable service. Gone are the days when general breakdowns were common on farm machines during the first few hours of service.

Farm machinery manufacturers, aided by agricultural engineers like those at Purdue University, have developed many new ways of testing for design weaknesses before a machine goes into production. One of the most versatile and helpful devices is the strain gauge. This electronic device enables engineers to determine stresses and strains on many parts of a machine with sensitive electronic instruments.

Purdue Agricultural Engineers say this method is particularly useful in designing more efficient machines. But strain gauge testing does more than this. It allows the manufacturer to make recommendations to farm machine operators so that they may obtain maximum service over the years.

An example of how strain gauge testing aids both farmers and manufacturers is the case of a combine shaft which was failing in the field quite frequently. The strain gauges revealed to Purdue researchers that the operators of this model had a very definite tendency to overtighten the drive belt for the shaft. As a result, the manufacturer sent out a service letter to all owners of the machine describing the correct adjustment of the belt and the consequences of overtightening.

This is just one example of the many benefits of scientific test work carried on by colleges and manufacturers. The manufacturer is now able to field test his newly designed machines in a matter of days and predict for how long they will give good service.

Purdue agricultural engineers are now working to perfect the strain-gauge testing technique as it applies to agricultural equipment. They are using it to figure out strength of beams and columns in existing buildings such as barns and grain storage structures; they are checking power requirements of rotating parts on forage harvesters, balers and combines, and they are establishing design requirements for strong frames on machines like hay rakes, mowers, and other equipment.

A farmer doesn't need to understand strain-gauge testing in order to operate his new machine.

However, he will be assured to know that the marvels of electronics have provided him with an improved machine — one that will perform more faithfully in the field and offer greater satisfaction for money spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Verl Halterman and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Teel and family called on Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Enyeart in South Bend Sunday.

LARGER QUARTERS FOR CHICAGO DAIRY SHOW

The International Dairy Show will be the first event to utilize the huge addition to the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards when the 2nd annual dairy show is held there October 9 to 16.

Work on the 188,000 sq. ft. structure, adjoining the present building at the South, is being rushed for completion in time for the opening of the Dairy Show. In part, it will house stock that will be seen in the World Championship Rodeos, scheduled as an entertainment in conjunction with the dairy cattle show.

Country's Largest Building

The expanded Amphitheatre will be the country's largest exhibition building. The addition nearly doubles the exhibition area of the original International Amphitheatre constructed 20 years ago. It will be equipped with a sunken rail track from which 10 freight cars can be unloaded at once at floor level.

International Dairy Show officials anticipate a large number of foreign dairymen will visit the show this year. A world travel agency reports numerous reservations for travel to Chicago by dairymen of South and Central American countries and Europe.

First entries for this year's show are registered by several well known Eastern breeders, the management reports. Last year's initial Chicago dairy cattle classic drew over 2000 entries from 27 states and three provinces of Canada.

Farm Youths Compete

There will be competition for 4-H and F.H.A. boys and girls to exhibit animals of their own raising in all breeds; and young people will also take part in Collegiate and 4-H dairy cattle judging contests as well as in a collegiate dairy products judging contest that will be introduced this year.

Thirteen rodeos are scheduled. Conducted as sporting events, the country's top cowboys will compete for championship points in a number of dangerous

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS SET OF FARM BUILDINGS?

WHOSE FARM IS THIS?

Can you identify the farm pictured above? This is another of the farm pictures to be printed in the Co-Op. News, and as no one knows whose farm it is, can you help identify it? There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

Mrs. Allen Grindle was the first to call and identify the farm pictured in our last issue. She stated it was the Mars and Devon Tucker place, southwest of Mentone. Others also commented that they recognized the pictures as the Tucker farm.

MENTONE CLUB MEETS

The Mentone Home Demonstration Club observed guest day at the home of Mrs. Bertha Meredith in Mentone on Thursday afternoon, September 16 with Mrs. Claude Barkman as co-hostess. Nineteen members responded to roll call, most of whom presented a guest as there were fourteen guests with us.

The meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mrs. Elmer Sarber and the lesson subject of "Planters and House Plants" was given by Miss Pyle who pointed out that soil, water and drainage are of course the main factors, and she had samples of three ingredients which should compose the soil. She also showed us many colored slides collected from various places, and showed some colawood in a planter. She also mentioned that ammonium sulphate is what you use for poinsettias when the leaves turn yellow.

The meditation was given by Mrs. Gertrude Hill who read the chapter entitled, "Be Not Afraid" from the book "Seeing God in Little Things." A piano duet was rendered by Mrs. Leroy Cox and Mrs. Hill entitled, "Spanish Dance." Our Health and Safety Leader, Mrs. Harry Sullivan, gave a comic monologue entitled "Saturday Night on the Square."

The business of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Oliver Teel. The definite time for Family Night will be October 19 at the school cafeteria. The meeting closed in the usual manner after which a social hour followed with one contest. Gifts were presented to Mrs. Edith Darr, Mrs. Harry Sullivan, Mrs. Emma Anderson and Mrs. Ada Meredith. The door prize went to Mrs. Harry Sullivan and for the guests, to Mrs. Emma Meredith.

Auction articles were purchased by Mrs. Masa Nelson, Mrs. Oliver Teel, Gertrude Hill, Mrs. Harry Sullivan and Miss Pyle.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Bertha Meredith, and co-hostess, Mrs. Claude Barkman.

Students Help With Egg Show

On Friday evening the senior boys tore down and stored the bleachers on the north side of the gym. The egg show committee had employed the seniors to do this work. The junior class will serve the egg show banquet on Friday evening. The juniors were given permission to open the concession stand on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The Mentone School Band will play on Thursday evening. The pupils have been practicing for the program during band period each day. On Monday, Max Blackburn and Roger Frantz painted the curb in front of the gym, so cars will not park there. All in all the students are looking forward to the egg show.

Attendance Very Good

Attendance at school the last few days has been excellent. Several of the grades had all pupils present. A few pupils have been absent due to bad colds and upset stomachs. Since some of the teachers' salary is based upon pupils' attendance, it is important that pupils not miss school except for good reasons.

Fire Drill Held.

On Monday the first fire drill of the school year was run. Pupils and teachers cleared the building in 67 seconds. This training is provided every month to prepare pupils for any possible eventuality.

Some of the films being used this week in the regular classroom work are: "Street Safety, Your Problem," "Safety Begins At Home," "From Trees to Lumber," "Lost Harvest," and "Better Livestock."

Forty-one high school teachers and pupils have signed up to attend the Purdue-Duke football game on Oct. 9th at Purdue. The pupils will make the trip by school bus.

Mr. Weiss was absent from school on Monday.

The second meeting of the year for the Student Council was held on Wednesday. Pupils discussed the football trip, the choosing of yell leaders, and the Hallowe'en party.

Several parents have visited school this week. Parents should feel welcome to visit at any time.

URGENT! TREAT WHEAT

SEED BEFORE SOWING

Indiana wheat fields didn't escape altogether from bunt or stinking smut in 1954. Farmers who observed even a trace of this disease in their fields and haven't yet sown their 1955 crop, are urged to treat their seed with chemicals.

Seed treatment now will protect the next wheat crop against possible severe losses, say Purdue University plant pathologists. They recommend general chemical treatment of all wheat seed because conditions were unusually favorable for bunt infection the last two years.

Two chemicals are recommended for bunt control—Ceresan M and Panogen, used in either dust or slurry form. Follow the manufacturer's directions carefully in handling these poisonous chemicals, advise Purdue specialists. Many farmers prefer to have their seed treated by custom operators or to purchase certified seed—that is known to be free of bunt or is treated before sale.

Those wishing additional information should write the department of botany and plant pathology, Purdue, Lafayette, Indiana.

SAVING MORE PIGS MEANS CHEAPER PORK

The farmer who saves eight pigs per litter is going to produce pork cheaper than the fellow who saves only 5 pigs. And here's some arithmetic that Ed Miller, Purdue University extension swine specialist, figures will prove it.

Miller says it takes about 1,600 pounds of feed to carry a sow and litter from breeding to weaning. Figuring feed at $3.25 per cwt., it costs $6.50 per pig to raise an eight-pig litter to weaning. If only five pigs are saved, feed costs will be more than $10.00 each.

What can farmers do to save more pigs this fall? Miller advises confining sows at farrowing time. He suggests a daily ration of 3 or 4 pounds whole oats and three-fourths pound of protein supplement hand fed.

If several sows farrow at the same time, they may be turned into pasture together a few days after the pigs are born. Miller doesn't think robbing will be a problem if pigs are all about the same age. Overcrowding should be avoided. Only the sows and pigs that can sleep under one roof should be grouped. If individual houses are used, they should be spaced some distance apart.

Milk powder makes a valuable food for the homemaker, provided she stores it in a cool, dry place and protects it from the air. Preferably, the storage location shouldn't be warmer than 75 degrees F., or normal room temperature. Miss Lois Oberhelman, Purdue University Extension nutritionist, recommends that the jar or can be closed with a tightly fitting lid. Milk powder takes up moisture and gets lumpy if exposed to the air long.

4-H CLUB CHATTER

By Ruth Snellenberger

Dear 4-H Members and Friends,

Continuing information about the 4-H Council, I should like first to outline duties as set up in the constitution.

The membership of the Kosciusko County 4-H Council and its duly appointed sub-committees are charged with the following duties:

1. "To establish rules, regulations, and policies governing 4-H club work in Kosciusko County." It was in keeping with this duty that a 4-H policy committee was appointed this year and has met recently to review existing policies and to recommend new or revised ones.

2. "To cooperate with adult 4-H club leaders in carrying out county-wide 4-H programs by assisting." More will be said later about how assistance can be given.

3. "To guide the members of the extension staff in carrying out the county 4-H program." Vital assistance is given through recognizing immediate needs of club members so that educational help from the extension office can be well directed.

4. "To prepare budgets for expenditure of the county 4-H appropriation and secure funds budgeted." A budget committee plans this with members of the extension staff.

5. "To approve amount and number of county 4-H premiums to be paid."

6. "To select award and achievement winners." A 4-H award committee serves to carry out this obligation.

7. "To consider all awards offered for 4-H work." A good example of function in this case can be illustrated by relating that the proposition for the 4-H Achievement record contest was presented and approved by members attending a Council meeting last March.

The committees, mentioned above, are appointed by the president as in any other organization.

As for duties of the local 4-H advisory committees, nothing specific was outlined. From reports of 4-H home economics adult leaders, I can list several ways in which some committees have functioned either as a group or individually. Among these are those who serve as judges for a local demonstration contest; invite club members to prepare project requirements in their homes (One leader told me a little girl said her family did not care for muffins, so an advisory committee member invited the girl to bake for her family); provide transportation to and from club meetings and/or for county events; give instruction to specific project members; help check record books to learn if member was getting her work done; collect exhibits to take to the county fair; help supervise bake sales as a moneymaking activity of the club; visit homes of new club members so that the mother as well as the new member might better understand 4-H club work; serve as a cabin mother at 4-H club camp. Are there others which I've omitted? Are there some helpful suggestions to some committee members who have wondered what they should do? These are ways to give assistance to adult leaders.

Sure hope the information about the 4-H Council has been helpful. Hope too that all community areas are represented at the September 29 meeting.

Bye now.

Ruth R. Snellenberger

Mrs. Marvin Smith called on cousins: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie and Effie McPherns, Erve and Golda Statens, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buffo, and Mrs. Tessie Henderson, of Mishawaka, last Thursday.

FARM OUTLOOK MEETING ON MONDAY, OCTOBER 4

County Agricultural Agent Paul Jackson, gives this final reminder to all interested persons that the annual farm outlook meeting for Kosciusko County will be held Monday evening, October 4 at 7:30 p.m., in the Woman's Building at the Fairgrounds.

Dr. Howard Diesslin, Purdue University agricultural economist, will discuss the prospects for supply, demand and prices of farm products in 1955. The discussion will include the latest information available to assist the farmer and his wife in adjusting their farming operations for 1955.

In this discussion, Diesslin will consider such questions as, "Will consumer demand be as high next year as in 1954? What will be the effect of crops produced on diverted acres on grain prices? How will beef prices in 1955 compare with 1954? What are the chances for a favorable hog-corn ratio for the year ahead? Are farm machinery and fertilizer prices going to be lower? Will milk and egg prices pull out of the slump?"

Jackson says the answers to these questions will help farmers and business men make dollar and "sense" adjustments in their business.

4-H CLUB CHATTER

By Ruth Snellenberger

Dear 4-H Members and Friends,

Since many 4-H home economics clubs are either organizing for the new club year or are making plans to organize, I'd like to mention areas in the county where small clubs might be organized.

First in regard to size of clubs, five members is the minimum number to comprise a 4-H club. Thus if five girls decide they'd like to be a 4-H Club, all well and good, provided a leader can be found. Everyone could have an office and it would be a small enough group to meet in each other's homes; the job of the leader to keep in touch with this number to give instruction and to check records and books would not be too difficult. However, if the club had ten or twelve members, these same advantages could be enjoyed along with a more desirable number to have competition and variety in projects, and to have recreational activities.

Some leaders feel twenty members are not too many for one or two volunteer leaders to manage in one 4-H club. Even so, they say homes get rather crowded with that many. Thus the general conclusion by most experienced leaders is that smaller clubs of ten to fifteen are more to be desired.

Second, in regard to areas where there might be clubs organized, I'd suggest that in any neighborhood area where there were five or more girls and or/boys interested in doing 4-H project work, a club could be organized. For further information as to enrollment cards, project book supplies and so forth, write to me—Mrs. Ruth Snellenberger, County Extension Office, Warsaw, Indiana—or stop in at the county extension Office in the basement of the Court House to inquire. Of course, to have a club, a leader would have to be obtained. Maybe one or two mothers would be willing to serve in that capacity.

This year three new clubs were organized in the county. In each case existing clubs were either already large enough or were a little distant from the new area in which a new club was organized. There are a number of community areas throughout the county where small clubs might be organized, if there's interest among the girls. Some which I might suggest are the vicinities of Palcstine, Clunette, Community Center, Chapman Lake, Barbee Lake, Dutchtown, Harrison Center, east side of Wawasee Lake and/or Papakeechee Lake, Packertown, an area north of Silver Lake and south of Hill Lake, and at least one other club in Mentone. Are there other areas? Who wants to start a club in any of these?

Since the 1950 census reports 2,387 girls of 4-H Club age (10-20 years) in Kosciusko County, it would be wonderful if half—or even a third—of them could be participating in 4-H project work, I think. What do you think?

Next week I'd like to comment about advantages of being a 4-H leader. 'Bye now.

THREE GOOD MEALS DAILY IS MUST

Lafayette, Ind.—Between meal snacks usually furnish the body with calories only. Three well-balanced meals are needed each day to help build good health.

Studies show that mothers eating alone, teen-agers and men working in industrial plants are inclined to eat too many sweet snacks between meals. Miss Lois Oberhelman, extension nutritionist at Purdue University, explains that this between meal eating deadens the appetite for the protective foods in balanced meals which the body must have for good health.

Many diets are low in milk needed for sound bones and teeth as well as proper functioning of muscles and nerves. A quart of milk for the growing boy and girl and one and one-half pints for the adult will meet the day's requirement. Many industrial workers drink less than one-half pint a day, while mothers and teen-age girls drink little or none. Studies have also shown that diets were low in citrus fruits, tomatoes and green leafy vegetables. Since vitamin C found in these foods cannot be stored in the body, foods high in this vitamin should be included in the diet each day.

Many of the people in recent studies were found to be overweight. Their breakfasts consisted of a cup of coffee and a sweet roll. To ease those mid-morning hunger pains, they ate a high calorie snack. This type of eating causes overweight and keeps many people from eating food rich in the health protecting minerals and vitamins and low in calories. Fruits and vegetables are good examples.

Families often sacrifice well-balanced meals and change their eating habits after a television set is installed. In many cases their pattern of living changes and they eat high calorie snacks as they watch television.

ANTHONY NIGO MEETS

Anthony Nigo chapter held its September meeting at the home of Mirabel Riewoldt. In the absence of the regent and vice regent the meeting was conducted by Lena Igo. Thirteen members and two guests repeated the ritualistic service and gave the pledge to the flag. Virginia Hight read the state regent's report. Mrs. Frank Smith was appointed as delegate to the state conference at the Lincoln Hotel in Indianapolis October 5, 6 and 7. After the business was taken care of a program, "Music Through the Years," in charge of Mrs. Riewoldt, was very much enjoyed by everyone. Movies were shown of the different eras down through the years. Shirley Igo accompanied at the piano for pupils of Mrs. Riewoldt from the West Wayne school at Warsaw, who sang appropriate songs for each era.

Lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. Riewoldt and her assistant hostess, Virginia Hight.

The meeting adjourned to meet Oct. 26th at the home of Winifred Smith.

Hoosier poultrymen are urged not to let newly housed pullets get in the habit of roosting on the floor. The first night the birds are housed, the flock owner should be in the house to prevent them from settling anywhere except on the perches. Purdue University poultrymen say a broom may be used to stir birds out of corners or off feeders.

GRAIN YIELDS INCREASED DURING LAST 34 YEARS

Present winter wheat varieties grown in Indiana are yielding five bushels per acre more than wheat varieties yielded in 1920. R.R. Mulvey, Purdue University agronomist, says this in a recent report based on 34 years of variety tests with various field crops.

Mulvey adds that oats nowadays average 12 bushels more per acre than oats yielded in 1920. One reason is that today's varieties stand up better and have more disease resistance.

Back in 1920 soybeans were grown mostly for hay. Today Hoosier farmers grow soybeans that yield six to ten bushels more per acre on a state-average basis. Improved varieties bred strictly for grain production are largely responsible for these increases. Varieties grown in 1954 have a much higher oil content and a better standing ability for easier harvesting in addition to yielding more.

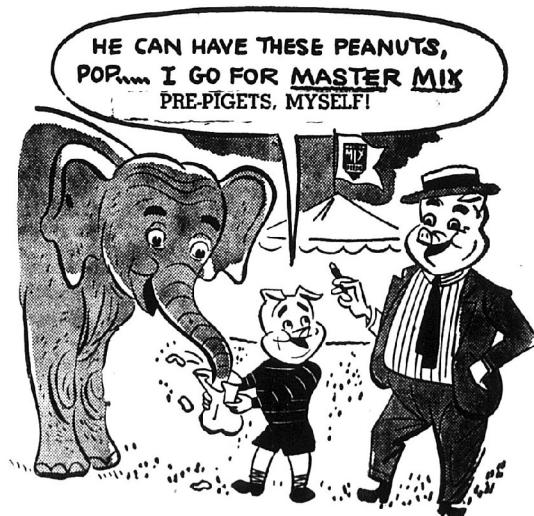

Figuring on the basis of prices received for two crops only—wheat and oats—value of the increased yields for wheat is now eight and a half million dollars a year, and for oats, six million dollars.

Stewed Chicken for Eager Appetites

Is the family's appetite picking up? The chances are it is, with the children playing overtime as though sensing the coming of winter and Mom and Dad trying to get them in shape before the end of summer.

If that's the case, nothing but completely satisfying meals will do. One of the easiest, most satisfying dishes to prepare is stewing chicken with baking powder biscuits, according to Kathryn B. Niles, director of home economics Poultry and Egg National Board.

Stewing chicken, sometimes referred to as hen or fowl, is reported in abundant supply and reasonably priced across the Nation, Mrs. Niles pointed out.

Here is a recipe for stewed chicken which will satisfy eager appetites.

Stewed Chicken With Baking Powder Biscuits

- 1 ready to cook stewing chicken, cut up, giblets and neck.
- 3 Cups of water.
- 2 teaspoons salt.
- 1 medium onion
- 3 peppercorns, tip of bay leaf
- Baking powder biscuit dough using
 - 2 cups flour or biscuit mix
 - 5 tablespoons chicken fat
 - 8 tablespoons flour
 - 1 cup milk
 - 3 cups chicken broth
- Salt, pepper

Simmer chicken, giblets and neck in water with the salt, onion, peppercorns and bay leaf until fork-tender, about 3 hours. Remove meat from broth and set aside to keep hot while preparing the gravy. Spoon fat from surface of broth. Measure broth and if necessary add enough water to make 3 cups. Blend the 5 tablespoons chicken fat, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour and one cup of milk until free of lumps. Stir slowly into the simmering broth and cook, stirring constantly until uniformly thickened. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes. Season well to taste. Return chicken to gravy to heat. Meanwhile prepare baking powder biscuits. If the doughnut cutter is used and the centers are baked to please the children, about 12 minutes will be required for these "dots". Serve chicken and gravy very hot. Some of the biscuits may be placed atop the gravy and meat if desired. 6 generous servings.

SUBSOILING GROWS IN POPULARITY

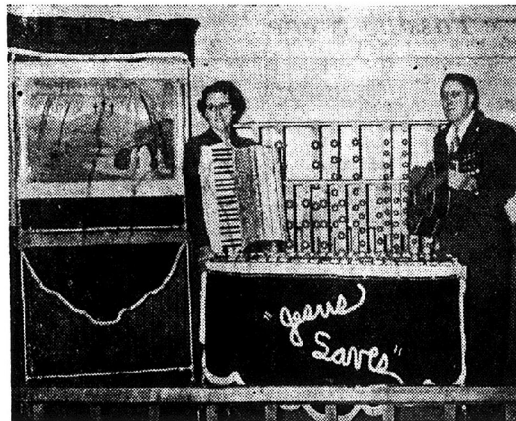

Lafayette, Ind.—Subsoiling is a term that's gradually creeping into the farmer's everyday conversation. No longer is it associated only with heavy duty, high power requirement equipment that's expensive to operate and must be hired out to do the job.

On the contrary, subsoiling is fast becoming an accepted farm practice, and many farmers today are turning to the subsoiler in an effort to best utilize and control water on their land.

Purdue University agricultural engineers say manufacturers now make subsoilers for the average two-or-three plow farm tractor, capable of tilling to depths of 18 to 22 inches. Aven of the farm tractor subsoiler has made it possible for many more farmers to use this versatile implement in the last few years.

A lot of farmers are using their machine to fertilize their subsoil. Many are getting increases in corn yields on their soils by getting their lime and fertilizer down deep. Purdue agronomists recommend farmers try deep fertilization this fall, if they've got soils heavy at the plow sole depth or just below the plow layer.

Agricultural engineers at Purdue report the subsoiler is being used to drain low spots in a field or to increase the action of drain tile by allowing water to get down to the tile quickly. With

The Baptist Church extends an invitation to the community to attend the revival meetings now going on and shall continue through October 3rd. The greatest need of our land is a Heaven-sent revival and we need it here as well as elsewhere. Com and let the Lord bless you. We want to share the blessing with everyone.

a subsoiler, it's possible to decrease the surface water runoff of pastures and other fields. It's done by opening subsoil "slits" following the contour. One of the subsoiler's newest uses Purdue specialists demonstrated at the Indiana State Fair this year—the laying of plastic water pipe in the opening formed by the machine.

Should you use a subsoiler? That's the question Purdue specialists help you to answer in their new agricultural engineering publication entitled, "Subsoiling." It's Extension Leaflet 370 and a farmer can get a copy by writing to the agricultural publications office at Purdue. Also ask for Mimeo Ay 57A on "Subsoiling Fertilization." This Purdue agronomy mimeograph will explain methods, how often to fertilize and probable benefits.

There's no prize to the first to tell us whose farm it is, but it is interesting to know who will be first in reporting the information to this newspaper.

Call, phone or write us if you believe you know the farm.

The farm printed in our September first issue was that of Floyd Zent, located about four miles west of Mentone on Road 25, where Mr. Zent has resided almost all his life.

The Zents have a few cows and chickens and do grain farming.

Floyd and his wife Blanche are the parents of the following children: Earl, Elma, Kermit, Louise, Orton, Clarabell, Cyril and Ronald.

The farm pictured September 15th was that of Mars A. and son Devon Tucker, located three and one-half miles south and one and one-half miles west of Mentone. Mr. Tucker has been on this farm all his life.

General farming of grain and livestock and pasturing is conducted on the 160-acre farm.

In addition to the son above, Mars and Fawn have one daughter, Mrs. Rex Parker, of Silver Lake.

Harold Horn called this week and stated that he thought the farm pictured in our last issue was the old Dr. Yocum farm, southwest of Mentone, occupied or farmed by Leslie Grubbs and Frank Nellans. Was he right?

SCIENTISTS HAVE SUCCESS
FEEDING SILAGE HOGS

It's taken for granted anymore that corn and grass silage can be worked into highly efficient growing and fattening rations for cattle. But how many farmers would consider feeding these roughages to their hogs.

Some people may think the idea highly irregular, but not Purdue University researchers in animal husbandry. They tried feeding grass and corn silage to brood sows for the first time this year, and came up with some startling discoveries.

First—Contrary to what many people might believe, it appears that corn and grass silage, when properly supplemented, make good rations for brood sows during the gestation period.

Second—The gestation performance of sows fed grass silage and supplement, or corn silage and supplement, was similar to the performance of sows fed a good basal ration. The percentage of pigs weaned ran about the same for these three lots

It's about that time of year to move into action against rats and mice. Purdue University entomologists say these rodents may be more numerous than last year, and they'll begin moving into buildings as nights get colder. Before the corn crib is filled, prepare a few corners of the crib where poisoned bait can be exposed. Set a box in the corner with holes in it so bait can be placed in the box from outside the crib. Another method is to nail a few slanted boards in the corner of the crib that will make space to set bait on the crib floor.

FIGHT GULLIES WITH WATERWAYS

Lafayette, Ind.—As swift as lightning! It seems that fast to the farmer when torrential rains cut gullies out of his productive, but unprotected fields. The owner who doesn't fight back when sheet or gully erosion rears its ugly head stands to lose heavily in valuable soil and crop profits.

Much of Indiana's comparatively level land has been damaged by sheet and gully erosion, states Donald R. Sisson, Purdue University agricultural engineer. That's why he warns, "Don't let erosion get the upper hand on your farm."

The sod waterway, he advises, is the farmer's best permanent defense against gullies. A properly established waterway has a good growth of grasses and a well defined, shallow channel large enough to carry the runoff. Most important—the excess water is removed without damage to the soil.

Now or early September will be an excellent time for farmers to construct and seed waterways, says Sisson.

If you're a farmer who plans to establish a waterway, keep in mind the several important steps involved. (1) Shaping the channel to proper cross section (2) Preparing a seedbed (3) Fertilizing (4) Seeding and (5) Mulching.

For a small watershed less than 20 acres make the width of the waterway 10 feet, plus a foot for each acre of watershed advises the specialist. To shape the waterway, plow toward the center until a uniform cross section is attained. The center of the channel, of course, must be deeper than the sides. The rule here is—allow one-half inch depth for each foot of width.

Where a gully is deeper than two feet, heavy equipment such as a bulldozer or grader usually will be needed to shape the waterway channel.

For a larger watershed, the depth and width of the waterway should be designed by a well-qualified soil conservation technician. Other vital recommendations for making the waterway are found in Purdue extension leaflet 337 on "Grass Waterways." Obtain a free copy from the county agent or by writing to the agricultural publications office, Purdue.

Failure is a shadow that fades in the sunlight of hard work.
